Loses Life Burley Man Kills Wife, Shoots Self

BURLEY, Nov. 10 — Mrs. Cora Drussell, 47, mother of two children, was shot to death here Friday night and her husband, Leonard Drussell, 50, was in the Cottage hospital in a critical condition, although his condition is a result of what Coroner Vern McCulloch said was an apparent murder and suicide attempt.

The shooting occurred shortly before midnight Friday as Mrs. Drussell returned from work at the sugar factory at Burley.

Shefford E. Clark, who with Police Chief W. W. Williams, investigated the shooting, said Drussell came home about 10 p. m. and awakened their 15-year-old daughter, Lena, and asked her if her mother had come in from work yet. Mrs. Drussell worked on the 4 p. m. to midnight shift at the plant.

The daughter gave him a negative reply and went back to sleep.

A few minutes later she was awakened by shots and called in neighbors. She found Mrs. Drussell shot through the chest and dying and a bullet through her head. Officers said Drussell fired three shots from a French-made Remington-Union Model 7.65 caliber gun comparable to 22 calibre American make pistols.

The first sergeant, Mrs. Drussell in the chest and lodged in her spine near the right region. One bullet entered into the ceiling and the third entered Drussell's head in the forehead and just over his right eye.

Police were called at 12:15 a. m. and Mrs. Drussell died 45 minutes later at the Cottage hospital. Drussell, hospital attendants said, has no memory to recall the shooting.

Shots As He Entered

The shooting occurred at the Drussell home at 222 S. 1st and neighbors said Drussell appeared to be in a critical condition when he entered the door. The police, however, did not believe Drussell was employed at a local battery shop.

Coroner McCulloch said no request would be necessary.

In addition to her daughter, Mrs. Drussell has a son, Leonard, and a son, J. Drussell, 20, who is now in the army, and several brothers and sisters.

Funeral arrangements are pending. Burial will be in the S. E. Moore, from St. Johns, Ore.

Love of Gun Costs Life of Student, 14

CASTLEFORD, Nov. 10 — A boy's love for hunting and the outdoors cost him his life here here Friday when the 14-year-old student, who had been carrying on the first long discharge accident, was shot striking him in the left leg. Death was caused by loss of blood.

Coroner J. Drussell said the boy, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. P. Bishop, two miles south and one half mile east of Castleford.

The body of the youth was found near the head gate of an irrigation ditch one quarter of a mile from his home. While in the evening, the youth had been instructed by his father to shut off the head gate about 8:30 p. m.

According to the statement made by the elder Bishop to County Coroner J. O. Pumphrey, who investigated the shooting, the boy had always been crazy about hunting and his new 22 gauge shot gun when he went out to shut off the head gate.

Coroner Pumphrey stated that "apparently the boy was shot when he drew his gun between his legs, possibly when he first attempted firing overhead. From all appearances the gun's trigger caught on his hand when he drew it toward him as he struggled on the ground."

The full blast of the bolt action gun tore into the boy's left leg.

M'Arthur Is Fair, Thinks Jap Premier

TOKYO, Nov. 10 (AP)—Premier Kijuro Shidehara believes Gen. Douglas MacArthur is a fair and effective manager to carry out his program of ending militarism and establishing democracy in Japan.

Many Japanese, he added, hope the American supreme commander will succeed in bringing freedom and lasting peace to Japan.

This 73-year-old statesman, called from his retirement to lead the 14th conquered country through the ordeal of occupation and dictated revolutionary changes in a few weeks, declared optimism in his few declared optimism in his few weeks.

"When we contemplate the American occupation as the result of our disastrous defeat, we can't help some feeling of bitterness," he said. "But we can be sure it will prove a blessing in disguise."

"There is a terrible dark time ahead, but for in the future we can see the light and hope for better days. I'm trying to be optimistic in my people's struggle in the future and now I believe there is some reason of hope from your utter despair. This defeat was a terrible calamity, but that's war. We can only hope for a better future which will lead us to a better future."

Whether Shidehara is capable of holding together a cabinet composed largely of revived Hiroshima-like military and civil servants with little political background is a widely debated question. He made clear, however, that he hopes to retain the office at least until elections for a new parliament, probably early in 1946.

The consensus of American and Japanese is that it will be difficult to survive the elections if he lacks that long. The Japanese say he has been too long out of public life to have any important political support. The Americans say that the demands of the occupation program he must prove too much for his physical and political strength.

