Northsiders Ask Central Airport Site

which it is intended. The CAA will have no part in constructing an airport to meet emergency or purely selfish desires of any community. "If a community wants to change the location of any airport, it is all right with the CAA—but there won't be any federal aid forthcoming." The proposed airport, to be financed by a $250,000 bond issue approved last May 21 by Twin Falls taxpayers and matched by federal funds, is scheduled to be located one mile north of the present airport. This site has been surveyed by Charles Kline, field engineer for the CAA, from Helena and has been approved by him, as it meets, among other requirements, the standard of less than one per cent grade.

Terrain Satisfactory
It also provides terrain adapted to construction of two 5,300-foot runways and one 4,800-foot runway, designed to meet present and future aviation needs.

At present, Jerome is investigating the possibility of the Barmore district as site for an airport south and west of the "six-mile corner" south of Jerome. Chief engineer of the CAA, Charles Kline, said that the area includes rolling country and good drainage, but that the surface which would create prohibitive engineering problems.

Proponents of the drive for consideration of the north side as an airport location include Del Scherer, president of the Jerome Junior Chamber of Commerce, and Marvin Ray, chairman on the Jerome airport committee and now employed as maintenance man on the Jerome airport.

Del Scherer, commenting on the situation Friday, said:

"We want to be sure that a municipal location of the airport would serve the needs of a larger number of people on both the north and south sides. We do not want to block the airport program in any way, but merely want to make sure that a mistake isn't being made."

Chairman Ray declared:

"I feel that the north side has a legitimate claim for working with Twin Falls on a project of this importance, as this will apparently be the only large commercial airport in Magic Valley."

Wilson B. Churchman, president of the Jerome chamber of commerce, prefaced his comment by pointing out that he was only recently elected to head that body and had not had an opportunity to check into all ramifications of the airport problem.

Central Location
"I understand, however, that a project has been filed in the past, and I feel that a central location in view of the future importance of aviation would be the best thing for all of us concerned, if such a location is available."

"Jerome does not want to work against the airport, and I feel that much more can be achieved if we all work together on this problem."

Well-Trained Force Taking Over Germany

FRANKFURT, Germany, June 21 (AP)—Thirty-eight thousand centrally trained troops are ready to go into action as the front line of American occupation in Germany.

They are called the "United States zone constabulary," a title which implies their double duties as policemen and soldiers.

Although July 1 is the formal acceptance date, the constabulary is already in action. It made last month's raid on a Danube river fleet to break up a large-scale smuggling ring in just 24 minutes.

Several hundred boats were seized along a 50-mile stretch of the river.

Put Down Riots

Mounted with light tanks, armored cars, jeeps and horses, the fast-moving, battle-bitten constabulary units will be responsible for putting down the first sign of rebellion or riot. They will spearhead the attack on every illegal activity from black markets and prostitution to armed resistance.

Essentially the constabulary areas destined to become the actual army of occupation, backed only by a compact airforce featuring jet fighters and B-29 bombers. Its operations will be guided by a model for possible adoption by the American army in Japan and Germany.

Divides Force

Maj. Gen. Ernest N. Harmon, wartime commander of famous armored divisions, heads the constabulary, which includes many army tank corps veterans who re-enlisted under their old boss. Harmon will place one brigade in each of the three German states in the American zone, each brigade to have three regiments of three battalions each.

For months Harmon has been schooling his men in police duties and crime detection as well as military tactics, with J. H. Harwood, former chief of the Rhode Island state police, as civilian adviser.

Teaching Safe Driving at Albion Normal

Nash, dean of the faculty; Prof. John C. Werner, director of training, both of Albion Normal, and G. H. (Bates) Davis, director of the Simpkins Safety foundation, presented a course of 16 classroom lectures and 16 student driving lessons.

The driving was done in the foundation-owned dual control training car.

Dean Neal N. Nash arranged for summer school student enrollment in the course.

Prof. John C. Werner, director of training here, is prominent in safety drives and is the author of two publications on the subject, "The Psychology of Safety on Streets and Highways," and "The Ten Commandments on the Highway of Death."

A-Bomb Tests Suggested to Get Diamonds

WASHINGTON, Wn., June 21 (AP)—An amateur physicist suggested here that the navy fill its target ships at Bikini with coal, which would be "turned into diamonds" when the atomic bomb explodes.

