

NEW FLU VACCINE KNOCKS 'EM OLD

NEW YORK, April 12 (AP)—A new influenza vaccine, having about 10 times more immunizing potency than usual commercial flu vaccines, is announced in the Journal of Experimental Medicine of the Rockefeller Institute.

This vaccine is being made commercially and has been tried on human beings and the results are most satisfactory.

Studies which led to the vaccine are reported by Dr. Wendell M. Stanley, of the institute.

New features are in methods of preparation. Results of flu vaccination in the past have been irregular. The standard influenza vaccine's irregularities probably were due to foreign proteins in the vaccine and to varying amounts of the flu virus, the stuff that affords protection.

In previous vaccines the manufacturing methods were somewhat difficult. The new vaccine is made more easily, a fact which promises large scale production.

FRESH RURAL AIR CAN'T BE CAUGHT

CHICAGO, April 12 (AP)—That stuff that passes for fresh air in air-conditioned cocktail lounges isn't the same as the ozone that floats over a country hilltop.

The Journal of the American Medical Association said today that the claims of some companies that the desired qualities of fresh country air can be recaptured in air-conditioned atmospheres are incorrect.

Despite the use of ionization, ozone, chlorophyll and other special processes, air produced indoors lacks the "stimulating qualities" of country air, the Journal declared.

"Early future developments may bring the air of the country hilltop into the cocktail 'lounges', but such air has not yet arrived," the AMA's committee on air-conditioning reported.

HELP FOR HOLLAND

To most Americans the Dutch have always seemed a quaint people with their windmills, wooden shoes, tulip-stocks, wide starched collars and wider breeches. We've chuckled at them and their queer clacking language, but we have also admired them for their industry and neatness, their apple-cheeked health, and their resourceful battle against the encroaching sea.

Perhaps the average American's picture of the Netherlands has been a little distorted. The Dutch have known bitter wars and black poverty. Yet in the main our impression of a healthy, happy people has probably been accurate. At least it was until May 10, 1940.

On that day, nearly five years ago, commenced what is doubtless the most tragic chapter of Dutch history. The Germans invaded the Low Countries to "protect" them from the allies. Four days later the Dutch armies had capitulated, the Luftwaffe flew over the great city of Rotterdam unopposed, and bombed it to rubble.

From that day on, the Dutch were blacker, the Nazis, ever convinced that their brutality was not forgotten or forgiven by their Dutch neighbors, resorted to cruelty. They burnt and starved, they tortured and they could with sabotage, passive resistance, disobedience and riotous.

Last fall starvation seemed imminent. Allied armies drove up from Belgium to free the southern Netherlands provinces. Then the Germans held. And for the greater part of the country still in Nazi hands, the worst was beginning.

The Germans opened dikes and dams and poured the bitter brine of sea water over land made sweet and fertile by the toil of generations. The important source of food thus lost could not be replaced for at least ten years. Starvation thus was added to indignity and fear.

In the ruins of the once proud city of Rotterdam and in the streets of Amsterdam and The Hague, Hollanders dropped and died of starvation each day. There was food only for the German conquerors. And their cruel fury apparently increased as the months passed.

Now at last the day of liberation is at hand—not only for the Dutch but also for the English, as the Germans are driven from their last bastion in the Netherlands. And there is nothing in all the present tide of allied victory that brings greater cause for solemn rejoicing.

Reorganization apparently are preparing to move in exactly one month are driven out. And there is urgent need for haste. The little country whose markets once abounded in golden butter and cheese, rich cream and other delicacies of the west, each day's bread in bringing food to them will mean the death of hundreds more.

It is, in part, for the sake of the Dutch that the President has asked us to help our belts. As we think of them we might reflect on the meagerness of the sacrifice we are asked to make.

CLARE—President Roosevelt and Premier Stalin are engaged in a more fundamental than any other of postwar organization and permanent peace.

Washington, Feb. 11, 1945 (AP)—President Roosevelt and Premier Stalin are engaged in a more fundamental than any other of postwar organization and permanent peace. The two leaders are expected to discuss the broad questions of the multiplicity of nations in the world assembly and administration of the United Nations.

Washington and London have made every attempt to conceal the dramatic developments behind the diplomatic curtain. In fact, the White House and state department welcome the open discussion of the cause they tend to subordinate the reality of the situation.

The Russian situation has been a United States sponsored last fall. He does not dispute that little war nations should have either a loud or a small voice in any position for keeping the peace. He considers them to be too ineffectual to be taken into account.

