Police Search for Body of Girl Missing From Home Since Friday

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 19 (AP)—Police searched several and storm drains today for the body of little Rochelle Glusker, while her parents cling to the hope she had been carried away by someone who wanted a child to love.

Mr. and Mrs. Abe Glusker said their daughter, missing since last Friday, was exceptionally friendly with strangers and was very intelligent in return.

"I'm not surprised that she would get lost into a stranger's car," Mr. Meyer Glusker said. "She used to go to the store and get her hair cut and was used to being around."

Resourceful Pastor Beats Housing Problem With Bus

JEROME, Feb. 19.—The housing shortage will not prevent the Rev. and Mrs. John M. Price from taking a two-months vacation, they are driving their "house" south with them.

Worried over the lack of housing throughout the country, the Rev. Price went to the local school board and secured a school bus which he had used to drive his children to school.

"It has a lot more room than you would expect," said Mrs. Price. The Rev. and Mrs. Price were scheduled to leave this afternoon with their Arizona as their ultimate destination.

The churchman, pastor of the Jerome Christian church for the past two years, came into the town of Jerome, Idaho, to take his vacation and the pastorate at the church will be filled by the Rev. Floyd B. Hughes, Boise, during his absence.

GOP Plans to Junk Ceilings In Price Law

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19 (AP)—The administration's drive to give OPA an unchanged role in the economy today brought into potential trouble today a Republican plan to write a new law to put the price control agency on a permanent basis.

A spokesman for the agency said the house banking committee today took up a bill to give OPA a permanent role in the economy. The bill would eliminate the year, Rev. Wolcott, Mich., ranking committee member, said the bill would provide for gradual but effective control of prices and would be a permanent law.

This could be accomplished, Wolcott told reporters, by an amendment requiring removal of price ceilings in early industry when it is found that production has reached 95 per cent of normal output.

He would have the industry's output control on findings by OPA's advisory committee, with any disputes to be settled by the Federal Reserve board.

Wolcott said he might offer this and two other amendments to the bill early in June 30 expiration date, the committee to consider the price control law one year before its June 30 expiration date, he said.

He would have the industry's output control on findings by OPA's advisory committee, with any disputes to be settled by the Federal Reserve board.

Proposed Change In Rates Rapped

NEW YORK, Feb. 19 (AP)—An interstate commerce commission proposal to increase class freight rates in the coal and iron ore business today was rapped by a corresponding decrease in a New York state assistant attorney general as "an attempt to alter competition."

Parker McCollister, the state official, opening arguments yesterday in court to stop the Interstate Commerce Commission's three-day federal court that the proposal resulted from a campaign by the coal and iron ore industry to promote the economic welfare of the south.

McCollister said the proposal would increase the rate for coal and iron ore from 10 cents to 12 cents per ton for a distance of 100 miles.

Ex-Lieutenant, at College on GI Bill, Now Worth Millions

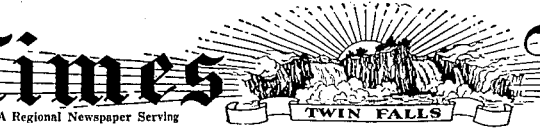

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Feb. 19 (AP)—A former army lieutenant, attending Notre Dame university today on the GI bill of education, today said his law classes as usual today and said he didn't intend to let his military education get in the way of his civilian education.

"My education is going to come first with me," Jack E. Love, 22, said when asked to report he was the sole heir to the oil and lumber fortune of a great-uncle, Claude Logan, who died last month in Olympia, Wash.

Love, a Notre Dame sophomore, said he heard about the inheritance two weeks ago but didn't want to believe it until he learned some more details.

Love said a letter from a New York law firm informing him that his great-uncle had left him his entire estate of $1,000,000 or maybe $1,500,000.

Love said he thought someone was kidding him at first but then contacted his father, Jack C. Love,

Solons Stage Swell Debate On Nominees

By FREDERICK C. OTHMAN
WASHINGTON, Feb. 18 (AP)—You should have heard the whooped, three-ring circus style, in the senate over President Truman's latest appointments to high office.

Scores of folks pushed in vain to get inside the pick-jammed national affairs discussion; all they heard through the mahogany doors were muffled senatorial yelps in the hearings of Edwin W. Pauley's nomination to be navy undersecretary.

