

Card Teacher Of Stars Also Safe-Cracker

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 7 (AP)—A professional magician who taught movie stars card tricks by day and today that he could take by night, sometimes as many as 11 in one sitting.

Kenneth Scott, 27, magician, writer and part-time actor, was arrested today allegedly cracking safe and admitted he had pilfered $65,000 out of 70 safes since January.

Most of the money, he said, went by turn clothes to keep up his standing in the movie colony.

Taught Stars
A magician by profession, Scott had worked in movies as a card expert and fero dealer and taught the intricacies of card manipulations to such stars as Humphrey Bogart, Dennis Morgan, John Garfield, Lauren Bacall and Veronica Lake.

He also doubled in scenario writing, he said, and had authored a novel, "Strifely From Hunger."

"The studio offered me $15,000 for it, but I'm holding out for $25,000," he said.

Scott started doubling in safe-cracking when an uncle's will left him a safe, he said.

"I started tinkering around with the lock and I got on I could open it without any trouble and knew the mechanism by heart."

Tried Skill
Tempted to try out his skill, Scott told officers he opened 11 movie safes in one night, traveling from Los Angeles to Hollywood and southern California.

Then he went into partnership with Kenneth Day, 28, who was arrested with him.

On one occasion, he said, he opened and robbed a safe while Day was changing a flat tire and they drove off with $2,000.

Hitler's Boat Goes on Sale For $400,000

NEW YORK, Aug. 7 (AP)—They're trying to sell Hitler's yacht for $400,000 to some rich American, said, and it looked today as if at least two were interested.

The 250-ton "Grille"—now lying off Britain's east coast—in a war prize of the British admiralty.

Consider Offers
"We don't own her, we are only the brokers," explained Felix Pierot, of Jacques, Pierot, Jr. and Sons, "but we're considering an offer."

Pierot said, up to now, there have been two offers.

"One from a wealthy individual," he said, "and the other from a company. Neither indicated what they would do with the yacht, if they buy it, but I suppose the individual will use it for his personal pleasure."

Set for Tourists
The company, Pierot said, doubtless planned to attract the tourist trade.

"I expect many people might say, 'The Grille' has a top speed of 26 knots, and she could take 100 people for a month's cruise without any trouble."

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRL GIG

CANDIDATE—Compiler—Gen. Lindsay C. Warren is a courageous and penetrating analysis of congressional and army-navy mismanagement of billions in national defense money. The author, Lindsay C. Warren, is a former member of the House of Representatives and a candidate for the 1948 running mate for Harry S. Truman.

The rugged North Carolinian's first non-partisan, non-sensational appearance before the Mead committee seems to have convinced the political and popular imagination. Until he came along, the House of Representatives had been a place of political and presidential prospects. Having no governors of such prominence as the governor of New York or Warren of California, they were without a second-place candidate.

ISSUE—The nomination of Mr. Warren for the Mead 2 spot might also strip the Republicans of a prize lawyer. With Sen. Homer A. Ferguson of Michigan as their proponent, he has been a member of both the Pearl Harbor and the Mead investigating committees—the GOP aims to establish a record of administrative mismanagement of the war from its outbreak to its liquidation.

The opposition believes that such a nomination would guarantee the Democrats the Mead job next November, and by the time for a more devastating explosion in the presidential campaign.

INSPIRATION—Compiler—General Warren returned to the Mead committee when he was named director and fresh inspiration to the Mead investigation. He lifted it from the status of a mediocre investigation to that of a brilliant Broadway extravaganza.

The committee had been handling the inquiry in a merely steady state until the North Carolinian exploded. The investigators had laboriously dragged out their pursuit of the Gerson-Moore trail, although it was obvious that only "chicken feed" was involved in their questionable deal.

BOARD—Mr. Warren, however, has ripped the lid from a strong-box containing secret records of delinquencies in the war. He has exposed the record of billions in taxpayers' contributions. He has hit at the enormous system of swamping funds which has existed since the war.

He roared, whereas previous witnesses had whispered. He indicted the lawmakers for passing a law which was a mere excuse for a few more dollars in the pockets of a few more members of Congress. He indicted the lawmakers for passing a law which was a mere excuse for a few more dollars in the pockets of a few more members of Congress.

SHIVERS—The sudden and electric change in the nation's political atmosphere within the last month seems almost like the opening of a new era, as they cut Washington to expose their breasts and their wartime performances to a ruthless and strange examination. The nation's political atmosphere seems almost like the opening of a new era, as they cut Washington to expose their breasts and their wartime performances to a ruthless and strange examination.

RETIRED—But within the last few weeks ten more would include the veterans, have been referred to private life, and they still cannot decide what to do with them. Shrewd political analysis, however, believe that the explanation for these details is as plain as handwriting on the wall.

