Bean Dealers Say Price Boost Not Enough to Bring Planting

Twin Falls bean dealers Saturday expressed dissatisfaction with the OPA and agriculture department announcement that the ceiling price of beans would be lifted from $7 to $7.50 a bushel. The dealers said the price increase was not sufficient to encourage farmers to plant beans in face of the increased cost of fertilizer and other supplies.

ATOMIC CONTENSION

The Truman-Attlee statement of some months back was scarcely the last word on the disposition of the atomic bomb and war. It seems to have been largely ignored and forgotten. The debate continues in all strata of society.

Just the other day Dr. Arthur H. Compton, took issue with the majority of his distinguished colleagues who worked on the Manhattan project. He told the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America that they should keep atomic weapons until an international police force is established to which these weapons can be transferred. Most of the other atomic bomb scientists seem to have accepted the "secret" with the reservation that it is a secret of method or resources or both.

So confusion is added to confusion. Statesmen, congressmen, military leaders, and scientists disagree among themselves and with each other. The layman, who also has some stake in the disposition of this weapon, naturally doesn't know who is right, who is wrong, or what to think.

It seems to us that the best way for these men who share the knowledge of and responsibility for controlled nuclear fusion would get together and answer, to the best of their ability, some pertinent questions by supplying the world's ordinary people with some needed background.

How "secret" is the atomic bomb secret, anyway? Is it a secret of method or resources or both?

Should the secret be shared?

Can the secret be kept?

If it can, will the United States and Great Britain be able to convince the rest of the world, particularly Russia, that they will not use atomic weapons for aggressive war?

If it cannot, how much has already been learned through "leakage"?

These are not easy yes-or-no questions, even for men with the greatest wisdom and knowledge of the subject. But the whole problem would be more intelligent world-wide discussion of the most pertinent question of all: Should anyone have the atomic bomb?

It is our belief that if the John Does of the world could speak their minds freely, they would answer no. Those John Does know that the first atomic bomb was to future development the first step in the present 10-inch gun or the Wright brothers' first plane was to the modern bomber.

They know that some later, infinitely more deadly atomic bomb in the hands of United Nations forces would still be unable to pick out the evil from the innocent and unoffending civilians, and that it would be as great a threat to civilization as it was in the hands of an aggressor.

We also believe that if the John Does had a companion of research into the peaceable, beneficial use of atomic energy, they would say, "Let us abandon atomic research. So long as the threat of the bomb exists, mankind is not worthy of receiving the benefits of such research, or capable of using them wisely."

TOO MUCH TO BEAR

The western democracies and Russia have long since learned to endure and ignore Francoist France, Francoist Spain, Hitler's Germany, and the Axis. But the Axis, and thus dominate the Mediterranean, North Africa, and the Near East. No, it was Generalissimo Franco.

Such a statement, in the face of Franco's record and coming on the heels of publication of his affectionate correspondence with the Axis dictators, is almost incredible. How can the Franco-controlled radio expect any reasonable and thoughtful American to believe it? How can it hope that American and British seamen will force the times that German submarines, after attacks on allied vessels, will surface in Spanish waters, run up the Spanish flag, and probably literally thumb their noses at the thwarted pursuers, who could not fire on a "neutral" flag?

A Michigan returned vet and his wife slept three nights in the back of their sport coupe because they couldn't find a house. Be it ever so rumble—

An Oklahoma plumber who was charged with disorderly conduct at least was different. He forgot himself.

Reno Gambler Lost Fortune With a Shrug

By ROBERT BENNYHOFF

RENO, Nev., March 16 (AP)—Reno's mysterious "gambling fool from Kansas" who stired this blue gaming community with a 30-hour, $500,000 crap game was identified tentatively today as R. L. Carnahan, a "big time operator" from Wichita and Kansas City.

The mystery man lost $220,000 with a shrug of his shoulders.

Wichita, Kansas, authorities described Carnahan — if it was Carnahan — as a partner of Max Cohen, head of a powerful and lucrative liquor and slot machine syndicate. Carnahan was the principal figure in a recent federal tax evasion suit on a charge of evading payment of income taxes totaling more than $90,000. He pleaded not guilty and was given a two year prison sentence, suspended, and fined $10,000 plus back tax claims and court costs.

