

Indian Ponies Costing U. S. $40 Per Head

HOWARD DORSON
WASHINGTON, July 27 (AP)—The government has bought 1,045 dead horses at $40 apiece, and is still at it.
That's because of a bad conscience about a 70-year-old debt.
The horses are, or were, ponies taken from Indians "for reasons of military expediency" during the Sioux wars. The army even snatched kids' ponies.
The government has $101,630 to pay for the ponies, the department of interior replied in a news release today, adding, "the work of searching out heirs goes on."

Authorized Payment
Congress first authorized the $40 payment on pony claims in 1891, but didn't appropriate enough money to pay all of them. Then in 1908 it voted to investigate all Sioux war claims, but said no Indian "title" to the government at the time his loss occurred could constitute anything.
Last December it appropriated the $101,630.

William A. Brophy, commissioner of Indian affairs, knows of only three dead Sioux Indians who are eligible to collect as original claimants. They were youngsters when the U. S. army felt its great need for their ponies.

Oldest Claimant
The oldest is Bear With Black Body, 89, who lives on the Cheyenne reservation in South Dakota. He collected in past years ago, but he had a hand in wiping out General Custer's army at the Little Big Horn in 1876.
The other two are Daniel Grass, 84, and the Rev. Ben Bryant, 80, a retired preacher, who lives on the Lower Brule reservation.
If he hadn't been hostile "White Buffalo Leader," who is 103 and lives on the Cheyenne reservation in Colorado, he might be in person, too. But he had a hand in wiping out General Custer's army at the Little Big Horn in 1876.

When the Times-News photographer brought this shot back from the Pioneer day rodeo at Hagerman, we asked why the horse was going in a southerly direction. The cameraman explained that when he started to shoot the horse was going south, but by the time the camera went off, the bronc had taken a big leap in the other direction.

To prove it, he pointed out that the dirt kicked up by the horse near the rider's hat in lower right foreground was still suspended about a foot above the ground, while the horse had already landed some distance away. That, we agreed, was fast action plus, and thought you readers would also be interested.

Underground Rumblings Make Island Residents Mite Jittery

READ ISLAND, B. C., July 27—Island residents kept their ears to the ground here today, alerted by continued underground rumblings in the wake of a violent earthquake.

"Some fear a volcano is forming beneath their homes," one farmer told the other direction.

Experts blamed rock slips along jagged faults which created a 30-foot cliff across one farm here June 23. Unexplained was a blow hole on a nearby sand spit which opened and closed widely, and left a deep crater.

Rumblings still are going on without let up, Stephen K. Mar, said last, describing the submarine noise as like "tear of city traffic in the distance."

Seismologists earlier fixed the center of the quake.

Develiers said that not only have areas of the island dropped 30 feet below normal level, but lakes have formed in the craters, fringed by huge, uprooted trees.

Across Georgia strait on Vancouver island, hundreds of tons of beach drifts dropped into the sea during the recent quake, swamping one boat and drowning its occupant.

The shatters came from Wyoming where they had been employed. Forty-one Mexicans were assigned to the logging camp 21 to Haverdon and 19 to Jerome, Maestas said.

Research Unit Proposed for Crops, Earth

A non-profit corporation for research on soils and crops is being organized in Twin Falls county, M. S. Hansen, Kimberly, announced Saturday. Although articles of incorporation have not been filed, the firm plans to incorporate for $25,000.

The concern will be located on Hansen's 80-acre farm south of Kimberly with a warehouse, pilot testing station and laboratory in Twin Falls.

"We plan on devoting most of our attention to biological aspects of soil and crop research," Hansen declared.

Hansen is vocational agriculture instructor at Kimberly. Other members of the firm are two Utah State agricultural college professors, Dean E. Anderson and John Bennett. Hansen added that research would be made on control of alkalinity of the soil, weeds, methods and types of fertilization, use of bacteria in inoculation, methods of irrigation, insolation, methods of storage wastes due to mold and decay, and other projects. Hansen explained that farmers wishing to become stockholders in the firm may get shares and all proceeds from the sale of stock will go into research.

