RUSS PUSH FIGHT WITH BERLIN BUT 32 MILES DISTANT

LONDON, Feb. 5 (AP)—The red army stormed the Oder river front along a 100-mile stretch between Berlin today and German reports said Russian flanking columns were battling for a river crossing only 32 miles northeast of the capital.

Striking for a quick breakthrough into the Brandenburg plain that would lay Berlin open to attack from all sides, Soviet armored formations were raring up and down the east bank of the Oder, chopping away the enemy's communications and slaughtering thousands of hastily-mobilized Nazi reserves.

German spokesmen admitted the Soviets had broken into Kustrin defenses, claiming the city had been hurried back with heavy losses. Moscow dispatches indicated that the advance was a decisive one as both Kustrin and Frankfurt, 15 miles to the south, were captured.

Kustrin Outflanked
Russian armored units outflanked the German line at Kustrin and the Oder before they captured Barzels, 16 miles to the northwest, striking through the enemy's communications and slaughtering thousands of hastily-mobilized Nazi reserves.

There was no sign of weakening resistance along the Oder, and all accounts made it clear that the German army regulars and Volksturm were fighting fiercely in obedience to their Nazi overlord's call to "fight and die" on that last line of defense.

TERROR MOUNTS HOURLY IN BERLIN

LONDON, Feb. 5 (AP)—Discouraged Swedish reports said today that the German high command has ordered a "Berlin Blitz" against an allied attempt to land paratroops in the burning, refugee-filled city.

Terror is reported mounting hourly with the approach of the red army from the east. The Germans themselves are reportedly being ordered to "shoot and burn" anyone who enters the city.

A thick trickle of news still was coming through the British censorship to Stockholm, but it was indicated that Berliners are beginning to hear the noise of German invasion from the east and the grim reality of Anglo-American bombing from the west.

Civilian refugees and eastbound troops were said to be hopelessly jammed up at the city's main railway stations, and one Swedish account said German stragglers and foreign workers were terrorizing parts of the capital.

The first real blow in Berlin's morale apparently was caused by the big first American daylight raid Saturday when 1,000 B-29 Superfortresses literally tore the heart of the city with a 2,500-ton bombing assault.

MacArthur Waits for Job Like This

Foot traffic resumed across one of the bridges on Luzon island after it had been hurriedly repaired by U. S. army engineers. Retreating Japanese had destroyed the original span. Today's cables say the only thing that prevents General MacArthur himself from entering Manila is he had to turn back and await reports on a bridge near Manila that had been dynamited by the Japs.

Snorting Steel Monster Leads Smash Into Manila

SANTO TOMAS PRISON CAMP, MANILA, Feb. 5 (AP)—Liberty was a steel tank with a 75 mm. gun for a torch and a white star on its flank. The driver slipped the clutch and Liberty jolted before the chained gate of this war prison which housed some 3,700 men, women and children of the United Nations.

"Open up," roared the tank commander. "No hand appeared to slip the gate's bolts. "Open the goddam thing or I'm coming anyway," the commander shouted. Again the order brought no response.

Inside the prison a low speculative murmur had risen to a crescendo of cries with overtones of fear and doubt and hope. The prisoners squinted that this was not just another of the inexplicable Japanese orgies. The voice beyond the gate was American and captained a resolution of its own kind. But the gate did not open.

"Get on in," the tank commander directed quietly, "but don't shoot unless you have to. And be sure they're Japs."

The snorting tank pushed against the gate. The engine clattered. The gate groaned, cracked and crashed under the tread.

"Prisoners, get up, hollow-eyed, afraid of their own hopes, poured from the buildings. In the gathering dusk they poured out on the street, a mass of pale, thin American tank. And as from a single throat they poured out the words: "Thank you, thank you, thank you."

There was a pause as if they were still afraid to believe their eyes. The American tank stopped at the gate. The engine clattered. The gate groaned, cracked and crashed under the tread.

On an upper floor of one of the buildings, a man in a white shirt and tie was looking out the window. He was looking at the American tank. He was looking at the American tank. He was looking at the American tank.

