

POWERFUL FORT FALLS TO YANKS

From Twin Falls
The smaller flanking divisions.

Come in on the banks of the Snake river from Fort Falls, which like Fort Tatum was one of the main main force in the defense system. A frontal assault by American troops on Fort Drant some weeks ago failed.

On Gen. George B. Patton's northern flank, troops of the 20th division thrust ahead two and one-half miles in their hard-won bridgehead over the Snake river. The German staff pined stubborn resistance in the area of Matrices.

In six days, following yesterday, of Patton's own estimate, 5,000 prisoners had been taken.

Gains Wiped Out
South of the Snake, German garrisons of up to a mile in counterattacks seeking to save Dniepe were wiped out by elements of the 26th and 44th armored divisions, and the Americans added another mile in fresh advances. Doughboys now controlled almost half the bridge and Koenigsberg straddle a ridge dominating the area.

Bad weather prevented aerial reconnaissance from learning whether Dniepe was being reinforced, or possibly evacuated.

On the U. S. first army front inside Germany, American infantry broke up an attempted German counterattack in the area of Bohmdorf, southeast of Aachen, where two artillery duels on the Holland front.

Main Break Cause Off Low Pressure

If you were one of the dozens of Twin Falls residents who wondered why the water pressure was low Sunday afternoon, Charles Larson, city clerk, would like you to know: At approximately 3:30 p. m. Sunday, the main water line broke at Third street west and Third avenue west.

"The founding fathers installed a pipe which they thought to be equivalent to cast-iron," Larson said. "It was joined by lead at the joints, and whenever a weakness occurs this lead will 'blow out' at the weakest spot."

Yo Olds sporter learned a lot of things about sports and racing he didn't know before when on his trip to the Pioneer league track at Pocatello with such a car-to-the-ground crew as H. Frank Magel, Bill McCone, and George Ostrander. The Cowboy officials, who have been from the feed-bank info included the story about the gent who would have been taken for $100,000 at cards during the past year, but that's sporting, not sporting something that depends on the pugny one's reportorial reporter with age.

But there was one story which greatly interested this ancient word. It came from Mr. Bobby Coltrin, western representative of the Phoenix which was the first to do a bit of business on the matter when Joe Cronin, the manager of the Red Sox, apparently was to peddle Cecil back to the Boston Red Sox. Cecil had been worked to death—worked so hard that he had lost his high hand and had been picked up and was 18 games for the Padres before the Pacific coast league season had hardly started.

Consequently, Coltrin's role in the Coltrin situation is to keep the former Cowboy in the majors for a couple of months of the 1945 season at least. And that's that for now, except you can take it from Cecil that the former Cowboy league comes back it will return in greater glory. The league chiefs judged that at Pocatello Sunday.

Babe Dahlgren Highly Lauded

By JOE REICHLER
NEW YORK, Nov. 14 (AP)—Eliuworth (Babe) Dahlgren, the player who wanted to be retired today as one of the finest all-around first basemen in baseball.

The Pittsburgh first sacker, shunted from one major circuit to the other on the roster of eight big league clubs, enjoyed his best year in 1944.

In addition to celebrating his 10th season in the majors, Dahlgren attained his highest big time batting mark and drove in an even 100 runs, another high.

Dahlgren played in all of his team's 158 games, more than any other player, and batted .282, leading 150 hits, 26 doubles, seven triples, and 12 homers.

His fielding, as always, left nothing to be desired. The man Joe McCarthy let go in the winter of '40, because "his arm was too short," led the National league in putouts and ranked second in assists.

One of the most popular of Frankie Fitch's athletes, Babe has made the Pittsburgh followers forget the talented Elsie Fletcher, who retired him at the initial sack.

Dahlgren appeared at a loss to explain why he team seemed to want him prior to coming to Pittsburgh.

"I wish I knew why," the Babe shrugged. "Every manager I asked why the exception of Eusey Harris gave me an easier answer. Harris told me I'd make good trading material for a catcher, which Philadelphia needed sorely."

Many Hunting and Fishing Arrests

BOISE, Nov. 14 (AP)—The largest number of arrests for violating fish and game laws for any month was reported for October today.

The number 78 compared with 86 for September.

Most frequent offense, according to a report issued by State Fish and Game Director James O. Beck, was fishing in closed waters for which there were fine arrests. Eight were charged with failure to tag deer and eight for carrying an unlicensed rifle without a hunting license. Seven were accused of possessing pheasants out of season.

Arrests by counties included Cassia, Blaine, and Blaine.

Auto Accident, Injuring 4 Star Players, Ends Hagerman Season

HAGERMAN, Nov. 14 (AP)—Fate today had rung down the curtain on the greatest football season in the history of the Hagerman high school during which the Pirates went undefeated for the first time and were tied only by the powerful Buhl and Glenns Perry elevens. By agreement, Hagerman and Glenns Perry will share the southern Idaho class B championship.

Although both Frank and Wilder, the two strongest class B elevens in the state vicinity, had agreed to play the Pirates at Hagerman this week, Jack Martin, Hagerman's football coach, said his team had been forced to close the season.

An automobile accident in which four of his regulars were injured Saturday night brought an end to the season. A car in which Harold Wilson, star quarterback, right halfback, Bill Ouley, tackle, and Jim Boswick, were riding turned over on the south shoulder of a road north of Hagerman. The boys were returning home.

Conyer suffered a vertebrae injury and in St. Valentine's hospital while Wilson was injured about the head and Cady and Boswick suffered fractures.

Martin said he would now turn his attention to basketball.

Campaign Renewed to Shift Army-Navy Game to Big Field

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14 (AP)—A renewed drive to shift the Army-Navy football game from Annapolis to a big city stadium started on capital hill today.

The move was touched off by Presidential Secretary Stephen Early's statement at a press conference that he was sure the President would keep the annual clash on a "community limited basis" because of transportation problems.

Previous congressional efforts to swing the game to Philadelphia or some other large city, where 50,000 to 100,000 might see it, floundered. The game has been set for Dec. 2 in the naval academy's stadium which seats about 19,000.

Congressional circles reacted quickly to Early's comment.

Senator, Manasse D. Ala, said he would ask Speaker Rayburn and Senator Johnson, D. Colo., a ranking member of the senate military affairs committee, said he was "100 per cent for transferring" the game to a larger stadium.

Calling this year's service teams "two of the finest" ever turned out by academies, Johnson predicted the game this year would be the greatest in the long time rivalry. Johnson volunteered to go along with any other congressmen in calling upon Mr. Roosevelt.

Representative Martin, R. Mass., house minority leader, said he thought it was "foolish" to limit the game to residents of the Annapolis area because of "alleged transportation."
