TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

(Ray Tucker, on vacation. During his absence Edley Tuckman, his New York associate will write in Washington.)

DEWEY—Republican legislators, especially those who have been through on Nov. 7, were noticeably more cooperative this week in regard to a change in OOP leadership in both the senate and the house. Time enough has elapsed since the election for them to swap post-mortems and to plan for the 1948 session. Like the Dewey crowd, many of them are inclined to blame the current capitol hill brouhaha for the negative program of opposition which proved to be one of the campaign's greatest liabilities.

No open meeting is expected. Action will be behind closed doors. The Van Dusen-Vanderberg bill, unfortunately which took over the job of the late Senator McNary, minority leader, is likely to give away to a single member.

ARMED AND DANGEROUS—The House of Representatives will bring pressure on him to change his steering committee and reevaluate the membership of other policy-making groups to give more consideration to those who are liberal in both foreign and domestic policy.

HILLMAN—Joe Martin and his close associates are no reason for drastic alterations in the party. They think they did as well as anyone could in the last four years. According to them, the voters proved their attitude.

PROBABLE—Walter Reuther, the log of prosperity and history have the Republican as a party to be the true liberal party. The conservative, the late Sen. George W. Norris failed to do this. Despite his famous record as a statesman, the folks out in Nebraska ousted him for not paying attention to their petty requests.

UNDER CONGRESSION

There is a lot of talk in Washington regarding additional compensation for congressmen, although everyone hesitates to discuss legislation.

Representatives believe they should receive more money to defray the cost of increased secretarial work, which is constantly growing greater as more converting businessmen and workers, and even veteran congressmen, seek advice and aid from congressmen.

Extra chores have piled to such a height that—for example—Majority Leader John W. McCormack's office staff cannot handle all the correspondence which is dumped on his desk. About four nights a week he is obliged to take to his hotel room as many as 60 letters.

Representatives with other sources of income can afford additional services. But most of our lawmakers are relatively poor. The salary rate is $10,000, plus about $5,000 for clerical hire.

This sum is quickly used up in sending messages to the voters or in assisting those who visit Washington.

If a legislator doesn't act as an errand boy for his constituents they are likely to retire him. The late Sen. George W. Norris failed to do this. Despite his famous record as a statesman, the folks out in Nebraska ousted him for not paying attention to their petty requests.

Lawmakers have seen enough of this sort of thing happen time and again.

They contend they are in one of the few classifications, anywhere, in which salaries have been raised in recent years to meet rising living costs.

When, a couple of years ago, they sought to pass an act giving them a form of retirement pay, they were rebuffed. But most of our lawmakers are relatively poor. The salary rate is $10,000, plus about $5,000 for clerical hire.

SERVES

GARBAGE SERVICE FOR NEW AREAS

Garbage collecting in the areas annexed to the city last week will begin as soon as routes can be established. Councilman Truman T. Greenhalgh announced at last night's council meeting.

When the routes are determined, the public will be notified as to the dates of collections and the proper locations for new readers to be placed on the city's collection system.

Other matters relative to city planning brought up at last night's meeting included proposals for a new city hall, a new city auditorium, and the possibility of extending the city's water mains to the new areas.

A letter from the Twin Falls District highway board informed the council that the board would undertake to build the arterial for road construction if the city would pay all expenses and arrange for all the necessary bridge work.

Mayor Street suggested that the city engineer John R. Hayes draw the specifications for the reconstruction of the city water mains so that the city may be ordered and be on hand when city workers are available. He mentioned the possibility of starting the work some time next spring.

Acting quickly on his promise to have the four donated parking lots in the 200 block of Second avenue east graded before the city council. Councilman Greenhalgh reported to the group that the gravel had been laid and the lots were in use. He made his promise last week after P. W. Harder, who leased the area to the city for $1 a year, threatened to revoke the leases if the lots were not used.

Mayor Street suggested that the parking problem, which became apparent on the last two Saturdays, would be alleviated if guide lines of signs were used to prevent cars from blocking each other.

Halt Bureau Acts
A request was received from the Idaho survey and planning bureau, Boise, for a sketch of the area annexed to the city for six blocks.

The bureau suggests possible means of planning for protection and zoning for communities.

A note from Charles O. Peters to the councilmen informed them that the slope in the waiting room at the airport did not provide enough head. No action was taken on the matter.

To the Council Room
At the suggestion of Councilman Kenneth Shook, the group decided to allow the newly organized city labor-management council to use the assembly room at the city hall for its monthly meetings.

Only one building permit, to P. P. Leonard, 47 Locust street, allowed him to enlarge his garage, was approved at the session.

Escaped Convict Given Reprieve
BOISE, Nov. 22 (AP)—James O'Connor, 40-year-old ex-merchant seaman who escaped from the Idaho penitentiary in 1935 and was apprehended until last month, was released yesterday by Governor Bottelstein so that he may enter the Gallup, N. M., military hospital.

