

Man With Rapid Future, He's Fly First Supersonic Airplane

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
WRIGHT FIELD, Ohio (NEA)—Flying faster than any human being ever traveled before is the assignment of Jack Woolams has cut out for himself. He will soon attempt to crash the mysterious barrier of speed faster than sound.

Woolams, 39, and father of three children, is the chief test pilot for Bell Aircraft Corporation. Every thing goes according to plan, he will fly Bell's X-1, an experimental plane built for the purpose of being designed to travel up to 1,500 miles per hour. It is the first plane ever built to fly faster than sound.

Tall and lean with curly hair, Woolams looks like a Charles Lindbergh. According to the force, if he is successful, Woolams' feat will be greater than Lindbergh's first non-stop crossing of the Atlantic in an airplane. Army air force calls Woolams "Doc."

His most important mission an airman has undertaken since man's first flight.

"Plans" in aviation are nothing new to Jack Woolams. He has been in the war he was an army test pilot. He flew for the first time in the army's X-1, a supersonic plane. The chances are that he has already flown faster than any human being before in this world's history. This is because of secrecy at the time couldn't be revealed.

In addition to setting a new speed record, Woolams' mission is to explain the dark scientific mystery which surrounds the effect of the air on a plane which travels faster than sound—supersonic speed. U. S. aviation experts admit that America doesn't have the wind tunnel facilities to make adequate laboratory tests of supersonic speeds on various kinds of surfaces.

This situation has forced the air force to turn to the test pilot method, which is essentially what Woolams will be doing when attempting to fly the X-1.

It will be like to fly at a supersonic speed. S. aviation experts admit that America doesn't have the wind tunnel facilities to make adequate laboratory tests of supersonic speeds on various kinds of surfaces.

Chicago Murder Suspect

William Helms, 17-year-old suspect linked with three Chicago murders, sits in his cell at the Cook county jail in Chicago.

CHICAGO, July 17 (UP)—William Helms, 17, was reported today to be ready to give a full and complete confession to three of the nation's most shocking crimes—including the premeditated kidnapping-slaying of six-year-old Suzanne Degnan.

It was understood that an agreement had been reached whereby Helms would confess the three murders in return for a recommendation by the state for a life sentence, instead of the electric chair.

For undersanding, Helms, who was indicted on a charge of kidnapping, was held in custody at the Cook county jail. Helms' parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Helms, were said to have been the attorneys to do "what ever is best."

Under a sentence of life imprisonment, a prisoner is eligible for parole after seven years, according to Illinois law. As the agreement was finally worked out, it was understood that Helms would be eligible for parole after seven years.

Helms' parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Helms, were said to have been the attorneys to do "what ever is best."

Joint Conference Expects Break in Deadlock on PA

By FRANCIS M. LEMAY
WASHINGTON, July 17 (AP)—Optimism that the price control deadlock may be broken before nightfall was voiced by Senate Democratic Leader Frankfurter today after a two-day conference ended in the possibilities of compromise.

Senator Downey, D., Calif., another member of the 13-man committee, told reporters "there is a possibility" an agreement can be worked out "before the day ends." They talked to reporters when the committee recessed its deliberations for lunch.

It was learned that at the meeting house members insisted that the senate drop the bans in its new bill against price controls of meats, butter, eggs and a long list of other items of the housewife's market basket.

Word circulated that President Truman likely would veto any measure which came in with these exemptions.

While the conference committee was at work, the White House made public a declaration from the war reconversion advisory board that abandonment of price controls will leave the nation expected to suffer a dangerous drop in prices in the interval before the normal economic forces are working.

Auto Workers Launch 7-Day Buying Strike

By The Associated Press
The National Automobile Workers projected a meat buyers strike today which they invited the participation of all American consumers.

Fighting the climb in living costs, the big labor union which helped to set up the nation's price controls sought to mobilize the consumer against "exorbitant" meat prices.

The UAW-GM, calling for cooperation from its own auto members and all other organized labor and consumer groups, ordered its strike to start today. It is to last seven days.

The nation's manufacturers and many other manufactured products had remained at OPA levels.

The National Automobile Workers declared that it was a "buying strike" and not a "picketing strike."

The UAW-GM said it was a "buying strike" and not a "picketing strike."

The execution, it was understood, occurred on the spacious grounds of the Yugoslav military training camp in Belgrade.

Bulk of Atom Test Animals Survive Blast

OPP BIKINI ATOLL, July 17 (AP)—A fresh contingent of rats, goats and pigs has arrived at Bikini to take their places on the atomic test for the July 29 Baker day test, after the last three contingents were killed less than 16 percent of the animals exposed to the July 1 air-drop have died.