The sum of $54,850 revenue from liquor licenses and $19,850 revenue from passenger car licenses have been allocated Twin Falls county, a total of $74,700. The liquor license revenue, the first of this year to be given the county, was apportioned according to the population of the county.

Revenue from passenger car licenses is apportioned each county according to the number of passenger cars registered, according to C. A. Bulles, county auditor.
Twin Falls will receive $11,717.51; the liquor revenue, Buhl, $2,306.82; Pahr, $1,220.82; Kimberly, $202.15; Hansen, $21.09; Hollister, $28.88; Murrough, $208.51 and Castleford, $252.01.

The remainder of the $44,865, or $17,432, will go into the county's current expenses fund, he said.
Of the $19,850 auto funds apportioned Twin Falls county, $12,765.15 will be turned over to the Twin Falls highway district; $4,572.15 to the Buhl highway district; $2,069.72 to the Pahr highway district; and $458.83 to the Murrough highway district. The division of the money within the county is also made on the basis of the number of passenger vehicles registered within each district.

The apportionment of revenue from passenger car licenses is made on a quarterly basis, Bulles said.

Truman's Daughter "Just One Of the Girls" to Classmates

Margaret Truman may have been the President's daughter but to the rest of the students at George Washington university she was "just one of the girls."

That's how Miss Truman was described by Mrs. Thomas Robinson, who is here visiting her mother, Mrs. Mildred Smith, Mrs. Robinson and her husband will go to school this fall at University of Montana, Missoula.

"Miss Truman wasn't noticed at all on the campus when her father was vice-president, but she got a lot of publicity later," Mrs. Robinson declared. The former Twin Falls girl and Miss Truman were initiated into Phi Phi Epsilon, foreign service honorary, the same evening, but were not intimate friends.

"Her heart seemed to be back in Independence, Mo., all the time and she was almost unconscious of the fact that her father was President."

Miss Truman "definitely wasn't snobbish" and she "always took good care of herself," Mrs. Robinson recalled.

She said that it was rather odd at first to see secret service men follow Miss Truman into the campus "hospitals," but she said she soon got used to it and ignored them.

"A lot of fellows tried to date Miss Truman because they could boast that they dated the President's daughter, but she didn't want it that way," Mrs. Robinson, a former law student at George Washington, said. "Miss Truman always said that if the fellows didn't want to date her for herself and not for the president, she would just as soon not go out."

Heartbeat of Whale Sought By 2 Doctors

SEATTLE, July 27 (AP)—A Seattle and a Boston doctor teamed today to study the heartbeat of a whale, but they said that electroscopes—and bearded men—were out.

Dr. Robert L. King, prominent Seattle surgeon, admitted that the experiment was a little out of the ordinary. "Nobody's ever tried it before."

King said that he and Dr. Paul White, Boston, Mass., had planned the deep-sea diagnosis for several years and hoped to get an expedition under way to the north Pacific within the next two or three months. King said that Clor, Ernest Ormeny of Alaska had taken an interest in the expedition and had arranged with the U. S. wildlife service to use their deep-sea boat to go looking for a likely whale.

He said that he and White hoped to pick up the whale's monsters' pulse through electrodes wired to regular equipment.

Naval Expert Adds 2 Ships To Bomb List

ANALYST USM M. MCGINLEY, Sunday, July 28 (AP)—The chief of construction of the navy bureau of ships added the cruisers Pratola and Lake City to the list of ships damaged by the atomic bomb on the Japanese battleship Nagato, Edward Cochran also predicted that the Japanese battleship Nagato, listing badly, "unquestionably will be lost."

Cochran said the New York was not damaged at all, instead of being down at the stern, as frequently and officially reported. He is up at the bow, he said, explaining that some weight was removed from her stern before the underwater test.

Nevada Not Damaged

The admiral also declared that the battleship Nevada was not damaged by the underwater bomb, so far as was known. The Nevada had been added to the list of ships apparently damaged.