The responsibility for preventing future wars, in his opinion, should be assumed by the three great powers of the world—Great Britain, the United States. He would not include France or China in this economic and anti-war hegemony.

SECRET—Stalin's ultimate aim is a straight-out alliance of the three great powers that will be the major burden of defeating Germany. He argues that if they are sincere in their desire for peace and will accept the responsibility for the maintenance of peace, they should be given a seat at the table.

Reverend—Veteran Washington observers and friends of James P. Byrne wonder whether the canny statesman will be able to resist the temptation of exploiting his vice-presidential fame in Chicago next July. Despite the "Dear Jimmie" evidence of the statesman's political astuteness, it is difficult to see the relations between the men are strained.

Another source of concern is the fact that the senate voted on the work-or-fight bill in conformity with the executive order. The bill is a measure of the White House setback on Capitol Hill. So was his order that he may cancel contracts for several years.

The labor measure was doomed to defeat after two moves by the assistant president. It was a measure that would have been such a tally to the labor movement. The bill was a measure of the White House setback on Capitol Hill.

WASHINGTON CALLING 'BY MARQUIS CHILDS' BY POT SHOTS

WASHINGTON—It is rare that any humor creeps into the grim accounts of this war that has laid waste to the lives of millions. There was a little scene of pure comedy in the news out of Germany the other day.

The setting was a German city in Westphalia, and the principal actress was Princess Valerie Maria. The princess had been told to leave her castle and its 20 rooms to live in a 14-room annex, and she was in a pique over the matter.

"You Americans have bombed Germany so that I have been compelled to move into this little annex," she told the American colonel. "I am sure you will understand my position."

While she represents an extremely privileged class in Germany, she is a German today. What she who lived in the outside world had had to comprehend is the degree to which the Germans have been cut off from everything that has happened for the last two years behind the wall of Nazi censorship and isolation.

They have only been going to the cinema of the cruellest and barbaric practices practiced by the German invaders throughout Europe. They can have no idea of the bitter life they are hated everywhere.

The story of Princess Valerie makes me think of an incident I witnessed in Cologne. A respectable German family had been driven from their home and were living in a small room in a tenement house.

Mr. and Mrs. K. W. Snyder and their family were present at a luncheon and attended a East Mennonite conference. Mr. Snyder is a member of the Mennonite church and is a resident of the Mennonite settlement at the Robert Danz Home.

Derby Deal

Maat J. Wain, president of American Turf societies, plans to run this Kentucky derby at "Vault" tracks about a month after racing has lifted. Entry blanks were mailed out yesterday.

Relay Program Set by Coach

The largest number of handbills ever to gather on one field in prospect today is on file with the organizers of the Twin Falls Relays which are to be held on the night of April 20.

Although about one dozen schools have selected Coach Myers that they would send relay teams, the number of that make it open to any school in the Magic Valley. He said he hoped that some of the smaller schools, where track isn't a fixed sport, would send a team or two for the relays which they pick the relays in which they desire to compete.

Coach Myers had sent out the following notice to schools, showing the events and the program: "This is our first year and we are planning on the following events: 1. 100 yd. relay—four men, front only. 2. 440 yd. relay—four men 110 yards each (varily). 3. 200 yd. relay—four men 220 yards each (top and front). 4. 800 yd. relay—four men 220 yards each (varily). 5. Mile relay—440 each four men. 6. Medley relay—120, 240, and 80 yd. 7. Shot relay—three men (add best of each for team total). 8. 200 yd. relay—four men (add best vault of each for team total). 9. Special mile run. 10. Shuttle hurdle relay—four men over five hurdles, each man 100 yards (100 yd. between hurdles and 50 yd. in both ends). "These events have been selected with the idea of giving every school on the track squad a chance to participate and still keep the running time of the central to around an hour.

"If you have any suggestions as to other events we could use to make it a better meet we would welcome your suggestions.

"The special mile was added to take care of miles without putting a time consuming event and also not to complicate track measurements.

"We anticipate placing of runners to winners of first, second, and third places in each event.

"SOFI RELAY TEAM WINS The upstage of the sophomores in Twin Falls high school athletics was demonstrated yesterday when the team from that class won the 800-yard relay as the annual class meet came to an end.

"The sophomore team composed of Olen, Tim Gault, Myron Gault, and John Rogers, ran the distance in 14:45, considered exceptional by sophomores on a track that had a thin coating of snow. The winners were second and the juniors third.

