Price Ceiling Omitted From Housing Bill

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12 (AP)—Despite pleas of housing boss Wilson W. Wyatt, the housing bill will go to the house floor next week minus the price ceiling President Truman wants on old houses.

A fight on party lines is probable on that issue, but Wyatt last night told Republican and Democratic leaders to agree to another key provision of Mr. Truman's two-year program for 5,000,000 new homes. They can be reduced or eliminated more easily when no longer needed.

Leaders of the house banking committee tried to present this morning a bill jointly sponsored by the committee and the Senate Banking Committee. The bill would have the committee's decision of the Senate Banking Committee on the new version of the measure introduced by Representative Patman, D-Texas.

The agreement came out of a conference attended by Wyatt, Patman, Chairman of the Senate Banking Committee, and Representative Wyatt, Mich., the ranking committee member.

County Budget To Be Sliced

Some reduction will be made in the $530,751 tentative budget act for the operation of Twin Falls county during the fiscal year 1949. J. M. Molander, chairman of the board of commissioners, said Tuesday.

He was unable to say exactly how much will be sliced from the preliminary budget figure, but said an announcement would probably be made Friday after the commissioners have had a chance to consider the matter and decide where cuts can be made.

No requests have been received thus far, nor have there been any reports of anticipated protests regarding anticipated reductions, the commissioners said.

Shirts and Hose May Be Released

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12 (AP)—The government is considering a plan to ease the stocking and shirt shortage by releasing manufacturers' inventory.

The plan, which is being considered by the War Relocation Authority, is to release inventory of shirts and socks, which are in excess of the supply of shirts, trousers, socks, and hosiery and nylon hose. Other items may be added to the list later.

Record of Pearl Harbor Investigation Is Floperoo at Tidy $5,666.05 a Copy

By FREDERICK C. OTTMAN

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12 (AP)—It pains me to report today that one of the most monumental books ever wrought by man, the record of Congress' investigation of the Pearl Harbor port, is a literary flop.

The authors, who are now in the process of writing the book, may get to the exciting part of the story in 22 times longer than "Gone With the Wind" and 17 times as long as "The Great Gatsby". It clocks in at 22,222 words, on 365 pages, and 365 words.

The paper-backed edition at 15 cents a copy, sells for $5.666.05. This is no bargain, I'd rather buy this house.

Since the proceedings began in the Senate caucus room last Nov. 18, it has been my custom to drop in every couple of weeks to see how the five senators, the five representatives, the lawyers, the grand jurors, and the grand jurors are progressing. I don't believe they're getting anywhere.

The wretches with the black pen, who are writing the proceedings for their newspapers are

Idaho Chairman Hits GOP Use; Izzetta McCoy Named to Office

BOISE, Feb. 12 (AP)—Rolly Atkinson, chairman of the Idaho Republican central committee, last night declared the use of the GOP as "a misnomer of the elected official" is "the structure to party lines, has no continuity and holds no place for the variety of long time planning that leads to better government."

The practice "must stop," he said in an address to the conference.

During the session committee members unanimously nominated Miss Izzetta McCoy of Twin Falls as national committee woman to replace Mrs. Emma (Louch) of the same party, who resigned.

The national committee must act on the nomination. A resident of Idaho's Women's club is strong candidate to become a member of the national group for the first time.

Small Numbers of Workers Paralyze Large Cities

By The Associated Press

Strikes by comparatively small groups of workers dealt paralyzing blows today to the millions living in New York City, Pittsburgh and Philadelphia.

New York City's business, industrial and domestic activities were at a standstill as the city faced a crisis in the fuel shortage resulting from a nine-day strike by 3,500 tugboat workers.

A strike of power line employees started in industrial Pittsburgh but electrical current was still flowing in several hours later to thousands of homes and buildings in the strike area in which 1,500,000 persons reside.

Steel mills and fabricating plants in the great industrial area around Pittsburgh, which consume great quantities of electricity, were already closed by the general strike. Spokesmen said all other industrial users were cooperating 100 percent in conservation of the available supply so householders and hospitals might have the entire supply of current available.

A strike of city employees in New York City, which would have cut off the city's supply of water, was averted by the city's water department.

City officials had feared the power shutdown would quickly cut off the city's supply of water, which would have cut off the city's supply of water.

Emergency declared in New York City as a result of the strike. The city's supply of water was averted by the city's water department.

There was the threat that the strike could spread to the city's supply of water, which would have cut off the city's supply of water.

A school of 2,000 employees in New York City, which would have cut off the city's supply of water, was averted by the city's water department.

Only a few trucks rumbled along the city's streets, and the city's supply of water was averted by the city's water department.