In Reno gambling haunts he was described as a "gambling fool" — a sentiment, was, however, of draw — who takes it like a man.

"Mr. Carnahan" — if that's who he really is — appears to be in his early 40's, is an average built, slightly stocky and dressed in quiet taste.

When he gambles, he keeps a police force with him at all times and he has done all three in five and six figures, here.

The product game which started on Wednesday had lasted 36 hours.

At the end of that time he had $500,000 in the hole and decided to "go for broke" on a one-die roll.

His offer was accepted by the club's management. If he lost he owed the club an even half a million. If he won he would pay the difference between the $100,000 and the $300,000 — or $200,000.

The club owner quickly broke him — it was a disaster.

The man from Kansas, and a dead beat, rolled the club bankrupt, ruin and stopped with a very glowing.

The "gambling fool" won — but he lost some $220,000. They shook hands, had a drink together and parted.

U of I Plans 60 Teachers This Summer

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow, March 16 (AP)—With a faculty of 60 — including 14 visiting specialists — presiding over 14 courses in 28 fields, the University of Idaho's 1935 summer school returns to its annual session, Sunday.

William of the school of education, director. With so many visiting specialists to spend up their college work, summer enrollment also is expected to reach previous level.

The University of Idaho's 1935 summer schedule amounts to a pair of six-week sessions. The first opens June 17 and closes July 26. During this period instruction will be provided in all the courses listed in the summer bulletin, soon to be mailed to educators throughout Idaho and to instructors from other states.

The second six-week session, opening July 29 and continuing to September 6, will meet specific requests for courses. As soon as possible after the summer school opens, students will be asked to indicate the courses in which they would like instruction during the second six-week session. Veterans are expected to predominate in both sessions.

"Although the summer program has been expanded throughout, the expansion is greatest in the fields of art, business, education, engineering, and philosophy," explains Dean Weitzel. "Five practical workshops of the type that proved so popular at the 1934 summer school are on the schedule. They are in curriculum planning, home economics, commercial writing, audio-visual aids, and child guidance."

Balls of Light Are Puzzling To Observers

By J. HUGH PUGH
Astoria, Oregon Division, Oregon Higher Education System
The wind was raging under a dark pre-dawn sky. Through a north window of a rural home several persons were watching a puzzling sight. Little balls of light rose and then rose from the ground and in a few seconds flicked out. The surface condition north of the house was reported as decidedly sunny.

Quite likely the recent sight was the will-o-the-wisp, or ignis fatuus, that mysterious light which is said to exist in the misty low-lying bogs and swamps of the north. It is its favorite habitat, the belfry in its appearance, its steady vibrations. Even the ancients were still uncertain of its real nature.

Traveler Sees Light
A traveler through a marshy landscape near Chaville, N. Y., reported seeing five or six balls of light, which mysteriously disappeared in the faint beams of the night air. The spots appeared, he said, when rising in the early morning on a shadowy pool, and then several minutes later, at one time, each individual beam about 15 seconds.

One group could be seen as it emitted lines of a thick of light. The light seemed to faintly illuminate the water surface.

A German meteorologist was able to stand over some of these fairy lights of Chaville, N. Y., between the banks of rivers. Waving a finger near them caused them to disappear, and he said that he never saw a few, but felt no warmth. Some observers have described the form as that of a flame.

Gases May Cause It
The long tapers of light, which are reported to be seen in the marshy areas, are believed to be caused by phosphorus bacteria in the water. Some believe they are bubbles of methane gas, which are caused by phosphorus bacteria in the water when they contact the oxygen of the air.

Others believe that the light is caused by the action of phosphorus bacteria in the water, which is caused by the action of phosphorus bacteria in the water.

Only a Few Inches From Tragedy

J. L. Badford, Twin Falls, didn't mean to do it, but he sure added a touch of irony to this "no parking" sign on the rimmed-bridge, when his car smashed into the bridge railing Friday night. Three persons escaped injury in the accident, but with a mere four feet the car would have crashed through the bridge railing and tumbled about 475 feet into Snake river canyon. C. of C. Endorses Bond Plan; Projects and Needs Explained

By BOB LEECH
The Chamber of Commerce Friday night endorsed the $500,000 bond issue after Mayor Bert Sorensen and Chairman Truman Greenhalgh had explained the needs for a new airport, a new city building, and extensive expansion in the city water and sewer system.