The Pratola and Lake City, he said, are lying at anchor. The latter is being towed to the east, he added, is out five days from the stern.

Cochran suggested that one of the navy's future moves to meet atomic warfare might be to use ships going extensively into heavy construction.

Lagoon Dangerous

Bikini lagoon was still so dangerously radioactive that the navy's new control boats made quick dashes to the edges of the invisible danger zone.

Some of the vessels damaged seemed to be in immediate danger of sinking.

An undetermined number of the larger vessels, however, are due to be scuttled or otherwise sunk at available data. The navy said that its virtually worthless cargoes, Vice-Adm. W. H. P. Blundy indicated.

Blundy, top commander of "operation castaway," said that the navy's new control boats would be scuttled within the lagoon and that the navy would be equipped with "orthodox weapons."

but on the contrary "they are intensely practical."

"The light of the fact," he said, "is the statement of reckless and uninformed persons that the hospital is a football game. It is a football game, but it is a football game with a political football, it is a whole unit."

In an effort to secure a definite statement from Jepsen, referred to as the "goat" of the hospital, made by Commissioner Jepsen, Chairman R. E. Volander, asked the move and since Commissioner Ben E. Potter is ill, the resolution is stymied. Similarly, Jepsen's motion to take no action regarding Jepsen until after August 1 was blocked by lack of support from Green.

Green's resolution asked Jepsen's resignation no later than Aug. 15 so that the board and the hospital board could make plans. It was not presented, however, until after the superintendent had announced he planned to resign but gave no date.

Empire Airlines To Purchase New Boeing Airplanes

LEWISTON, July 27 (AP)—Purchase of a fleet of three new Boeing 441 airplanes, of 20-passenger capacity and twin-engine operation at a cost of $468,000 by Empire Airlines was authorized by the board of directors, President Bert Zimmerman said today after a board meeting late this afternoon.

Zimmerman said the purchase order is the first to be placed with the Boeing Aircraft company for production of the newly designed aircraft. The planes will be manufactured at the Seattle plant and Empire will take delivery of them as they are off the production line.

The purchase is in line with the policy of the airline to improve the service and accommodations, Zimmerman said. The new planes will be high wing construction affording maximum passenger visibility.

Study Set on Whole Future Of Education

WASHINGTON, July 27 (AP)—The "whole future of higher education" comes under the scrutiny Monday of the newly appointed President's commission on American education. The big problem is to decide if and how the colleges can expand their plants and facilities, almost overnight, to accommodate up to 2,000,000 war veterans.

This means doubling the capacity of campuses and buildings by 1950 a several billion dollar job to be performed during a period when the building materials are going to be critically scarce. After 1950 college enrollment is expected to remain about double present totals.

Leaders on the commission is composed of 30 college presidents, business and labor leaders. It was appointed July 14 at the recommendation of educational organizations and the director of war mobilization and reconstruction.

George F. Cook, president of the American Council on Education, representing more than 100 colleges and universities, is president.

The members will hold their first organization meeting on Monday and Tuesday. They have set aside time for an address by President Truman if he can get around to it.

Warren G. Bowers, secretary of the commission, wants to assure all qualified veterans of the opportunity of continuing their education.

He said he hoped the members would study ways and means of expanding educational opportunities for all able young people; the adequacy of college facilities; the fields of international affairs and social understanding; the desirability of establishing a series of intermediate technical institutes; the financial structure of higher education; with particular reference to requirements for the rapid expansion of physical facilities.

Add Oddities: Squirrels Now Butting in on Fisher Folk

By LORANE ORTON SMITH (Magic Valley Editor)

It's getting to be Magic Valley's major problem.

Last week an angler was chased by a rattler but this week the squirrel took over. While fishing in Copper basin on an outing of the Lone Pine Forestry club, Mrs. Leon Austin, Jerome, hooked onto a squirrel as she jerked a small fish out of the water. In the melee she also lost the fish.

