(From Page One)
uncertainty of the recent war, all that delayed immediate occupation of Tokyo. The most serious possibility of the Yanks might strike Hondo Tuesday. If that occupation schedule might be disrupted.

'Well-Armed Boy'

These are the conditions that the army attention occupation would be hazardous. The irrepressible American Marines, the broadsword amphibious command taking eighth army forces ashore. The well-armed boy for five support necessary.

In addition to the scheduled prompt move into Tokyo, the Japanese radio today said 600,000 American troops from August arrived would move Tuesday morning to Hiroshima in northern Kyushu. Representatives of the American forces already were negotiating with Japanese officials, the broadcast said, and small advance parties already had landed in Kanoya airfield and entered the city of Chiba. Japanese received the news of their country's first surrender with calm, although the capitulation—completed aboard the battleship Missouri at 8 a. m. Sunday (4:30 p. m. Saturday, N.W.T.)—shook the empire to the core and added to the confusion of the Japanese.

The first Yank troops in 1933 to force open Japan's doors to world trade, westernization.

'Surrender at Once'

Complying with MacArthur's first order a military ruler of Japan, special headquarters, the broadcast said, commanders to surrender at once.

Empire Hirohito promptly issued his first proclamation after the surrender, commanding "all my people forthwith to cease hostilities" and disarm.

This proclamation agreed that Japan would be free to accept the occupation restrictions, which specify occupation until lasting peace is assured, and require removal of all arms, and free speech and religion.

Japanese veteran, associated Press Tokyo correspondent, reported that many of Japan's intelligentsia, including the emperor, in his role, "consider American forces almost as liberators."

Tokyo's Yomiuri Hochu urged editorially that proportional representation be used in the scheduled elections next January "fair" and urged greater power for Japan's house of representatives.

A tremendous show of allied military power was spread over and around the Japanese cities as they signed the formal surrender document August 14.

Through the cloud cover, Foreign Minister Mamoru Shigemitsu and his cabinet would cast their votes to approve the terms of the 2,000 allied planes circling overhead. Around the world and ashore was the response of the people. The world was to share a million.

Survey Shows Region Might Lose Doctors

Shortage of hospital-qualified physicians—caused the hospital board to take the drastic action.

Primary concern of the board of county commissioners is to see that county residents have adequate medical care. This they are doing with the present staff at the hospital.

Whether help should be sought at the hospital can be improved remains to be seen. More attractive salaries for the proposed change in ownership would be another matter that would tend to cause a prospective worker to consider a more permanent position.

One thing is to be clear. The next move is up to the citizens committee. The commissioners have made that plain.

We are ready to consider any proposal this group might make, asserted Ernest Molander, chairman of the board.

Operation of the hospital has been a continual headache since 1943. In 1944, alone, the local community paid $281 Flying Fortresses from Seattle to Twin Falls and then to Denver.

Kenny is an orphan but already his business has made enough money so that he'll never have to worry about that, education his father parents are determined he shall have.

Lofty Twins Need Bigger Type Cutter

NORWALK, Calif., Sept. 3 (AP)—Tall guys are okay in their place, but if you ask coast guard officials, their place is not aboard ship.

Robert and William White, identical twins from Norwalk, some 6 feet, seven inches tall are stationed in San Diego now after having spent a hitch aboard a 125-foot coast guard cutter.

When they returned on ship when general quarters sounded, as the cut-off line pair tried to squeeze through hatches built for lesser men. Somehow or other, the remainder of the crew always piled up behind them.

Once crew time, and the twins presented another problem, what with their long legs all but knocking mates off their seats on the opposite side of the table.

After months of this, the coast guard took the easy way out.

27 Millions Leave Homes In America

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 (AP)—Over 27,000,000 Americans left their homes as civilian migrants or members of the armed services from December, 1942, to March, 1945.

The figure for civilian migrants alone was estimated at 15,200,000 by the census bureau which commented:

"Shifting before the history of our country has there been so great a redistribution of population as that which has taken place in the past few years."

Estimates show that in March more than 12 per cent of the nation's civilian population was living outside its home counties of December 7, 1941.

The census bureau says this figure is only a partial measure of total population movement during this period. Persons who had moved and returned to their 1941 residence by March, 1945 were not counted as migrants.

