By HARRY GUNNING

It's wild horse roundup time in the vicinity of Shoshone and Burley, according to Jack Keith and Jim Keith, district graders in those localities.

Backcountry men have busy all day today, using the unbroken range horses, driving them into traps—and driving the herds from the Red River country to Shoshone and Burley for shipment to the west coast, where they will be used for cutting.

The week-long drive had netted 475 head of the "wild horses" late yesterday. The drive is sponsored by the grazing service to rid the ranges of horses that would probably starve during the winter months," the graders reported.

—all hard riding roundup hands—turned the pages back late yesterday when they drove a herd of 175 head of wild range horses into Burley for shipment to the west coast.

The horses, all unbroken range horses, had been rounded up during the week in the Platt river country, Jim Keith, Burley district grader, reported late today. The work of the roundup was in the district from the Utah state line to the street, in the Platt river valley.

Lewis Rejects Demands to Return Coal Miners; Oil, Auto Situation Brighter

Pierre Laval—Inside

Mine closings and additional strikers continued to plague the nation's soft coal fields yesterday (Saturday) as initial efforts by Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach failed to settle a controversy over recognition of the United Mine Workers' supervisory union.

Another estimated 550,000 workers still were idle in walkouts and layoffs across the nation, with this number expected to drop slightly to less than 400,000 early next week with prospects of settlement in some disputes.

More than 600 mines in six states were out of production, with about 159,000 workers off their jobs.

Schwellenbach called for a Washington conference to end the strikes, saying he had no responsibility for them and that they were started by leaders of the UMW-United Clerical, Technical and Supervisory union.

At Detroit, the Ford Motor company announced that it was not planning to return to work on the basis of a CIO ultimatum.

Baron Shidehara, 73-Year-Old Imperialism Foe, New Premier

TOKYO, Oct. 6 (AP)—Aged Baron Kiijuro Shidehara, long-time foe of Japan's machine gun imperialism, became premier of a new government today and forthwith disclaimed the dread secret police.

Given a free hand by Emperor Hirohito and the approval of General MacArthur's headquarters, the former ambassador to the United States dug into his task with a vigor that belied his years.

Domel agency said his first act was to reappoint as Foreign Minister Shigeru Yoshida, a like-minded man whose criticism of the war against the United States once landed him in jail.

By Associated Press

His second act, said the news agency, was to appoint a cabinet of parliamentarian Yandoli to the post of prime minister, under whose authority the "thought" police ran their reign of terror.

It was the military to get promptly MacArthur's order to dismiss Home Minister Iwano Yamazaki—who had been fired last week by Premier Kishi-Kuni's post-surrender government.

Domel announced that the home ministry leaders suspending the secret police and the military, including 16 communists, were likewise dissolved, the special higher police order department, which pruned into the lives of dissidents, was likewise dissolved.

Shidehara's emergency from the obscurity into which the military had banished him was due to his long-time criticism of the war against the United States.

LDS Attention Focused on Returning Veteran Issues

SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 6 (AP)—The fourth session today of the Latter Day Saints church's annual conference, long-time foe of Japan's machine gun imperialism, became premier of a new government today and forthwith disclaimed the dread secret police.

The thousands of church members who crowded historic temple square for the three-day conference which will be conducted tomorrow, heard Charles E. Young, apostle to the council of twelve apostles advise:

"We should counsel our boys who are returning from the war; give them guidance and advise them to stay away from debt, only taking on obligations when they can clearly see the way to pay them."

Stephen L. Richards had a suggestion to offer regarding the LDS attention to returning veterans.

Nimitz Gets Top Filipino Recognition

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6 (AP)—Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander of the greatest homecoming welcome ever accorded a hero here, was named as the recipient of the highest award given to a military officer by the Philippine government, the Distinguished Service Cross, today.

President Sergio Osmeña of the Philippines conferred the Distinguished Service Cross, the highest award in the Philippine military, on Nimitz for his "distinguished leadership and courage during the war of liberation."

Nimitz was the second man in Philippine history to get the decoration. The other was Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

With high-ranking military, naval and government officials standing by, Osmeña read the citation detailing how Nimitz had "hunted down power of ships, men and aircraft against the enemy."

President Nimitz's service to the people of the Philippines has evoked their lasting gratitude and friendship, the citation concluded.

The decoration was the second awarded to Nimitz. He was named commander yesterday when his ship, the gold star in his hand, the third distinguished service cross.