John Hughes, a junior, won the javelin with a best throw of 108 feet, 6 inches. He beat out Stanley Miller, senior; Paul Ewing, senior; and Al Starns, junior.

The seniors won the meet with 79 points followed by the juniors with 45 1/2 and the sophomores with 40 1/2.

NEA STAFF Correspondent WILMINGTON, Del., April 12 (AP)—Ted McGrew, a middle-aged man with thinning black hair, has been in baseball for 45 years as a player, manager, umpire and scout. All he has to do is to become an umpire, says Ted, and he will have covered every rung in the ladder. But he is satisfied to stay on his present job which sends him into the hinterlands in quest of baseball flesh which somebody, he hopes, will make a challenge of the much-abused Phillies, Philadelphia.

Even in these days when clubs are grabbing almost anybody who can catch a ball, there is certain code of procedure which forbids attempts to follow.

"First thing I do is find out about the arm," explains McGrew. "A good arm cannot be faked. It is a gift to be born with."

McGrew can't remember the player? "Third—is the a hitter? Maybe it surprises you to learn we hold hitting things in the highest esteem, but the way it goes. If I can hit throw I can't, probably they are not to a weak bat."

There is sometimes a slight chance for a man who finds himself in a throwing and running. If his arm is always a talented hitter, but had certain weaknesses at first base. In a slow runner can be employed as a catcher, first baseman or perhaps second base. In all cases, however, they must be better than average hitters to atone for their weakness.

Judging a pitcher, scouts look for a fast ball, a curve ball, a change including control. A six-foot fellow has the jump on a five-foot fellow but the under-sized one is not tossed out of the game.

McGrew, who headed Pete Reiser and Pee Wee Reese's 1939 team, and Charley Schanz to the Phils, says the best players are those who insist on bettering themselves after they reach the majors. Bill Terry was a splendid hitter, but had certain weaknesses at first base. Instead of spending his leisure moments on the field, he concentrated on things he could do. He learned to do everything.

Great second baseman, Billy Herman was a bad hitter when he joined the Cubs. A right-handed hitter, the Louisville product simply could not push a ball into right field, behind the runner, and worked on that one big weakness, became the National League's best right-handed right fielder.

There is one unpleasant thing about scouting. Though McGrew works for a major league club, his owners, and he is satisfied no matter who might operate there in the future.

Immediate Settlement Necessary McGrew's new president of the Cobbers here said that the owners bringing the matter out into the open is a good thing.

Suppose we should attempt to organize, probably within the next six months, the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, Jack Halliwell, president of the Idaho-Idaho circuit, early this morning said that he was confident that all areas against the capital city franchise would be satisfied soon and play resumed in the league with the same six cities as members.

Evans Next Bear Mentor?

The discharge of Joseph Leonard B. "Bibb" Allison raises the question here of whether or not Jimmy "Doc" Evans should be named as the Bears' coach, might not get the job of coaching the Graduate University team.

It was Evans, graduate manager of a baseball organization Evans mentored his first class as coach after 10 years service.

Allison's release, voted by the student body's executive committee at a conference with the faculty, was announced last night at a press conference in San Francisco.

The ABFO voted not to renew the contract of Dr. Leonard B. Allison at its weekly meeting last night. The committee said in a statement that Allison's release expires May 31, but no successor was named.

Obviously perplexed by the under-graduate's attitude, Allison declared that he would not resign until he had been asked to do so. Allison is an exponent of fundamental football and some of the accused him "a lack of offensive imagination" in the face of opponents who use the "T" formation and man in motion style of play.

During his tenure Allison coached his team to a 10-2 record and won 58 games and lost 6. Last year one of Allison's poorest—California—won 10 games and lost 10. Allison coached every high school team in 1935 after serving under him four years as line coach.

Other Clubs in Good Standing Although all other clubs in the circuit, Twin Falls, Idaho Falls, Pocatello, Ogden and Salt Lake City are in good standing with the National Association.

The details are held against the circuit by the Boise franchise owners, and he is satisfied no matter who might operate there in the future.

Immediate Settlement Necessary McGrew's new president of the Cobbers here said that the owners bringing the matter out into the open is a good thing.

Boise Backs

POCATELLO, April 12 (AP)—While admitting that the Boise territory in the Pioneer League has been declared open by W. G. Brancham, president of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, Jack Halliwell, president of the Idaho-Idaho circuit, early this morning said that he was confident that all areas against the capital city franchise would be satisfied soon and play resumed in the league with the same six cities as members.