WACS Will Appreciate Own Country Now, Says Veteran

By LORAYNE ORTON

The education and travel gained from service in the Women's Army Corps was made America seem more appreciative of their own homes and country. Contrary to the current belief that WACS have seen the world will not be satisfied with domestic service women are looking forward to settling down.

This is the opinion of T/SGT. Mary Hood, recently returned from Italy where she was chief switchboard operator at the 12th air force headquarters in Florence, December under the point system June 22 at Ft. Lewis, Wash. Sergeant Hood has been visiting her father, Ed Harris, Twin Falls.

The first impression on returning to the States was the cleanliness everywhere. The lack of sanitation and health facilities in Italy is the first thing an American notices, said Sergeant Hood, adding that such things as sidewalks, sidewalks, paved streets, racing at times. The poverty and filth of the peasants and the obvious class distinction make one appreciate the United States, she said.

Three-Wheel Pickup Truck Is Designed

HUNTINGTON PARK, Calif., Sept. 3 (AP)—A three-wheeled pickup truck designed to simplify small deliveries is scheduled for production soon by the Toolcraft Manufacturing company.

The new model, first viewed by the public at the Lockheed Air Terminal in Burbank, Calif., will roll off the assembly line at the rate of 100 per day by January, 1946, Bill Foster, chief accountant at Toolcraft, said.

Foster explained that the "truckster" has one wheel in front and a two-wheel drive in the rear. A single driver's seat is located directly over the two-cylinder, eight-horsepower motor, and a square pickup body fits over the rear wheels. It has fluid drive making a transmission and clutch unnecessary.

The new model will sell for about $500 in southern California, Foster said.

"Bud" Gilb Earns Staff Sergeant

Mr. and Mrs. Carl E. Gilb received word that their son, marine Sgt. Charles E. (Bud) Gilb, has been promoted to staff sergeant. He enlisted in the marine corps in December, 1942, and has been overseas since October, 1944.

After serving in combat duty on the carrier ship Wasp, Sergeant Gilb is now assigned to a communication supervisor at the marine airbase on Oahu Island near Honolulu.

He is a Twin Falls high school graduate.

Six candidates have filed. Those whose terms expire are Mrs. Myrtle Burdett, Roy Kenige and Francis Simpson. New ones who have filed are Mrs. Burdett, incumbent, Herbert Greig, Guy Elyton and Earl Ford. Fred Walker for the two-year term.

Maro to Elect Two New Board Members

ELMER, Sept. 3—Two trustees in Maron district will be chosen, John Parish and Lloyd Hill's terms will expire.

Those who have filed are Wade Sharp, John Parish, Lloyd Hill, Harry Hostetter, and Ernest Inler.

belongings as soon as the bombing ceased.

Sergeant Hood was with the 12th WAC platoon. She has the LTO ribbon with three battle stars, the good conduct medal and unit citation. Every Friday night a company meeting for the whole unit was held. Physical training classes, round table current event discussions, movies and refreshment gave the girls a rounded program.

Although there was no glimmer to be found, Sergeant Hood feels that the training and varied experience obtained in the WAC were far beyond the services the women rendered.

A graduate of Meridian high school, she entered the service in October, 1942, chalking up 41 months in 17 more than the 41 necessary for WAC discharge.

Her husband and her husband, M/SGT. Gordon Hood, entered the service the same date in 1942, and today, both are set to overseas duty in 1944, but while Mrs. Hood sailed for north Africa, her husband headed for the Pacific theater, where he is still stationed.

"Going to shirua was one good way to learn the language," declared the ex-WAC, "but the theaters were always hot and smelly."

She praised the work of the special service branches of our armed forces for the well balanced recreational and educational facilities they provide wherever troops are stationed. Golf links and tennis courts are taken over for use of American service men. The Red Cross sets up theaters and USO shows also provide entertainment which follows the troops to the front lines. Night classes giving high school and college credits are conducted by the special services and are well attended even though they are held during the service men's free time.

Terrific Devastation

The terrific devastation inflicted especially in the small towns and countryside will keep Italy busy for a long time, the ex-WAC thinks. At Foggia, for instance, there was hardly a building or person left when her unit arrived. But the populace began trudging back and gathering together their scattered belongings.