The younger business set of Twin Falls believes that "it pays to organize." This week five youngsters, headed by Donald Uhler, president, formed the "Van Buren Glee Club" and their business apogee was to have a temporary reduction in golfing interests, lame back and just plain dinkie of lawn mowing.

They called it "The Squirrel Club."

Folk in Buhl probably think the rugged pioneer days are back again. The county fairground, which only lost control of the car. Then Clark asked a farmer to take Taylor to the hospital, the farmer refused and Clark is now in the hospital with a head over the head with a bucket.

Result of the meter: Taylor is in the Twin Falls city general hospital in "fairly good" condition and Clark was fined $15 for battery.

The bucket, we understood, is only slightly dented.

Lack of Bees Bad on Crops, Rotary Hears

Buhl, July 27—Leonard Ahlquist, local beekeeper, spoke at the Rotary luncheon at the home of O. L. Allen on the alarming absence of bees pressing believed to be due to the use of arsenates in field spraying of crops.

Ahlquist declared his own losses to be heavy, including 100 per cent destruction of a bee yard on the Old Cloud farm north of Buhl.

Emphasizing the seriousness of the situation, by a reminder that practically all Magic Valley crops are dependent on the bees and grain are dependent on other small grains are dependent on honey bees, Ahlquist, a beekeeper, said.

There were 16 colonies of honey bees in the valley, he said, but the tremendous volume moved by bees, he said, was a reminder that practically all Magic Valley crops are dependent on the bees and grain are dependent on other small grains are dependent on honey bees, Ahlquist, a beekeeper, said.

Writers' cramps were the style among Twin Falls city officials this week. Mayor Sweet asked his son Henry to each of the bonds, while Treasurer Dorothy Reynolds and city clerk George Swanson had to sign each twice making a total of 1,500 signatures for each.

His vote can mean a lot and Jerome citizens discovered that this person appeared before the school board requesting new election Aug. 13. But the bonds carry in the school voting.

Last year sweet voters who loved honey facing got together over at Miller, clipped in $15 apiece, had a show and more than got their money back. This year, endorsed by the interest shown by Magic Valley residents in the sport, the same group has organized the "Twin Falls County Beekeepers' Association."

Russian Pair Studies Idaho Seed Growing

BOISE, July 27 (AP)—Bolsheviks today to a pair of Russian agronomists who have spent several days in the Boise basin studying vegetable and seed growing propagation methods in the interest of the purchasing commission of the Soviet union. They also are making a tour of the Boise basin.

The Russians are Anastasia E. Zhenina and Alexander V. Alpaev, both of the Food Ministry, part of their government's agricultural section. They are accompanied by their interpreter, S. Derjatin.

They explained their government's interest in the Boise basin because during the war Russia bought thousands of tons of seeds from growers here. It was the abundance of supply from here that prompted the Russian government to send delegates to study Idaho methods of planting, cultivation and general care. In their wartime experience, they encountered some highly improved strains of seeds and they have been studying our methods of straw development.

For the most part, they said, they are perfectly familiar with Idaho seeds, having used so many different varieties during the war. But during their visit they have found several varieties with which they are unfamiliar. They are interested in them.

In exchange for the knowledge the delegates will glean here Russia has sent to the United States scores of different seeds with which we have not experimented.

U. S. Soldiers Watching for Bavaria Riots

FRANKFURT, Germany, July 21 (AP)—U. S. troops in Bavaria were alerted today to be watchful for new violence involving Jewish displaced persons after three riots in incidents in which one Jew was killed and 13 persons were wounded.

The first of the Jewish attacks was directed from the displaced persons camp at Wolfshausen, 18 miles south of Munich, against German civilians Wednesday night. A Jew was killed and German civilians were wounded before American troops restored order.

The second and third outbreaks were officially described as organized attacks on American soldiers Thursday night, in which seven Jews were wounded by American bullets and bayonets.