As the circuit is now constituted, with Boise in it as one of the strongest in organized baseball and I am in favor of the league remaining as is, Halliwell said.

"I believe that all five remaining directors of the league favor Boise staying in the league and it is they who have the say in the make-up of the circuit."

"I am keeping in close touch with the Boise situation and already a movement has been started to replace the league."

Halliwell said that Hedy Walker, who owned the franchise when the league suspended, had gone to a "line of expense in building a park and that no one would like to see him pushed out."

Halliwell repeated all suggestions that Provo, Utah, replace Boise in the circuit.

JAYCEES STRESS VOTE CAMPAIGN

Board members of the Twin Falls Junior Chamber of Commerce meeting at a noon luncheon yesterday announced that they would stress their anti-vice vote project at the forthcoming city runoff election April 24.

President Fred Moore stressed the fact that Jaycees over the nation try to get every voter to exercise his right of franchise at every election.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce does not care how you vote, but says that you cast a ballot, voter.

State law requires that his name be on the ticket since his name was not on the three-way race major of the city primary.

John D. Platt, principal of the high school here, requested that the Jaycees give transportation to Jerome and return for 43 students here by contacting Robert Johnston being held in that city April 16.

The directors voted to this and Bob Warburg was named chairman of a committee in charge of the project.

General Business It was announced that 15 sanitary garbage units are still available and any resident wishing one may obtain it by contacting Robert Johnston at Kreggville.

The board members reviewed returns from the current membership campaign and found that more than 30 new applications for membership had been filed.

The membership drive will continue until April 18 when a general membership dinner-meeting will be held at the Park hotel to elect officials for the forthcoming year. The dinner will be free to all members and prospective members.

Four Snake River Firms Make Over Half U. S. Potato Share

Four companies in the Snake River valley in southern Idaho—including the Magic Valley Processing company in Twin Falls—now produce more than half of the white potato starch contained in the United States.

The authority for the statement is a recent issue of the Wall Street journal which points out that the Idaho concern was all established in 1910.

The concerns, the report states, have produced more than 2,170 tons of starch, worth approximately $2,100,000. They have utilized more than 330 million pounds of cut potatoes, equivalent to 7,022 carloads of 65 full train loads.

Guided through the Steinhilber and company, New York, which markets the entire output. Demand far exceeds supply.

Principal use for potato starch is by the textile trade in the weaving of shirting material. Linen goods and rayon. It is used also in the paper and adhesive industries and in food products such as syrup, pie filling and dessert bases.

Steinhilber, pioneer in sweet potato starch development, recently has produced and marketed a quick dessert preparation to lipocum, made from the Idaho product.

Power Firm Mentioned The article points out that the Idaho Power company was one factor in assuring success of the starch industry.

Following are the production records of the firms in pounds, with figures given for 1944-45, the second for 1943-44 and the third for 1942-43.

Magic Valley Processing company: Twin Falls; 1,600,000; 4,200,000; 7,600,000. Idaho Potato starch company: Blackfoot; 3,000,000; 5,100,000; 8,900,000. None in 1941-42; 2,380,000; 4,500,000.

SALVATION ARMY CHINA AID TOLD

Salvation Army work in China where it had been a resident since 1917, was detailed here Thursday by Brig. Anton Crenshaw, Salvation Army official, as he spoke to members of the local Kiwanis club.

Crenshaw, who is a native of Sweden, is en route to his home here today, where he has only been since he started his China service. His present visit is his first to the United States and he is giving addresses at various towns while crossing the country to the east coast.

Living conditions in China, he said, have to be seen to be appreciated. The people in general are so poor, he said, that he has seen that the lives of half a million Chinese had been saved through meals served by the Salvation Army.

Each year, he said, thousands die of starvation and added that "the work to be done in China is still great."

The speaker was introduced by Maj. Clara Nielson, head of the Salvation Army in Twin Falls. Program chairman for the day was the Rev. Mark C. Cronberger.

Officers of the day were: P. M. Johnson, Berkeley, Calif.; assistant of John D. Platt was Howard Burkhardt, accountant; visiting Kiwanis member was Frank Smith, Boise; guest of Orlo Hill was Miss Scott.

Announcement was made that a picture being the most recognized among those displayed at luncheon last night to honor the club members that was no moon season of club members that day.