1-Star General Only Samaritan To Stranded GI

PORT BENNING, Ga., Nov. 10 (AP)—Capt. George W. Schultz of Pompton Lake, N. J., was dropped. He'd used up his battery trying to start his car.

Car after car passed, jeep after jeep, truck after truck—but no one helped his plea for a push.

He gave up, decided to wait for a wrecker for the post exchange.

"Oh, well," he sighed, and began fidgeting the motor again. The first car along the superhighway stopped.

The occupant of the car was Brig.-Gen. Oesten J. Ross of Troy, N. Y., stationed here.

So when Schultz arrived at the Gen.'s office, a half hour late, he asked: "Can a corporal write a letter of commendation to a general?"

Anyhow, he did.

POLICY AND PROBLEMS

Two of the fundamentals of foreign policy that President Truman included in his Navy day speech have a particular bearing on some of the worst of the world's present problems.

"We believe in the eventual return of sovereign rights and self-government to all peoples who have been deprived of them by force."

"We believe that all peoples who are prepared for self-government should be permitted to choose their own form of government by their own freely expressed will, without interference from any foreign source."

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

PAINS—A violent wave of isolationism is sweeping through the house and senate in the wake of post-war disagreements involving White House, Downing street, the Kremlin and Chungking. Veterans observers on Capitol hill compare the present reaction to the bitterness and disappointment which greeted the Versailles peace conference in 1919.

The unanimous house vote for a new coalition is the most significant of the next two strongest powers—namely Russia and China. The sentiment of members of the congress. So does the prevailing view-point that the present coalition during the atomic bomb should be kept from other powers until such time as a bona fide United Nations organization swings into operation. Another evidence of internationalists on Capitol Hill is the growing support for the Truman-Marshal demand for a very military victory.

FUSE—The 1945 brand of isolationism differs in many significant ways from that which manifested itself in 1919. The leader of the new Isolation of Death—Senators Borah of Idaho, Johnson of California, and Hiram Bingham of Connecticut—labeled and suspected John Dill. Russia was not then a factor because of the Soviet revolution. They detested Wilson and took sadistic pleasure in playing him.

In Britain's postwar weakness and Russia's recalcitrance, the isolationists of the present view of definite threat to the honor and security of the United States. In fact, a number of isolationists mention it publicly, they detest the word and regard the victorious powers as laying the taste for World War II.

VITAL—Britain will eventually become the beneficiary and Russia the victim of the current wave of isolationism. The explanation for that prospect is that England led the United States will some day have to fight a battle against Hitler, that America and the Soviet Union as the "right little white" fight against Hitler, thus giving us time to prepare.

It should be explained here that the men who were once known as isolationists are not what you expect. They hoped that the horrors of the recent war would be a lesson to the nations of the world. But, instead, a new front of isolationists has been formed, and their interest in the world has been shifted to the United States.

The British empire, in their opinion, is washed up unless the United States rehabilitates it with financial and moral support and support of London's demand for a full cooperation in the English air-fuel, bases in Australia, New Zealand, and the Pacific.

TERMS—This belief is the reason for so few congressional protests over the use of lend-lease weapons by Chiang Kai-shek's troops against Chinese communists. In fact, the Chinese are being used as a tool for the United States.

It should be explained here that the men who were once known as isolationists are not what you expect. They hoped that the horrors of the recent war would be a lesson to the nations of the world.

"WASHINGTON CALLING" BY MARQUIS CHILDS POT SHOTS

WASHINGTON—The White House will receive at the end of the week a volume on the subject of the latest importance. Prime Minister Attlee is coming by plane for a week or more.

There is a conflict between our short-range interest and our long-range interest, responsible and sensible men should be able to resolve that conflict.

Hess Watched For Insanity During Film

NIENBERG, Germany, Nov. 10 (AP)—Rudolf Hess, the third ranking Nazi until his unexplained airplane flight to Britain at the height of the war, sat in the gloom of a projection room today and watched the screen of himself during the days of his greatest power.

Also in the audience were Justice Robert Jackson, U. S. prosecutor for the coming war crimes trial; Maj. Gen. William J. Donovan, head of the U. S. office of strategic services, and psychiatrists. Hess is one of the ranking Nazis facing trial.