Stars, Stripes Again Fly Above Capita; Thousands Released From Captivity

MACARTHUR-HEADQUARTERS, LUZON, Feb. 5 (AP)—The stars and stripes flew over half of Manila today and thousands of American and British civilian prisoners were freed as Yank columns, including a new paratroop regiment landed the south, pressed against little more than sniper fire toward complete liberation of the Philippine capital.

First cavalry and 37th infantry division forces controlled the northern part of Manila a few hours after entering the city late Saturday night, and penetrated Sunday as far south as the wide and deep Pasig river, which divides the city.

The first cavalry Yanks, in an encircling move by night, appeared immediately to the Santo Tomas internment camp from the east and liberated about 9,700 civilian prisoners, mainly American women and children, held there since May 1, 1942.

A sharp fight, in which all of the Japanese guards were killed, preceded the deliverance of the Santo Tomas internees. Fighting raged from room to room for a time. Soon Americans began evacuating the deliriously happy prisoners.

Only last Tuesday night 518 American and British prisoners of war were freed from a stockade at Cabanatuan, 50 miles to the north, in a daring raid by American Rangers and Filipino guerrillas.

First cavalry units also seized Malacanang palace, former government headquarters in the Philippine commonwealth, finding no Japanese officials, while Yanks of the 37th division entered the city from the north and pushed cautiously through the northern suburbs after capturing Grace park airfield.

The cavalry, fighting in memory of their former commander, Gen. Douglas MacArthur, who was captured by the invading Japanese early in 1942, recaptured Manila's first miraculous escape of some 144 men and women from the island.

Physicians among the internees said the death rate lay in Manila had risen almost entirely from one cause—malnutrition. One doctor said he was confined to his quarters 20 days recently because he refused to sign a certificate ascribing a death to natural causes.

YANKS 13 MILES INSIDE GERMANY

PARIS, Feb. 5 (AP)—The American first army tonight thrust deep into Germany today within a mile of the Sigtford line towns of Gemund and Sigtford, and was reported in late dispatches to have broken clean through with a double row of fortifications between the fortresses.

The German radio said Lieutenant Courtney H. Hodges' infantry had entered Sigtford but was expelled. The Americans reached within 25 miles of the Sigtford and the city of Gemund.

Death Penalty
Just north of the often electrified break, infantry advanced to the first lake within eight miles of the Roer river dam controlling flood waters on that barrier stream before Cologne.

South in Alster, the Colmar death pocket fact was becoming just a memory. From east to west, American troops driving into the Cross-Rhine pocket south of Strasbourg moved within eight miles of a junction that would split and dissolve the German front.

Fighting within a mile of Neuf-Bischach, the U. S. 21st corps shelled the first army camp, like that of the U. S. ninth army along the Roer to the north within 20 miles of Cologne.

The U. S. 9th Army, pushing 30 miles inside Germany just south of Hodges' command, advanced a mile today, and was reported to have entered a strongly fortified town, one of the stoutest Sigtford line defensive points.

NOME HAS GIANT CIGARETTE PILE

NOME, Alaska, Feb. 5 (AP)—A serious situation confronts unhappy Nome businessmen this winter—the problem of disposing huge surplus of cigarettes, butter, pre-war Scotch and bourbon liquor in the warehouses and stores of restaurants, retail stores and hotels.

The goods were ordered last fall to take care of a large number of civilian construction workers who were later recalled, with the result that the merchants have on hand an abundance of the better brands of cigarettes and liquors which are not available on the black market in the states for two years.

"You know what's in those cases over there?" mourns George Madson, part owner of the Polar bar and cigar shop. "That's bootlegging. The rest stuff, and look at that mountain of cigarettes. Biggest stock we ever had in here. Only were able to sell a few. You could shoot a cannon through the joint upstairs and not hurt anybody."

With the cold, and the spreading gangs of construction workers, the stores are reverting to their old status as a quiet and picturesque Arctic village.