The U. S. third army announced that one of those was at Wolfshausen, where Jews "spit on and slapped United States military police who were preparing to leave" after quelling the earlier riot. Six Jews were wounded before the riot was quelled by troops with fixed bayonets.

The third incident was at Wundtshausen, 30 miles west of Nuremberg. There, the third army announced, American troops fired on a group of about 150 Jews who attempted to storm an enlisted men's barracks and one of the Jews was wounded.

Jews Blamed
The official report said the "Windtshausen case developed when an armed soldier in charge of an engineering water point was attacked by three Jews."

"The soldier resisted in beating off the assailants with his weapons and help," the report said. "He returned with an officer and two other enlisted men, all armed. At the same time, the report continued, 'a mob of about 150 Jews was advancing toward the barracks building.'"

Novice Father Finds New Method of Folding Baby's Diapers More Than Mildly Confusing

By DOUGLAS LARSEN

WASHINGTON, (NEA)—This is a warning to fathers whose offspring still use diapers or to any man who stands the remotest chance of being mixed up in that situation: Don't read any more of this! Take it from the guy who had to write this story, it might be good reading for your wife, but for you, brother, turn the page fast.

The whole thing started when John K. Jones, a named gentleman who is president of the National Institute of Diaper Services, announced that he had new news for mothers of the nation. He said he would spill all at a press conference.

The good news turned out to be that the diaper service industry would take on about 20 per cent more customers this summer. This is because many families are going out of town for vacation, which means that the families who stay in the hot city can use all those extra diapers. Jones, of course, refers to the kind you read and send back dirty. He doesn't mean the kind you buy and wash yourself.

After this he calmly dropped the bombshell. He said he was ready to reveal a brand new way to fold a diaper. Right here is where I should have disappeared. My wife calls me the virgin father because I never yet changed a diaper on our three-month-old son, Richard, and there was no need to lose that title.

But I figured Jones might have the answer to my problems, or that at least I could tip off my wife on this great new discovery. So I stayed to the bitter end. Here is a rough translation of Jones' new method. He calls the "kite" fold:

You lay the diaper in front of you so it is in a diamond position. Grab the points on each side of the diamond and fold them toward the center of the diaper cloth.

On the wall, sent to him by his old box, W. S. Swearingin, now in business in Emmett. Canton isn't that kind of fellow. He was worried about how to express his appreciation to Magic Valley folk from Kimberly to Caldwell for the long successful career they had made possible.

Canton read the closing lines on the little card, "I'm only sticking around now to see what the hell will happen next."

Then Canton produced a photo of himself and family. "This," he said with a break in his voice, "is what 12 years in Magic Valley brought me—plus a son-in-law and a little grandson." (Grandson Michael and Canton Lee).

Mrs. Canton died Jan. 21, 1946, and Canton is closing his residence at 220 1/2 avenue north, and will visit his daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Lee, in Seattle.

Marion Lowe and Glen King, both of Buhl, operators of the Idaho Gas and Oil company station, bought the Canton business and property which adjusts their stand and will improve and expand the business in the near future.

Blacksmith in Magic Valley For 32 Years Sells at Buhl

By CHARLES C. MERRILL

BUHL, July 21.—Even asked how I felt to be free after thirty-two years of continuous blacksmithing in Magic Valley, W. M. Canton, Buhl, said, "I guess I'm just a tired blacksmith. I haven't really tired, I'm just going to take a rest."

In 1914, Canton, then an Oklahoma farmer, entered the shop of W. S. Swearingin at Kimberly to learn the art of blacksmithing. He liked the hustle and bustle of developing a new country where he had been located with his wife in Kimberly and there a son, Dale, and a daughter, Altha, were born during the six years he plied his chosen trade in Kimberly.

Canton enthusiastically over Magic Valley and its people as a well place to live and business. He has lived the progress from sharpening plow lays for oldtime "footburners" and shoeing wild broncos which first had to be thrown and hogtied to the present day of adjusting knives to four-row bean cutters and quick weld repairs of airplane parts.