The bearded man, who asserts he can remember nothing, sat handcuffed to two guards as a 1934 version of "my day in Hitlerberg" flashed on the screen.

Specially placed lights faintly illuminated his countenance.

As the picture started with a rich background of Wagnerian music, Hess leaned forward and half rose from his chair. All eyes were on him, his face lit with interest upon the screen.

As the movie rolled on, defendant Hess gradually relaxed. Jackson's eyes bored upon him steadily. General Donovan, the "Witch" Bill of the first World War, never allowed his face to waver. Two American psychiatrists, Colonel Schroeder of Chicago and Major Kieley of San Francisco, fixed their professional gazes on Hess. So did a Russian psychiatrist.

The officials wondered whether the filmed document of a sunbathed glory would shake from Hess the remnants which he degrades his robes of him of all knowledge of past events.

The outcome might determine whether Hess is to live or die.

Col. John Amen, chief interrogator, turned to Hess after the film ended. As softly as though he were speaking to a child, Amen said:

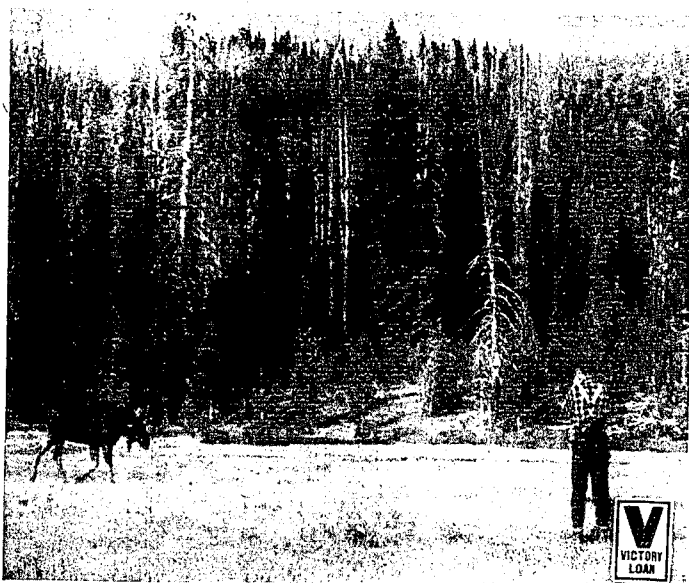

"Do you remember being there?"

Hess motioned as if to brush his hand across his eyes but the hand never lowered. Steady eyes of "I recognized Hitler and Goering. I recognized the others, but only because I heard their names mentioned and have seen their names on roll books in this jail."

"Don't you remember being there?"

"I don't remember. I must have been there because obviously I was there. But I don't remember."

Real Rarity—You Won't Often Get This Close to a Moose

"Shooting" the moose above in the Selway forest is Howard W. Gerzish, Twin Falls, who took several reels. George P. Scholer, president of the Southern Idaho Fish and Game association, snapped the photo of Gerzish and the moose during an elk hunting trip near Indian lake in the Selway by Scholer, Gerzish, Jim Moore, Barney Atkinson and Joe Geuser, Twin Falls, and George H. Scholer, Burley.

Maj. Ward Gets Bid to Help Try War Criminals

JEROME, Nov. 10.—According to word received here this week Maj. Theron Ward, 31, son of Mrs. E. E. Shaver, Jerome, has been appointed to the war criminal board of the world.

It is not known as yet whether Major Ward will accept this high post since his military status now might be considered as recent and might prevent his taking over the new duties.

In the event he does accept, Major Ward will try cases over the entire world. He leaves Wednesday for San Antonio, Tex., where he will be stationed temporarily. At present he is trying court martial cases and serves in the legal department of the U. S. army.

School Visits Invited During Education Week Observance

With school visits by parents and others stressed during the observance, American Education week will be marked throughout the Twin Falls school system this week.

Originated after the first World War by the American Legion, the theme for this year is "Education to Promote the General Welfare."

One of the aims of American Education week, school heads here stressed, is to get the people to visit the school; see them in action; find out about the work they are doing; learn about handicapped children which may be corrected by proper community interest and support. All parents of school age children are urged to visit the schools here this week.

Another of the purposes of this year is to carry the message of the schools to the people. This is the story of the power of education. For education can be used as effectively for the constructive purposes of peace as for the destructive ends of war.

