ADMIRAL DOENITZ

Doenitz, at Nazis' Helm, Once Insane

LONDON, May 2 (AP)—Admiral Karl Doenitz, self-announced successor to Hitler, ended the last war as an inmate of a British lunatic asylum and emerged in this war with the fanatical cry: "Kil! Kil! Kil!"

Doenitz, scolded and abandoned the submarine he commanded during a battle in the Mediterranean in October, 1916, then surrendered to the British.

There to England, he was committed to the Manchester asylum. Some who knew him said he feigned insanity. He later was re-arrested to Germany as insane.

In this war, Doenitz sent his sub-boat crews into battle with the British. He was captured by the British in 1945.

Black Market Versus Brighter Meals

I guess our town doesn't like rationing any better than other folks. But when a fellow went from door to door the other day peddling butter, cheese, and bacon without permits, he didn't find a single taker.

Ed Corey's mission, Sarah, was summed it up. "I'd just be ashamed to have that butter on my table," Sarah says. "I'd a heap rather have my family and guests put up with what I can serve honestly, than give 'em a treat from the Black Market."

5-YEAR CAPTIVES FREED; JUBILANT

IN GERMANY, MAY 2—Today we drove east as part of a great caravan being thrust into the arms of a week and riddled with machine-guns.

West by the thousands, in dresses and in swans, came a literal parade of liberated war and political prisoners, slave laborers and surrendering German soldiers. Pretty soon the column said "We can't continue tonight. Too many Germans. They're not giving us any light but we have to do something with them. And too many other people. We will have to work them in the night and go ahead in the morning."

With no missing it was hard to keep realizing that each pair of worn dust-covered shoes carried an individual story. But they did.

Remember May, 1940? Private Johnny and Trooper Adam remember it. I can't print their first names because their folks haven't been notified yet. They're a couple of Scottish boys. Johnny was captured May 23, 1940, and Adam fell into German hands two days later.

For five years they had been German prisoners. They met our column and we gave them a lift toward home. April 28 was Johnny's 25th birthday and Adam's 24th. Little Egg you never saw.

"Man alive," he shouted, "for more-ever could a man ask for-r his birthday?"

They had warm clothes on their backs, a good steak dinner under their belts and they were back among friendly faces for the first time in five years. They were on their way home. The world was a wonderful place.

It wasn't such a wonderful place, however, for Ed Arthur Welles of the Bronx. Art's job is taking care of prisoners—searching them, questioning them, lining them up in separate groups and seeing that they're shipped in the proper order of their cases. In an hour it means help handle nearly 400 prisoners.

German Liar

As he spoke a middle-aged German who had arranged the surrender of a big group came up and tried to start conversation by saying that he lived in New York City from 1922 to 1928. Art asked him where he worked. He explained that he worked as a dishwasher, a bus boy and finally as a newspaperman. Art asked what paper.

"Oh, naturally it was a German language paper—very progressive," the German said.

Art repeated his query and the prisoner named the paper. He said to slur the syllables of its name together and repeating "a very authentic paper, a good German paper."

"Why, you lying word-of-a-word," Art barked. "Get back with those other so-called ones."

The prisoner scurried away. "That was the most public pre-visit with his Jewish paper in New York," Welles said.

50,000 YANKEES WILD ON RELEASE

WITH THE U. S. TROOPS MOORED DIVISION, MAY 2 (AP)—High spirits, 50,000 Americans of them air force officers, mobbed 14th armored division tank men in one of the wildest liberation ever witnessed in Germany.

The Americans were among 120,000 allied prisoners, including 37 high-ranking officers, freed at Stahle and in the towns around Moosburg where the Germans had the biggest concentration of prisoners in Germany.

In Good Shape

In contrast to the starvation conditions prevailing in the other liberated camps, the prisoners in the Moosburg area fig. the most part were in good physical condition. This was due to the presence among the prisoners of a number of allied officers.

Another factor contributing to their well-being was the presence of Swedish food from whence the International Red Cross was able to procure food parcels without encountering too great transportation difficulties.

At Stahle in Moosburg, where 27,000 prisoners, including 14,891 Americans, were kept, there were 115,000 food parcels and 100,000 blankets on hand when the camp was liberated.

High-Pitch Morale

Moral was kept at high pitch at Stahle by the strict discipline enforced by the camp commander, Col. Paul R. Good of Corvallis, Ore., and his staff.

"The Germans treated us very good, considering that they are goons," Good said.

Good is prison boss for all Germans.

About 50 per cent of the liberated prisoners of the entire 130,000 in the Moosburg area were airmen.