Care of Your Children
By ANGELO PATRIZI
All ambitious children and most of ours are highly ambitious to be growing and on their way, want to work for wages. Having their own money makes them feel on even terms with the adults. But that feeling will not be enough to go through the highly tested months of their adolescence. Instead, it is likely to sharpen the tensions and to strengthen the conflicts.

These children are all children in many ways, both physical and mental. Their growth is uneven. While they may be ahead in some fields, they may be behind in others and this imbalance requires the wise care of fathers, mothers and teachers. Because a child is wanting and he is not enough to have him declared adult. We should be watchful about the hours the children work. Some of them can work a full eight hours and some can work no more than a few without endangering their growth. Leave them the general rule. They have a great deal of the good sense and understanding of the parents and in the field of child labor they leave much. Children are in school and working on the side need careful watching to make sure they get enough sleep, recreation and time for study. Study takes a full supply of energy and if a child works long hours, it will exhaust him, he is not in condition to do good and useful work. Both leisure and job will suffer and no good comes to the child. I agree that useful work, good

Ty Cobb Same Old Fighter in Boys' Game and to Him Tennis Is Still Menace

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—Despite his age and crowding out, Tyson Ruppert Cobb was the same old fighter managing the west in 1924. Cobb, 40, was not only a tennis player, but also a tennis coach.

He was still trying to beat Babe Bostwick, the veteran Atlanta sports writer, in a tennis match.

A player protested a decision in his favor when the umpire called a ball out.

"I think that hit the line, Mr. Umpire," he said, but the umpire stuck by his decision.

Bordewick, Harting Meet for Buhl Title

Harting had to go 10 holes to beat Frank Stewart, the tournament medalist, 1 up.

Barrett's One-Hitter Gives Red Birds Split

Associated Press Sports Writer Charlie (Red) Barrett, the guy the Braves thrives in as excess baggage in their deal with the Cardinals for Mort Cooper three months ago, stands supreme today as the National league's only 20-game winner.

Not only did the 20-year-old right-hander reach that figure yesterday with a 4-0 triumph to give the Redbirds an even split with the first Chicago Cubs, who won the opener 4-1, but he came within one inning of becoming the first National league pitcher in modern history to hurl a perfect game.

Jim Merullo, with a chop single belted across home in the third inning, was the only Bruin to reach base against Barrett, who walked none, hit two batters but 21 men. Merullo was caught stealing.

His 20th victory, a double for the Cubs' first game win, Chicago's initial triumph in his last eight meetings with the Cards, a double by pinch hitter Frank Secory with the bases loaded in the 10th off relief pitcher George Docking scored three runs. A crowd of 34,929 paid, largest for the Cards at home since Aug. 19, 1939, watched the split, which left the Cubs still two games ahead of St. Louis.

The American league leading Tigers were not so fortunate. They dropped their fifth game in the last six starts with Cleveland bowing, 2-2, to enable the second place Senators to edge within one game of the top.

Jim Yast, who hadn't beaten the Angels in two years, scattered 10 Big Red hits and paved the way for the winning run by doubling in the seventh.

The Tigers received additional bad news when they learned that Hal Newhouser, their ace left-hander with 21 victories, planned to enter Henry Ford Hospital in Detroit for examination of a back injury and may not leave with the Tigers for their last eastern trip. He suffered the injury in the third inning of Saturday's game.

REACTIVATED DALLAS, Sept. 3 (AP)—The Texas League, declared by officials to be in its soundest condition in a decade, was formally reactivated Saturday and will return to baseball in 1946 after three years of suspension.

Improvement of the field was a school board project.

Who says TOKYO'S the last stop?

To the man who's travelled and fought half way round the world, the last stop is right here—home!

Every landing operation, every beachhead, every weary march brings him that much closer. But there's still a long way to go.

And just how long it will take depends in no small measure upon how well we do our war job here at home.

Part of our job—a large part—is turning every spare dollar we have into War Bonds . . . seeing to it that no dollar is spent needlessly.

It's not too much to ask.

After all, those Bonds will bring back extra dollars in 10 years. They'll give you a cash reserve for emergencies.

They'll help keep prices down where you can reach them now, and where he can reach them when he does get back. Those Bonds will go a long way toward creating the kind of peace we're all hoping for.

The best thing you can do for your fighting man—and yourself—is to turn your dollars into War Bonds—as many as you possibly can! And then hold onto them!
