War in China Spreading As Leaders Meet

NANKING, Aug. 24 (AP)—Fighting in northern China province about Japan assumed "alarming proportions," Chinese press dispatches said today as Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and General Marshall met at Kuling, the summer capital.

Simultaneously with the reports of heightened fighting in Kiangsu province, came a call for help from the nationalist commander at Tai-yuan, Shensi province capital which has been isolated by surging communist forces.

Explosive Manchuria, after a two month lull, expected major fighting to break out soon, likely at Harbin.

As reports of the increased activity circulated, Marshall sought to salvage a plan to permit establishment of an all-party state council of 40 members. Without the council, it was believed here that the Nov. 12 assembly of the national constitutional body would be meaningless.

Reviewing the Manchurian situation, the intercommunal representatives Hsin Min Pao, said the communists had established three new bases on the outer Mongolian, Soviet and Korean borders. The newspaper gave no specific location.

U. S. Ambassador John Leighton Stuart declined to comment on the Chiang Kai-shek plan for American administration of areas disputed between the communists and nationalists. He favors side-tracking the whole question, initiating a nationwide armistice, and creating the state council Marshall was discussing with Chiang. The council could then settle the disputes or ultimately a settlement could be reached through constitutional means.

Surviving are four sons: Earl, Boie, Harry, Jerome, and Ogden. Also, Robert, Jr., and three daughters: Mrs. Boie, and Mrs. Kate Goldsmith, Seattle, Wash., 20 grandchildren and 21 great-grandchildren.

Services will be held at 2:30 p.m. Monday at the Wiley funeral home. The Rev. John F. Ryan, Christian church minister, will officiate. The Jerome Rebekah lodge will hold services at the graveside in Jerome cemetery.

FBI to Scan Case Of 3 Taken Here
Twin Falls city police were last night awaiting arrival of an FBI agent from Butte, Mont., to investigate the cases of three youths who were apprehended here Thursday night after allegedly wrecking two stolen cars.

As one of the machines involved was from Nebraska, its theft would involve a Dyer act violation, which places the matter in the hands of federal authorities. As the trio indicated they were from Butte, a Ft. Leavenworth, Kan., guardhouse, they may be wanted also in that connection. Outside of admitting theft of the Nebraska car, however, they have denied being involved in any other crimes.

They have identified themselves as Jerry Mook, alias Leonard Stark, 21, Fremont, Neb.; Elmo Frank, 24, Los Angeles, Calif.; and Frank J. Fredrick, 27, Kansas City, Mo.

Turks Reject Red Demands Over Straits

ANKARA, Aug. 24 (AP)—The Turkish government, commenting that it was having "difficulties in understanding Soviet apprehensions" with regard to the Dardanelles, has rejected flatly Russian demands for joint defense of the strategic strait and for narrowing control of that vital waterway to black sea powers only.

"The government of the republic is of the opinion that Turkey herself is interested in defending with all her might the country against aggression from whichever side it may come," the government said in long note to Russia made public last night.

"To want to reinforce the form of defense at a moment when all nations of the world compete with each other to bring their contributions in creating an era of peace and security would be to deny the existence of the aims of the United Nations and show... distrust, the cause of which the Turkish government does not understand."

"The most sure guarantee of the security of the Soviet union in the Black sea," said the note, "resides not in a search for privileged position in the strait, but in the restoration of friendly and trusting relations with a strong Turkey, which has decided to use all her forces to insure this happy era but whose efforts in this sense will be accompanied by equal goodwill coming from her northern neighbor."

The reply, handed to Russia Thursday, followed precisely the lines of earlier American, British and French notes rejecting both Soviet penetration of the strait and the proposal to shut off control of the Dardanelles from all nations except those on the Black sea, in which the strait links the Mediterranean.

Enforcement Set On Peddling Law

GOODING, Aug. 24.—Gooding Chamber of Commerce members discussed the anti-peddling ordinance at their regular meeting and agreed that steps should be taken to enforce the law now existing.

Local residents were informed that a phone call to City Clerk E. L. Sullivan would bring a police officer to arrest anyone violating the city ordinance.

The group used to recommend to the Merchants committee that stores remain open on Saturdays until 9 p. m. from April to Dec. 1 instead of closing at 6 p. m.

Members used to finance the Idaho Pilots' breakfast on the morning of Sept. 8. Members of the Gooding Lions club will now cook and serve the meal for the 125 to 150 state pilots who are expected to attend.