With the freeing of the camps around Moosburg most American

ALL KINDS OF WOE FOR JAPAN RULER

PEARLS HARBOR, May 2 (AP)—Americans in Hawaii, who were first to feel the iron fist of Emperor Hirohito, are undecided what would be done with him.

Some would kill him. Others would humiliate him. There are some who would seek to use him in the hope of converting Japan into a peace-loving country.

"What to do with Hirohito" the Honolulu Star-Bulletin asked.

"Of course, the emperor should have a trial," wrote an army corporal. "Then we shall shoot him."

But a civilian concluded that shooting "was too good" for the emperor. "There could be no greater punishment for Hirohito than to have to earn his living as a common man, not a god."

There were others who followed this line of reasoning. A civilian proposed that the emperor be preferred "a job in the rest of his life as a potter for the first of his life, at a salary no higher than is customary for such services."

Another civilian suggested that "we make their almighty god emperor ludicrous. Install him in a flashy uniform as doorman at American headquarters in Tokyo.

To a housewife the worst fate that could overcome him would be to "make him do his own work, or get his wife to do it for him. If she will."

A navy enlisted man said: "If Hirohito is taken alive, I think there could be no more appropriate punishment than to take him and his commanding officers over the

A boy with a broken neck in an American hospital in France got a pop from home.

In it was a five-pound package of pop that was mailed to him with his buddies in the hospital.

With the help of a Red Cross nurse, the "dejected" youngster "popped a party" for the gang, complete with popcorn, butter, salt, pepper, and a good deal of water.

Here's your invitation to the popcorn party—and may you enjoy it. The other evening we had a popcorn party in one of my wards and it was a good deal of fun.

YANKS RANSACK "PUTSCH" CELLAR

MUNICH, Germany, May 2.—Soldiers of the U. S. 42nd Infantry division swarmed into the famous beer cellar where Hitler Nov. 8, 1923, proclaimed his ill-fated putsch.

Nov. 8, 1923, a bomb went off in the cellar after Hitler and top leaders had left the place. Only a few wounded attendants remained and most of them were killed.

"I suggested that we might manage to pop the corn on the little stove right there in the ward and make a party out of it. This met with his enthusiastic approval."

How good is the best?

- In 1915, this $1,630 touring car was a good automobile—one of the best money could buy. In 1915, Union Oil made a good line of greases—8 different types "to meet every lubrication need." Today, the lowest-priced cars are far better than that 1915 touring car. And they sell for about it as much.
- Today, Union Oil makes 78 different greases for industry instead of 8! And their quality is equally superior. This doesn't mean the car manufacturers and ourselves aren't doing the best we know how in 1915. But it does prove the value of competition.
- After all, people were quite satisfied with 1915 automobiles and greases—in 1915. If no improvements had been introduced until we satisfied them today. For we know of nothing better to compare them with. But fortunately the manufacturers weren't satisfied. Not that they were any more idealistic than the average citizen.

- But each one knew that if he could put out a little bit better product than his competitors, he could grow his business. So they all kept working their brains for improvements. Progress, year by year, was gradual—as it always is. But in 30 years, these combined improvements made a phenomenal total.
- As a result, the American oil and automotive industries today have completely outstripped the rest of the world. No monopoly—private or governmental—could have accomplished as much. For there simply aren't the incentives to better your product when you already control the trade.
- So as long as there's still room for improvement in an industry, the only way to guarantee maximum progress is to have an economic system that guarantees maximum incentives. Our American system provides this to a degree no other system has ever approached.

GREAT PROMISES MADE BY HITLER

By Associated Press
Adolf Hitler, on Sept. 1, 1939, the day he took his country to war against Poland, declared in a speech to the German people:
"I myself am today, and will be in the future, the first to be killed in the German fight. I fought in the last war, so I will fight in this. I will put on the uniform and I shall take it off only in victory or death."
It is interesting to note that the first soldier of the German army to be killed in the last war, was an engineer who was killed in the attack on the Polish frontier. He was killed in the attack on the Polish frontier. He was killed in the attack on the Polish frontier.

Hitler's designated successor as a result of his death was his nephew, Grand Admiral Doenitz. Doenitz, who was in command of the German navy, was the only one of Hitler's associates who was not a member of the Nazi party. He was the only one of Hitler's associates who was not a member of the Nazi party.

Down through the years the words of Adolf Hitler in the days before he had plunged the German people into the most destructive war in the history of the world have never again capitulated. Those were the words with which he urged his people to follow him into the war he swore he would not quit until he was broken or killed.

"If it was to be a war, it was to be a war," he said, "and I was to be a part of it." "If it was to be a war, it was to be a war," he said, "and I was to be a part of it." "If it was to be a war, it was to be a war," he said, "and I was to be a part of it."