HAGERMAN DRAWS BYE IN TOURNEY

Army and Navy Only Unbeaten Cage Fives

NEW YORK, Feb. 5 (AP)—Undaunted by the Brooklyn college scandal which threatened to set basketball back on its hunches last week, collegiate cage quintets continued their torrid race for the mythical court championship with De Paul, Iowa, Ohio State, St. John's of Brooklyn, Temple and the Army and Navy retaining their places at the top of the heap.

Idaho stood second in the only unbeaten major fives as the cadets gained their eighth straight and their 24th in a row over a three-year stretch, shading Yale, 44-49, and the middies won their seventh straight, defeating Columbia, 51-44. Defeater with 10 wins is the only unbeaten outfit.

De Paul strengthened its claim to the top by routing 1505-539, the U. S. fish and wildlife service and in a report today.

Idaho had the largest number of Big Horn sheep, 3,047. Other big game figures by state: White-tailed deer: Idaho, 28,090. Mule deer: Idaho, 18,177; Utah, 22,253; Montana, 11,100. Prong-horned antelope: Idaho, 17,160; Utah, 1298. Elk: Idaho 37,855; Utah, 5252. Moose: Idaho 1,160. Sheep: Prong-horned antelope: Idaho, 17,160; Utah, 1298. Black bear: Idaho, 12,416; Utah, 647.

ON INCREASE
 WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—Big game is on the increase in the United States. Scientists of the fish and wildlife service, in the first complete report in the nation, show a rising population trend for a five-year period among big game animals, disclosed today there has been a 20 per cent increase from 1931 to 1942.

The survey showed the heaviest concentration of big game in populous and highly industrialized Pennsylvania, with a count of 179,679. Michigan had 73,551; Wisconsin 67,677; California 53,529; Minnesota 48,140; and American 440,109.

Covering 15 groups of animals, many of which virtually had disappeared in 1888, the survey estimated the U. S. big game population at the end of the survey to be 6,748,425 of which 6,089,172 were deer of the 1941 population.

At the end of the five-year period—December, 1941—the grizzly bear population had decreased 11.3 per cent since 1937 and bobcats a drop of 14.4 per cent.

In addition to the 1,805,558 white-tailed deer, the nation at the end of 1941 had 1,480,278 mule deer; 128,287 deer; 29 prong deer; 41,028 deer; 30 prong deer; 61,028 deer; 23.8, and American bison, 44.

Moose and bison also were in a precarious state; however, moose showing a decrease of 11.3 per cent since 1937 and bobcats a drop of 14.4 per cent.

 CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex., Feb. 5 (AP)—Golf's war bond trail led into the south today as the touring professionals, who chased Byron Nelson across the finish line with the Corpus Christi open championship, departed for New Orleans and arrived 45,000 tournament.

Nelson captured Corpus Christi's annual contest with 72-hole total of 284, four strokes ahead of McSpadden, who took second money.

In the five tournaments played since Jan. 1, Nelson has gathered in two first places and finished no lower than a tie for second in the others to bring his earnings for 1945 to $142,222 (including value of bonus) to McSpadden, while winning no tournaments, has forged into second place in money behind, his total now being $4,322.

ON THE SPORT FRONT
 With Ye Olde Sport Scriener at the Rupert outlaw tournament:
 Coach George Hays of the Rupert high school who appeared with the Simplots, twice responded to the bantering of his Pirate players in the crowd with baskets from the middle of the court. They were really eye-openers, shot unhandled and coming into the basket with a rebounding thud against the back-boarded net.

Against Malia's plucky little team the champion Simplots played hard any defense at all, something that pleased Hays very much because the Malia players missed very few of their first shots.

The finest exhibition of passing that the pugny one saw in the tournament was that of Harold Brown, the Paul coach who played with the Rupert quarterbacks. In one instance, he passed over his own shoulder, laying the ball right into another's hands as he waited under the basket.

Paul Atclay, the Arcelus coach playing with Rupert, was the ubiquitous one here, there and everywhere on the tournament floor.

Sgt. "Tuy" Nelson, from the Rupert prisoner of war camp, was the official scorer, just the best for all of Rupert's high school games during the season.