Vice-Adm. W. H. P. Blandy, commander of operation crossroads, said that of 2,500 goats, pigs, rats, mice and guinea pigs exposed to the aerial atomic explosion on July 29, 2,000 are still alive, although many are injured in various degrees.

Some 500 test animals died in the blast itself, but only 50 have succumbed since then, the admiral reported. He said this did not bear out reports that the animals were "dying like flies."

The USS Hurler returned to Bikini today to place about 700 animals, not previously exposed, aboard targets which will ride in the lagoon during the shallow under-water atomic blast. The "crew" consisted of about 500 rats and 100 each of goats and pigs.

Their exposure will aid scientists in developing methods of treating humans who might be injured in an atomic war.

Blandy also revealed that humans will venture far nearer to the blast itself during the Baker day test. Observer ships will have a good view of the target ships and the water-splashed and surface disturbances expected to be created.

Executive Secretary Helen H. Bailey of the local Red Cross chapter yesterday confirmed the reported existence of a federal bill which facilitates transportation to American servicemen or veterans of World War II.

Thus far four Magic Valley veterans have asked her aid in having their fiancées transported here, she said.

The bill, which became law June 29, permits the alien to enter the country under certain conditions. They are admitted so that they may marry the Americans who sent for them. A bonding provision, which would be used to cover the alien's trip home if the marriage is not performed, is yet to be worked out. The bond forms are expected to be received soon by the local Red Cross.

Nurses' Memorial

Sponsoring a campaign for funds, the national nurses' association will endeavor to rehabilitate the war-torn American Nurses Memorial Shrine at Bordeaux, France.

The First District Nurses' association and Idaho association, both headed by Dorothy Colvard, supervisor of nurses at the South Central Idaho health unit, have inaugurated a plan to raise money from Idaho to assist with the rehabilitation.

Helen Gies has been named chairman of the first district which includes Cassia, Minidoka, Twin Falls, Blaine, Camia, Lincoln, Jerome and Gooding counties.

"We are seeking donations not only from nurses but from anyone interested in the project. We feel that this campaign is urgent at this time because of the shortage of nurses," Miss Colvard pointed out. She explained that "the scarcity of nurses alone should indicate the importance of rehabilitating the school."

To date we have received about $100 from this district. Donations may be made to Miss Gies or at the health unit.

The school was first built as a memorial to nurses who died in World War I by the nurses in this country. Each room in the home is named for a state in the union.

During World War I the Germans converted the home into an officers' club and destroyed much of the structure. The school was abandoned during the war but has now been resumed.

Miss Colvard is representative of the nurses' association made an investigation of the school to determine its needs.

She reported that the Germans built a swimming pool in the garden but they completely wrecked the main hall or sitting room building and the middle of it with a cement wall in the garden. They erected walls in large rooms, took away the dining room and study rooms and tore down the outside porch. The building was completely wrecked as were all the kitchen devices for washing and sewing.

Miss Walker reported that the study halls are in very bad shape and it may be necessary to demolish them.

The accounts given me on the condition of the residence when first turned over two disgusting and shocking to write about. A tremendous amount of cleaning and mending work has been effected," she concluded.

Pre-Nuptial Shower

The centerpiece was flanked by yellow anemones and white daisies. Punch was served throughout the afternoon from a table centered with yellow and white daisies. Mrs. Iona Carter presided at the punch bowl.

Guests were greeted by Mrs. Bertha Mae Hansen, Mrs. Clarence Bell and Mrs. Friedette Farmer. They were presented refreshments by Mrs. Carter.

New Aids for "Hearing Happiness" Demonstration at McCall Hotel, Friday

To prove to you how much your hearing can be restored, D. D. Parth, experienced Acoustician, invites you to attend the free clinic for the hard of hearing he will hold at the McCall Hotel in Shoshone, Friday, July 19, from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m.

As a result of war research, Acousticon provides a new scientific hearing correction through which the degree of deafness may be "fitted" just as one would be fitted for a pair of glasses. Parth states that there are eight different "Hearings," each specifically designed to bring into focus different portions of sound, both conversation and music. Sounds must be in clear "focus" to be heard correctly, and normally nature provides us with ears that focus without difficulty, but some people, unfortunately, have impaired hearing. The new Acousticon gives the degree of correction needed to bring hearing into clear "focus."

Ursula Weighs Only 4 Ounces! Though complete weight of the smallest size "Super-Power" Unipack is no more than 7 1/2 ounces, Acousticon has a special "all-in-one-garment" made of rayon for women which weighs even less. The sealed, airtight case of the "Super-Power" model is molded of neoprene rubber, making it outstanding in beauty as well as durability.