Each day of the week has been given a theme and they are as follows: Monday, "Emphasizing Moral Values"; Tuesday at the Rotary club; Margaret Barron and Bob Pettigrove, Wednesday at Lions club; Bill Watts and Betty Aluzet, Nov. 29 at Kiwanis club; Margaret Barron, Gordon Fieger and Betty Aluzet, Thursday at Lincoln P.T.A. and Bill Watts at the Thanksgiving.

Twin Falls Firm Has Hatchery Bid

The engineers estimate that the cost of the three bids were taken under advisement. It was the second bid opening on the project. One offer was received earlier and it was rejected as too high.

Twin Falls Cold to Returned War Veterans Who Need Housing, Weary Wife Says

Editor, Times-News:

I'm tired, I'm disgusted, and I've almost lost hope. Two weeks ago I was overjoyed with the news that my husband would soon return from overseas. Now I wonder what I'm supposed to do—send him back overseas? Maybe they have room for veterans who don't really desire to be a place for them here.

I've walked the streets answering every kind of ad and grape-vine lead and I finally reached the stage where I stop at any and all places that appear to lead to more than one bedroom.

My mind is on domestic selling here but those lots are already two years long. What chance have the recently returned veterans and their families? People just aren't interested.

Oh, yes, they know how it is and they feel so badly, but they just don't think it would be very convenient to read out their problems to the outside world and it just wouldn't want to have someone cross through their front lawn to reach the stables.

And then too, I'm one of those awful people who has a little girl. Felix just can't put up with children, so then I mention my brother who requires a place a civilian after more than a year overseas and then 13 months in a naval hospital—there's just me and his wife. Still not interested.

It makes my heart burn when I remember the folks over there who opened their homes to service couples and their children. What's wrong with the people of Twin Falls? They have the large and roomy homes but where are their lungs and some hearts? They buy bonds for the fellows still in the service but they aren't interested in those fellows when they return. They don't find it convenient to rent their extra rooms to families of service men.

And what on earth is behind this situation at the farm labor camp? Are they actually going to close that place? They think returned veterans and their families are not good enough for their homes? The Mexicans and Negroes were all right but when they are gone the place must be closed down. Why?

Would someone try to explain to us that those homes and all their accommodations are not good enough for the men who won the war? Would you ask every returned GI who is living in one-room shacks how nice they do clean and shiny modern facilities with a decent other families. Ask him if the homes in the farm labor camp would be satisfactory.

Those fellows live through battles on dreams of a cozy, comfortable and warm home, and what do they come back to?

If time the people of Twin Falls opened up their hearts and their homes. We have to eat and we have to sleep. We have to be interested in with our parents for months and years, but we men are returning and we simply cannot occupy a three-room apartment into a three-family dwelling.

Any veteran tired of trouble in his bed in the service, but in this case we need your help. How about you and your family? Would you ask every returned GI who is living in one-room shacks how nice they do clean and shiny modern facilities with a decent other families. Ask him if the homes in the farm labor camp would be satisfactory.

Those fellows live through battles on dreams of a cozy, comfortable and warm home, and what do they come back to?

Idaho Needs Industries—and They Can Be Developed, too

Editor, Times-News:

The only reason I am writing this is because I figured the contents draw a very interesting parallel to facts stated by Mr. Hamilton in the recent Times-News article, "Vets' Homes Serious, Says Hamilton." In fact, I am very close to being an answer as to why such a condition exists in Idaho.

You remember a year or so ago I came in several times and bothered you for information. At that time I had in mind establishing a veneer mill and installing machinery for the manufacture of boxes, baskets and all types of containers, from native timber. But when I went that time, I installed and operated such mill at two different locations back east some years ago. In fact, I showed you letters where I had made arrangements to buy the necessary machinery. This was the simplest part of the deal, as I knew exactly what machinery I wanted.

Here's the reason I gave it up. I could have financed the establishment of the plant. But when I went to inquire and investigate the demand and outlet for the finished product I found there is almost an unbelievable amount of the very items I intended to make used right here in the state—so much, in fact, that it would take a lot of capital and men and machinery to supply the year around to even supply a reasonable part of the demand. By cutting in some of the larger users.

around Twin Falls, I found they use around 100,000 of these bottles each year. Then I wrote to the department of forestry, Boise, and there was the surprise. The state of Idaho produces 1,500 cartons of bottles each year. Boise, and there was the surprise. The state of Idaho produces 1,500 cartons of bottles each year. Boise, and there was the surprise. The state of Idaho produces 1,500 cartons of bottles each year.

