 To accept terms negotiated rates on the contrary has demanded increases of 25 to 30 per cent above the present contract rates.

The company has offered to negotiate with the union for new rates of pay for the future, or to arbitrate that case if the parties should be unable to agree. It is understood that such new rates, when established, will take effect retroactively as of Oct. 1, 1945. This offer was rejected by the union.

Now You get 4 red points instead of two for a pound of used fat because reconversion will require 250,000,000 pounds of used fat this year.

The war is over, but the need for your waste household fats is as big as ever. Industry needs them for producing petroleum products—those mentioned in schedule above are just a few of the hundreds of consumer products that need fats. So badly are fats needed that Uncle Sam is raising the ante. After Oct. 1, you get four red points and four cents from your butcher for every pound of fat you bring him.

The Japanese denied that the U. S. government had any foreign money, denied any knowledge of a possible hiding place, and maintained they had no control over financial activities of field military commands for themselves.

The militarists, the bankers said, had the power to either shift their assets to a friendly country or in a special disbursement fund of the finance ministry, or "keep the loot for themselves."

There were three other developments.

Shinjori Tojo, foreign minister at the time of Pearl Harbor who was succeeded by Hirohito, had suffered another heart attack at his home. An American doctor ordered an examination.

Brazil's Food Output Aided By Americans

LANDING, Mich., Oct. 1.—With the help of specialists from the United States, our largest South American ally, has made good progress in agricultural development during the war.

That's the opinion of E. A. Gardinier, Michigan State college rector, who is the coordinator of the American-Brazilian agricultural mission.

Jumping at the parachute school has already developed to a recognized level of excellence. American paratroopers have been recognized throughout the world for their meritorious actions against the enemy.

Hundreds of Americans—soldiers, sailors, aviators, research workers—have been sent to Brazil to help in the war effort. They have helped to build roads, bridges, and other public works, and to help get out vital supplies to the front. They have also helped to develop the food supply, limited even in normal times.

Agricultural specialists face complex problems in Brazil. They found a feudal system in operation, with a large landowner class and a tenant farmer struggling. There was also too much or too little of certain crops.

But the specialists' approach to the problem was to help the farmer get thousands of cotton-picking hoes into the hands of destitute peasants. They were trained in credit or paid for in seed or money at the close of the season, with the record of 75 to 80 per cent of loans repaid by the end of 1944.

Farm workers were promised to leave their homes along the coast and at the mouths of rivers to work in the interior, where the soil is more fertile. Sixteen farm workers, including a woman, were trained. Improved practices were introduced in rice, beans, poultry and cattle were introduced in a program which is being turned over to the Brazilian department of agriculture as Americans leave the country.

"We are leaving Brazil awakened to the possibilities of a brighter agricultural future," Gardinier said.

Crops Look Good; Labor Only Flaw

Crops in the county are in good shape, County agent Albert Brodie said Monday. But he hoped the mild weather would continue, so that a diminished labor force would get all the potatoes and beets out promptly before the weather.

"All crop vines haven't been killed yet," he said. "But some are dead and there are per the county. The beets are doing fine, and beans are being threshed now. Apples are to be picked later this month, and all the other fruit is harvested."

The labor flaw in the crop picture would be considerably eased by favorable weather, he said, and should be remedied by scheduled arrival of 25 Jamaicans in this area by mid-week. E. J. Macdonald, county agent, said that there may also be a possibility of additional Jamaicans coming.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

CAMPFIRE—Thomas E. Dewey filed his claim for the 1948 presidential nomination by permitting himself to be listed on the delegate ballot. Roosevelt's responsibility for the Pearl Harbor disaster is the opinion of his rival and Republican opponent in Washington.

Although the New York governor has refused to discuss the Roosevelt-DeWey campaign, he has not denied the charges. He has merely stated that the Roosevelt-DeWey campaign is a "political game" and that he has no interest in it.

The G. O. P. has been renominated a defeated standard-bearer, but Dewey's implied suggestion that he was listed on the delegate ballot as a matter of ambition in a spirit of patriotism may overcome this historic handicap. It is obvious that the first to be suppressed chapter came from his mouth. To have been listed on the delegate ballot was inviting a summons to appear before the congressional inquiry into the Pearl Harbor disaster. Dewey has here immediately called for his presence.

CANDIDATE—As in the 1944 pre-convention scramble, the Albany man will have a great asset in that he is a native-born citizen of the United States. Roosevelt's responsibility for the Pearl Harbor disaster is the opinion of his rival and Republican opponent in Washington.

RIVALRY—Improved prospects of Republican victory in the national sweepstakes, now that Franklin D.  As has happened inevitably after every war, the credit for the victory is being put forward by the victors. Dewey's responsibility for the Pearl Harbor disaster is the opinion of his rival and Republican opponent in Washington.