A report on the industrial survey for Gooding was made by E. L. Sullivan, Vice-President James Alstara presented for the meeting.

Alcohol Problem To Be Discussed

Anti-alcohol talks will highlight the final Union picnic in city park at 2:30 p. m. Sunday.

Three college students, Audrey Bonnell, Helen Nealey and William Turner, from Twin Falls will give six-minute lectures entitled "The Alcohol Problem Today," "Moderation Versus Total Abstinence," "What Alcohol is Doing to Society."

A wind-up speech by the Rev. James W. Brown, Piler, will deal with the three recommendations to be voted this fall. His address is called "Working Toward a Solution."

The picnic, which was sponsored by the inter-church youth affiliation of Twin Falls.

The service now includes three trains, the passenger and two freight each day. The passenger train leaves Rupert at 5:55 a. m. and arrives here at 7:50 a. m. bringing first class mail and parcel post, Carlson said.

They Started 50 Years Ago ...

And They're Still Going Strong

That's where the tall corn grows. At the extreme top are four Iowa farm boys as they looked in 1896 when they organized to set the world on fire with their political fervor at Republican rallies. The picture below was taken 50 years later at the reunion of the quartet held at the Otis and Willis Sampson homes in Hansen. They are John Douglas, Detroit, Minn., first tenor; Willis G. Sampson, Hansen, second tenor; Otis Sampson, Hansen, first bass; and Albert Julian, Omaha, second bass. Mrs. Charles Matteson, their accompanist, joined the troupe a few years after its organization. The boys toured southwestern Idaho during three presidential campaigns. (Staff photo—rearranged)

Male Quartet Claims Personal Victory In Election of McKinley 50 Years Ago

By MARTHA MACNAMARA

Who said the GOP was dead? Theirs' the light of the Pleasant Hill male quartet, organized 50 years ago to sweep the Republicans into office with hot campaign music.

"Yes sir. We were personally responsible for McKinley getting to be President," handsome, silver-haired Albert Julian, now of Omaha, and second bass, quipped. Other members of the quartet are John Douglas, Detroit, Minn., first tenor; Willis G. Sampson, Hansen, second tenor; and Otis Sampson, Hansen, first bass. The men and their wives decided it was time for a reunion and have congregated at the homes of the two Sampson men in Hansen to celebrate.

Met in Idaho

"We first met again eight years ago in Idaho. Climbing from our cars we lifted our voices in an old favorite, 'There Are No Friends Like Old Friends.'" The men reminisced as they lounged comfortably on the spacious porch of the Willis Sampson home.

Armed only with a pitch pipe, the Iowa farm boys organized the quartet in 1896 and toured Montgomery county in Iowa to defeat the democratic candidate, William Jennings Bryan.

Jogging from villa to village and schoolhouse to schoolhouse, the hoarse and hoarse boys took their audiences by storm with their enthusiasm for the political party, boasting the elephant as a symbol.

Their first performance was at the political hall at Billings, 10. The village boasted 7,000 population and the whole town was there, the men remembered.

Stavily the singers proclaimed "We start the quiet to start singing A cappella. However we didn't know it cause there wasn't such a thing at that time."

At that moment the group on the porch was joined by Mrs. Charles Matteson, now of Billings, Mont., who was Elizabeth Jones, the rural school teacher. She was recruited in later years to travel with the quartet.

"What did you wear for your first performance?" the reporter queried curiously. "I don't remember but it was certainly a dress longer than this," she twinkled good humoredly as she yanked at her fashionable skirt.

Had Three Campaigns

Happily chatting about "the good old days" the men and their accompanist informed me that they sang together through three presidential campaigns. "Then we scattered to the four winds," they added, "but their repertoire also featured sacred music."

The Sampson brothers moved to Idaho, settling at Hansen in 1908. Douglas is now a Baptist minister and Julian, a former machinist, came out of retirement during the war to make precision instruments.

Otis Sampson is a retired farmer and Willis Sampson is a dirt farmer. Mr. and Mrs. Matteson are retired Montana general storekeepers.

Professing to be a dyed in the wool Republican, this reporter prevailed upon the songsters to give out with a campaign number that set old time political meetings ablaze with action.

Fairly outing with the good old Republican spirit, the quartet gathered around the piano in the Sampson living room and launched into "Turkey for Crow," a favorite destined to make McKinley President.

Warning to their subject with all the eagerness of schoolboys, the quartet members, now ranging from 66 to 71, gave vent to their feelings with a campaign yell for McKinley. The district school in Iowa was the inspiration for the name of the quartet.