Canton worked four years in Twin Falls before buying property in Buhl and going into business for himself in his new shop. During his ten years at Buhl, Canton, who is an artist in his line, exercised his skill in the mixture of art and workmanship required in shoeing of ranchmen each year at county fair time.

"I've been bawled out, balled up, plowed down, bulldozed, walked on, treated, squeezed, and mooched. I've been stuck for excess profit tax, dog tax and apytax. I've worked like hell and been worked the same way; and because I won't spend and lend all I earn, I have been teased and discussed, talked to and talked about."

He was quoting from a card tacked enough to the top to make the shape of a kite. Then fold the cloth facing you on the other two corners. Fold the top corner of what is left down over the other three corners. The result should be a trapezoid-shaped affair. You place the baby's bottom on the diaper with his back toward the shorter base of the figure. Then pin to fit.

"The idea is you get most strength where the strain comes greatest, or at least that's the theory. It tried it on the tummy first and got both his hands pinned under the diaper. This was obviously wrong, even to me. But when I tried it on his back he kicked and kicked open. So I tried pinning one side first and then putting him in. This resulted in two legs coming out of one opening where, when my wife does it only one. The corner. About this time Richard began to cry. He probably thought the old kite was a kind of new dress and I'd send back dirty. He doesn't mean the kind you buy and wash yourself."

He really got irritated when my hand slipped in the scuffle and I almost pinned the diaper to his stomach. Then I got irritated when he booted me in the elbow and I pinned the diaper to my thumb after wiping off the blood. I tried again.

This time I got one arm in and tried to keep that one in my mind for when he might need a sling. Then came the pay off. Just as I had a perfect one three-quarters of the way on something happened. I'll skip the description of just what took place.

When I finally cooled down I told my wife what I was attempting to do. I called Jones and he graciously consented to demonstrate the kite fold himself. On Richard, my wife likes the new fold. Fabulous creature, these women.

Envoy Slates Try at Peace In China War

NANKING, July 27 (AP)—U. S. Ambassador John Leighton Stuart, hopeful of a crack in the deadlock between the United States and China, prepared to fly to Chungking today to meet with Chiang Kai-shek and his military and political advisers. Stuart told newsmen that he and Marshall together had not collected any new peace proposals but were "just in the exploratory stage, trying to find a means of procedure acceptable to both sides."

Reasons for Hope
However, he added, "if I had many reasons for hope, particularly the difficulties are not a question of procedure but rather of details of procedure."

Stuart abandoned a trip to Peking to join Chiang Kai-shek and Marshall. This switch in plans followed an agreement with them to obtain some success in discussing the possibilities of peace in the Chinese civil war.

Delegates to U. N. Prepare Siege of Red

NEW YORK, July 27 (AP)—Several delegates to the United Nations atomic energy commission indicated today that Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko would face a barrage of questions next week as to how he proposes to prevent illegal production of atomic weapons.

The delegates were agreed that the production and use of atomic weapons should be outlawed, as Gromyko demanded yesterday, but they were generally dissatisfied with his one brief proposal on the question of enforcement and maintenance.

This proposal was that each state which signs the suggested international convention limiting atomic weapons assume the responsibility for enforcement within its own borders.

"The draft convention," he said, "contains a provision that the majority states should within six months of its conclusion enact legislation providing for severe punishment for violators of the convention."

"This is wholly in accord with the seriousness of the task as well as with the principle of the sovereignty of member states and with the principles of the United Nations."

This was his only reference to specific measures to control the atomic projects which the delegates are to discuss in the development of atomic energy for peaceful uses.

Magic Valley To Have FM Radio Station

Plans for the construction of the first FM (frequency modulation) radio station in Twin Falls and Magic Valley moved forward last Saturday, following receipt of authorization for the station by the Federal Communications Commission.

Fluence Gardner, Twin Falls manager of Radio Broadcasting corporation, said that construction of the FM station will be the expenditure of $40,000 or more for new equipment it will be operated in conjunction with KTFY.