New N. L. Batting Champ So Bad 3 Years Ago Cub Pilot Wanted Him to Become Pitcher

Phil Cavaretta, N.L.'s new batting champion

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Oct. 1—Phil Joseph Cavaretta will enter his third world series in 11 years as batting champion of both major leagues.

Yet as recently as three years ago, Jimmy Wilson, then manager of the Cubs, was considering reconverting Cavaretta into a pitcher.

As a matter of fact, Cavaretta was in the spring of 1943 pitched the last two innings of an exhibition game with the White Sox in Phoenix. Later he was named as a pitcher for the Pirates, he was called in the bullpen waiting to be called.

For seven years as a first baseman and outfielder, Cavaretta, the one-limbed boy wonder had hit bats in enough runs to keep the scorekeeper warm.

Cavaretta disliked the idea, and it was bad for him when Wilson quickly gave up on Babe Ruth as a first baseman and it turned out that the Chicago did not have as much outfield strength as the Cubs.

Anyway, Cavaretta's baseball fortunes took a turn upward when he was re-installed as a regular. Last season he reached the 300 circle for the first time with 291 hits.

Although he has been in two world series, it took Cavaretta a long time to find himself. He was barely 18 when he became the youngest player ever to participate in the fall classic with the Chicago White Sox in 1935.

The Indians won 21 straight to account for the 1935 pennant, and young Cavaretta broke up the 26th out of the skin with a home run off Paul Dean of the Cardinals.

Philadelphia Cavaretta hit only 230 and drove in no more than 20 runs in 92 games as the Cubs copped in 1937, but belted 451 as the men from the Jakefront bowed to the Nationals in straight games.

Cavaretta pitched Lead Tech to the national prep school championship in 1923, but his American League career was not so brilliant.

In his first tryout with the Cubs, Cavaretta smacked a home run off Lon Warneke. In his professional debut with the Cubs in the Central league in 1934, he manufactured a single, double and a home run. Late that season he won his first complete game with the Wrights by being the ball out of the park.

Cavaretta frequently is referred to as baseball's hardest hitter. The Cubs have tried several others in 1945, but belted 451 as the men from the Jakefront bowed to the Nationals in straight games.

While Charlie Grimm, who set Cavaretta there as his successor in the first place, was attempting to find out his strongest batting order the past spring, he returned Phil to first base despite the fact that huge Hines Becker had hit some-thing like 500 in nine games at the post.

Asked why, Manager Grimm replied: "I'm going to play a first baseman at first base. I don't know where Cavaretta is going to play."

Bobby Coltrin, Philly Scout, Succumbs Here

A baseball career, beginning in 1911, that saw Robert A. "Bobby" Coltrin, 54, San Francisco, as a player, manager and major league scout was ended by death at 12:30 p. m. Monday at the Twin Falls county general hospital. A cerebral hemorrhage, which occurred a few minutes before his death, was given as the cause by his attending physician.

His wife, announced here from San Francisco after he was stricken in a local hotel Tuesday afternoon, was at his bedside. His only child, 17½: Robert A. Coltrin, stationed at Great Falls, N. D., after two years in Italy, arrived here at noon.

Coltrin, western representative of the Philadelphia organized league club at the time of his death, had been ill for several months with stomach ulcers and high blood pressure. However, he did not become seriously ill until Tuesday after coming here to confer with Maury Doerr, president of the Twin Falls County club, which he had hoped to make a farm club of the Phillies. Several blood transfusions were given him Saturday and Sunday.

In addition to his wife and son, he leaves a daughter, Mrs. L. M. Merced, county clerk, and two brothers, all residing in or near San Francisco. A brother, Fred, is a golf pro at the Reynolds funeral home pending plans for the funeral, which probably will be held in San Francisco.

Born in Seattle, Nov. 3, 1890, Coltrin was a native organized baseball player in 1911 as an infielder with Portland, then in the old Northwest League. Later he played in the Arizona-Texas league in 1931 and 1932, respectively. In 1940 he piloted Idaho Falls in the Pioneer league of the New York Yankees. For nine years before becoming western representative of the Phillies, he was a scout for the Yankees.

TIGERS CAPTURE A. L. PENNANT Greenberg's Homer In 9th Proves Payoff

By JACK HIND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Frank Greenberg's $300,000 home run, welcomed with howls of jubilation by the Detroit Tigers and Chicago Cubs, has set the stage for a gold-plated world series.

Presence of the Bengals and Bruins, two of the game's top attractions in two of the nation's best baseball towns, assures a player pool of near-record proportions.

The players could split approximately $500,000 on a 60-40 basis. A Washington pennant would reap a generous allotment to the player melon because of the limited seating capacity of Griffith stadium.

Greenberg's lusty lout into the leftfield stands at Sportsman's park in the ninth inning yesterday pennant ball game eliminated several contenders by adding to their patrons who had seen the flag accused of "backing in" to the flag.

