Senators Urging Teen-Ager Draft In Extension Bill

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP)—Senate leaders applied fresh pressure today for speedy enactment of a new draft extension law, saying President Truman's age limit boost can not meet army and navy needs.

Acting to "save what we can from the near wreckage of the selective service system," the chief executive late yesterday ordered the induction of men through 29 years of age. Army estimates place 15,000 eligible men in that group, but the possibility arose that few would be drafted before the new July 1 expiration date.

Magic Valley Draft Picture Is Unchanged

President Truman's signing of selective service legislation which will allow the drafting of children men 17 through 29 is not expected to change the picture in Magic Valley regarding the possibility of military service for non-veterans.

"The fact remains there aren't very many men in this category," said Joe Houtz, clerk of Twin Falls county selective board No. 1.

During the war, the draft, which was applied to single men between the ages of 18 and 40, was almost now discharged and ineligible for additional service, or in military service now.

The board Wednesday received authority to draft non-fathers, 20 through 29.

U.N. Votes to Delay Action Over Albania

NEW YORK, May 17 (AP)—The United Nations security council unanimously adopted an American proposal to defer for two months action on Albania's long-pending request to join the U.N.

Meanwhile, Russia today handed the council's subcommittee investigating South a document which reportedly listed examples of German cooperation between the German and Spanish governments during the war. The document was expected to be made public later.

In voting to set up procedure for processing new membership applications the council overruled a proposal by Australia that it was infringing on the rights of the U.N. guarantors, which has had word on admitting new members.

The council adjourned at 1:30 p.m. (EST) without setting a date for its next meeting. The Iranian question, however, is scheduled to come up again Monday or Tuesday, when Iran has been asked to report on progress of its withdrawal of Soviet troops from Azerbaijan.

As the council meeting opened, its new president—Alexandre Perotti of France—called for worldwide support of the U.N. in its efforts to keep the peace, and assured his colleagues that the U.N. would be "collective security and international solidarity" are not dead.

FLASHES of LIFE

By Associated Press

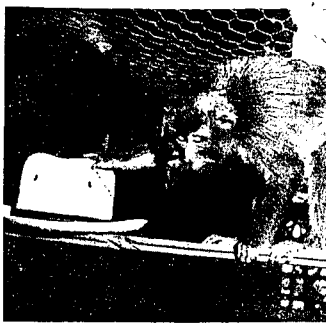

SEATTLE, May 17.—James H. Allen, San Francisco, hostmaster of the liberty ship Allen C. Balch, slipped today to a justice of the peace's office to get a divorce from his wife, Mrs. Helen Allen, Chappo of Portland for a "quiet" life.

But they found that the ship's crew had been taken there and forced to work on the ship's hull, and the crew that their honeymoon destination was no secret, either—and we're all going along.

YARDSTICK
REDDING, Calif., May 17.—Porter Hager, Harold Peterson reports the practice of fish in the headwaters of the Pit River arm of Shasta dam, "as big as a truck" and "if you don't believe it, I'll show you the truck." Peterson said he used his forest truck for a comparative measuring stick to estimate the big fish's length.

He came up with this fish: It was a sturgeon, 14 feet long.

Introducing Straw Hat Day... WITH A LITTLE MONKEY BUSINESS

THIS ONE?

HINT... TOO BIG...

ILL TAKE THIS ONE!

Wally, the pet monkey, joined the crowd in Twin Falls Friday by donning a straw hat, but he had a little trouble finding a good fit. After some shopping around he finally got one that suited him and proceeded to make his roommate very jealous by all this monkeying around in the straw hats. ## Scientist Predicts Commercial Use of Atom Power in 2 Years

BY RUTH COWAN
WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP)—Dr. Leonard I. Katzin, west coast scientist, today rated large commercial atomic energy plants a practical possibility in two years.

Dr. Katzin, who is working on a research project with the plutonium group at the University of California, Dr. Katzin described what he considers such a development financially and technically possible in an article written for the current issue of Army Ordnance magazine.

Through industrial application of atomic energy, undeveloped areas rich in minerals like Canada, could be made highly productive, waste in general could be curtailed and life made more live, he theorized.

"In its present state of development, atomic energy does not compete with conventional fuels, but this need not be the case in the future," said Dr. Katzin.

One pound of uranium completely converted by fission, he pointed out, will release as much energy as the combustion of 1,500 tons of coal, 250,000 gallons of fuel oil or kerosene, 40,000,000 cubic feet of natural gas.

Order Becomes Effective Today in Last Effort to Avert Saturday Walkout

Wateruser Unity of North, South Urged

A plea for a coordinated program between the users of Snake river water in northern and southern Idaho was outlined by John W. Shepard, Lewiston, at the opening session of the Idaho State Reclamation association convention here this afternoon.

Rep. Henry C. Dworshak will arrive in Boise by plane from Washington this afternoon and will address the session Saturday, William W. Beise, secretary, announced.