It is Greenhalgh who stated that the chamber is the "plug" of all city projects in accordance with a unified effort to plan for the future of Twin Falls. He outlined a plan for expanding the city's water and sewer system, and a plan for expanding the city's water and sewer system.

Mayor Sorensen explained the need for improvement of the city's water and sewer system. He stated that the city's water and sewer system is in need of improvement, and that the city's water and sewer system is in need of improvement.

Other excellent interpretations were offered by Ruth Reichert as Mrs. Gibbs, Guy C. Verbo as Dr. Gibbs, Eldon Hawkins as Editor Webb, Jim Hoffman as Emily and Betty Barker as Mrs. Verbo. All characters on the stage "came alive" in a remarkable manner.

The drama began with the arrival of the young man who was captured and carried home by the small sister of John Barker.

There are an estimated 100,000 dental plate wearers in the United States.

Long Distance Lines
ARE STILL HUMMING

With more telephones in use than ever before, and people using them more, the number of Long Distance calls keeps going up and up.

The Bell System is training thousands of new operators, adding two million miles of new circuits and installing new switchboards to handle them.

All this takes time but we are making progress fast.

Until the job is done we will continue to appreciate your understanding when some calls are delayed.

Gooding Mayor Enters Fight Against Statemen Editorials

GOODING, March 16.—Why not a little constructive criticism instead of blunty here today in a statement to the Times-News answering recent criticism in Idaho papers regarding the conduct of the municipal hospital statement has been telegraphed by him to Gov. Arnold Williams at Boise. Dr. Barrett, a member of the five man investigating committee, has consistently opposed recommendations of the group, which he alleges, was influenced by public health hospitaliers.

"Hindering Project" "It is unfortunate that people who are interested in the hospital attempt to hinder and delay as important a project as adequate care of tuberculosis victims in this state," the mayor said, "as was amply illustrated by the recent action of the Statemen and the methods employed in securing the hospital to go on record against the Gooding hospital."

"The Gooding official went on to say that Gooding investigated what the state owns in Gooding. First, a plant estimated conservatively at $400,000; second, adequate room for 65 beds; third, the most modern equipment and appointments."

"Congratulate Legislature" "Why not congratulate the legislature on finally making a concrete attempt to correct deplorable conditions of tuberculosis in this state?" Dr. Barrett demanded. "Why not point out to the people that three quarters of the TB hospitals in this country are in small communities?"

"Who told them that one-half the money required to build a new hospital added to the Gooding plan will insure first—a hospital adequately equipped and staffed properly to give modern medical and surgical treatment to tuberculosis, second—the superintendent of the hospital will be a man trained to give the most modern treatment, third—that they need not worry about the poor local machine."

"We will have no place in this program for them because they are not qualified."

"Tell the patients, the mayor's statement continues, of the mayor's surgery is doing for tuberculosis—tell them that they will be given this kind of treatment instead of 'a little rest, a little air, a little food and a little prayer' as they are now receiving."

"Might Harm Patients" "I imagine you to consider carefully the harm that will be done the 150 and more TB patients in the state by doing anything to impede this program," the statement added. "He also said that incident cases were taken into the hospital at Boise, the hopeless ones are left out."

Highways Worse Following Rains, Snow and Thaws

Roads throughout Magic Valley show the effect of excessive moisture and thawing weather, and the road carrying capacity is greatly reduced until the roadbed has dried out to a firm condition, according to the weekly report of the Shoshone district highway office.

"All motolists are urged to avoid unnecessary speed," it was announced, as land limits are necessary on most roads, and low speed limits are also enforced on the more unstable sections.

U. S. highway 30 north, from Pocatello to Burley, has a 30-mile per hour speed limit, and a load limited to 300 pounds per tire inch.

Load limit of 250 pounds per tire inch was placed on U. S. highway 12 from the Nevada line to south Twin Falls, and on U. S. highway 16 from Burley to Pocatello.

State route 22 from Mountain Home to Fairfield is "open, but in poor condition from Dixie due to breakup. Inquire locally Dixie to Fairfield."

U. S. highway 60 is "bare from Nevada line to Ketchum, with some rough spots in pavement near Bogerson. This road is closed from end of pavement nine miles north of Ketchum over Galsen Summit to Obidian."
