Soldiers Stoned By Mob of Arabs In Protest Strike

JERUSALEM, May 3 (AP)—A crowd of more than 3,000 stone-throwing Arabs marked the advent of a general Arab strike throughout Palestine today with a demonstration before the mosque El-Aqsa at the historic Damascus gate. About 100 British troops with tommyguns and armored cars held the throng at bay.

A hastily erected barbed wire barricade prevented movement from the old city of Jerusalem through the gate. The Arabs hurled stones at the troops during a heavy rainfall.

Bourbon Asks Resigning of Gov. Williams

PAIDFIELD, May 3 (AP)—Fred O. Reynolds, Democrat state committee chairman for Canada county, charged today that Gov. Arnold Williams is "the only pet on the Democratic rooster" and demanded his resignation.

Reynolds said "I call for the resignation of Gov. Arnold Williams as he is the only man-elect for lieutenant governor to put in a claim for five dollars a day while the Democratic board of examiners refused to allow him to do so."

Reynolds, former state senator, made his statement today in answer to Gilbert Larsen and Joe Anderson that they would resign from the state board of education. Larsen, Madison county Democratic chairman, and Anderson, Fremont county Democratic chairman, both issued statements this week demanding Wilson quit the board because he is campaigning for the Bourbon nomination for governor. The education board is termed a nonpartisan agency.

Williams is also campaigning for gubernatorial nomination.

Asher Wilson Hies Back at Rexburg

Asher H. Wilson, Democratic candidate for governor, Friday said that "any statement made by me demanding my resignation from the state board of education is the type of thing that Larsen and Joe Anderson would like to hear."

Wilson said that Larsen and Gov. Arnold M. Williams are "practically brothers they are close friends, and they work together."

Wilson said he was working with the state board of education and demanded his resignation from the board. He said he was resigning from the board and was going to run for governor.

U.S. Marines, Prison Guards Mobilize Weapons of War to Attack Convict-Held Alcatraz

SAN FRANCISCO, May 3 (UP)—Attacking U. S. marines and prison guards mobilized bazooka guns, demolition bombs, fragmentation hand grenades and other weapons of war today in an all-out assault against barricaded convict insurgents battling for the second day in a bloody, futile mutiny at Alcatraz island prison. Fifteen-pound "shake" bombs, designed to blow down cement walls, were dispatched to the embattled island on the authority of Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell, commander of the sixth army. It appeared prison authorities may try to demolish the cell-block barricade where the stir-maddened desperadoes were holding out with unabated fury.

With two prison officers killed and 14 wounded, Warden James A. Johnston urgently appealed for and obtained an arsenal of the most modern combat equipment. The U. S. army arsenal at Benicia dispatched the following supplies:

Fifteen "shake" demolition bombs, 15 pounds each; 100 bazooka projectiles—powerful enough to stop tanks; 1,000 fragmentation hand grenades; 720 grenade cartridges; 288 grenade adapters (for guns), and 300 light phosphorus smoke grenades.

Leathernecks from a landing detachment of 20 lobbed grenades inside the shell-pocked cell block. Teaming with the depleted ranks of battle-weary prison guards, they braved a cross-fire from the stir-maddened kidnappers and robbers to open a blazing offensive aimed at suppressing the mutineers.

Reinforcements were being flown to Alcatraz. A justice department spokesman said officers were proceeding by air from Leavenworth, Kan., Denver, Colo., and McNeil Island, Wash. They numbered between 20 and 30.

Warden Clinton Duffy of San Quentin, at the request of Warden James A. Johnston, armed with rifles, to assist the Alcatraz contingent.

Explosions shook "the rock" as grenades burst inside the cell block.

But there was plenty of resistance from behind the white-walled barricade. Rifle and machine gun fire rattled at the bobbing heads of deploying marines and guards.

Once the convicts hurled out a missile—apparently a crude incendiary bomb, it started a fierce blaze in the shrubbery—pink and lavender ice-plant flowers sloping down to the edge of the island.

Marines tried to punch holes in the top of the cell block but they found the roof too solidly constructed and had to give up the attempt.

While the struggle blazed furiously to its end, a group of prisoners broke out of the cell block and ran across the island to the edge of the island.

Goering Thumbs Nose at Schacht

MUNICH, May 3 (UP)—Hermann Goering thumbed his nose at Heinrich Schacht today when he learned that the former Nazi financial wizard once branded him a traitor.