Atomic Blast Jarred Star—Centuries Ago

WILLIAMS BAY, Wis., Feb. 12 (AP)—The Yerkes observatory reported today a recent atomic explosion of the star T, several hundred million to 1,000 years ago and six quadrillion miles from the earth.

Dr. Otto Struve, director of the observatory, started the scientific world Saturday with announcement of the first recorded modern-day blast of the cosmic fireworks celebration star, which he said might aid in atomic research.

Star Brilliant
The blast today lent new brilliancy to the phenomenon as efforts of the first began to wear off. In its present state of gaseous eruption, Dr. Struve said, star T "burns" longer than the sun will be observed by telescope.

Normally, the star is not visible to the naked eye. The explosion Saturday, noted first without a telescope, was seen by astronomer Armin J. Deutsch, brightened the star by three times.

Scientists declared the star at Williams Bay Monday but at McDonald observatory, Ft. Davis, Tex., astronomers noted the star first. Fred Clegg and Kuiper of McDonald reported his findings in Dr. Struve's paper.

Powerful Explosion
Saturday's observation showed that astronomical explosion was a blast millions of times more powerful than the man-made atomic bomb recently destroyed Hiroshima and Nagasaki, Japan, last August.

Photographs made (Chicago) by Yerkes' 40-inch lens, 40-inch-diameter telescope—the largest in the world—indicated that while the explosion gave had burst through the outer crust of star T and rushed out at 8,000 miles per second.

Dr. Struve said that plume-aphs of the latest explosion showed the gases expanding at a rate of 300 miles per second.

The explosion may be seen without a telescope after midnight (CST) when the star flares, but astronomers have no observable effect on the earth, Dr. Struve said.

Production of Gold Goes Up At War's End

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12 (AP)—Gold production in the United States, which fell off sharply during the war, is now increasing slowly but steadily.

Production in December, 1945, the bureau of mines reported today, totaled 10,200 ounces, compared with 40,372 ounces in November, and a year-time low of 5,441 in January, 1945.

Gold is worth approximately $35 a four ounce bar.

South Dakota, which produced no gold in the first half of last year, produced 2,000 ounces in December, about 42 percent of its monthly average rate in 1939, and some of the nation's leading producers. This compared with 1,122 ounces in November.

Nevada Declines
California's production continued upward with 10,000 ounces in December, compared with 12,500 ounces in November, but Nevada, which became the leading producer during the war, reported a decline for the second successive month.

The December output in Utah totaled 18,000 ounces. This compares with 22,000 ounces in November and 21,000 ounces in October.

The lower gold production in Utah was attributed to the smaller output of copper as by the Utah Copper company plant at Bingham canyon, where gold is recovered as a byproduct.

Idaho Takes Sues
In addition to South Dakota and California, states reporting increased production were Idaho, which produced 8,000 ounces, up 16 percent from November; Washington, 4,700 ounces, up six percent; Colorado, 2,000 ounces, up four percent; and Idaho, 1,700 ounces, up 10 percent.

However, Idaho's production in October was 2,200 ounces, a figure higher than the December for several States with smaller production, in addition to Utah, were Missouri, 1,000 ounces, down nine percent; Arizona, 5,200 ounces, down five percent.

Restrictions on gold mining operations, imposed during the war, are still in effect in California, Colorado and Arizona. Mines were removed last July.

Car Licenses Going Out to Ten Counties

Automobile and truck licenses for 10 counties were being shipped out of Twin Falls Monday, State Patrolman John R. Lister reported.

Shipped here they were being sent to Camas, Gooding, Jerome, Lincoln, Blaine, Custer, Lemhi, Butte, Cassia and Minidoka counties.

Truck operators must attach their plates to the front of their vehicles while passenger cars are required to carry their license plate on the rear.

State of license plates in Twin Falls county will begin a p. m. Sunday at the assessor's office in the courthouse.

Officer Lister warned that operators of automobiles bearing license plates from other states that have expired will have arrest and court action unless they secure new ones immediately. He said that the license plates of 23 states had already expired for the past fiscal year of these states.

Scouts' Slate Full Program Of Activities

Fourth day of national Boy Scout week in Magic Valley got started last night with a court of honor at the Magic Valley Hotel. Executive Robert DeBurr in attendance. A police subcommittee also held a court in Shurley with Executive Director Herbert R. West and Field Executive James L. Hammett in attendance.

Police supporters have been selected for the court of honor. Robert and for troop 65 of the Catholic church in Twin Falls. Frank Cooke, council president, will be the speaker at the latter dinner.