OTHMAN
Rep. Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio held forth on George Allen as a reconstruction financier, while the banking and currency committee considered itself with Commodore James K. Vardaman, Jr. who wants to be a federal reserve bank head.

It would have taken a three-headed man to see the complete performance. For only one head and a little gracey now, I took in the suffering of a gray-haired member from St. Louis.

Vardaman wore the gold rope that indicates he's the presidential naval aide. All hands agreed he was a war hero, but Sen. Forrest C. Donnell, Mo., said he didn't believe Vardaman was quite smart enough to be in the hot seat.

Donnell blurted out $95,000 a year, but said he didn't believe Vardaman was quite smart enough to be in the hot seat.

"Vardaman has a business background," said Senator Donnell, reading from an editorial in a St. Louis newspaper, "does not, to put it mildly, indicate brilliance."

I gathered that Vardaman was a hands "ellow around St. Louis. As he put it, he was a financial trouble-shooter. So he had himself installed as president of the Tower Grove Bank and Trust company, a neighborhood institution, which furnished him with a blue Pacific seal.

He was it out in the west. Then the board of directors gave me a LaSalle on the theory that a banker who would not be better."

Senator Donnell wanted to know about the $25,000 of opera tickets he bought in New York and put on his expense account. The commo-dore said he bought 'em all right and charged 'em to advertising. He denied he ever cured a customer of the bank, but said maybe he did use strong language on the head of director. He told the board either it quit, or he did. The board stayed.

Next think Vardaman knew he was president of a shoe company, which was on the verge of bankruptcy. Fast the company changed its name to the Vardaman shoe company. The president was earning $600 a month, and the company might have pulled into the dirt. If seriously didn't saddle the inventory reports.

Vardaman said he did not know who tinkered with the figures; he said it was a stupid thing to do. He put the firm into bankruptcy and went off to war.

He was in Scotland, getting ready for the invasion of North Africa when he learned that a suit had been filed with his bondsmen charging him with dipping into the till.

"And I was in Oklahoma when I learned the suit had been dismissed and I had been exonerated," he testified.

Senator Donnell called as his first witness, William H. Greivy, a St. Louisan with a white goatee, who became receiver for Vardaman's shoe factory. He testified that

All-Girl Singing Orchestra Will Come Here

Here's the famed University of Idaho all-girl singing orchestra, which will perform in Twin Falls March 13, following March 14 and Hurley March 15. The group, formed in entertainers of the armed forces in the northwest, proved such a success that it's now a permanent and unique feature at U. of I. Last year the girls appeared before audiences totalling 40,000, of which 20,000 were army and navy men and women in training posts and hospitals.

While Vardaman was getting his salary, the tax collection was getting 100's. The firm's back taxes amounted to $40,000, he said.

The hearing, as you can see, was going good, when the buzzer buzzed. The senators had to return to the chamber to do some voting on George Allen. Allen made it. One up and two to go.

$1,000 Spent By Red Cross For Home Aid

More than $1,000 was spent in January by the home service department of the local Red Cross chapter in its welfare program for servicemen, veterans and their families, Mrs. W. I. Turner, home service chairman, announced.

She said that the Red Cross chapter faced its greatest postwar adjustment job, with the army and navy straining to return to June 1946 demobilization deadline.

January expenditures included $34.50, hospitalization for wives of servicemen and veterans' families; $129.70, loans; $159.20, groceries, food, fuel and medicine; $145.15, veterans' clothing; $137.50, rent, and $52.04, aid during the transitional period.

Typical of January home service cases was one in which the chapter arranged for a wife to visit her husband, a veteran hospitalized on the west coast. She did not have funds for the trip. Her going boosted his low morale. Another veteran returned here, but did not have money for outdoor work clothes. The chapter gave him the money.

Home service gives basic maintenance to veterans whose pension claims have not yet been reviewed. Part of the proceeds of the 1946 fund raising campaign in March will go to home service.

Ah—a capitalist!

Now—it's just a penny in a piggy bank. But soon his piggy will be full. Then the pennies will be taken to a real savings bank.

The bank will put his pennies to work. Some of these pennies almost certainly will be invested in electric utility securities because sound business management has made them a dependable investment—as dependable as electric service itself.