Every one in the war crimes courtroom—except the judges—laughed with laughter at the remark which came as American Prosecutor Robert Jackson read a description of Goering's life.

Goering called an "amoral type," the statement said. "But Goering was a great man," said the prosecutor.

Passenger Train Service Sliced In Half to Conserve Coal Supply

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP)—The office of defense transportation today ordered a 50 per cent reduction in passenger service by coal-burning locomotives, effective May 15, to conserve dwindling coal supplies.

From May 10 to May 15 passenger service will be reduced 25 per cent from the mileage operated on April 1.

Railroads were further directed to cancel reservation where necessary and "to take such other action as may be necessary to carry out the terms and purposes of this order."

OTL last night had changed a general embargo on freight shipments with certain exceptions and had ordered a minimum 25 per cent cut, effective May 10, in passenger service on coal-burning railroads.

OTL Director J. Monroe Johnson told a reporter today that "any railroad which finds it necessary has my permission to put these reductions into effect before May 10 and to go deeper."

The drastic curtailment of railroad service came as President Truman voiced open alarm over the situation created by the prolonged soft coal strike.

Approximately three-quarters of the nation's passenger mileage relies on coal.

The presidential alarm over the strike's effects was echoed in high administrative quarters where predictions were made that the national economy will be seriously injured by any long delay in the dispute.

In time, he said, the shutdown of the soft coal mines by 400,000 miners will be considered a strike against the government.

Should matters reach that stage, he added, the government will act accordingly.

The rail service curb order was issued to avert a possible shortage of coal for the government's own use.

Friends of OPA Criticize Agency

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP)—Senators Barkley, D. Ky., and Wagner, N. Y., today criticized the Office of Price Administration (OPA) for its handling of the coal strike.

Both are on the record as favoring a more lenient attitude toward the coal miners.

Wagner told an OPA official, "You have too much power."

The remarks came when Ernest Hoffman, price executive of OPA's hardware branch, was replying to a contention by Robert Seidel, a director of the National Retail Druggists Association, that OPA is a "member" of the Seattle Chamber of Commerce.

Old Veterans Rally to Deny Custer Story

BY JACK ROTTIER
(Former Times-News Reporter)

BOISE UP—Three old-time Indian fighters, patients at the veterans hospital at Fort Harrison, today rallied to the defense of Custer and his men in answer to the charge that the seventh cavalry fighters and their leaders were drunk at the time of the heroic last stand.

"Not a chance for it," said Thomas Murphy of Chelan, Wash., who now is 80 years old. "Man alive, when a soldier in those days reported drunk for duty he was strapped to a wagon and ridden, sometimes, for as long as 12 hours. After reviving for several hours on those old army cots, he would get up and go to work and never forget his experience."

Murphy, who joined the first cavalry in 1876, fought in the Nez Percé and Bannock campaigns, and first Custer a general order. He declared emphatically from his hospital bed, "Custer was not a drinking man."

Defends Custer

Robert Stigler, a member of a cavalry re-enactment sent to rally Custer, protested, "Custer was too much of a man and a soldier to start a campaign under the influence of liquor."

Stanley, whose home is in Nampa, is 84 years old. When approached at the hospital, he appeared too infatuated to talk, but later told that Custer and his men were accused of being drunk at the time of the memorable battle, he rose in his bed to defend his comrades, exclaiming, "Custer was not a drunkard and he wouldn't drink with drunkards among his men."

Stanley, who knew Custer personally, said the general's great mistake was "in not waiting for re-enactments, as were only a few days behind him."

"Nothing to it!"

Ninety-one-year-old William Hale, Spanish-American war veteran, said, "There's nothing to it; don't believe it." Hale, who has lived most of his life in the northwest, said he had lived among the Indians there for 20 years and has heard no mention of drunkenness in Custer's cavalry.

The question about the sobriety of Custer and his men started recently when White Crow, an Anshira Indian from Blaine, N. D., charged that General Custer and his men were drunk at the time of the massacre of Little Bighorn.

The first to come to Custer's defense was Mrs. Carrie Baker, 74, Dakota pioneer, who lived in Custer's home at Ft. Lincoln, N. D. She said she was 16 at the time of the battle. From her home in Denver, she declared, "It made me sick thinking that when I read the charge. There never was a finer gentleman than Custer."

The dictionary of American Biography portrays Custer as a man with a "high sense of integrity" and "allegiance" in personal habits.