It came late in the day to Nimitz after he had been cheered by 1,000,000 or more during a parade in Manila, and then again at a show at the Washington monument grounds.

Yesterday's ceremony was held in the rose garden at the White House, with the chief of state looking on. To President Truman it was the "greatest pleasure in the world" to see Nimitz in the city.

He had done all during the day, the white-haired, pink checked admiral told the chief executive he had been honored and the president for all the men of the navy, not for himself alone.

Church Group Eyes Projects Now in View

JEROME, Oct. 6.—At the quarterly conference of the Jerome Methodist church, the Rev. Quincy Murrell, pastor, outlined projects in view for the church.

These include a nursery department for children while their parents attend church school; a new class for young people; a new room for older groups. One major long range project is building of a new church. One for this is an evangelistic meeting between the first of the year and Easter. Another is construction of the parsonage on grounds by placing a trailer. The Rev. Murrell, district superintendent, led the devotional period based on the first Psalm.

Reports were given by John Beer upon the MYF fund drive. The church school program; Mrs. Walter White, work and program of the WSSG; Mrs. N. A. Pierce, gifts for world service; Mrs. Woodson Harmon, program of the evening class of the Women's Society; City of Jerome, finance.

The conference passed upon the election of John Beer as president of the MYF and made him a member of the quarterly conference. It also passed a resolution that the building committee for the church meet with Bishop Baker, Dr. Ezra Cox and the conference committee on church locations.

Wendell Flier Who Saved Marshal Tito Meets Brother As Both Get Discharges

OWEN FIELD, Oct. 6.—They hadn't seen each other for almost four years—but they met at the separation center where both received discharges.

The surprise reunion of Maj. Henry W. May, the U. S. flier who rescued Marshal Tito, and Flight Officer Clifton C. May, was just another of two similar meetings — Lieut. Paul H. Richter, Priest Lake, and Flight Officer George Richter also were reunited.

Major May admitted he was practically "outstaged" when, as he stated the preceding evening which sends him home to Wendell a civilian, his brother walked into the building, it's easy to explain the tumultuous greeting which ensued. The men hadn't seen each other since February, 1942.

joyfully, they milled one another and began puzzling questions simultaneously.

He rescued Marshal Tito from the Japanese on Wake Island. He had been employed as a draftsman engineer for the Merston-Knudsen company. He was transferred from the Wake Island prison camp to the Pukonok prison camp.

Conditt, who wore his parents' name from Manila, stated that "we can hardly realize that we were free after such a long period of cruelty, starvation, beatings and hard work."

He said that they had a month's rest and two weeks of good food.

"The Americans started dropping us on Aug. 8, and we all found us."

Conditt said that following a rumor which filtered into his prison camp that the American soldiers were at Saoyaya, three other companions and himself "picked up a little food and started out within an hour."

The Dutch officer who was in charge of their group tried to stop them. "But was on Sept. 11," he wrote. On Sept. 12 Conditt and his little party arrived at Kenya station.

They were taken to camp, fed and bedded down and the next morning, at 10 a. m., they left in a C-47 (the plane which had been taken up into the air to the prison camp) and they arrived at Okanawa at noon of Sept. 13. On Sept. 14, they were flown to Manila.

"I think seem a lot different to us," he wrote. "I presume we are all 'sit crazy and slug nuts.' Hope I'm not too long in coming home. For I want to get there for the haunting season."

Conditt stated that he was on Wake Island until Sept. 20, 1942, and arrived at Yokohama Oct. 17, 1942, from which point he went to St. Paul by train on Oct. 14, 1942.

He was engaged there in building a concrete dam until April 17, 1944.

"Over one-fifth starved the first six months, then we were moved to Pukonok on May 10, 1944, and were occupied in building an air dome until Dec. 4, 1944.

From Dec. 4, 1944, to June 21, 1944, they were engaged in work with the Sogusaki shipyards, then were transferred to Oriz to work in a coal mine.

"Fortunately, the war ended before I had to go below," he wrote. "I was in a gang of 30 who were digested on an air raid tunnel."

After Long Cruelty, He Found Freedom Was Hard to Realize

HAGERMAN, Oct. 6.—Freedom, which is taken for granted by the most of us, is an entirely different matter for those who have known only the torture and privations of enemy prison camps. When you've seen the world from the inside for months and then the moment comes up to you, being able to write freely can become an experience beyond description, as witnessed the story of Gowen Conditt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Conditt, Hagerman.