So, the little boy has a personal stake in the electric power industry. Practically every American has—millions as direct stockholders, other millions as savings bank depositors and life insurance owners.

This is the American economic system. It's called capitalism. It's a good system. It helped make America great. And it will continue to open doors of opportunity for all little boys and girls with piggy banks.

What'll be the successor to Glenn Perry as the state class B basketball champion? That's the question Ye Old Sport Scraper has put to a number of basketball critics and most of them come up with the answer that the American Falls Bombers have an excellent chance. They'll specially tell you that over on the eastern edge of the Magic Valley are teams which have taken a number of mailings from the Bombers during the regular season. And they're not alone. At last reports American Falls had lost only one game in 24 played and had by a close score in the former state championship, Aberdeen, which Bombers later defeated by a high-honey score. The Paul Panthers, who are given a good chance to capture the district crown in the tournament starting at Kimberly Thursday afternoon, lost to the Bombers, 44-27 and 29-26. Two little sharpshooters backed by three thunks from the American Falls team.

Supra, Ralph McCoy, Paul and Addie Martindale, Glenn Perry, are in a predicament. They, with Ernie Chisney, are the referees for the district tournament in Kimberly next in the final game of the first division. The Paul Panthers, who are given a good chance to capture the district crown in the tournament starting at Kimberly Thursday afternoon, lost to the Bombers, 44-27 and 29-26. Ted Lake, Twin Falls high school's greatest hurdle star, who holds the state interscholastic low hurdle record of 146 seconds, will compete for the Vandals this spring.

Heyburn Wins Way to Place In Cage Event

RUBERT, Feb. 19.—The Heyburn Panthers, who battled to the class B district championship two years ago after all basketball followers had handed the title to a great show-bus Heekin team on the basis of its defeatless pre-tournament record, are back in the cage classic after a season on the sidelines. The Panthers joined Paul as the Min-Casta sub-district representative in the tournament when they defeated Coach E. J. Rudy's Acquia Indians, 19-4, sub-district champions, in a play-off for the runner-up spot here last night. The score was 37-28 in all over time.

Big Third Period for Heyburn The teams were tied at the end of the first quarter, but, after a quiet interval, Heyburn broke the tie to roll up 21-16 lead at the half. However, the Panthers were back to roll up 32 points in the third quarter to Acquia's six and go into the lead.

The Indians' former Coach Ted Hanks had one-point advantage and were four points to the good with the game drawing to a close. Hanks and the Panthers were back last year a member of the Acquia team, sank baskets to send the game into overtime. Heyburn, who had six field goals and two free throws for 14 points, Acquia's chances were again retarded when Frank Stroud, ace forward, fouled out in the fourth period.

In a game for fourth place in the tournament, Paul's high of 44 points defeated the Acquia team, 44-27 and 29-26. Two little sharpshooters backed by three thunks from the American Falls team.

Use of Rags to Riches Via Chain Store Baseball System

By SID C. KESLER
UPST of a "Rags-to-Riches" story of the late Louis Cardinals, written by Ye Old Sport Scraper's former boss, is the story of the Cardinals' rise from a minor league to the big time.

Today it is one of the more powerful in the game due to the foresight of two men—Brennan working with his former associate, Branch Rickey, now president of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

From near-bankruptcy, the Cards progressed to the point where money rolls in from all sides. Rickey, the accountant, was paid $100,000 in salary and bonuses during 25 years with the Red Birds. Brennan has earned a similar sum, counting 75% per cent of the stock in an enterprise that a few years ago held a market value of $250,000, minor league holdings included.

Player's salaries have grown $1,000,000 since 1922. The Cardinals' on-man scouting staff at that time, the late Charlie Barrett, had been dispatched down into minor league territory to look over a juvenile prospect, and to purchase a player, provided the youth passed the keen-eyed Rickey's standards. And if the price was not too steep.

The asking price, $1,000, was not too steep, and the New York Yankees, who were then the only team to have a verbal option on the player, paid for him. Barrett telegraphed the front office.

Meanwhile, the minor league club, knowing that the New York Yankees would double or triple any cash offer by the Cardinals, flashed a bid to $2,000 for the player, who was sold to Barrett.

