TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHOLESALE

PACKERS—Three federal prosecuting agencies, the department of justice, the office of price administration and the treasury, have adopted new tactics in their cleanup campaign against packers and distributors.

They have engaged in black marketing, price fixing, and other practices which caused severe shortages of foodstuffs for the war.

They have cut shipping of corner markets and concentrated on the major offenses on a national-wide scale.

Tucker recently obtained an indictment in Philadelphia against a major Chicago packer, in addition to the indictments of other packers in other cities on the ground that they violated regulations by forcing their products as a pretense to getting into such cities as Philadelphia, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington as well as into the major centers throughout the country.

FURNISH—Federal investigators get their information from the wholesalers and distributors of the government's collected evidence which it seeks to prove that the packing and distributing companies are using such tactics as forcing their products as a pretense to getting into such cities as Philadelphia, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington as well as into the major centers throughout the country.

"GRAY MARKET"—Data in the federal files should be illuminating to housewives who may have noticed that many retail stores rarely list the weights of the goods which they buy.

The government is now collecting evidence which it seeks to prove that the packing and distributing companies are using such tactics as forcing their products as a pretense to getting into such cities as Philadelphia, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington as well as into the major centers throughout the country.

"THEY"—Another device of the packers for getting rid of surplus by-products is a product according to testimony, was the "in-salt."

The packers are now collecting evidence which it seeks to prove that the packing and distributing companies are using such tactics as forcing their products as a pretense to getting into such cities as Philadelphia, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington as well as into the major centers throughout the country.

COSTLY—Victims of this scheme had to take enormous sums. Their customers refused to buy the surplus although some of them found things which had not been ordered among their deliveries.

The packers are now collecting evidence which it seeks to prove that the packing and distributing companies are using such tactics as forcing their products as a pretense to getting into such cities as Philadelphia, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington as well as into the major centers throughout the country.

WORTHY—The retail trader has a current dread, although it looks to OPA to remove the matter of concern by eliminating meat from rationing and rationing.

The packers are now collecting evidence which it seeks to prove that the packing and distributing companies are using such tactics as forcing their products as a pretense to getting into such cities as Philadelphia, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington as well as into the major centers throughout the country.

INEVITABLE—There is vast possibility that the stuff may spoil. As has happened before, they fear that the packers have advanced knowledge of possible future developments.

THE WEAPON OF TRUTH

The Japs buried the dead of their victims. But they cannot stop the evidence of those of their tortures who were rescued. So now the Japanese people are reading the truth—word piled on word and picture piled on picture of the nazis victims in Belsen and Buchenwald—the brave exploits of their illustrious army.

General Eisenhower forced the German people to look at the photographic evidence of the atrocities in newsreels by a sobering effect. General MacArthur cannot do this. But he can confront them with the evidence of truth. That should prove a sobering, eye-opening experience.

The Japs have been traumatized from a truthful account of world affairs and their own government for years. Realizing the power of the press, the Jap war lords consistently withheld and poisoned the minds of the people with myths and lies of invincibility.

Now at last General MacArthur has freed the Japanese press by forcing it to print the truth. It is a vigorous and much needed step forward in the rehabilitation of Japan.

"WASHINGTON CALLING" BY MARQUIS CHILDS

ATOMIC, NO LESS

WASHINGTON—If an evil genius had been directing the plot, the circumstances surrounding the end of the war could hardly have been more unfortunate for the development of a friendly working relationship between Britain and the United States.

The two countries had worked together as allies in the war with very little friction. A huge American army had been quartered in England, and the British had participated in the Pacific phase of the war.

But the British held their elections. For an interval of nearly two months there was no responsible government in London which might have raised the question of the end of hostilities.

Apparently no one saw any reason to raise the question. The new prime minister, Clement Attlee, appeared in his official role only at the end of the hostilities.

Japan capitulated. Without any warning this government announced the end of the war.

The atomic bomb had been dropped on Nagasaki. The atomic bomb had been dropped on Nagasaki.

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S ANGLE

NEW YORK—The American Broadcasting Company, formerly the Blue Network, again attracts attention to its interesting history in a polemic expressed by commentators of emphasis on the "black list" of names, including Galtmore, Wilson, and others, who were subject to a doubt raised by himself and others, and often by his criminal act.