The younger Conditt was captured by the Japanese on Wake Island. He had been employed as a draftsman engineer for the Merston-Knudsen company. He was transferred from the Wake Island prison camp to the Pukonok prison camp.

Conditt, who wore his parents' name from Manila, stated that "we can hardly realize that we were free after such a long period of cruelty, starvation, beatings and hard work."

They were taken to camp, fed and bedded down and the next morning, at 10 a. m., they left in a C-47 (the plane which had been taken up into the air to the prison camp) and they arrived at Okanawa at noon of Sept. 13. On Sept. 14, they were flown to Manila.

"I think seem a lot different to us," he wrote. "I presume we are all 'sit crazy and slug nuts.' Hope I'm not too long in coming home. For I want to get there for the haunting season."

Conditt stated that he was on Wake Island until Sept. 20, 1942, and arrived at Yokohama Oct. 17, 1942, from which point he went to St. Paul by train on Oct. 14, 1942.

He was engaged there in building a concrete dam until April 17, 1944.

"Over one-fifth starved the first six months, then we were moved to Pukonok on May 10, 1944, and were occupied in building an air dome until Dec. 4, 1944.

From Dec. 4, 1944, to June 21, 1944, they were engaged in work with the Sogusaki shipyards, then were transferred to Oriz to work in a coal mine.

"Fortunately, the war ended before I had to go below," he wrote. "I was in a gang of 30 who were digested on an air raid tunnel."

Sheets, Pillow Cases Price up

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—The office of price administration said somewhat apologetically Saturday that it would have to increase the price of sheets and pillow cases to the public.

The OPA explained that the Bankhead amendment to the price control extension act of 1944 requires that retail manufacturers' prices on bed linens on two separate occasions.

Up to now, OPA said, wholesalers and retailers have been made to pay the extra cost but due to the latest boom in sheet and pillow cases, wholesalers cannot absorb any further increase and still recover their cost of doing business.

This, the agency said, "the new selling prices announced today generally will increase prices of sheets and pillow cases to customers."

But under the law it added, "OPA can follow no other course."

Army Blamed By Kimmel in Attack Probe

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—The army "let down" the navy in its radar detection of the Japanese planes which attacked Pearl Harbor, Rear-Adm. Husband E. Kimmel told an army investigating board.

"The army failed to detect the flight and reported it to their superiors the morning of Dec. 7, 1941."

It took the navy two days to find this out, Kimmel testified, although top officers asked the army information center several times whether the army knew from what direction the planes came.

"We felt that it was unfortunate that we had not had the information available," Kimmel said. Kimmel, Pearl Harbor naval commander, was relieved of his post after the attack.

His testimony was disclosed in a supplemental report yesterday by the army investigating board covering defense construction and aircraft warning contracts.

Cripple Claims Vision Is Cured

UPPER SANDUSKY, Ohio, Oct. 6.—Miss Niabuelle Cross, crippled and confined to bed since 1929 by a long series of illnesses, Saturday was walking—cured, she declares, by a vision of "God in a beautiful white robe."

The 38-year-old woman, a former school teacher, who claims the vision made her "completely well," said she has suffered from paralysis, periodic comas, partial blindness and deafness, and a fractured neck vertebra. She wore a brace because of a back injury until a week ago.

"It was about 4 a. m., Sept. 27, 1944."

Truman Best Man As Solon, Actress Wed

BERRYVILLE, Va., Oct. 6 (AP)—Former Sen. Bennett Champ Clark of Missouri and Actress Violet Heming were married today in a ceremony that drew more attention than the bride and bridegroom.

The best man was President Harry Truman who came from the White House to stand by his old friend and former fellow senator.

This little northern Virginia town of 1,500 was well known to Clark when he was here in 1912. He was in the army here during World War I. And the only reason he is doing this is a uniform in that he will be staying to death by next spring.

This Hagerman Pair Had 5 Sons Serving Nation

HAGERMAN, Oct. 6 (AP)—Five of the six sons of Mr. and Mrs. Homer L. Goble are serving, or have served, in the armed forces during World War II. And the only reason No. 6 is doing this is a uniform in that he will be staying to death by next spring.

Cliff Beers, national Baptists' representative, told the annual state convention the Christian church must not fail to minister aid in times like these. The group followed his advice in voting to support the campaign to raise $140,000,000 in the next two years for relief and rehabilitation for war-ravaged nations.