THE WARNING
XIX
When Mr. Hudson got out of the car and came toward the house, he looked very old and very tired. He had two newspapers and a copy of the Atlantic Monthly under his arm. Mr. Hudson, an ex-actor, contrived somehow to look the epitome of what every girl wanted. Mr. Hudson passed us without a word. Pat stopped and stared at her father for a moment. Her lovely eyes were troubled. Then she said:

"Nick, I hate the sight of this place. Let's take a walk along the beach."
"Sure," I said and turned to Chase. He nodded and we set off. "Where's Europe, Nick?" asked Pat when the ocean stretched wide before us.

"Out there," I pointed.
"And Spain?" she said, "just beyond that spar buoy."
"Beyond the horizon: about an hour's ride."
"I remember Spain and all of Europe," I said with the eyes of a little girl who thought the world was her oyster and who never knew a word of trouble. "But she grew up."

"Nick," she looked at me steadily, "I have a great idea. Let's go to Europe. What?" I said and I looked at her. She smiled wily and touched my cheek gently with her hand.
"The Hudsons are poor. Father told me that. He's a poor man. He feels it dreadfully."
"That happened."
"Lies of the field and bad management," she said.

"About the money? No." She shook her head and I knew she took care of everything more important than our losing money.
"What's that?" I asked.
"This is not quite so easy to tell. Father has stopped. He's mixed up in something—well—dishonorable."
"Pat—" I began but she stopped me.

"There's no sense in keeping it from you, Nick. You'll know eventually and I want you to hear it first from me. As a matter of fact, I know very little except what he told me. On the way back from Miami, he talked nostalgically of better days. Then he said, 'Pat, I must tell you this for the small share of honor I can preserve in confiding such a shabby thing. Your father is mixed up in a very dangerous and dirty game. But it will be for long.' 'In pulling out—' My pulse began to beat in my temples.

"Pat," did he say what this game was?"
"No," she shook her head. "He just said not to worry and he would take care of everything."
"I think I had better talk with your father, Pat."
"You can't do that, Nick," she said quietly. "You know father's stubbornness. Besides this is quite confidential. But since Europe, those very names is wormwood to him, stay right at the Lodge? Why did your father consent to coming down to the Lodge in the first place, when it has been impossible for me to budge him more than three feet off

Deacon Hill from September 13 June?"
"I've wandered about that myself," I said.
Pat had gone to her room for a map, and I started for my own room. I was under Mr. Hudson. When a man of the fiber of Finneas Hudson faces dishonor, he becomes capable of desperate measures. That the moment I stepped into my room, I thought of Finneas Hudson's father.

If there had been another door in that room, I could have sworn that someone had stepped through it the moment I entered. It was as if the quiet air had stirred faintly. The constant presence of danger hanging over us could be seen on the face of someone had been in the room.

I stood for a moment in the doorway and looked around. Everything was just as I had left it. The mysterious note was still on the table by my bed. Yet it seemed that the book had been moved a little so that I got a clearer view of the design on the jacket: the shadowed outline of a hanging corpse. I turned to the bureau. There in a corner of the mirror tucked in between the glass and the frame was a white slip of paper like a parking ticket on a windshield. I unfolded it and read the message posted on the paper with the cut-out letters of newspapers and magazines.

GET OUT OR BE KILLED
The paper was a brand of cheap white adhesive such as can be bought at any stationer. The letters were cut from The Times. I slipped the message into my pocket. I had only one impression left: thought: murderers do not marry their kind.

Then I had what I thought was an inspiration. It is a practice in flying to reach your cockpit at first, then suddenly to add his force in a your own by going the way he pushes.

I would take the advice. I would leave the father and by combining the note writer's strength with my own, I might learn something.

Wounded Soldier Returns to Duty

JEROME, April 12—Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Studvyn, Jerome, have received word from the department that their son, Pvt. W. R. Studvyn, who was wounded last Nov. 6, had been returned to duty. Private Studvyn was wounded five months ago and is serving at the time in the European theater.