Thirteen Scouts from troop 65, accompanied by Scoutmaster Vernon J. Davidson and Fred Walden, returned Sunday night from a two-day winter camping trip at the Shoshone camp near Magic Valley.

Executive DeBurr said the Scout week was leading Magic Valley in a "white-out-of-the-blue" campaign to provide information to the public for newly organized Scout troops in European and Pacific areas.

"Budd is particularly anxious to see Twin Falls in this clothing," he said. "So far they've collected more bundles than all the other Scout troops put together."

"They're not only collecting money but also clothing, and they're also collecting Scout members, but they're also collecting the uniforms too. At that point, Scoutmaster Davidson said he'll be in town Tuesday night to see the Scoutmaster and to see the Scoutmaster's collection of Scout members, but they're also collecting the uniforms too. # Not Indicting All, Sanitary Expert Says

Recent action by the state board of health in closing two repair places of business because of insanitary conditions should not be construed as an indictment against all food and drink establishments in the Magic Valley area, H. H. Peto, sanitarian who checks firms on the north side said Tuesday.

"Most places are trying to do a good job," he added.

"The fact is that places under inspection sanitarily, maintain respectable facilities and employ only persons who are healthily equipped."

"We intend to do this to the best of our ability even though it means closing up or taking other action against additional places. Food continued."

The sanitarian declared that the health department was not interested in having operators install expensive equipment.

"The intent is to sanitize eating and drinking utensils, and this can be done by rinsing them under a tap or dipping them in a vat of water," he said.

"If operators use the two water tanks, two sinks are required. The first contains a spray water for cleaning and the second water marked at 100 degrees F. by a thermometer. Bacteria will be killed at such a water temperature."

"If chlorine is used, three tanks for the equivalent are required. The first tank is for chlorine, the second is for clear water rinsing, and the third for the chlorine solution. There is no objection to using a spray instead of the clear water sink."

Dish washing machines incorporating these operations may be used, Peto concluded.

PEGLER

At the great fight continues the similarity of the tactics of the revived Ku Klux Klan of the 1920's and the brown shirts of Adolf Hitler becomes more alarming.

In Chicago, an orderly, respectable citizen, the father of three small children and the owner of his home, is picked by means of a form letter to his neighbors, describing him as a Quaker, who is Washburn Pepler, stabling his fellow workers in the back because he has refused to quit his job. The neighbors are exhorted to persecute him.

According to the dictum of justice Felix Frankfurter, of the supreme court, it is a fair opinion of "love and hate" as he called it. It is, however, all right and no take because the unfortunate individual has no means of fighting back. His children are scared and crying in the neighborhood and he is called a traitor because he is a Quaker.

It will be remembered that the modern Ku Klux Klan, usually referred to as the "hate" group, is not a new organization, but a revival of the old one. The old one was a secret society, and its members were known as "hate" group. The old one was a secret society, and its members were known as "hate" group.

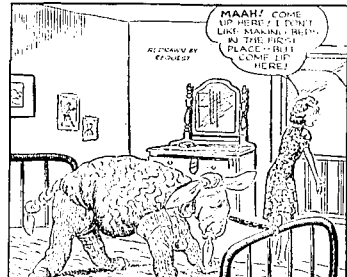

The Klan fell with the other side up when Senator Hugo of Mississippi, in reply to a New York woman who had written him an effective and provocative letter, addressed her as "Dear Dago" and Congressman Frankfurter, also of Mississippi, gloated to anger by outrageous attacks on his character, addressed to one who had vilified him an insulting word that is generally excluded from the respectable American daily press. If the unionists in the California case were right in calling the Klan a fascist, if the union in Chicago is right in calling a decent citizen a Quaker and forcing his neighbors to persecute him, then by Frankfurter's own reasoning, Hugo and Frankfurter also are right in the totalitarian liberals and progressives, far from shaming them should applaud them. Hugo and Frankfurter are appealing to prejudice and bigotry, and they are also using the same tactics as the Klan.

In the California case there was not even the shadow of a dispute between labor and management. The workers were in their homes and the trouble began when a union, which had no right to be in a shop, demanded that the owners quit their own work and hire union members. In this case they would have gone broke.

These shaming, menacing, insulting tactics, which are the tactics of the Klan, are also the tactics of the "hate" group. The "hate" group is a secret society, and its members are known as "hate" group. The "hate" group is a secret society, and its members are known as "hate" group.

Miner Hit It Rich; Now His Town Booms

By ROBERT RICHARDS
CAMPELLEFORD, Ont., Feb. 12 (AP)—Once upon a time a 10-year-old boy left this little village because he had to go out and earn a living before he left, he said, "I'll be back, town. And I'll make you one of the best places to live in the world."