A cake bearing 50 candles, honoring the quartet, was featured at a dinner at the Willis Sampson home. The dinner served a double purpose by also observing the 60th birthday anniversary of Matteson. A cake was presented to him.

Walter Holds Fast Pace to Conduct Sales

Col. E. O. Walter, Piler, is home for a "rest" after a busy two weeks preading as auctioneer at sheep sales all the way from Oregon to New Mexico.

During his absence, Colonel Walter was auctioneer at the National ram sale at Salt Lake City for his 20th year. It was the 21st annual sale.

The jaunt started at Albany, Ore., on Aug. 10 when the veteran auctioneer was at the National ram sale at Salt Lake City for his 20th year. It was the 21st annual sale.

Down to New Mexico

A quick trip by air put Colonel Walter in Albuquerque for the New Mexico state sale Aug. 13 and 14. Top ram brought $400 and average sale was $12.

Another plane flight landed the Piler man right back in Oregon—this time at Pendleton—for the Aug. 16 Oregon ram sale where he sold two pens of ten range Rambouletts for $150 each, highest sale in the U. S. this year. Average sale at Pendleton was $78.

Following day, Aug. 17, found Walter down in Neph, Utah, for the Utah state Suffolk sale. Top ram brought $350 and top ewe sold for $25.

Piler Man Back

Next stop was for the National at Salt Lake City on Aug. 20 and 21. Top ram at the National brought a record $200 with Bob Blackstock of Piler being edged out after bidding $12.

Walter said most of the top sales were consignments from Idaho. Second highest pen of Rambouletts was sold by Frank Stephan, Good. Pens were also sold by L. A. Winkle of Piler and R. B. Brant of Twin Falls. Top Hampshire lamb was sold for $400 by Hattcock.

Colonel Walter will conduct his next sale at Elko, Nev. on Sept. 1 and 2.

Young Dutch Professor Tells Of Occupation in Netherlands

KIMBERLY, Aug. 24.—The Netherlands has begun to make some recovery from the long years of German occupation and the devastation that followed in the wake of the war, according to Prof. Gerrit Peukens of Apeldoorn, Holland.

The young technical instructor, who is in the United States on a mission for his school, is a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Riedeman, Twin Falls and Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Mason, Kimberly. The professor is a cousin of Riedeman.

Although the Dutch government did not advise planting crops on the salt drained lands flooded by the Nazis, Peukens said, many farmers persisted in sowing seed and were harvesting fair crops.

Describes Bombing

The professor, who was in Rotterdam at the time of its heavy bombing, described the merciless slaughter of civilians and the wreckage of 25,000 homes. He related that he was summoned by the invading Germans and forced to deliver his automobile to them.

When no food was available, Prof. Peukens and his family set out on a 100 mile trip by bicycle to find food. En route they slept in haystacks and the professor, not knowing from one day to the next what food they would find, took the risk the bicycles broke down and the family made the journey on foot, avoiding the main highways, which were being machine gunned by Nazi planes.

Yellow counters around them. Peukens said, dropped to the ground and was discouraged to continue. Nothing could be done to aid the sufferers who died of starvation and illness. The family finally reached their destination weak and ill.

During the occupation when able bodied men were being shipped as laborers to Germany, Prof. Peukens was being shipped in cars, under homes, in forests and other hiding places devised by the underground resistance force.

Fish bulbs which often saved the Dutch from starvation, he declared, cost ten times as much as potatoes—but there were no potatoes. The bulbs were cooked in water after the skins were removed and the poisonous center core was taken out. The bulbs were more palatable with oil, he recalled, but few could obtain it.

New clothes are impossible to get, he said, but food is more plentiful although all staple foods are rationed. Meat ration for one person per week is one and one-half ounces; one and one-half ounces of butter or margarine. Sugar is unobtainable and children under six years of age have never tasted candy, the professor explained.

To New York

With the aid of R. J. Klein, Alton, Ia., a relative, and the American consul, the professor obtained a passport and sailed aboard a freighter for New York. He was accompanied here by Riedeman and Gene are the days when bulky bracers will have to be moved in and out of the Twin Falls high school gymnasium. Before basketball games and other events the bracers can be quickly pulled out into position to seat between 1,200 and 1,400 persons, and then for physical education classes they can be folded back into position. The entire gymnasium has been renovated and painted from floor to ceiling. Capt. A. W.