HOLD EVERYTHING

"Pat," did he say what this game was?"
"No," she shook her head. "He just said not to worry and he would take care of everything."
"I think I had better talk with your father, Pat."
"You can't do that, Nick," she said quietly. "You know father's stubbornness. Besides this is quite confidential. But since Europe, those very names is wormwood to him, stay right at the Lodge? Why did your father consent to coming down to the Lodge in the first place, when it has been impossible for me to budge him more than three feet off

"You don't think it has something to do with that business in the cellar this morning?"
"Why, no, Pat."
"You do, then. She faced me resolutely. "And so do I. There are too many loose ends here. For example, why didn't father notice? Can't he see the attack on you this morning? Why was father so insistent that Bruce Temple, those very names is wormwood to him, stay right at the Lodge? Why did your father consent to coming down to the Lodge in the first place, when it has been impossible for me to budge him more than three feet off

"Remove that—I don't care if you do get free passes!"
"Just when the spring air gets clear and fresh you want to clutter it up with a lot of dirt and gets!"

"IN DULCE" BATTLE
MITCHELL FIELD, N. Y.—Pic. —Capt. Carl E. O'Connell, 30, who lives with his wife and Mrs. R. O. McCall on a farm outside of Twin Falls, Idaho, has been decorated with the Medal of Honor for his gallantry by plane after six months in Europe with the 101st Airborne Division.

In the army altogether five and a half years, he went over with the 101st Airborne Division in Luxembourg. During the battle of the bulge, "they started shelling us, and brother, I mean it was a battle in there," he said, "and I remember being in front of our forward line."

"We'd take that hill, that town, rest a couple of days and then take it off again," he said. "I remember the enemy made it lead time to take his big gun with him—and some soldiers we found dumb guns. One we got about 200 yards off of a little village, high ranking officers, too. I don't remember those town names—we just kept on going."

He said he got up there while they were still in the air. He said he got up there while they were still in the air. He said he got up there while they were still in the air.

NEED FOR SUGAR INCREASE CITED

Adopts 'The'
Lent. Col. Ralph W. Omsand, former 7th Army commander, has been connected with the special sub-committee of the senate committee on agriculture, stated recently in a memo made the Amalgamated Sugar Company.

The memo stated that the committee was complicated by two factors: (1) Philippine supplies have been cut off, and (2) more than 70,000 tons were consumed in 1944 for the manufacture of synthetic rubber for military purposes.

Mr. Omsand, war food administrator, also speaking of the sugar situation urges farmers to sugar beet factory areas where land is adapted to best production to make their sugar beet good.

"Sugar is definitely on the critical crop list and as far as this country is concerned, 1945 will be the most difficult year of the war," Omsand said.

The WPA head pointed out that in the intermountain territory, particularly in Idaho, Utah and Colorado, there is still "ample time for farmers to plant sugar beets." Most can and war prisoner labor is assured growers in these areas in planting, hoeing and harvesting the 1945 crop. The entire sugar beet crop of the United States is estimated at 12 million tons.

"The United States sugar requirement is made up of 6 million tons for civilians and 14 million tons for the military service, which represents a per capita consumption of 84 pounds for civilians in 1945 or seven per cent below 1944, Jones stated.

WASHED RELIEF CLOTHES ASKED

Although it is not mandatory, persons contributing washable garments to the United National clothing collection are urged to wash them and see up zips and tears, if possible, before turning them in. It will facilitate sorting and packing of this type of contribution.

It is here, chairman of the sorting and packing committee, said Wednesday. Underwear is the only type of contribution that must be washed, according to officials of the clothing collection campaign.

Sorting and packing of bedding, clothing and shoes, is going on daily at the central collection depot in the basement of the Twin Falls public library, from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. Any women wishing to assist in this project, is welcome, Mrs. Reed said.

Twin Falls and surrounding communities are responding generally to the collection drive, and we can use all the help we can get in sorting and packing the items for overseas relief," she added.

Contributors are being sorted as follows:

Type 1, infants' wear up to three years; Type 2, children's from 3 to 8; Type 3, men's and boys' 9 years and over; Type 4, women's and girls' 9 years and over; Type 5, shoes, toilet necessities, tied together and Type 6, bedding, usable remnants and miscellaneous.

A number of organizations are cooperating in sorting and packing. Chairmen of the various groups include:

Rural Federation of Women's clubs, Mrs. O. McCall; Brothers church women, Mrs. Verne Melton; Methodist church women, Mrs. E. Z. Quilty; Baptist church women, Mrs. M. O. Ruckelshaus; Presbyterian church women, Mrs. Roy Baines; Christian church women, Mrs. I. P. Burch; Catholic church women, Mrs. George Sisk; American Legion auxiliary, Mrs. Ray Treadwell; Parents-Teachers associations, Mrs. A. Richardson; Betsie Gamma club.