They attribute the people's ballot-box acrobatics to three factors, namely: (1) Revelations of Andrew Jackson May's peculiar behavior, as well as the fact that several other veterans were in the Garson dossier. (2) The confusion caused by the temporary collapse of OPA, whether the war ended with the victory over the Axis or not, and (3) the doubt cast on the soundness and efficiency of the Roosevelt-Truman foreign policy by Russia's ruthless and divergent of United Nations.

Now, far from expecting easy victories, the "vets" anticipate that there will be many "put outs" on the first Tuesday after the first Monday of that well-known month.

Pot Shots

UNORTHODOX FLORENCE
Dear Pot Shot:
School teaching and abominable ideas must go hand-in-hand. And school girls don't hold a monopoly on the madly either.

You should have seen the red faced face that Florence Reed, ya former Twin Falls high school dramatic teacher, had Tuesday noon when she was eating lunch with Florence Schilly in a local cafe.

Several of her students came by looked at Miss Reed and snickered, she ate it. It wasn't until after the meal was completed that she learned that her school didn't match. One was blue and the other was black. She was a strap style and the other tied.

Good Gosh, what a GAL YOU ARE!
Pot Shot:

I see that "Another Dreamer" isn't easily scared off. So if "Just Dreaming" hasn't left the country to avoid the fun, I'd like to further "sell" myself to the fellow who is looking for a modern, yet "good" girl!

Like "Another Dreamer" not look at a good girl. Men may not also act like "Another Dreamer" but they do look good and subtly give me the will o' the wisp. I have tried to look out for my own sandals but I do not point my toe nails.

My eyes and hair bounce on my neck when I walk. My eyes are dark brown with white marks. I have two dimples, one in each cheek, and lips that curve without the aid of a lip stick. I do use lip rouge, however, but I don't put it on with a color brush. I wouldn't snare your neck and collar with it if I could cuddle. I said "I".

I am of an affectionate nature, perhaps a little too possessive. But I am understanding and willing to be reasoned with in most cases. I'm generous as a friend. I can be provocative, and alluring.

I am not usually vain or a left-handed partner. I like the whole-some living, sensible people. I have a good sense of humor. I like to entertain a little, go on trips to the movies, and I like to cook. I don't like to fish—just to cook, but I'd do it for the man I loved. I do something for him.

Do you know him now? You're Dreamer?

WASHINGTON CALLING" BY MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON—1946 is our year of transition, and we are the last foundation of our economic structure which will have to serve for generations... this year we shall have to make the decisions which will determine whether or not we will be able to maintain our position as a world power.

The brave words of President Truman in a radio address to the nation on Monday, Jan. 3, 1946, were a masterpiece of statesmanship. He was reporting to the people on the issues of the day, and he was doing it in a way that was both clear and convincing.

The statement was the result of a coalition of Republicans and southern Democrats. They have vetoed every measure that has been proposed, and they have done it in a way that was both clear and convincing.

In other words, when economic and industrial power were not so centralized, and when America's economic power was not so dominant, we could afford a "panic."

Now, with the world contracted to the size of a basketball, we cannot afford it. The political environment in which we live has utterly and completely changed. Every condition is changed, every situation is changed.

In our system of divided powers, portable in the modern world. Do we have the political vigor to adapt our system, with all its strength and greatness, to the physical revolution that has occurred? How we answer those questions will determine whether we steer a middle way or yield to extremists of right or left.

"BOB HOPE Hailey Boasts New City Hall

HAILEY, Aug. 7.—The Hailey new city hall is now complete with the exception of the heating system. Hailey wood floors have been installed and the rooming completed.

A joint heating system with the adjacent city hall is being installed as soon as possible. Pull front windows make the office ideal, according to Mrs. George Stacey, city clerk.

John Bollinger, manager of the Hailey waterworks, will also have his offices in the rear of the roomed section.

This is the first time in the history of Hailey that the city hall has been located in a city owned building. Previous to 1922 and from 1935 to 1946 it was located in offices on South Main street. During the intervening years city business was transacted in the offices of the West Coast Power company.

Hagerman Dairyman Opens Wendell Route
WENDELL, Aug. 7.—Leroy Burkett, Hagerman, has begun the first route to house dairy service here for several years. Burkett, who has been in the dairy business in Hagerman for some time, has opened the new route because of an increase in the milk supply.

The dairy consists of a herd of 24 Holstein Friesian cows and facilities for handling milk. Burkett will provide pasteurized milk and other dairy products.

BUREAU ACTION

As a prime excuse for bureaucratic inaction, the commission's construction of seven passenger ships for operation by American lines.

On July 17, Dr. Steelman, in the name of the President, told Admiral Smith to postpone awarding contracts for two luxury liners for the South American trade for at least a year, and to hold up scheduled construction of five other liners while the whole project was re-examined.