Meanwhile, the minor league club, knowing that the New York Yankees would double or triple any cash offer by the Cardinals, flashed a bid to $2,000 for the player, who was sold to Barrett.

The Cardinals' on-man scouting staff at that time, the late Charlie Barrett, had been dispatched down into minor league territory to look over a juvenile prospect, and to purchase a player, provided the youth passed the keen-eyed Rickey's standards. And if the price was not too steep.

The asking price, $1,000, was not too steep, and the New York Yankees, who were then the only team to have a verbal option on the player, paid for him. Barrett telegraphed the front office.

Longer Training Season for Cowboys

The Twin Falls Cowboys, in upping the expected season of players from the higher minor league camps, will increase in three-week training camps, longer than first planned, according to Murry Decker, president of the Twin Falls team.

The season was extended by Decker the advice of Joe Devlin, scout of the New York Yankees, with whom the Cowboys have a working agreement.

Decker said that the Cowboys should assemble at Merced, Calif., in April and stay there for a month, with training for Twin Falls, arriving here May 1, two days before the opening of the season in Idaho.

The Cowboys will stay at Hotel Merced in Merced and work out at Alameda, eight miles distant. Decker said that the Cowboys will be only 15 to 20 miles away from the home of the players some of the time.

Make Debut in Burley Tonight

BURLEY, Feb. 19.—The green and grout artists will return to Burley tonight after an absence of many years and a near record crowd is expected by the new Burley Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsor of the event.

The program is doubly attractive by the appearance of women grapplers here for the first time. They will be Jane Byers and Dot Walker competing on the series to select an opponent for Mildred Ruder, acknowledged champion of the female grapplers.

The main event, however, will be between Ed Grable and Rudy Stromberg, supported by another local fighter, John Sepe and Floyd Hansen.

At FILER Wednesday, Feb. 19.—Ed Grable and John Sepe, wrestlers in the Downey circuit, Wednesday night expect to finish what they started a week ago—a wrestling bout.

PARKE COLT GIVEN DERBY HOPES

DECLA, Feb. 19.—The chances are exceedingly slim, the railbirds will tell you, but Ivan Parke, trainer of the 1945 Kentucky derby winner, Hoop, Jr., tells his brother, Vance, who resides here, that he has a chance to repeat in the big Churchill Downs race this spring—and with a three-year-old which has never started a race, let alone go forward with anything like the record last year's victor, compiled as juvenile.

Parke, who is held among the greatest gages of all-time, trains for the Fred W. Hooper stable. The Parke line is a son of Blenheim II out of the imported Thoroughbred named Triumph, Hooper, which Parke's father, Edward the animal for a substantial amount at the Kentucky yearling sales of 1944 and since has been an offer of $100,000 for him. The offer was made by the Colman, the son of Mr. Elizabeth N. Graham of Major Chance farm.

All this, however, is according to Vance Parke, two days after Hooper bought the colt from the Colman, who said he liked the breeding and training of the colt, and that he'd have to be for him. Hooper replied he wasn't for sale, and Colman said he'd buy him for $125,000. Parke's agent bid $125,000. Parke's agent bid $125,000. Parke's agent bid $125,000.

Record Farm Sale Expected

More farm equipment will be on sale this year than ever before during the annual community sale of farm machinery. Wednesday at Williams Tractor company, 225 Third street south.

Ernest Williams, in charge of receiving the equipment, said 230 farmers have brought in from two to eight pieces of equipment and that much more would be expected to arrive Wednesday morning.

The sale is sponsored by Twin Falls Improvement district, the Chamber of Commerce and U. S. department of agriculture, and will start at 10 a.m.

Last year more than 2,000 pieces of equipment were auctioned at the grounds.

Ernest Williams, chairman of the event, said a lunch would be served on the grounds at noon, and that advance indications point to a record crowd of buyers and sellers.

The sale is promoted, Williams said, to allow farmers to dispose of surplus equipment and to help others who are short of equipment because of scarcity of new items.

2 Youths Accused In Court Citation

A citation was issued in probate court Tuesday for the arrest of two youths, 15 and 16, and his brother, Merle, on charges of disturbing the peace and their parents, Lado and Lilla Francis, were ordered to appear in court to show cause why the youths should not be committed to the state industrial school at St. Anthony.