Western Paper

As Galtmore, himself, that sacrifice, of course, was to be made. He was placed under a "black list" for about one year and a new name was given him, having been William Marquise, a renegade rabbi, in his original name.

Galtmore's past, his character, the communist background of his radio program, the quality of his interpretation of the news, and his thorough presentation of hitherto in these dispatches.

That he is as far as well as a thief and a questionable mental balance has been revealed by the American Broadcasting Company, in that in his original application for the responsible and potentially dangerous position of news director, he had declared himself to be a man of no account, and that he had changed his name, and that he had a criminal record and was not in Washington when the decision was taken.

On the night of Aug. 9, following the broadcast of the "black list" on the Potomac conference, Galtmore took the air at the ABC's and made a statement to the effect that he was not a communist, but that he was a man of no account, and that he had changed his name, and that he had a criminal record and was not in Washington when the decision was taken.

Later, when officers of the ABC visited his residence, he was arrested with proof of his past. In turn, confronted Galtmore, he stated that he was a man of no account, and that he had changed his name, and that he had a criminal record and was not in Washington when the decision was taken.

Atomic Bomb May Scuttle Japs' Fleet

TOKYO, Sept. 19 (AP)—The question of how modern fleets would survive in atomic warfare may be put to actual atomic test in connection with the problem of disposition of the remnants of Japan's fleet.

It is recalled that after the last war bombing experiments were conducted on the captured atomic German battleships "Franklin" and "Ostfriesland," off the east coast of the United States.

It is believed that "Franklin" would have been able to survive in atomic warfare but that the whole remaining fleet would be dropped three miles away.

Some theorists believe the whole fleet would instantly vanish. Others hold the opinion that some units would be sunk, some damaged, and some might escape altogether unscathed.

If the battleship "Albatross" can be made seaworthy for a voyage to San Francisco, it will be used to test the atomic bomb in the water.

The "Albatross" will be used to test the atomic bomb in the water, and the results will be reported to the Japanese government.

It's a Busy Dehydrator

The large dehydrator shown above has been operating since July 23 in the rear of the Farmers Automobile Insurance exchange, 210 Main avenue north, and to date more than 500 bushels of fruit have been processed.

Dehydrators Are Popular

The three small dehydrators and one large one, loaned by the extension service at the University of Idaho, which have been operating in the rear of the Farmers Automobile Insurance since July 23, will continue through the fall fruit season.

"There is no fruit going to waste for the lack of sugar," Miss Schutte declared. "Dried fruit tastes less sugar when it is cooked and is much easier to ship than fresh fruit."

The capacity of the large dehydrator is 21 bushels of peaches. The small machines hold two bushels each.

A new board member is Mrs. William Simpson, who replaces Ivel Walton. A tie vote was cast for Ellisworth Humphreys and Harry Kinkead.

Other board members are Mrs. Edna Baker and Dave Howard.

Use of the dehydrators, which run day and night, is available to all residents in Magic Valley and women need only to prepare the fruit for processing.

In R. Alvord, Twin Falls, supervisor of the wage stabilization board in this area, announced late yesterday that reports of employer-employee wage violations in regard to the fall harvest has resulted in an investigation in this area Monday.

"Information obtained indicated sufficient evidence of violation to justify a recommendation for prosecution of one employer and a number of workers," Alvord said.

USA officials were accompanied here from Boise by Curtis E. Humphreys, executive officer of the board.

Europe Chaos May Begin in Lack of Food

By DEWITT MACKENZIE AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Europe's dangerous shortage of food was emphasized again yesterday when 47 American organizations petitioned President Truman for quick shipment of foodstuffs to avert starvation.

The President later issued a statement saying "this government is bending every effort to find solutions to this problem" and reaffirming its pledge at the time of the conference.

At the same time an Associated Press dispatch from Germany mentioned that "reports of shortage of food here are being taken seriously" and that "reports of shortage of food here are being taken seriously."

No wonder Mr. Leibman fears hunger and possible chaos. One can foresee crime waves in many sections of the continent, and some of the countries which are hardest hit may see civil upheavals.