This was the first notice to American shipbuilders that the program to build fast liners for international competition was halted.

Dr. Steelman gave as reasons for the cancellation a shortage of materials, the heavy tax burden of construction costs and operating deficits, "substantial naval construction" and reconversion and repair work.

At this time of material shortages, the state department was approving an export-import bank loan to Chile to buy American steel for ships to be built in Britain, while the civilian production administration was increasing British credit allocation by $50,000 tons for this purpose.

The two cancelled liners for our "good neighbor fleet" would have taken less steel than the five Chilean cargo vessels to be built with American steel and financed by an American loan.

As for construction costs, the shipbuilders' council of America pointed out in a letter to Dr. Steelman that shipyard wages are up 38 cents an hour since the war began, largely through government influence and effort.

Now, the letter continued, the shipyard workers, having been paid the war-time wages, are having their work taken from them by a new law.

The council quoted navy figures to show that naval construction is rapidly being completed, and that there are no naval contracts for new ships in fiscal 1947. It quoted the bureau of labor statistics to show that by Jan. 1 there will be only about 130,000 workers in private shipyards, as against 220,000 in May, 1946.

All this would seem to indicate a lack of coordinated information and policy among the various government agencies concerned. And it makes one wonder if Dr. Steelman has all the facts at hand when he issued this drastic order? Why did he not even consult the shipbuilders and operators whose business he is running?

And what has become of all the wartime plans to make this country a great maritime nation in peace, with an adequate, expandable nucleus of builders and operators in the interest of our national defense?

STILL ON THE GO
The European inspection tour of UNRRA Director Florentia La Guardia is somewhat puzzling. We seem to recall that when President Truman sent Herbert Hoover around the world to inspect and report on the food situation, Mr. La Guardia made light of the assignment. UNRRA, he said, had all the facts and figures that it needed.

Nor does it seem that Mr. La Guardia distrusted the facts and figures that Mr. Hoover brought back. What he criticized was not the statistics, but only Mr. Hoover's suggestions for a long-range program to handle world famine.

A FAMOUS VICTORY
The Crump political machine in Tennessee won one of those "famous victories" this week when it beat off a challenge to its power by the state's new governor, the CIO-PAC which is invading southern primaries this year on a large scale for the first time.

Seventy-seven-year-old Senator McKellar, who has a nationwide reputation as a reactionary old southerner, roundly defeated Edward Ward Carmack, son of a famous Tennessee political leader of a generation ago, and the Crump-backed candidate for governor won a handsome victory too.

Opponents of Boss Crump's Nashville machine have often charged that they were not on crooked counting in Shelby county, the Crump bailiwick, but this seems not to have been the case here, as the Crump candidates rolled in majorities throughout the state.

A good many forward looking people of both parties hoped to see some new faces enter the senate next winter replacing men like Bilbo, McKellar, and others, but there was no reason to expect this in Tennessee after what happened in Mississippi and Georgia.

Voices for Bilbo and Talmadge in these primaries show that the south is unconcerned politically and that outside opposition to the prevailing rule of poll-tax simply aggravates conditions.

Senator Chapman, the radio lobbyist on a senator from the "deep, deep south" may not be far out of the area. And the fact is not that the south is making some folks laugh. — Idaho Free Press, Nampa.

Bean Outlook Good Barring Frosts, Hail

Prospects of a good bean crop unless an early frost or hail causes damage was foreseen Wednesday by William F. Bryan, seed inspector for this area, as field examinations for bean certification got under way.

Bryan announced that certification applications for 37,728 acres of beans in Magic Valley had been received and that 1,555 acres of grain had been accepted for certification after completion of field inspection. Field examination of beans is not expected to be completed until about Sept. 1, Bryan said.

Most of the bean certification applications are from Twin Falls and Jerome counties and most applications are for Great Northern U. 1, 12a, 13a and 14a.

"Beans are looking good and farmers should get a heavy yield of quality beans this fall," Bryan said. It is expected that a large percentage of the beans will be used for certification.

Final certification of beans and grain for seed will be completed until after the harvesting and inspection this fall, he pointed out. Bryan is seed inspector for Magic Valley counties and the eastern half of Blaine county. The seed certification program is under the Idaho Crop Improvement association.

Ivan Muschitz, Hansen, has been helping Bryan with bean field inspection and expects to begin helping with the examinations soon are County Agent Jack R. Smith, Al Paul, Boise, seed inspector, R. R. Fowler, Boise, state seed analyst, and Earl Simpson, Blackfoot, seed inspector.

Types of wheat passing field inspection included Federation Lemhi, Dickie and Bart, all soft wheat varieties, Bryan said. Most of the grain certification also was in Twin Falls and Jerome counties, although there was quite a lot in Minidoka and Gooding counties.