Sen. Charles C. Gossett was expected to arrive late this afternoon and will speak before the group at a banquet at 7 p.m. today in the Legion hall.

British Avert India to Have Full Freedom

NEW DELHI, May 17 (AP)—The three members of the British cabinet, facing the question of Indian independence, agreed repeatedly today that this time the British definitely intended to leave India.

The congress party's working committee met today. It may decide whether to cooperate along the lines of the government's recommendations, yesterday that an independent federal union of India be organized and that an interim government of India be formed to rule until the new constitution is effective.

Malhotra All Jinnah, president of the Muslim League, was expected to state his views tomorrow. The question whether the congress party and Muslim League will participate in setting up the machinery for writing the new constitution then will be answered.

Early indications were that the Muslims were displeased with the plan drafted by the cabinet mission, but that the congress party, India's largest, would go along with the proposals.

Flanked by Sir Stafford Cripps, president of the British board of trade, and by A. V. Alexander, first lord of the admiralty, Lord Pethick-Lawrence, secretary of state for India, stuck together at the press conference to the theme that British wanted to surrender control of the country at the earliest possible moment.

The question of the India office already has begun, he said. The cabinet action will remain in India before the "our next job is to get the plan accepted by the two main bodies—Muslims and Hindus," he said.

Brynes Heads Back to U.S. With Failure

PARIS, May 17 (AP)—Secretary of State James P. Byrnes and his delegation left for Washington in a plane today to tell the American people why the big four conference failed.

Brynes said when the one month recess began last night that he was not discouraged. He hoped the next session June 15 would reach minor agreements, although the American delegation could make Molotov defer from Stalin's instructions.

Truman Seeks To Form New Cabinet Post

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP)—President Truman today will ask congress to create the first new U.S. cabinet post since 1933, a secretary of health, welfare and education.

The new cabinet officer probably will be known as the secretary of health, welfare and education.

Mr. Truman said to congress late yesterday a reorganization plan expanding and strengthening the present federal security agency.

The plan transfers to the agency the functions of the child, health bureau, new in the labor department, and abolishes the social security agency, giving the federal security agency direct control over the social security program.

Mr. Truman said the federal security agency should be an independent department with a permanent place in the cabinet. He said it would give the federal government the "firm foundation" it needs to meet its "full responsibilities for the protection and development of the human resources of the nation."

Under the executive reorganization act passed last year, the plan will go into effect in 60 days unless Congress takes action.

New Strikes Hit Supply of Paper In Western U.S.

SEATTLE, May 17 (AP)—Newspapers as far east as Oklahoma started halting their newspaper today in preparation for the possible spread of the CIO-loggers strike.

The union in Washington, Oregon, and in producing states where they control virtually the entire wood pulp industry.

Thirty-seven thousand Canadian affiliates of the International Woodworkers of America were on strike today of their wage dispute strike as IWA officials at Portland, Ore., stated.

The strike was conducted the past three weeks among the 50,000 members of the union in Washington, Oregon, Montana, North Idaho and northern California.

The British Columbia strike already has cut off an estimated daily production of 800,000 feet of lumber, and the strike has cut off the British Columbia mills said by 1,200 employees would be idle by Saturday.

Oregon Elections Lack Competition

PORTLAND, Ore., May 17 (AP)—Oregon was voting today in a primary election to formally choose congressional and gubernatorial candidates and local office nominees whom—thanks to a startling lack of competition—many already have chosen.

Oregon's four congressional representatives were unopposed by Republican nominees. So were Oregon's four state representatives.

Repair Urged For Old Auto Awaiting New

By DAVID J. WILKIE
Associated Press Automobile Editor
DETROIT, May 17 (AP)—If you must decide now whether to order a new automobile or have your present one put into condition for several more months of driving, this writer's advice is:
Do both—you can get a dealer to take your old car because you are going to have to wait for the new car. Moreover, your present car, in good shape, will be a powerful factor in persuading your dealer to deliver a new one in trade when it becomes available to him.
As with new cars, used vehicles are in shorter supply than at any time in the industry's history. Many used car dealers also have waiting lists.
The situation with respect to new automobiles is considerably worse right now than the average would-be buyer realizes.
Many dealers are so swamped with orders they don't care to book any more.
It is not outside the realm of possibility, say industry experts, that some of those who place orders now for new cars may have to wait until next year for delivery.

Developing of Idaho Theme Of Graduation

By LORAYNE ORTON
The development and history of Idaho—from the first cry of "Ee-dah-hoo" by a Shoshoni Indian to a challenge to her youth to develop Idaho's resources—formed the theme of the commencement exercises of the Twin Falls high school Thursday night at the gymnasium.

Planked by an outline of Idaho made of lathes decorated in school colors, blue and white, five graduating seniors outlined the history and development of their state, behind the graduating class hung a painting of a mountain top glowing with the rays of the morning sun.