PROBLEMS OF RECONVERSION

American industry has proved its ability to perform. It has the know-how, the resources, the courage to push ahead. But even with these fine assets it cannot do the job alone. It must have the goodwill and backing of the people of our country.

Our second all-out effort to meet a critical situation will bog down unless the real facts are recognized and sound measures promptly taken to solve the problems. Temporarily, while we are liquidating the war, there should be a sound national wage-price policy to stabilize and expand the economy.

DANGER OF INFLATION

The most serious threat we face is that of runaway inflation. The danger comes from three sources: first, the wartime and current tremendous deficit spending of

RECONVERSION BOGGING DOWN

Strikes are threatening the entire automobile industry. General Motors is being specifically singled out for attack to enforce unreasonable demands. Some of our plants have already been closed and shipment of materials from the plants of many of our suppliers has already been stopped by strikes.

The interests of all Americans should be considered. This is not only a General Motors problem. It is a national one as well. If our plants are closed by strikes the strikes will be against the interests of all the people of our country as much as they will be against General Motors.

AFTERMATH OF WAR

While the war is over, the aftermath of war presents big problems. War is terribly wasteful in blood and treasure. This one was especially so. It was not prosperity even though to some it may have seemed to be. And the immediate aftermath of such a war cannot be prosperity either. The clean-up, the mopping-up, the reconversion still require hard work, patience, understanding, and some sacrifice on the part of all of us.

INDUSTRY ON THE JOB

Our fighting men crushed our enemies with the huge quantity of weapons produced by American industry. But that is behind us. We would like to have been better prepared for peace, but the terrific demands of the war for men and materials did not make this possible. Now we have planned a second all-out effort and stand ready and anxious to do an equally impressive job.

UNION DEMANDS

Today, unions in our plants are demanding 52 hours pay for 40 hours' work. Their demands if granted would result in over 67 hours' pay at present base rates for 48 hours of work where plants are working on such a schedule.

Equivalent or greater demands have been made on our suppliers—the parts manufacturers—the electrical industry—the steel industry—the rubber industry—the oil and gasoline industry—the railroads—in fact, on practically every industry involved in the production of automobiles.

WAGES AND PRICES

General Motors wages are now at an all-time high and are importantly higher than the average wages paid throughout the country for similar work.

WARTIME PROFITS

General Motors did not make big profits during the war. Although sales and employment doubled, the average yearly net profit in dollars earned during the war was less than the average prewar net profit. Dividends paid to stockholders averaged less than those paid before the war.

EXCESS WAGES REFUSED

Demands are being made for higher wages without any corresponding increase in production, on the assumption that the additional costs can be absorbed from profits previously earned or from uncertain future profits.

General Motors cannot use money saved up for many years for the purpose of modernizing and expanding its plants and providing more good jobs, to pay excess wages for work not performed. The money cannot be spent twice.

Neither can excess wages be currently paid from presumed future excess profits when a realistic forecast of costs shows there will be no such excess profits.

Not can we pay from current income the increased wages demanded when the present OPA policy holds prices to substantially 1942 levels—especially in view of the fact that there have been important increases in wages and operating costs since 1942.

DANGER ON THE PRODUCTION FRONT

How Much Will You Have to Pay for Your New Car? How Long Will You Have to Wait to Get It?

Our government; second, the pent-up demands for goods and services to the point where some are willing to pay excess prices even in black markets to satisfy their impatient and selfish desires; third, the desires of equally selfish unions to take advantage of the situation and force unreasonable wage increases.

Inflation is the worst of all economic diseases. It reduces the value of money in terms of what money will buy. It reduces the value of the savings of the people. It undermines security. It underwrites depression. It destroys confidence. It creates unemployment. Inflation must be avoided.

REAL PRICES In a free market and in the absence of subsidies and speculation, the cost of human effort, be it in the form of wages, salaries or other forms of compensation, quickly determines the price we pay for goods.

Higher wages without a corresponding increase in productivity are inflationary. Nothing is gained unless higher wages mean more goods and services, more customers and more good jobs. This requires individual application to the job in hand and technological progress all along the line—better ways of doing all the things that must be done to produce and deliver products to customers at reasonable prices. This takes time.

A minority, by monopoly or by pressure group action, may temporarily profit at the expense of others. But the idea of wage increases all along the line without a corresponding increase in productivity is a delusion. All the people cannot lift themselves by their bootstraps.