"Every schoolboy knows that you can make diamonds by subjecting carbon to tremendous heat and pressure," said H. Theodore Paine, "diamonds and coal are both carbon."

Finance Tests

He believed that by adopting his suggestion the navy could finance the atomic test and ease the taxpayers' burden. He also suggested that somebody drop an atomic bomb into a coal mine.

At Chicago scientists attending a meeting of the American Physical society, said it was not so simple. "The only trouble is that diamonds don't float," said Dr. Eugene P. Wigner, Princeton university physicist.

Blasts Theory

Dr. Norman Bowen, University of Chicago authority on rock formation, said it would have "no effect whatsoever except to scatter coal around."

"The theory is that by exerting great heat and pressure on coal it could be converted to diamonds," he said. "The atomic bomb would po-vide enough pressure for only a split second. According to the theory it would take at least a minute of concentrated pressure, and nobody has ever proved the theory."

VACATION TIME is a Busy Time for LONG DISTANCE

This first peacetime summer in five years finds Americans once again seeking relaxation in travel and holiday activities. Advance indications point to the biggest tourist season in the history of the Rocky Mountain Area.

Already the effects of increased travel are being felt in the telephone business. Though thousands of miles of new long distance circuits have been added since war ended, usage of long distance service in some areas has increased faster than we've been able to add circuits, with the result that many calls still encounter delays.

In summer resort areas particularly, the volume of long distance calls is sometimes such that we cannot handle them with the speed which was used in normal times.

We are doing everything humanly possible to provide ample facilities, however, and we hope the time is not far off when we can put all calls through without delay.

• Night rates now go in effect at 6 p. m.—your calls may be less likely to encounter delays if placed before 7.

Mr. Thomas Johnson, Ye Olde Sport Scrivener's private baseball statistician who so often races to his adding and subtracting machine in a endeavor to discover what makes the Cowboys click, comes up with the following figures:

For the elucidation of the Magic Valley fans, and they're the ones that:

1. Wriglers, since they came out of a mid-first half slump which had them lose six out of seven and dropping to 10 victories and 11 defeats for the season, have won 20 of 26 games played in that time and that's traveling, brother.

2. Fifteen of the team's 30 victories have been at home and, of course, like home on the road, but this doesn't mean that they are not paid to it to Joyce park. For instance, Mr. Johnson reveals, they've beaten away only seven times on the home ball lot while failing 10 times away from home.

3. Nine victories have dropped all one series at home, while

Only one team has had the honor of winning more games than the Cowboys and that team is, strangely, fifth-place Idaho. The Russetts have triumphed three times while losing only twice to the Cowboys and have kept their home lost unsailed by a Wrangler dog eat.

Principals of War in China Extend Truce

NANKING, June 21 (AP)—An eight-day extension of the 15-day truce that has halted China's civil war was announced by the ministry of information today.

The extension will make the truce valid until noon June 30. The armistice was scheduled to end at noon Saturday.

Ports Bombarded
News of the extension came simultaneously with the announcement that naval units of the nationalist government bombarded the communist-held ports of Weihaiwei and Chefoo Wednesday morning.

The naval action obviously was designed to cut communist lines of communication between the ports of the Shantung peninsula and southern Manchuria across the Gulf of Chihli.

Six U. S.-loaned LSTs (landing ships tank) and former Japanese cruisers made up the nationalist task force.

Fire Rule Change
The government announcement of the truce extension also proposed that the principle of unanimity needed for the committee of three to executive decisions be changed to simple majority.

Extension of the truce was announced by the ministry as an effort to "show their utmost sincerity conciliatory attitude. The government has decided to extend the presidential order for the cessation of advances and pursuits for eight more days."

Jerome Driver Near Death in Canal Waters

JEROME, June 21 — Roy Baughman, 18, Jerome, narrowly escaped drowning when the sedan he was driving smashed through a bridge railing one mile west of here on state route 25 and the car plunged into the main canal.

Baughman apparently dozed off while driving, said Sheriff Lee S. Johnson. The accident occurred at 8 p. m. Wednesday.

The vehicle was almost submerged by the swift-moving current which washed the car 75 feet downstream. The driver was unable to open both front doors but smashed a window glass and the car began to fill with water.

He then managed to open a rear door and reached the bank of the canal safely. He suffered a slight cut when the window glass shattered.

"If the driver had been knocked unconscious, he probably would not have escaped in time," the sheriff said.

A wrecker removed the car from the canal.
