

Death Takes Ex-Governor C. Ben Ross

(From Page One)
Cape Horn from New York in the liner, to settle in Idaho. Ross spent the years following his political life raising hogs.
The former chief executive was born Dec. 21, 1876, but under circumstances frequently referred to as "accidental," he never lived in his home state.
His wife, Fannie, and three foster children, Capt. Dewey H. Ross, married at Elmer, N. Y., and Earl, Charles, and Mrs. Ross, John F. Ross of Elmer, N. Y., and a sister-in-law, Mrs. Will Ross of Valley, Calif., have been here during his illness.
"He was the best governor Idaho has had," Secretary of State H. H. McCall said.
This last statement was recorded by Robert C. Ross, the land commissioner and former state democratic chairman, who said Ross was "a great character in politics, but the taxpayer in Idaho got his best" and added:
"Ross was the greatest governor Idaho ever had from any standpoint."

Latest Angle In Housing Is Army Cottage

By VIRGINIA VANDER VEE
WASHINGTON, April 1.—(Vander Vee)—What size, shape, shade? Shall we set it out this afternoon?

Recent gadget in the housing line is no more trouble, from the shaper's angle, than picking out a new lipstick—and built on the same line.

There's a cozy little sample resting midway between the White House and Capitol, donated by the building giants of Pennsylvania avenue.

Buy bureaucrats pause outside to gaze. A tunnel? A bomb shelter? No, a house!

Simple inside
This one in bottle-green and slatted the half of a split sausage. Inside are some modern chairs and tables, two sofas, a guide in a bow tie, a table set for three, a back seat—and you're out again.

The guide is very polite and pleasant. He keeps saying over and over again:

"From $800 to $1,000 complete. Yes, ma'am, made of glass fiber and aluminum. Used by the air force in Alaska and the tropics."

"Take four men—with a hammer and pliers—about two hours to set it up."

If cornered between a box of crutched paper and a back-half of best-seller, he will insist on the further facts:

The ex-servicer houses are built by James Manufacturing company, Ft. Atkinson, Wis., which bought one in Washington in hopes of catching a federal eye.

"If not," said the guide knowingly, "we know where we can sell them."

10,000 Per Month
The James company is ready to turn out 10,000 a month.

If mother-in-law comes to visit, add the guide with a wisp, just add a couple of chairs and you're out and make her rich at home.

Archers to the unlimited are sections of the roof.

"Have as many as you like," said the guide, "restoring old does the same."

He said the house was a farmer-sucker's dream. At $800, you can add a small electric heater would do the trick.

LOOK BEFORE LEAPING

News dispatches from San Juan indicate an apparent break between Gov. Rexford Guy Twigg and his legislative committee, Senate Leader, and the House.

Munoz's Puerto Rican New Deal or "Populares" party has put through bills demanding a vote in the selection of Dr. Twigg's successor and a plebiscite as to Puerto Rico's future political status. Munoz has leaned strongly toward independence for the island, and in such a plebiscite probably would achieve a majority for separation from the United States.

Three years ago President Roosevelt said there was no question that the Puerto Ricans now are capable of administering their own affairs. That is not quite accurate.

That special status for Puerto Rico without the two million Puerto Ricans could not even subsist on their one million arable (and another million waste) acres. Even with such dispensation they barely manage to keep wasted bodies and oppressed souls together.

A second consideration is that Puerto Rico occupies a particularly strategic location in the Caribbean Sea, between the Panama Canal. If we grant freedom, it must be with some provision for defensive naval and air installations on the island.

Before committing ourselves on this question of letting the Puerto Ricans decide, we should be firmly in mind just how much—and how—we intend to contribute to keep these hands of ours from starvation, and what—perhaps retrograde—we should obtain in the way of Canal defense rights on the island.

FOR THOSE WHO ARE BORED

Are you one of those unfortunate individuals who feel that life is a humdrum affair? Do you seem to be losing interest in the things you once enjoyed and at which you formerly spent much of your leisure time? In other words, are you finding your self bored?

During childhood and the prime of youth, one is seldom troubled with any such problems. But particularly during mid-age when that old man and wife seem to be slipping, these problems do present themselves many times.

When your doctor gives you that disappointing advice that it's about time for you to start slowing up, it's that transition in life becomes very, very real.

That's the time to take inventory of yourself. From there on it's easy to get into a rut.

All this leads up to the importance of hobbies as one of the best ways of keeping up your interest in life, maintaining your health and getting sufficient relaxation.

Perhaps you are one of those people who have always regarded golf as a silly game. Borrow a set of clubs some time, take a whirl at golf. The first time you connect with a 200-yard drive you'll probably get the thrill of your life.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL HIRTLIG

VOTES—The reported nature and the restricted distribution of the latest wage raises granted under the Wagner-Peyser Act, which provides for an average of 15 cents an hour and proportionate upping in the cost of products to consumers, has begun to create a serious problem because of complaints from millions who have not received any raise.

Belated recognition that only a small fraction of the nation's working population has benefited from the Wagner-Peyser Act, increased the anger of the behind-the-scenes Democratic National Chairman Robert E. Hannegan's forthright and his associates who have been in the forefront of the movement to increase the present level from 40 to 45 and 75 cents an hour.

Unless this bill becomes law before Congress meets in June or July, the series of grants to the CIO's much union—steel, auto, rubber, tea, etc.—will be a series of wage scales.

The unorganized employees may not be able to exert pressure on the White House or Congress, but they can strain the budget lines.

FIGURES—Even Ben. Adolph J. Sabath of Chicago, a loyal administration man and chairman of the House rules committee, recently wrote a book called "The Wagner-Peyser Act," in which he states that the act has been a failure.

Mr. Sabath writes his colleagues that since 1937, millions of workers have been denied the benefits of the act. He estimates that only 20 million of a working population of 70 to 80 million will profit from the act.

He estimates that only 20 million of a working population of 70 to 80 million will profit from the act. He estimates that only 20 million of a working population of 70 to 80 million will profit from the act.

VICTIMS—Official labor and treasury department figures show that the cost of the Wagner-Peyser Act to the nation is $100 million annually. Yet they still suffer because of the higher costs of manufactured products.

The treasury's income tax surveys for 1943, the latest year available, tell the same story. And, the more they say, the more they say, the more they say.

RECORD—"Young Bob" La Follette's Progressive convention speech telling the Democrats for a 12-year ban on the CIO was a masterpiece of logic and argument. It was a masterpiece of logic and argument.