UNION DEMANDS Today, unions in our plants are demanding 52 hours pay for 40 hours' work. Their demands if granted would result in over 67 hours' pay at present base rates for 48 hours of work where plants are working on such a schedule.

Equivalent or greater demands have been made on our suppliers—the parts manufacturers—the electrical industry—the steel industry—the rubber industry—the oil and gasoline industry—the railroads—in fact, on practically every industry involved in the production of automobiles.

WAGES AND PRICES General Motors wages are now at an all-time high and are importantly higher than the average wages paid throughout the country for similar work.

The present government stabilization policy permits wage increases without government approval only if such increases will not result in a request to increase prices. The formula the OPA has proposed for pricing our new products does not recognize or allow all the actual increases in our costs that have been incurred since 1942.

Neither is there any provision in the present OPA formula for increasing prices to compensate for the additional costs that would be incurred if wages and salaries were increased at this time.

A sound and equitable solution must be found in the interests of not only our 400,000 employees, but our 426,000 stockholders, our 15,214 automobile dealers, who have had no new cars for over three years, our 10,000 subcontractors and suppliers and their employees, and the more than 10,000,000 potential customers who are anxiously waiting for new cars and our other products they need so badly.

WARTIME PROFITS General Motors did not make big profits during the war. Although sales and employment doubled, the average yearly net profit in dollars earned during the war was less than the average prewar net profit. Dividends paid to stockholders averaged less than those paid before the war.

The war profit limitation policy voluntarily adopted by General Motors immediately after Pearl Harbor was so reasonable that the resulting profits were accepted in renegotiation without change by our government for the years 1942, 1943 and 1944.

During the war, Victory Was Our Business.

EXCESS WAGES REFUSED Demands are being made for higher wages without any corresponding increase in production, on the assumption that the additional costs can be absorbed from profits previously earned or from uncertain future profits.

General Motors cannot use money saved up for many years for the purpose of modernizing and expanding its plants and providing more good jobs, to pay excess wages for work not performed. The money cannot be spent twice.

Neither can excess wages be currently paid from presumed future excess profits when a realistic forecast of costs shows there will be no such excess profits.

Not can we pay from current income the increased wages demanded when the present OPA policy holds prices to substantially 1942 levels—especially in view of the fact that there have been important increases in wages and operating costs since 1942.

Runaway inflation must be avoided. If an adjustment in price levels must be made at this time, the interests of all the people must be fairly considered.

If wage and salary increases are made, it must be recognized that they increase costs and such costs must be adequately reflected in the prices of products produced.

Internal strife and unemployment must be avoided. Only productive work and more good jobs will increase our standard of living and satisfy the desires of the American people.

Care of Your Children
By ANGELO PATRI

"Julie-Anne, what do you know, right off I've told you again and again not to tease the cat. Now you go right off and tease her!"
"Julie-Anne, see four immediately pat her finger in her mouth and began to cry, seemingly without effort the tears rolled down her face and soon she was sobbing and shrieking like mad."
"Now, now, Julie-Anne, don't cry. Don't cry. You'll make yourself sick and the doctor will have to come again. You know what he said. Now stop, that's a good child. Mother did not mean to be so harsh. You're a good girl. There, there. I'll wipe your eyes. Maybe you'd like a lolly?"

Brings Comfort
Who wouldn't cry if crying brought such comfort and a lolly thrown in? No better way of teaching a child to cry thoroughly and completely be discovered but this poor mother said, "I don't know what to do with her. She is so sensitive. One word and she just breaks down. I never saw such a sensitive child in my life. You can't speak one adverse word. I don't know what to do."

Do nothing. If she cries tell her she has a right to cry if she feels that way but you must have the right NOT to see or hear her crying so she is to cry by herself. Let her have room to breathe and cry all

Speaking on the subject of "National and International Unity" over station KCTV yesterday in the current series of FTA sponsored weekly broadcasts, W. G. Waltra suggested studying the educational systems of other countries.

Comparing the American and Russian systems Waltra pointed out that the people of both countries are imaginative and have faith in the future. The speaker said that the Russian system is now becoming clearer in outline.

"For instance, the Russian student architect must learn not only drafting but must pass his period of apprenticeship through all the stages of actual building from laying bricks to acting as assistant foreman," Waltra said.

He also said the suggestions made to the state department by the education advisors at the United Nations conference held in San Francisco.