To provide Acousticon users with efficient service, offices are so located that there is one not more than 24 hours distant from you no matter where you live. If you are unable to attend the clinic, you may receive a private demonstration and appointment in your own home by phoning Mr. Parth at the McCall Hotel in Shoshone. Phone 42-447.

CARLSON GETS MOUND CALL TONIGHT

Vance to Seek 2nd Shutout Win Over Reds

By GEORGE F. REDMOND
Times-News Sports Editor

Vance Carlson, the overrated one, will go out tonight to accomplish something that no other right-hander in the Pioneer league would dare to seek—a second straight shutout. Carlson, the left-handed swinging pitcher and of Ogden Reds, Carlson batted the Cincinnati farm club to give the first-half champion Cowboys their only triumph when they last played at the Utah city.

A southpaw in the person of Bob Wittig failed to perform that feat last night when the Reds won the opening game of their three-game series here and the Cowboys' momentum home stand. The score was 4-3.

Wittig was far from his regular pitching self. He gave up eight hits and permitted three runs, two on balls and was in hot water continuously. Johnny Davidson, the Ogden right-hander who pitched to all but one Cowboy, was just as erratic. He also walked nine batters, but limited the Warriors to six hits.

Both Managers Bounced

The game saw the managers of both clubs bounced by the umpires A. J. Donatelli and Pete Donelli. The remarks of first manager Jim Keesey from the dugout incensed Donatelli and he sent Keesey to the showers in the eighth.

Boyd got it from Donelli in the ninth. Earlier Boyd had not into an argument with the umpire who had become incensed because Wittig had walked when the writer asked him how many were out. "Why you out, but you're supposed to know that."

The manager carried the feud back to the dugout and his remarks from there brought his banishment.

Even George DeWeaver, a fan, felt Donatelli's wrath. The fan's remark brought Donatelli running to the box seat where DeWeaver was sitting.

Second Largest Crowd

Consequently there was plenty of entertainment for the 212 fans, the second largest crowd of the season, who had come out to welcome the Cowboys back from winning the playoff game with the Salt Lake City Bees for the first half championship.

Although both Wittig and Davidson were in trouble most of the time, there was no doubt about the fifth inning, the Reds drawing first blood when William Westerkamp also walked. Then Fletcher Robbe got a hands hit which he lifted just out of the reach of second baseman Jack Radtke.

The Cowboys came back in the half of the frame and counted over on catcher "Buddy" Heslet's 30th home run of the season, a mighty drive that just ticked the top of the fence in right center and went over.

Robbe Bats in Ren

In the seventh, after Davidson had forced Westerkamp, who had walked, Westerkamp got a hands hit which he lifted just out of the reach of second baseman Jack Radtke.

The Cowboys came back in the half of the frame and counted over on catcher "Buddy" Heslet's 30th home run of the season, a mighty drive that just ticked the top of the fence in right center and went over.

After two were down, Frank Pawlick homered over the right field fence in the eighth to put the Reds out in front again. They added another run in the ninth when Westerkamp singled, Montague and Robbe walked and Schmees flied to Center. Leyerer hit center field, made a perfect throw to the plate and it looked like Heslet had Westerkamp blocked out. Donatelli called him safe.

Sheehan Scores Hit

Donatelli walked, beating the ninth but was forced by Heslet when he made a great catch of the latter's hot grounder. Hal Lowe singled to left center and Ned Sheehan, the Cowboy's new pinch-hitter, scored Heslet with a double over the third sack.

Dick Powers, the hero of the playoff game victory in Salt Lake City, was the next batter and Ludwig Leve, a left-hander, replaced Davidson. Powers, a left-handed batter, then flied to right field to end the game.

McWilliams was cut over the right eye when Leyerer slid into him in the first inning. It is not believed the injury is serious.

Cowboys' Biggest Boosters Waiting to Welcome Champs

Look close, folks! There may be future major leaguers in this group of 150 members of the Times-News "Knuckle Gang" waiting to greet the Cowboys as they come home from Salt Lake City with the Pioneer league's first half championship. And they are bachelors, too—members of teams in the popular Junior American and Little Giant leagues. (Staff photo—engraving)

This group here has more than a civic interest in the first-half champs. They're the wives of six Cowboys stars. Left to right, they are Mrs. Hal Lowe, Mrs. Earl Boyd, wife of the manager, Mrs. George Leyerer, Mrs. Willie Greer, Mrs. Bill Wikert and Mrs. Harry "Buddy" Heslet. (Staff photo—engraving)

Cowboys Late For Reception; Bus in Trouble

Big crowds of fans gathered at Joyce park and Main avenue-Shoshone street intersection yesterday to greet the Cowboys on their return from Salt Lake City, where on Sunday night they defeated the Bees to gain the first half championship in the Pioneer league. The crowds had to stand in line for hours when the Warriors failed to put in their appearance.