O'Connor was sentenced to the prison for three to 14 years on a charge from Nez Perce county in 1933 and escaped two years later just three months before his minimum term would expire.

He was arrested last October at Seattle after receiving a temporary discharge from the merchant marine.

Governor Bottelstein said the man had a clear record from the time of his escape and that he was being referred to his attorney by the state, with the next board hearing further action.

O'Connor will enter the New Mexico hospital for treatment of tuberculosis and upon his discharge will re-enter the merchant marine, the governor said.

Estate Petition Filed for Probate
A petition for letters of administration was filed yesterday in probate court by Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Veatch, in the matter of the estate of Henry Dick and Christina Dick, who died intestate, the former Dec. 5, 1935, the latter Sept. 6, 1942.

The estate, consisting of real estate in the Golden Rule addition, is valued at $12,000.

G. H. Hart, Twin Falls, is attorney for the petitioners.

Non-Shrinkable Wool 'Coming up'
WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 (AP)—At least a non-shrinkable wool sock may be around the corner.

The bureau of standards reported today that a new process has reduced the shrinkage of wool socks to about one-fifth of the amount to about five per cent in contrast to about 20 to 25 per cent for untreated socks.

The process, involving calcium hydroxide, also makes the socks last 50 per cent longer.

Advanced Training
BOISE, Nov. 22—Cadet Truman Beem, son of Mr. and Mrs. V. O. Beem, was today sent to the new advanced training at the Chualar, Calif., school.

At the end of a 24-week training period he will be awarded bombardier wings and will be assigned to active duty.

Buhl Surgeon Describes War Conditions in Pacific Region

BY MARTINA YEITER
BURLI, Nov. 22—Lieut. Comdr Edward W. McGrathey, former Buhl physician and surgeon who has been on overseas duty for over three years in the south Pacific, has been the guest, with Mrs. McGrathey, of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Koelein, Buhl.

Dr. McGrathey was based at the naval fleet hospital at Guadalcanal where he served on the medical staff in general surgery. For a period of time, he was chief of orthopedics there.

"The Guadalcanal hospital was termed a mobile hospital," said Dr. McGrathey, "for though it was very much stationary in itself, the doctors formed a personnel pool that served on transports which carried men into the invasion areas and stood by to bring back the casualties. A number of doctors are taken on every drive, and the transport ships are equipped to bring back a great number of casualties. Being troop carrier transports, they are subject to attack even when carrying casualties. I was sent on the New Georgia invasion and saw much of the action there. Our hospital received many of the wounded from Guadalcanal, New Britain, Pointe Maraballa, and so forth. In fact, all the Solomon Island and Marianas casualties went many of their casualties to our fleet hospital."

Dr. McGrathey called the American marine the toughest fighter in the world. They are trained hard and know how to take it and give it out. The Marines take most of the casualties and are used as shock troops on invasions. He said the army also gets some tough fighting when it takes over to the beach and clean out an island after the Marines have carried out a foot.

The average Jap expects to die in battle, or come out victorious, for that is the only course for him, according to his indoctrination. He is taught that death in battle is a sure thing in heaven, according to Dr. McGrathey. He said that many times in utterly hopeless situations when any other soldier would surrender, the Japs will get drunk on said and charge blindly to their death. The average Jap soldier, Dr. McGrathey says, has no initiative whatever. He will do as told, but in a tight spot where an American soldier will think for himself and wriggle out, the Jap will go to pieces, often committing suicide.

When asked how long, in his opinion, the Pacific war might go on, he replied seriously, "That takes in a lot of it. If the Europeans were could be finished this fall, and if Russia were willing to help us, even to no more than the extent of Siberian bases, we might win it up in another year. But if such breaks are not forthcoming, it may take two or three years to do the job. Our supply lines are long, and it takes time to build up reserves of all kinds of supplies. You can't move a big army six or seven thousand miles across water very quickly."

"Our boys so far have done mighty fine work, but at times they have been fighting nature as much as the enemy. The terrain has been most difficult—mountainous, or jungle, with rain, mud, heat, malarial swamps, where many times heavy equipment cannot be used except in limited ways. In fact, it's almost impossible to tell you folks back home what our boys have been through."

Dr. McGrathey left Buhl in 1941, and for a while was stationed at Port Angeles, Wash.

Dr. McGrathey said Dr. Vern Anderson, also of Buhl, several times while in the south Pacific. Dr. Anderson was serving on a transport.

Open Season Asked To Get Grid of Deer

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Nov. 28 (AP)—Deer have become so numerous in Westchester county, adjacent to New York City, that the board of supervisors today appealed to the Legislature for a law to open the season for hunting deer.

The board said that the deer are causing damage to crops and are a danger to the public. The board said that it had tried to control the deer by other means, but that these methods had failed. The board said that it was now asking the Legislature to pass a law that would allow the hunting of deer in the county.