The Rev. Robert Sweeten, superintendent of the United Nations relief and rehabilitation administration, told Mr. Truman that "reports of shortage of food here are being taken seriously."

German POWs At Filer Camp For Farm Work

O. J. DeJong, county labor supervisor, stated late yesterday that "German prisoners of war arrived at the Filer labor camp Monday and are working in the potato hops and celery fields."

Without giving the number of German arriving in the area, DeJong said that 49 Mexicans were moved from the Filer camp to make room for the prisoners of war.

"Twenty-five of the Mexicans were sent to Castle Rock camp to be used at Dahl camp," he said.

Dr. Austin C. Lane is officiating in charge of the prisoners housed at the Filer camp.

Pure Seeds to Aid Farmers in Fight on Weeds, Erickson Says

Stating "farmers must use pure seeds if they are to overcome the hazards of weeds," Lambert Erickson, assistant agronomist with the University of Idaho, Moscow, reported late yesterday on the weed situation in Twin Falls county following a tour of inspection in the area. He was accompanied on the tour by Albert Myrick, county agent.

Erickson stated that "we are running a series of experiments with the new weed killer, 2,4 D, dichlorophenoxyacetic acid."

"If we were to kill all growing plants, weeds, we would still find the soil infested with seeds," he said. "Some seeds have been known to lay dormant for as many as 50 years."

"Control over weeds—if there is any—difficult control—may be accomplished only with pure seeds," he said. "This should be added to a chemical treatment, combined with a crop system to prevent further seed production."

"What is the sense of killing weeds off above ground, when following plants weed-infested seeds are still remaining? It is asked. Millions of acres have been abandoned throughout the country because of weeds—and all because farmers insist upon planting unselected seeds and then depending fortune in trying to eradicate the weeds."

Erickson stated that the university has 133 test plots throughout the state, with 30 plots in Twin Falls county, for the study of weed control.

Before the U. S. department of commerce gives official approval to a product, it must be tested on the ground, mounted on an internal combustion engine.

Auto Plants Have Places For 600,000

DETROIT, Sept. 18 (AP)—Upward of 600,000 men and women will be employed in the nation's automobile, automobile body and automotive parts factories by the year 1947, according to a report issued by the industry today.

The figure is based on an ambitious expansion program, calling for perhaps a score of new plants throughout the country.

Already announced for construction by General Motors corporation, largest of the car producers, are new plants in seven cities, with others under consideration. Among those planned are new units near Atlanta, Ga., Columbus, Miss., Elgin and Sandusky, O., Wilmington, Del., and Flint, Mich.

The new construction will be part of General Motors' $350,000,000 postwar rehabilitation and expansion program.

The Ford Motor company plans four new assembly plants as part of a contemplated $150,000,000 expansion. One will be located at St. Louis and another at Atlanta. Locations for the others are yet to be announced.

Most of these new facilities, according to press releases, will be ready for use by late 1948. By that time the industry expects to reach a production level in excess of 600,000 vehicles a month. The car factories probably could attain that production rate before December 1, 1946, but for the fact they will have to halt production for a few weeks, probably around July 1, to swing over to assembly of the second model.

Material problems, according to industry spokesmen, are being handled in a normal and reconversion work in mid-September way, if anything, a little further along than most companies expected when the task got going under way.

Although 600,000 units a year would be an increase of more than 20 per cent over the industry's normal production, none of the builders regards the figure as excessive or difficult to attain.

Many, in fact, believe demand will sustain that level for as much as five years, with only a moderate tapering off thereafter.

Chest Beating Swain Holds 'Mail-Order Bride' Captive

DENVER, Sept. 18 (AP)—Ada M. Patton is trying to forget the mail order swain who, she said, held her captive 18 days in a lonely Wyoming cabin while trying to woo her by parading about nude and beating his chest "like an ape."

Mrs. Patton, a Mobile, Ala., woman who pined for romance in the wooden west, was held in Denver on a federal auto theft charge after she "escaped" in the car of the first-year-old rancher whose "romantic" letters prompted her "happy, western style marriage."

The trim, dark-haired Mrs. Patton, 47, twice divorced and a child bride, said it all began when she answered a matrimonial advertisement in a magazine. First married