Ralph McCoy, Paul superintendent of schools shouted at a fan who boomed one of his decisions: "You might have paid to get in, but THAT was a foul!"

And Bruce "Roy" Rogers was up to his neck in the tournament just as he is in all Rupert athletic activities.

The Way Our People Lived

By W. E. Woodward Copyright E. P. Dutton & Co. Distributed by NEA Service, Inc.

CHICAGO—THE YOUNG GIANT

"Wait a little while, Jeff," Charlie Henderson said after word of the fire had broken up his party. "I'm going down with you. The Bully Burglar House is on the way to your hotel, and I'll go that far. I want to see if our building is in danger. The police are in the street out there—"

Overhead there was a great fiery glow coloring half the heavens. Before they had gone a block farther Jeff had seen the fire was not burning; the fire was all about four blocks away. Henderson pulled the horse to a hitching post to a wide alley that ran next to the store. "Well be here only a few minutes," he said. "No use trying to save any of the stock now, but I want to get some papers and money out of the safe."

A strange light met their eyes as they approached the front of the store. The doors had been broken open, smashed evidently by a sledge hammer, and not a pane of glass was left in any of the windows. The place was full of men—all of them from the alums, to judge by their appearance. They were helping themselves to clothing. A large trunk was backed up to the front door, and a number of men were filling it with men's suits, taking them from the shelves by the armfuls.

Henderson stood for a moment looking at his face and the slobber. Then he said, "Come on, Jeff, let's go up to the office." As they mounted the stairs Jeff said, "Aren't you going to speak to these thieves? They act as if the store belonged to them."

"What should I say? In half an hour the house will be burning down, and it's better for them to have the clothes. Now, here we are in the office, I want to get that safe open. It was apparent that the office had already been visited, for drawers stood open and papers lay all over the floor. "Stand with your back to that door," Jeff Henderson said as the safe door swung open, and, for God's sake, keep anyone from coming in. If they could see what I'm taking out of this safe I'd never get home, not by a mile either."

"My God! Look at that!" This exclamation came from Jeff Martin who pointed to a car that had been crushed and stood high in the air far above the general level of the street. Henderson looked at it a moment and muttered sadly, "The Burglar House was a fine place and I've worked so long and hard to build it up. All gone in a night."

"I was," the man answered, "until about a thousand tons of brick wall fell on our entire store of us were killed for it was coming. That was on La Salle street, near Randolph. Then I went over to State to join No. 12, but I hadn't been there half an hour before their boss went all to pieces—too much pressure, I guess. Anyway, it leaked out, and we had to give up. There ain't nothing I can do, and I'll go way home to get the wife and the kids and take 'em down to the beach."

"You mean that the fire's out of control?" The fireman laughed radically. "Out of control? Don't make me laugh. This ain't no regular fire. This is hot but it's burning on the beach. He pointed toward the sky.

A report to the Women of America on our Wounded and the critical need for more Wacs in Army Hospitals

The plain fact of the matter is—if something isn't done soon, and very soon, the wounded and hospitalized American soldier may not continue to get the care to which he is entitled.

The American casualty—the boy from Portland or Brooklyn or Windsor Locks or Council Bluffs—may not continue to get his bandages changed often enough. He may not be bathed or made comfortable early enough because there may not be enough people to help.

As a result, the recuperation and return to normal life of the boy from Portland or Windsor Locks may be needlessly delayed.

These Are the Facts

In the two-and-a-half years from Pearl Harbor up to the Invasion of France—total American battle casualties were 224,693. From "D" Day until January 1, 1945, Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson reported that in France, the Lowlands and the German border region, casualties in the ground forces, alone, of the United States Army totaled 332,912, of whom 232,572 were wounded. Overall American battle casualties as reported through January 7, 1945 were 662,299.

These Are the Sobbing Figures:

Wounded are being returned from overseas to Army General Hospitals in this country at the rate of 30,000 a month. Many of these men have been wounded two and three times. One Georgia Sergeant had been wounded SEVEN TIMES! There are thousands of husbands and brothers and sons recuperating in Army hospitals overseas regaining strength to return to duty or to come back to the States for further treatment. Are the women of America going to disappoint them?