This project first. Before the FM construction project starts, she said, KTFY will complete its proposed 5,000-watt transmitter project. The present power is 1,000 watts, and the station has received FCC approval for increasing the power up to 1,000 watts.

A priority for the transmitter equipment was granted in October, 1945, and the project to build will be under way in the next few months following the arrival of RCA equipment which has been ordered, she said.

The new FM station will broadcast standard network programs under a policy of the National Broadcasting company, thereby such entertainment will be made available for transmission from the FM station operated by NBC-affiliated stations.

The advantages are: (1) The technical advantages are: (1) It virtually eliminates interference from other stations; (2) Higher fidelity sound can be transmitted because wider range of frequencies is used; (3) The service area of an FM station does not vary day to day; (4) It remains constant; and (5) Stations can operate on the same frequency without causing interference with each other.

With the recent rise of the radio industry's manufacturing facilities, the sale of FM transmitters and the introduction of FM receivers is expected to resume a pace it had in 1940 and the spring of 1941, before the industry went to work.

Army Raises Twin Falls to Higher Status

Expansion of army recruiting headquarters in Twin Falls to a sub-station and the inclusion of three additional counties and a portion of another county to this area was announced Saturday by Lieut. George P. Clanton, first sergeant, crutier. The change is effective Aug. 1.

Lieutenant Clanton said that Clanton, Buhl, Lemhi and a portion of Jefferson county would now be included in the Twin Falls recruiting district. The district also includes Blaine, Pocatello, Gooding, Lincoln, Cassia, and Blaine counties.

Lieutenant Clanton said that this office will be the third main station in Idaho. Others are at Boise and Pocatello.

The change related man is expected to be transferred to Twin Falls. The Jerome sub-station, formerly operated by 71st, Frank Morris, will be reopened as soon as possible, Lieutenant Clanton stated.

The Twin Falls recruiting district now will include about 23,000 square miles of territory, he said. Formerly it included 19,400 square miles.

Robert LeVere A. Dettage will be retained at the Buhl sub-station, but his area of coverage will be enlarged, Lieutenant Clanton said.

Vet Detained, Driver Hurt in Road Accident

JEROME, July 27.—An unexplained accident at 7 p. m. Friday on highway No. 25 four miles west of Eden, resulted in the hospitalization of the driver, Mrs. John Sampson, Klamath, Calif., and the detention of a veteran.

The accident occurred on the highway at a high rate of speed. Tracks made by the tires showed that the right wheels of the car had slipped off the right side of the road for some distance before the car slipped into the bottom pit.

Lurching free, the car had no brakes, and the road slipped off a telephone pole and crashed into a pile of rocks, demolishing the front part of the car, the sheriff said.

Mrs. Sampson had picked him up at Mountain Home, Wash. and he had fallen asleep before the accident. Mrs. Sampson had told him she was driving to Kansas City, he was asserted.

The injured woman was rushed to St. Valentine's hospital at Wendell, where she was treated for shock, fractures and bruises. The attending physician reported her condition as good tonight, adding that there were no bone fractures and no brain concussion.

Mrs. Earl's real name was Margaret Gertrude Zeller.

McDonald recently received his chiropractor's license. His wife, Catherine, who is a chiropractor but is not in McDonald's office, is a physio-therapist.

McDonald is a brother of Mrs. O. T. Luke. The space for McDonald's new office formerly was used by the Packard Dental laboratories.

Long Distance Calling up 33% Since Last Summer

More long distance calls are being handled at the Twin Falls switchboards this summer than ever before in history. The great surges of traffic which seemed so abnormal on VE day and VJ day are being far exceeded every business day now.

The greatest increases have occurred on calls to neighboring towns—Salt Lake, Boise, Kimberly, Jerome, Burley, and suburban towns. Some delays are inevitable. We are bending every effort to relieve this situation as rapidly as possible, but serious shortages of facilities delay the needed circuit additions.

Until we can provide adequate facilities we ask your cooperation in avoiding unnecessary long distance calls and in keeping necessary calls as brief as possible.