A lot of our produce is packed and shipped in these bottles and other containers. That 1,500 cartons shipped in each year cost more than $200,000. This represents several million dollars besides carrying a heavy freight rate. In fact, the freight alone equals almost the entire cost of manufacture.

If the facilities for manufacture were located here in Idaho and under its second-hand and rebuilt containers. That 1,500 cartons shipped in each year cost more than $200,000. This represents several million dollars besides carrying a heavy freight rate. In fact, the freight alone equals almost the entire cost of manufacture.

Now here's the story of the whole thing. Our last legislature appropriated $100,000 of the tax payers money, a portion to be used by an appointed committee working with men from the forestry department of the U. of I. to find some practical use for the secondary timber in Idaho forests, of which our state has an abundant supply. In fact, the amount of secondary timber that can be marketed is so large that it cannot be found for such timber.

No one is to be criticized because Idaho does not have more manufacturing industries. Neither can anyone deny that it would be a great asset to the state if we could establish such industries, utilize our Idaho timber resources that now go to waste. For such employment here in Idaho so our boys won't have to go some place else to find opportunities and build homes. At the same time we would be supplying our own Idaho products on the way we have to send several million dollars each year to other states for products we can make easily produce here. We have a lot of these products shipped into southern Idaho from Los Angeles Box and Basket company, Los Angeles, Calif. and Idaho has more timber suitable and available than any California and Texas together.

This is only one industry that could be developed that I happen to be interested in, but there are probably lots more.

NAM Wants Relief From OPA Curbs

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Removal of all OPA price ceilings and rationing by next February 15, is the demand of the National Association of Manufacturers. The NAM, which said it represented 90 per cent of the nation's industrial concerns, presented its reconsideration proposals to the house committee on postwar planning headed by Representative Colmer, D. N. H.

Speaking for the association, John Ayley, president of the Kingsbury corporation, Ann Arbor, Mich., said industry finds itself caught in a squeeze resulting from the rise in costs of production and the restrictions upon prices.

- It should make these other recommendations:
1. Discontinuance of wartime subsidies and later the termination of price control.
  2. Repeat of the excess profits tax on December 31, 1945 and a 20 per cent cut in corporate and individual income tax burdens. The tax reduction bill recently approved by congress and signed by President Truman would reduce individual and corporate earnings through not by 20 per cent.
  3. Foreign finance and foreign shipping should always be trusted to individual enterprise.
  4. Immediate clarification by congress of the exact procedure for veterans insofar as jobs in industry are concerned.

Chamber Offers Hospital Support

Buhl, Nov. 10.—Putting its support behind the proposed convalescent hospital here, the Buhl Chamber of Commerce has authorized the use of the hospital association for publicity and organizational purposes.

Gas Spilled As Truck Crashes; Not All Wasted

JEROME, Nov. 10.—Twenty-seven hundred gallons of gasoline poured out of an overturned gas truck night, but not all of it went to waste.

Several enterprising passersby with probable remembrances of wartime shortages, grabbed cans and pails and caught enough of the fuel to fill their own tanks.

The mishap occurred about 5:30 p. m. Friday when a trailer hitched to the truck broke, causing the trailer which contained 4,000 gallons of gasoline to slide off the truck and to be closed for several hours.

Yule Tree's Decorations Again Scarcely

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Christmas trees may shine a little brighter this holiday season than during the war, but it will be some time before their branches are decked with a profusion of sparkling ornaments and colorful lights.

Makers of decorative balls and beads said the relation of materials controls came last year for them to produce in any volume for this Yuletide. It will be made up of some silver tinsel, limited amounts of lights and some decorative Christmas tree balls.

Year ago when no bulbs were made, General Electric company's lamp division said today it expects to produce 20,000,000 light bulbs for this season—12 per cent of that firm's 1934-35 total.

Istria Is Adriatic Danger

ORPHAN AREAS OF EUROPE

ADRIATIC SEA. Boundaries as of Jan. 1, 1938. Boundary Before World War I. (C) National Geographic Society

Flanked by the important cities of Trieste and Fiume, and tipped with a naval base at Pola, this strategic peninsula has often been a prize of contending nations. Since pre-Roman days, armies have threaded their way through the Julian Alps, northward to Trieste and southward to the hinterlands of Trieste and Fiume, and across these mountain girds into central Europe.