No one in the town heard this promise, and few even noticed that he had gone away.

Now, 24 years later, Ernie Aythart is back in Campelleford and he's trying hard to keep his promise.

Hunted Gold
During those 24 years he hunted gold all over Canada. Sometimes his luck was good, and sometimes it was bad. But he never had enough gold to return to the small town.

Not so long ago Ernie came back to his home. He had made his strike in the Thompson, Fraser and Devereux fields of western Quebec. Ernie's undisturbed fortune at around $1,000,000.

So his Ernie came home with his gold and things began to happen. Here I am town, he said, "I'll keep the promise."

Buy Property
Ernie started to buy about 25 acres, and two houses. He then purchased a five-room house for himself and his wife to live in. Then he bought a retail hardware store, a cement block and the company, a saw mill and several other rights around the town.

Next he bought an uncompleted factory building that originally had cost $400,000. Ernie paid $50,000 and soon found he could rent it for twice that amount provided Campelleford could furnish housing for 200 employees, or 500 people.

"Why not?" Ernie asked. "This is my home town. Well, it ought to be bigger."

Mills During
So his saw mill began burning out lumber. Doors, windows, sashes and moldings are rolling from this planing mill. His brick and tile plant he began to turn out all the necessary bricks for buildings. Six employees in his hardware store are working hard getting out enough lead pipe, door knobs, locks and hinges.

And Campelleford, under this boom impulse, is beginning to boom again.

"The other day the grateful townsfolk elected him mayor by acclamation."

"But I'm not giving anything to anyone," Aythart said. "I'm just helping old home town back on its feet. And, at the same time, I'm making money for myself."

Gooding Dog Team, Including K-9 Corps Vet, Enters Derby

GOODING, Feb. 12—A dog sled team composed of four trained sled dogs used in teams in this section because of their vicious nature, and two blind dogs will represent the Moose Valley in the American Dog Derby at Ashton on Feb. 22. One of the dogs is an honorably discharged war veteran.

The team, which recently carried mail to Hill City where snow blocked the road, is owned and trained by Lowell Fields, Gooding.

Fields says that Huskies have not appeared often at the races due to their tendency to fight, but that with proper handling a team does not need to be vicious. He takes pride in the endurance of his team.

Most dog teams entered at Ashton are either hounds or hard dogs or cross breeds of these two classes.

Cameo, a red-tipped Husky, is lead dog. Others are Tori, a registered show dog of the Shetland Husky breed of the Sepulchre strain. Sandy, a war dog was, in active service from April 29, 1943 to the 13th, 1945, and has his honorable discharge papers for service on park and checker duty. Some registered sled dogs and full sledge to Sandy; and the blind dog, Paul, a Chesapeake and Shetland, a hard-tailed sled.

Paul is one of the best retrievers in the state, being a hard-tailed sled. Three of the Fields' dogs, Ken, Atto and Kikka, received special training in the K-9 corps at the pet shop of war camp at Rupert and the day before last they were being prepared for shipment to Alaska.

Fields became interested in sled dogs when sports dogs were first licensed at Sun Valley. Soon after that he began building his own kennel and which is now called at near $15,000. The breed dogs are valued at $1,000 to $1,500 each.

He began selling only last summer. He has received letters from buyers of his kennel pups from east coast to west coast since the day of the dogs.

Fields has ribbons from the Western Pennsylvania Kennel association at Pittsburgh, Pa., April, 1944, on two of his dogs.

The Siberian Husky is a descendant of work dogs, used in Siberia for hundreds of years as harness dogs in the American. Contrary to popular belief, they are not sled dogs, but this may be found in the Magazine.

Yukon, the four-month old, is a breath-taking sight with his beautiful grey fur and perfect black mask. Two of the only-pup four-week old pups of Yukon's make a handful of promising Husky breed.

Idahoan's Ire Brought Help To Needy Vet

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12 (AP)—The indignation of a Lexington, Ida., emergencyman brought action from Representative White, D. Ida., in favor of the stranded family of a war veteran.

Charles Tank, 27, a war veteran, his wife and their two children had to seek shelter in a Newark, N. J., police station.

Huggins sent the congressman a $25 check to aid Tank, whose picture he had seen in a newspaper.

The newspaper said Tank and his family had been evicted from their apartment.

A father of five children in service, Huggins said "recognition of such disgraceful treatment of men who offered their lives for our country" must be prevented.

From the veterans administration, White learned Tank was entitled to unemployment insurance for having been out of work since before Christmas. The congressman sent telegrams to Newark newspapers asking what could be done for the veteran.