Detroit webster held out.

Detroit hadn't been sure about accepting the final pair from the Browns and had made tentative arrangements to hold the Detroit house for a playoff game today that never will be played.

Washington, which finished this season a week ago, had been hoping for a miracle double victory by the defending champion Browns.

When Virgil Trucks weakened in the eighth, Detroit's O'Neil, recently discharged sailor with his No. 1, New Hower, that was a big detour to make for it. He failed, Steve would have had to stir along with a second tie.

Senators. It didn't fall with 25th runner came away with his 19th hit.

St. Louis batting champ George Stinetsky of the Yankees leadingly won Sunday's exciting tie yesterday with three hits in New York's 1-2 romp over Boston, 2-0. He had 200 hits and 100 runs ahead of Chicago's Tony Cuccinello who was rained out of a final doubleheader.

Giants finished fourth, lowest since 1922, and worst in the Joe McCarthy era.

300,000 Want to See Series Opener in Detroit Wednesday

DETROIT, Oct. 1 (AP)—Autodrom was somewhat series-silly city today. Probably the host of all diamond-fair bugs—not excepting football—when things are going along just normal-like, Detroit let its hair down and blew the roof off for fair this time. And some of the folks were even thinking of a Greenberg-for-major movement for that grand slam Hank hammered to win Detroit's seventh American league pennant for the Tigers in St. Louis yesterday.

But, in spite of the delirious deluge, there were still a lot of heads aching—and not of a hangover variety—in the way of setting up the stage for the start of the world series with the Chicago Cubs Wednesday. The toughest touch was not only in how to fit 300,000 customers into a 25,000-seat ball park, but also how to cram thousands upon thousands more into hotels already bulging at the seams.

The local inn are so loaded, in fact, that two lake steamboats have been tied up at the Woodward avenue docks to handle the overflow—and they already have the standing-room-only sign out, too.

Naturally, there aren't going to be 300,000 in Mr. Briggs' ball yard when they and Chicago Cub curvers—presumably lefty Al Newhouse and the $100,000 arm, Hank Bonebrake, for the once walk out there for the kickoff at 11:30 p.m. Mountain standard time, day after tomorrow. Yet that was the number of requests.

Game Directors of 11 States to Hold Convention in Twin Falls Next June

The Western National Association of Fish and Game Commissioners—Twin Falls, the best source of the commissioners in the western states are not selected, the smallest city in its history for its June, 1945, convention.

Announcement that Twin Falls had been awarded the convention was made in Boise last night by James H. Beck, Idaho state fish and game director, who is also president of the association.

Beck did not want to make the announcement until after I had offered to permit some other city to obtain the annual meeting of the Idaho Wildlife Federation, which is scheduled for Twin Falls in January. "I'm not sure," he said, "but I believe that in addition to the state fish and game directors, conservationists, writers of national wild life magazines and other persons interested in fish and game problems will attend the convention.

Local hotels already have preliminary to 48, 100 rooms for the visitors.

Plans in the making include a trip to Snake Lake and into the Minidoka National Forest, where the largest herd of deer in the nation now feeds.

The Southern Idaho Fish and Game association will be host.

"KNOW HOW" IS WHAT COUNTS

Take lubrication as an example. While ordinarily referred to as a "grease job," it is highly important and requires the service of a trained expert. Serious damage will result to any moving part on your car that is not properly lubricated. You never get that "floating" sensation with your car unless every vital part is working smoothly. "Know how" is what counts in lubrication and all other automotive services. And all of our experts know their business.

Money Flows Like Wine in USS Idaho Had All Kinds of Action, This Crewman Writes

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—(AP)—The war and its overtones have ended but money is still flowing like wine in the United States.

A cross-country survey showed today that wage earners are spending money as fast as they can find things to buy. The ration-spurred boom industry is still showing the appearance of becoming habit-forming.

The only marked change in America's buying habits since V-J day reports from Miami and Portland, Ore., showed was a tendency for the customer to be just a little bit more choosy about clothing.

Otherwise, they are perfectly willing to buy imported $144 duck. Instead of waiting for the $129 domestic product, prominent for the reason they are used in canned lobster, champagne and expensive violins—until cigar devotees take a minute on the delicious shaves.

The USS Idaho had all kinds of action, this crewman writes of his experiences in Iceland, Panama, Alaska, Hawaii, Australia and the Philippines, ended its wartime patrol in the waters near Tokyo on Aug. 31, according to a letter sent by a crewman, B. C. Blain A. Caldwell, to his grandfather, L. T. Moore.

Moore, manager of the mint department in Portland, Ore., said that the sailor is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Caldwell, now of Eugene, Ore., formerly of Twin Falls. He is also the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. C. Caldwell, Twin Falls.