II. THE TRIESTE REGION. This is the second of a series of 25 articles under the general title, "Orphan Areas of Europe," in the November issue of the National Geographic Magazine. It is intended to inform readers about the various "Orphan Areas" which have been created by the negotiations among the allied powers. An article will appear in the December issue.

By The National Geographic Society. Trieste, Fiume, and the rocky peninsula of Istria lying between them have in modern times been scenes of contention shared by four countries: Italy and Yugoslavia, today's dominants in the area, were pre-empted before World War I by Austria and Hungary. Internationalists of these two would give all countries free access to that important port.

The two ruling nations, the Yugoslav and the Austro-Hungarian empire, did not agree over the prize. As the central European powers of the day, they made a simple division of the Adriatic coast. Trieste, Fiume, and Pola, which were included nearly all the empire, passed to the central European empire.

Trieste Larger. Today Trieste is by far the largest of the Italian-style harbors of the Adriatic. It is a simple division of the Adriatic coast. Trieste, Fiume, and Pola, which were included nearly all the empire, passed to the central European empire.

Large steamers dock in an ample harbor naturally protected by a fortunate drift of currents from the north. Adriatic ports. Maximum depth and breakwaters help shelter the harbor. Trieste is a simple division of the Adriatic coast. Trieste, Fiume, and Pola, which were included nearly all the empire, passed to the central European empire.

Italy's recovered. Trieste following the first World War took all non-Germanic lands from Austria, and all non-Magyar territories from Hungary. By 1924, Italy had emerged in recognized control of the vital Adriatic-fronting area now claimed by Marshal Tito.

Yugoslavia Prefers. Yugoslavia, a "bony" country born of the last war, never stopped re-arranging the world that the settlement of the Adriatic area was not so hazy. Yugoslavia felt that Italy, in fitting out the outlines of her "boot," added with Istria the "boot-strap" by which to lift herself even higher.

Arrow-shaped Istria (see map) is the keyhole in the arch of the north Adriatic. It is a barren strip to the state Chamber of Commerce meeting in Coeur d'Alene. Beck was the speaker at the Wallace mines. During the business session the proposed dinner to be sponsored by the Rotary along with the Quarterback clubs for the football team was discussed. GLENN'S FERRY, Nov. 19.—New members and their wives were honored guests at the annual party of the Engineers of the District held at Glenn's Ferry, Oct. 28, and the ladies' affair, in the Gully hall, Glenn's Ferry. The meeting, which convened with a 6 o'clock dinner, was in charge of Mrs. L. W. Anderson, chairman of the committee on arranging place—the junk pile.

The Santa Claus myth has lived too long in terms of child psychology, Dr. McDougall said. "Children have to be told that Santa Claus is real. And when it comes to living too long, 'So has the stock myth,' McDougall added.

Special guests included Mr. and Mrs. Arden Bybee and two sons of Jerome; Mrs. and Mrs. J. W. Anderson; Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Simpson; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Anderson; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Anderson; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Anderson.

Elections to Show Future Of Continent

LONDON, Nov. 10 (AP)—From tiny Switzerland to Russia with the biggest elections in the world, the continent in the throes of election campaigns upon whose outcome will be laid the immediate future of a Europe tired of war.

In a mood of political, economic, religious and racial issues, the question of free elections stands out.

In some capitals the United States state department has stationed observers in an effort to assure representative balloting.

Disorders and banditry, shortages of food and fuel, and the fact that millions of displaced persons are on the move, returning to their homes or seeking new ones in one of the greatest migrations in history, are complicating factors.

In most cases the voting will be the first in several years and observers expect the results to emphasize the swing to the left already reflected in Britain, Luxembourg, Norway, Denmark and France.

In Belgium a new parliament will be elected which ultimately will decide whether King Leopold, now exiled in Switzerland, will be permitted to return.

Elections also will show how much the war has changed the views and ideas of peoples once ruled by King George of Greece, Peter of Yugoslavia and Zog of Albania.

In Italy King Vittorio Emanuele and the house of Savoy face an uncertain future with the monarchy versus republic question awaiting resolution by either the electorate or constitutional convention.