"Except in peace-pipe ceremonies with the Indians he did not use tobacco and there is no evidence, despite malicious stories to the contrary, that save for a brief period during the Civil war, he ever drank liquor," the dictionary stated.

Scheme Told to Divert Salmon, Dredge up Gold

HAILEY, May 3 — Gov. Arnold Williams discussed Thursday night the possibility of diverting the waters of the Salmon river into the Shiner river and obtaining "billions of dollars in gold" as a result.

Addressing an open forum of Blaine county Democrats at the courthouse here, Williams said a 15 million dollar project could build a tunnel from the Salmon to the Shiner and the waters diverted could be used for power purposes.

"Rich deposits of gold would be uncovered in the bed of the Salmon," he declared.

Williams said that good roads, cheap electricity and moderate freight rates comprised the main three goals of his administration.

Idaho, he said ranked second nationally in the production of small coins, but a greater future awaits the state once it becomes fully developed.

He urged all veterans to register for the coming elections.

Dick Adamson, Carey, president, and Orin Hick, Blaine county chairman, and Joseph McFadden, secretary, were present.

Dispute Near In Conference Of Ministers

By LOUIS F. KEEMLE
United Press Staff Correspondent

Despite the difficult Italian treaty, the big four foreign ministers in Paris are headed toward a decision on the disposition of eastern Germany.

The conference has been unexpectedly smooth so far, but that is because the ministers have stopped the more controversial issues of the Italian treaty for the time being.

Actually, they have agreed only to the principle and the disposition of the Italian navy. The handling of Italy's colonies, Trieste and Trieste-Mediterranean demands has been left for future discussion, with the possibility of heated wrangling.

Ruhr Problem
Now the problem of the Ruhr and Rhineland and a centralized Germany has arisen to place the conference. Secretary of State James F. Byrnes' proposal for a 25-year treaty to keep Germany disarmed, and his request that it be discussed at this meeting, have brought the issue to the fore.

The French want to separate the Ruhr and Rhineland, with their industries and mineral resources from Germany proper. They would be placed under French jurisdiction, although not by outright annexation, if the French have their way.

Opposes Separation
Great Britain, fully backed by the dominions, opposes the separation. The dominions, by unanimous decision at their current London conference, expressed the fear that separation of the Ruhr and Rhineland would create economic difficulties in western Europe and perhaps lead to a revived Nazi movement, based on a cause similar to the third reich's successful fight against the "injustices" of the Versailles treaty.

Britain plans a compromise plan which would leave the Ruhr and Rhineland nominally to Germany, but under international control and armed occupation for perhaps as long as 20 years. Ruhr industries would be nationalized and work for the allies as well as for Germany.

Many Girls Work for a Year Before College, Survey Finds

By BETTY ALAUZET
That many high school girls work a year before going to college, and that a high percentage of Twin Falls high school girls do attend college, was determined by a survey conducted by the dean of girls office at Twin Falls high school under the direction of Dean Rose M. North.

A survey of girls who have graduated in the last two classes, 1944 and 1945, showed their occupational status of the present time. There were 111 girls in the class of 1944 and 102 girls in the class of 1945.

The survey figures showed the following: 30 per cent married; 36 per cent in college; 22 per cent working locally in clerical or office work, and seven per cent moved away.

These results were determined about the class of '45: 20 per cent married; 31 per cent in college; 37 per cent working locally; 11 per cent moved. This increase in college work can be explained by the number of Japanese girls who attended high school here, but as soon as the war was over returned to the west coast.

For curriculum and guidance suggestions three conclusions were drawn: First, more emphasis should be placed on home economics, cooking, home nursing and child care. Mrs. North states that from findings out-look of the girls of the high school have immediate need of such courses. At present only about 10 per cent takes home economics.

Second, emphasis must be maintained in offering along college preparatory courses. The national average for high school students who enter college is from 18 to 20 per cent. Twin Falls high school offers courses in English, mathematics, science and languages. Mrs. North said that "we say the emphasis must be maintained because we feel that our school is strong in college preparatory work."

As an example of its efficiency in college preparatory work, she cited the University of Idaho. Moscow set the average for freshmen students at 21. Twin Falls students have averaged 27.6.

Commercial Work
That students should take commercial work summarizes the third point. This includes not only typewriting and shorthand, but bookkeeping, arithmetic, salesmanship and business procedure. Lack of proper office machines, such as dictaphones and other business operations, is a handicap, stated Mrs. North.