The broadcasts during October are under the direction of the Lincoln FTA under the chairmanship of Mrs. Russell Potter. The next broadcast, George G. Roseberry will speak on "Good Citizenship" on Friday, Oct. 6, Saturday, Oct. 13; Mrs. E. J. Stepp-Kennel, "Appreciation for Cultural Values" Nov. 2 and U. N. Terry, "Better Community Life" Oct. 27. Fall Blooms Planned For Garden Exhibit

Mrs. Harry Fogey, chairman, announced Saturday that the exhibit will be held one afternoon and evening in the auditorium of the Idaho Power company building, 164 Main avenue north, the date to be announced.

Hours for the exhibit, the hours during which it will be made available to the public, and other details will be announced soon, according to the maturing of the chrysanthemums.

LOVE BRAVES AN ATOM BOMB

By OREN ARNOLD

PREPARATIONS FOR MURDER

The practical, direct mind which had made Leona Sornal distinguished in her field, was brought into play now in her personal affairs. She had tried one or two round-up jobs of accomplishing her end. She had tried to make Robert Hyde a part of her woman's life with all implications of companionship and "love" she knew it. Now, however, she had tried to ensure their perfect supply of X-29 for herself, and with the power it radiated, fear Robert, and the world in general, to her feet. But in each case counterproductive, little violet-eyed stranger had wrecked her plan. It was enough to infuriate anyone.

Wherefore, Leona calmly plotted to enter her pool in the sea, that would bring most satisfaction. She didn't normally recognize it as a revenge motive, but she was away with Carolyn Tyler was cooler, more practical than she.

"Revenge" would have sounded melodramatic to Leona. But the Tyler group was in the way, not just as she would have taken pains to eliminate any chance of a first shot of order, Leona would stop at nothing to eliminate Carolyn as an obstacle to her personal goal.

Next weapon seized at hand was the X-29 itself. Leona put down as point No. 1. Only three people had access to the X-29, three deep in Tonia mountain. They were Robert Hyde, Carolyn, and Leona.

Now, out-and-out murder is both simple and dangerous. But the objectionable "Dr. girl" were the victim of an accident—

From the store of materials left behind in the past, she had unlimited privilege of ordering things. Leona constructed a relatively simple device which would work six nights in the privacy of her home. In effect, it was merely a compact radio receiver set, but turned into high sensitivity and air-fidelity. Moreover, it was arranged that a small built-in electric generator could be set in motion by a. From considerable distance away, initial impulse could be radiated from a small transmitter which she built to serve this one particular need. The transmitter was easily portable.

Entrance to the old mine shaft, deep in which the X-29 was now safely stored, was guarded in shifts by three men.

Leona Sornal had free access, hence was not interrupted when she came quietly along one morning carrying a wrapped parcel.

She remained in the shaft for more than an hour. If the guards noticed that she came out without her package, they had no occasion to think that it was important.

Actually, Leona had concealed her improvised radio receiver and transmitter under a coat along a few feet from the box and the leaden insulator there the X-29 rested.

Then she buried insulated wires that ran from the generator directly to the main box on the heavy leaden case. With extreme care, then, she lifted the lid of one leaden case, inserted an ordinary percussion cap such as workmen use constantly in explosive dynamite, and left it there connected to her two wires.

"Now," she told herself with calm satisfaction, "I have but to get the stupid girl in here. And that won't be hard!"

She had decided to complete all the preparations this morning. be-

Jesse Jones Is Optimistic On Business

HOUSTON, Tex., Oct. 6 (AP)—Jesse H. Jones, who as federal loan chief probably has more contact with American enterprise than any other man, is optimistic about the future of business.

In his first public utterance since retiring from the government, the treasury secretary of commerce told a group of 18 visiting businessmen that the future of the country is getting a fair start under many handicaps.

But I have always been an optimist and I am still an optimist regarding the future of the country. I think the outlook is very bright. There are many difficulties ahead in a world confounded by a long and unprofitable war. But these things this country did since 1941 are not insurmountable.

HERE ARE THE PLAIN FACTS

★ The ceiling price on the majority of furs is "Off." Present wholesale purchases show a definite increase in the price of skins, an increase that must be reflected in the cost of finished garments. Prices will be no lower, may even increase, so it's foolhardy to put off the purchase of a new fur coat in anticipation of lower prices, when you can buy a Carlson "Fur of Distinction" at the present modest prices.