First speaker was Tom Boyd, whose topic, "Ee-Dah-Hoo," paid homage to the natural beauty of the state and expressed the awe the Indians felt when they saw the morning sun on the mountain tops. Between the speeches, tableaux depicting each topic were presented. Background music throughout the service was the Idaho state song.

Naming of State Subject Gerald Painter, speaking on "The Word," told of the meaning of the state from the Indian expression which, taken literally, translates, "coming down of the sun onto the mountain."

"Wherever translation we take," declared Painter, "Idaho's name is indicative of her beauty, power and resources."

A speaking choir, directed by Florence M. Rix, presented recitations carrying out the theme of Idaho. The mixed choir sang under the direction of Ingrid Nelson.

"The Spirit," playing tribute to the confidence, resourcefulness and humor of the pioneers, was the topic of Doris Young. Recalling that the early settlers lived by the motto, "It isn't what you want, but what you'll get from now on," Miss Young captured the circumstances of pioneer day. Idaho's motto, "The Great Outdoor State," was the state's first residents.

And the dry wilderness the pioneers visioned a land of arid fields, Robert Peterson, the fourth speaker, declared. Speaking on "The Vision," he summarized Idaho's resources—agricultural and industrial.

"Let us see the Idaho of tomorrow," he said, "not only in the mining and farming methods, but also in the education system up to date," he declared.

Education, Peterson asserted, must be taken out of the hands of politicians and put into those of statesmen.

Betty Almont presented the challenge to her classmates, "Pointing out that Idaho is still young, she stressed that there were many unexplored frontiers which lie ahead and exhorted: 'The spirit of 'Ee-dah-hoo' will be yours.'"

Presentation of the diplomas was made by John H. Beckenrath, chairman of the board of education. The graduates were introduced by John D. Fink, high school principal. The setting of the Idaho scene was done by Margaret Dahlquist.

The program was arranged by Mrs. Hae North, Mrs. Mercedes Paul, Bernice Babcock and Helen Miner. Contributions to the program were also made by Mrs. John Hays.

In the early days of Pennsylvania, beaver pelt were used for money.

As Twin Falls Graduates Portrayed History of Idaho

As Twin Falls high school seniors looked to the future Thursday night, they also honored the past by addresses and tableaux presentations portraying the history of the state. This photo shows the pioneer tableaux, with Marian McElhenny, Craig Bracken and Jack Bledsoe as the early settlers framed by their state; while in the background is the complete graduating class seated beneath a painting symbolizing "Ee-Dah-Hoo," Shoshoni Indian for "light on the mountain." In the foreground may be seen a portion of the overflow audience that attended the exercises. (Photo by John Brown-staff engraving)

Wimpies Close To Casualty in Meat Shortage

The hamburger sandwich of Wimpie fame and popular eating section is close to becoming a casualty of the meat shortage in Twin Falls.

Several restaurants reported they were unable to purchase the meat Thursday, and there was no immediate assurance when it would become more plentiful.

"The fact is, we're heading into the worst meat shortage yet," said Mel Carter, president of the Twin Falls retail grocers.

Cattle are moving out on the range, and perhaps in 60 days the situation may be eased, perhaps not. Consumers will soon be feeling the pinch from grain, also.

Hamburger fans here were hopeful local beef grinders would start stepping up their production of the delicacy. The question seemed to be: "Where's the meat coming from?"

Elliott previously had been in charge of the Magic Valley educational training program in this area alone and bringing out Monday the area will be split into five sections, with a training officer heading each section.

Ted Hicks will supervise all on-the-job training for firms in this area and Elliott will continue to handle the training in Twin Falls.

It is expected that these officials will set up offices in Twin Falls and administer their areas out of here. Elliott said that the new men assigned to this area will then be in Twin Falls and will have the area until the first of the year.

The veterans' administration is attempting to find an office containing 3,000 square feet of space for the enlarged center.

Dan's Life Tough One—Car of Material Lost, Another Leaks

Many are the headaches endured by the contractor, Take Dan Cavanaugh, who's trying to push the improvement job on the Twin Falls-Jerome intercity bridge through on schedule.

In addition to such problems as obtaining enough skilled labor, cutting various red tape and hoping that the wind doesn't blow so hard as to stop work, Contractor Cavanaugh is now trying to run down one item that's missing, namely one cartload of aggregate. The car containing 87 yards of aggregate is temporarily "mashed" somewhere between San Rafael, Calif., and Twin Falls, but will probably show up sometime when it's least expected.

Another car of the stuff finally did arrive, but the driver of the car was a little rickety and about one-third of the load sifted through somewhere between California and Idaho.

Despite such unfortunate incidents, such a move as this and the contractor is hopeful that the bridge will be available for traffic by May 26.

Of course, the individual workers on the bridge have their problems too. One welder, E. R. Juley, had a scale of wind pick up his welding helmet while he was climbing to the side of the bridge, and it sailed off into the canyon. A small boy who lived in the canyon got the hour looking for it, but when he finally did find it, the helmet was so badly battered that the welder gave it to the lad for his efforts.