In Spain, predicted its first elections since the civil war in municipal balloting early next March, the monarch, Don Juan, is making a strong bid for the throne and Generalissimo Francisco Franco, as he said is preparing the country for restoration of the monarchy.

Every nation in Germany in the United States zone of occupation, tomorrow elections will be held in more than eleven thousand localities during January, and rural county and large cities elections will be held in March and May. Election dates in other zones of occupation have not been announced.

Five nations — Hungary, Norway, Denmark, Luxembourg and France have held elections during the last month and most of them indicated a marked swing to the left, except in Hungary.

Yugoslavia votes tomorrow, and plans for elections are being made by 14 other countries: Portugal, Holland, Belgium, Yugoslavia, Greece, Rumania, Italy, Romania, Czechoslovakia, Spain, Austria, Austria, Poland, Sweden and Switzerland.

Half As Many Divorced As Wed for 1945

By United Press

There were nearly half as many divorce suits as there were marriages in the first 10 months of this year in 30 of the nation's largest cities, a United Press survey showed today.

Judges, sociologists and psychologists expressed deep concern over the divorce rate. They attributed the increase principally to wartime conditions but said the peak would not come for at least another year.

Some blamed divorces on "hazy war marriage blowing up." Others blamed a lack of social conventions or the fact that large numbers of women and left their homes to fight war jobs and couldn't readjust to domesticity.

An unusually large number of suits were filed by men, principally servicemen changing their wives with unfair-mindedness.

Domestic relations Judge Roy Lewis, Des Moines, Ia., summarized the situation this way:

"It due to war separations and quick marriages."

Detroit District Judge William M.

Cramer blamed the migration of workers from rural to war plant areas.

Potential divorces, long-winded, reached the courts through increased earnings of husbands and wives," Cramer said.

Grecy women were criticized by Salt Lake City Judge J. Allan Crockett.

Seattle Divorce Judge William Long said the courts were partly to blame.

"The courts hold about half the marital appendix has whered and a major operation is necessary," Long said.

"There is no question whether quick marital first aid can be given. If medical cases were left so untreated as long as marital cases, doctors too would have a lot of patients."

The survey showed that 11,000 divorce actions were taken in the 30 cities in the first 10 months of this year. This was nearly 20,000 more than in the same period in 1944.

Columbia Development Asked Under Present U. S. Agencies

By HAL KNOLL

Development of the Columbia valley's water resources by the present federal agencies, but under "such a unified plan as may be directed by congress which will not conflict with state laws, was favored here late Friday by the Idaho State Reclamation Association.

The resolution favoring development by the bureau of reclamation and engineers, as against any "authority," was along lines of a comprehensive proposal advanced last week by the Columbia Valley Information League.

The resolution, one of 10 adopted, also opposed the CVA and any federal authority which would take control of a state's resources away from the people of that state.

Preceding start of the annual reclamation session, William E. Welch, Boise, secretary-treasurer of the group, urged that Jerry Wood, chairman of the CVA league's membership committee, had asked his colleagues to end support of the CVA and agree with the reclamation group as a single plan for development of water resources.

Other resolutions were:

Thanks to Gov. Charles C. Goelet and Idaho congressmen for having introduced development of Idaho's water resources; thanks to the army engineers for their flood control here appreciation expressed to the U. S. bureau of reclamation for their water investigations.

It was also resolved that congress and the state legislature be asked to appropriate sufficient funds to continue some survey work here; requesting the state legislature to amend federal laws to constitute the stream of the flow of Idaho streams; in dealing with Nevada, Utah, Wyoming and Washington concerning the disposal of their water investigations.

These basic for the priority of right.

Three additional resolutions were: Support for the formation, development and operation of the state's soil conservation districts; a call for the initiation of a systematic study of Idaho's underground waters by the state department of reclamation and the U. S. geological survey; thanks to those who aided the convention and they were this city's people, heads of various civic clubs, and the women of the LDS church at Kimberly who served lunch.

Recited to all posts were the association's 10 directors, one of whom is president and one secretary-treasurer.

President N. V. Sharp, Filer, presided.

At a board of directors' meeting in the hall after the convention ended in the afternoon, those present said they favored a plan whereby each state reclamation association would select its delegates to the national convention.

This session will be held in Denver, in the LDS first ward chapel, with Nelson N. W. Arington officiating. Burial will be made in Spring memorial park under the direction of the White mortuary.