Great Northern bean varieties included in certification, Kibana International are U. 1, 12a, 13a, 14a and 15a. Red Northern varieties are U. 1, 3a and 14a and Pioneer included U. 1, 11a, 12a and 13a.

Ed's Back on Job; Two Ribs Broken

Deputy Sheriff D. F. Hall is back at his duties with the Twin Falls county sheriff's office, despite two broken ribs sustained in an auto mobile accident near LaGrande, Ore.

Deputy Hall and Police Chief H. S. Cunningham were en route for a picnic in Oregon when the right front tire of the car blew off, pulling the vehicle into a borrow pit where it struck a utility pole, damaging the radiator. Both officers escaped without serious injury, although the police chief sustained a bruised shoulder, a black eye and a cut on the head.

The accident also lengthened the trip considerably, as it occurred last Thursday and the men were forced to lose several days receiving medical treatment and awaiting repair of the car.

Car-Horse Clash About a Toss-up

It was a toss-up as to whether a light coupe or a dark horse got the worst of it Tuesday in a mid-air clash on a curve near the Thousand Springs park, according to a report received by State Police John E. Leiser.

The accident occurred about 9:30 p. m. as Craig Taylor of Twin Falls was rounding a curve and encountered a herd of horses owned by Donald Dugan. Taylor managed to miss most of the horses but struck one black horse, injuring the animal's shoulder.

The right front fender and headlight of the coupe were also damaged. Taylor, who reported the collision, was uninjured.

County Traffic Officer D. C. Parrott was called to investigate the collision between a coupe and a milk truck in which the coupe came out second best. The accident at 1:30 a. m. Tuesday involved the passenger car driven by Lloyd B. Trippe, 26, and a milk truck operated by Ray C. Johnston, 18. Both drivers are residents of route one, Twin Falls.

Scene of the mishap was near the city limits on U. S. highway 9 east of Twin Falls, and it occurred when the truck made a left turn, causing the coupe to strike it near the center. We, the Women

By Ruth Miller
NEA Staff Writer

At a women's club meeting in Oregon each member read a report on "What I Should Be Doing at Home Instead of Attending Club" and after the evidence was all in they voted to skip the next meeting.

It was to be that there were no husbands present at the meeting when the women let down their hair, and that no one who wore a bonnet report let her husband have a look at it.

Because any husband could in 10 minutes figure out a better way for his wife to spend an afternoon than by sitting through a woman's club meeting.

A man thinking of his own interests might make a list that included anything from turning blue to accumulating dollars in the pockets to attending a cook book.

A man thinking about that staying home and keeping an eye on Junior might in the end prove more profitable than any kind of club meeting.

Should Even Meet
A husband thinking of his wife's own good might point out to her that the nearest recreation, swimming, fishing, going to the lake, sitting in a hammock would probably be more relaxing than any kind of club meeting and coming home annoyed because Mr. Smith tried to turn things around or Mrs. Jones was bragging about how her husband managed to get a new car.

Or, if she wanted to improve her mind, a husband might point out that listening to a radio program is a pretty roundabout way of getting it, if you can read yourself.

And a husband might have been untidied enough to say, "Why go to the meeting to read your paper? Why not start staying home, as of today?"

Suggestion	Filer Man Files $3,868 Suit for Lost Corn Seed

Nice, Filer, Tuesday filed suit in district court against the two men

Nice claimed that last Sept. 5 he made out a warranty deed to Rector for two lots three miles northwest of Filer. It was agreed, Nice claimed, that after the sale he would be permitted to harvest his carrot crop. He started but bad weather and the lack of help delayed him.

Nice claimed he informed Rector that the harvesting would take some time and Reister had told him that he could take his crop off when he could.

On April 7, this year, Nice said he went to the property to make arrangements for harvesting the remainder of the crop only to learn that the tenant, Maxwell, had raked up the crop and burned it. The complaint alleges that Maxwell said he was acting under orders from Reister.

In his complaint, Nice asks for $23,868.20, the estimated value of the seed plus court costs. Attorney for the plaintiff is J. H. Blansford.

Asks More Time

Charged with the misdemeanor

was operated by Edwin E. Haez, 17, route three, Twin Falls, Idaho. A Martin, 29, carrying a concrete bridge a mile and two one-half miles from the town of Twin Falls, the Martin truck struck the car and was damaged, according to reports of investigating firemen. The other vehicle was damaged, however, and no one was injured.

The Martin truck was insured, as was the light rear end wheel.

Haez was arrested on the charge of operating a motor tractor with "unsafe" tires on U. S. highway 20. John E. Haez requested additional time to enter a plea when charged with the offense. Judge C. A. Bailey Tuesday morning.

Haez, who was charged with committing the offense as of Haez in a complaint issued by Lucien Smith, was given until 10 a. m. Thursday to enter his plea and was released on his own recognizance.