A parade from the ballpark to the center of the city had been planned and it was ready—especially the members of the "Times-News Knuckle Gang" all showed up in the new uniforms that the newspaper and purchased for them.

Catchers' trouble which made it necessary for the bus to stop repeatedly to cool the motor, delayed the team for several hours. Some players unhooked and got into the city earlier.

Softy Hurler Fans 17 Men

One of the top pitching performances in Men's City Softball league was that of Edward Archer of the Huntington. He gave the Skeggs only one hit and fanned 17 batters in beating the P. Skeggs, 13-0.

HOME RUN LEADER

Don Patterson is the home run leader in the Junior American league. He has 15, the more than Jackie Joe Rile has eight and Bob Muscarello has seven.

SUGARS WIN

The Amalgamated Sugars defeated the Lions, 21-4, in the Perpetual Youth Softball league. The former had 15 hits and the latter 10, while both teams played errorless ball.

ANDERSONS LOSE

The C. C. Anderson girls were beaten, 14-4, by the Telegrams in the Girls Softball league.

SWEDEN WINS

Heslet's No. 20 Home Run Ball to Salt Lake Youth

The ball which Catcher "Buddy" Heslet parted over the right center fence for a home run in the Cowboy-Cowboy Pioneer league game last night is en route to Salt Lake City to gladden the heart of a boy.

The boy is Bobby Bates, son of Charlie Bates, former Pioneer league umpire. The youngster is suffering from infantile paralysis.

Bobby, although living in Salt Lake, is a devoted Cowboy rooter.

Vets Returning To Albion 1946 Gridiron Team

ALBION, July 17.—One of the finest fullbacks in college football may matriculate at Albion Normal and if he does Coach Gene Cooper is looking forward to having a powerful aggregation when the school resumes play in the intercollegiate sport next September after a four-year war-rubout.

Cooper said that he would not care to release the name of the fullback at this time because there is still a possibility he may enter another school.

The former Glenora Ferry coach will have quite a few lettermen all of them were veterans, back for both football and basketball.

They include Howard Matthews and Laverne Coon, Burley; Jack Heide, Boise; Donald and Dale Bell, Lava Hot Springs; Herman Hunt and Ernie Kane, Albion; and Elmer Clute, Hollister.

Cooper also expects to get his share of former Mad Valley high school stars who have or will return from the military service.

The former Glenora Ferry member arrived from LaGrange, Ore., where he fashioned a district championship football team last fall to take charge of the Albion athletic program last week.

In three seasons at Glenora Ferry, Cooper lost few football games although his schedule was well sprinkled with class A competition and in basketball he had his quietest in the state tournament on all three years in his last season, he coached the Pilots to the state championship.

Prep Champion In Semi-Finals Of Golf Event

Jimmy Russell, Idaho state interscholastic golf champion, went into the semi-finals of the championship of the city open tournament when he defeated Neil Cogferr, Twin Falls, 3 and 1.

Russell will oppose the winner of the Jimmy Sinclair Stud Davis match still to be played.

Two other matches were played. Arnold Johnson won from Dr. O. T. Lake, 5 and 4, and Johnny Nicum downed Ted Hinton by the same score. The Johnson-Lake match was in the second flight consolation; the Nicum-Hinton match was second flight.

Soviet Writer Reporting on Tour in U. S.

MOSCOW, July 17 (AP) — Ilya Ehrenburg, Soviet Russia's ace newspaperman, reported today he found a group of "political" dances in the United States "who were convinced that with the help of Esperanto they could make the atomic bomb harmless."

This was one of the "peculiarities" gleaned from his recent American tour and noted for the readers of the Soviet government newspaper Izvestia.

The writer professed bafflement at a number of other things he observed in the United States — among them "the call of the American dollar and the embargo on American dollars."

"It was present at dinner meetings," he wrote, "at first everywhere, but now it is everywhere. It is a collection for charity."

Ehrenburg devoted much of his article to his observations of the lot of the American Negro.

The Russian newspaperman said he found everywhere "disparities" for denying the rights of Negroes, adding:

"Every Negro innocent Negroes are sentenced to the best people in America protest against this barbarism."

Ehrenburg had high praise for contemporary American literature, declaring that "it would be difficult today to find in western Europe writers equal to Hemingway, Faulkner, Steinbeck and Caldwell, and I could add a few other names."

"There is nothing more contrasting to the English character than the common American. Englishmen are courteous, philistine, love to live their life at home, order their suits from good cloth and wear them until death or at least until the next election. But Americans love everything new."