At the moment, every Army nurse in the United States must handle twenty-six hospital beds—almost twice as many beds as any one person is efficiently able to handle.

The Army is doing everything in its power to obtain more nurses. At the same time, a vast effort must be made to stretch the professional efficiency of every single Army nurse on duty in the United States. This is why Wacs are needed—now—right here.

The Imperative Need for Wacs in Army General Hospitals in This Country

More than 8,000 Wacs are needed immediately in United States Army Hospitals to help Army doctors and nurses in their tremendous task. Unless nurses are able to give full time to the professional nursing requirements of individual cases, wounded men will lack proper care. Unless more Wacs are found to take over non-professional duties, recuperation and rehabilitation of hospitalized soldiers will be retarded.

Approximately 3,500 Wacs are already at work in our Army General Hospitals today. Soon, another 1,000 Wacs now in training will go on duty.

But this is not nearly enough to fill the minimum needs of Army hospitals in the United States.

The Work Wacs Do in Army Hospitals

There is a pressing backlog of requisitions, at the moment, for WAC Medical and Surgical Technicians. Any woman, aged 20 to 49, inclusive, may apply. Previous hospital training is not necessary. If you can qualify, the Army will train you.

WAC Medical Technicians under professional supervision of Army doctors and nurses aid in the care of wounded soldiers. They help with blood transfusions, serve as ward masters, deliver meals to wounded soldiers and feed the helpless ones, and keep those essential records which are important to their present progress and their post-war protection.

WAC Surgical Technicians under professional supervision specialize in the technique of assisting doctors and nurses don surgical gowns and gloves, attend to the care, repair and sterilization of operating instruments, and assist in the pre- and post-operative care of patients.

Wacs are also doing marvelous work as medical stenographers. An Army doctor using a Wac in this capacity can take care of many more patients, for he does not need to retain mental notes or take time to write up a case before seeing another.

Wacs Will Be Recruited for Hospital Units

The Army's goal is a unit of 100 Wacs to every thousand beds in Army General Hospitals in this country.

Each unit will be made up of several platoons. Each platoon will number fifteen Wacs. Many women will want to interest their friends in making up platoons—doubtless many communities will set out to recruit a whole unit.

Although the primary need is for Medical and Surgical Technicians, any woman with clerical aptitude should also apply. For each WAC unit will need several women with clerical ability. General of the Army George C. Marshall, on January 7, wrote the Governor of each State as follows:

"The care of the increasing number of casualties arriving in the United States, together with an acute shortage in nurses and hospital personnel generally, necessitates urgent measures being taken to recruit and rapidly train women for service in Army hospitals.

"We urgently need Wacs for our sixty General Hospitals.

"Your leadership in recruiting women for such platoons will be a great service to the Army. These recruits will be trained for assignment to particular named Army General Hospitals, including those located in your State."

Previous Experience Is Not Necessary—The Army Trains You—Technician Fifth Grade Ratings at Successful Completion of Training

If you've had two years of high school—or the equivalent—go to your nearest United States Army Recruiting Station and apply for a WAC Hospital Unit.

If you meet enlistment requirements, you will be given six weeks of basic training before being sent to a recognized Army Medical Technician School. After six weeks of technical training, you will be assigned to an Army hospital, where you will have four weeks of additional on-the-job training.

Those who qualify will become Technicians Fifth Grade immediately on completion of their training.

Not only are these WAC hospital jobs of infinite importance in war time, but they can lead to a career.

Women trained in this kind of work will find medical, industrial and social fields for their skills in years to come. The experience gained from serving in Army Hospitals under war-time conditions is invaluable.

The Need Is Imperative—The Need Is Immediate!

Of all the needs in the country today this is the most urgent.

Never in the world was a woman's war job more clearly defined, more obvious. Sacrifice! To be able to assist in comforting our wounded heroes . . . in easing their pain . . . in speeding their recovery!

Not it's an honor—a privilege—an experience—for a woman to cherish forever.

Our wounded need your help—