Giant Armada

Moore's ship was part of a task force that included battleships, cruisers and destroyers and other vessels. The armada was so large that it was an average spot of knots. It took six hours to pass a given point, the letter said.

To estimate the task force was hearing Tokyo.

"My mind ached, but already discernible in this almost unlimited stability, the highly amused and contented faces of the crew were the lesser peaks as well as a definite warning might stand among his fallen comrades," the letter said.

When the U. S. entered the war in the Pacific, he had ended his patrol near Iceland and returned to America to protect our shores, the letter said, his crew boarded the ship during most of 1942 and until early 1943. On April 4, heavy winter clothing was taken aboard. Then the vessel started for the Aleutians.

Idaho Looked So Good He'll Stay

BURLEY, Oct. 1.—A discharged Nebraska navy veteran has adopted Idaho, and is opening a photographic studio here, in a P.M. 1943. Fred Sherrod, a veteran of two wars who was recently discharged, is from Minden, Neb., where he operated a studio of his own until May, 1942, when he enlisted in the navy.

While ill during his last period of service he was stationed at the Sun Valley naval hospital, and became so attached to Idaho, he decided he wanted to make it his home. After being discharged he looked around the state and decided to make Burley his new place of business.

One night when the Idaho was in the Pacific, he was in the quarter-deck, the letter said. Then the men got word that the war was over. Sirens screamed, colored flares burst in the sky, and the band struck up "California Here I Come" and "The Dixieland of New York."

West Exports Hinge on Size of Allotment

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—The speed with which the western states apparently resume their export trade apparently depends on the extent of the allotments which foreign governments will allow for purchase abroad.

In the course of a survey of export trade prospects for Oregon apple growers, Senator Gordon, R., Ore., found limitation of funds listed as an obstacle by most agencies consulted.

The government "continues to re-evaluate and strongly support the restoration of trade to normal, private commercial channels as quickly and completely as is feasible," Undersecretary of State Dean Acheson wrote.

He observed, however, that while the United States government exercises control over foreign exchange transactions as an emergency measure, other countries are accustomed to use the controls to regulate private commerce. It must be expected, he added, that nations whose foreign exchange resources are limited are likely to restrict purchases abroad to the imports most essential to their recovery.

The commerce department says its industries supplied more than four fifths of the exports of the west coast during pre-war years. There were fruits, forest products, wheat, barley and flour; petroleum products; canned fish and various chemicals.

Most of the lumber went to Asia, chiefly to Japan. Most fresh fruits went to Canada, dried and canned

Representations of Labor Urged In Kiwanis Clubs

SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 1.—Labor should be represented in Kiwanis clubs and organization members should not be "high-tail" traitors of the international group told members of the Utah-Idaho district yesterday.

At the closing session of the district's two-day convention, George H. Love of Ogden told the delegates that cooperation of capital and labor is necessary for industry to be stimulated and civilization to be hampered through strikes.

He said one out of five persons in the United States belongs to labor unions while only one of every 1,000 persons belongs to a Kiwanis group. Standing of capital and labor bor within the Kiwanis organizations must be equal, he said.

Guy A. Paulsen of Idaho Falls was elected district governor to succeed John E. Booth of Spanish Fork, Utah. New district lieutenant governors are:

Harry Standish of Burka, Utah, district one; Walter Stet of Clearfield, Utah, division two; Earl Hamway of Prier, Ida, division three; and Ed Colter of Victor, Ida, division four.

America heard her cry

Of what the Nazis left of Holland—the half that was still above water—came a desperate cry for help last Spring.

The Germans had taken everything—even the blankets off the sick in hospitals. They took so much food that 125 children a week were dying of hunger in Rotterdam alone. Thousands of other children were too weak even to take food.

Dutch doctors needed a new drug, called protein hydrolysate, which, when mixed with blood plasma and injected into the veins, could keep these children alive until they were strong enough to eat.

They sent a desperate cable to American Relief For Holland. Within 48 hours, supplies in this country and England were bought, loaded into a transport plane and sent on their way.

And the light came back into thousands of children's eyes. And into the eyes of many other people.

For, in the midst of their despair, standing in the rubble of their broken cities, this gift from America gave the Dutch new faith in mankind. It is desperately important—to their future peace and to ours—that they should have such faith.

Restoring hope to thousands who have been beaten down by the Nazis and the Japs is the job of the various allied war-relief agencies that are members of the National War Fund.

When you give to this cause through your Community War Fund, your hand doesn't stop here. It helps hand lonely G.I.'s a laugh, by sending U.S.O. entertainers overseas. It provides foster parents for the children of service men whose homes have been disrupted by war conditions, sends a visiting nurse to a new baby. In one way or another, it reaches into the lives of millions.

When an American from your Community War Fund calls at your home, let your dollars express your belief in democracy—and help others to believe in the American way.