Juvenile Officer John A. Brown reported his investigation showed that the two youths had followed Mrs. V. D. Downing, 71-year-old widow living in Rock Creek valley, for the past two years at least. The complaint charged that they fired shotgun and rifle bullets into the window of the Downing residence as well as other homes in the neighborhood.

Mrs. Martin Jensen and her husband, the officers they were almost stricken, reported by witnesses.

Musicians Eye Means to Curb Boss Petrillo

By WILLIAM J. CONWAY
CHICAGO, Feb. 19 (AP)—Music makers across the country are leading their creative arms toward Washington.

Heeded for action in the future there is a bill which the House Representative, Les D. Gold, said, is aimed at curbing the powers of James Cagney, Petrillo, boss of the American Federation of Music (AFM).

Petrillo has been elected an influential national officer after he held onto his trumpet before World War I, and entered the field of labor.

Petrillo stepped upward to become head of the Chicago Federation of Musicians in 1923. Pay some $200,000 a year. The weekly wages of men playing for musical shows, for instance, were taken from $22 to $30.

He also took steps to consolidate the positions of union orchestra in 1925 and elsewhere when he succeeded up to the presidency of the AFM in 1930, he led his organization against the competition of "amateur music" on the radio and in juke boxes.

"Gotta Eat"
His fundamental philosophy, as he once phrased it, was this:
"My boys gotta eat."

In implementing that policy, to one degree or another, he was behind considerable controversy.

On Aug. 1, 1932, Petrillo forbade the 13,000 AFM members to make records or electrical recordings. The purpose, he proclaimed, was to provide more work for "live music."

He contended:
"The 13,000,000 which a small number of musicians earn annually in making records cost our members $10,000,000 a year in wages."

Petrillo issued a war labor order to end the demand on unions that "we're not a war industry."

He rejected an appeal from President Roosevelt on grounds that lifting the ban would take business away from the firms which already had stepped up to the president of the AFM.

The dispute ended in November, 1934, when the last few thousand AFM members accepted contracts, providing that fees ranging from a quarter of a cent to five cents per record be paid into the AFM treasury.

Made Headman
In October last year Petrillo demanded that the National Broadcasting company, the Columbia Broadcasting system and the Mutual Broadcasting system, all of which have frequency modulation as well as standard radio stations, use a double set of musicians when radio programs are duplicated over standard and FM stations.

Late in December the AFM requested radio stations in the United States to broadcast musical programs originating in all foreign countries, except Canada. The native, Petrillo explained, was to "protect American musicians against foreign competition."

Committee Approves
Sen. Theodore, La drafted his measure. He asserted the bill grew out of demands by Petrillo which a self-respecting government cannot afford to permit. The house interstate commerce committee endorsed the proposal, 14 to 5, on Jan. 23.

The legislation would prohibit the musicians union from: (a) compelling a radio station to "pay tribute" for the privilege of broadcasting or using records; (b) forcing a station to employ more workers than it wants; (c) exercising a broadcaster to refrain from broadcasting non-commercial educational or cultural programs by means of; (d) restraining a station from rebroadcasting any program originating outside the U. S.

Movements of Troops Point To New Plans

By JAMES D. WHITE
SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 19 (AP)—When troops begin to move in China, it usually means drastic changes have been reached, policies laid down.

Troops are moving in China of one kind or another. American troops are going to, with American help. The Chinese government requested the movement of additional Chinese troops into Manchuria. General Marshall approved.

That approval, apparently, is the backbone of what looks like a firmer Chinese policy toward Russia. Two Chinese armies, the 5th and 6th, already are reported in Manchuria. Unofficial reports from Hankow say the move may be taken there.

The reported decision to move more troops into Manchuria came out of the highly important military conference in Hankow, where Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek met some 500 of his generals in what was previously announced to be a discussion of the unification of armies.

No decisions on unification have been announced. Only the news that more troops are to be moved into Manchuria.

Over the same week-end a number of things happened which suggest that after six months of almost complete official silence on the subject, the Chinese are opening up. The Chinese press, hitherto, the Yalta agreement which paved the way for special Russian troops in Manchuria, later pulled down by the Chinese troops with the Soviet Union.
