

Manila Bears Odor of Dead As War Mark

By JOHN R. WARD

MANILA, Aug. 28 (AP)—The smell of the dead—Japanese dead—still hangs over Manila one year after the engines for which they fought with such fanaticism crashed in defeat.

Dead lie in the rubble of the once-beautiful city and those gaunt ruins symbolize what slow progress the Independent Philippines has made back on the long and weary road back from war.

You see the same sad ruins in the larger cities elsewhere in the damaged islands—Davao, Cebu, Iloilo, Cebu, and Baguio. Bailey bridges which the army engineers threw across the Pasig river when the first cavalry and infantry divisions stormed the city still carry the burden of Manila traffic. No attempt has been made to replace them.

Harbor Unchanged
Manila harbor, in which the hulks of sunken ships may still be seen, is jammed with vessels swinging at anchor waiting to be unloaded at the inadequate docks by inadequate dockhands.

The government says it cannot begin reconstruction until the money is advanced by the United States. The state, however, defeated an attempt last year to get on with the work by floating reconstruction bonds.

Against the background of war's destruction the streets and alleys heaped high with muck and rubble—infested by hordes of rats—Manila is shabby and unlovely.

Wear U. S. Khakis
Almost every adult male, including the president, members of his cabinet, legislators and government officials, wears U. S. Army khaki.

The streets are lined with faded khaki. Make-shift shops jam down Manila's main street, and the stores are filled with goods that were not destined for army post exchanges.

There is guerrilla warfare outside the city, where the armed peasants clash with the government's military police. This unrest outside is reflected inside Manila. The "rice riot" is out there and the rice has returned to the city.

There is a rising crime wave. Thieves and burglars have become commonplace and now the incidence of shooting, stabbings and holdups is increasing.

That is Manila one year after the war.

Dairies Here Striving for High Ratings

The possibility of some Twin Falls dairies becoming eligible for grade A ratings within the next year was mentioned Tuesday in a report available at the south central district health unit here, said Dr. O. T. Parkinson, director.

The statement was contained in a report made by W. R. McLean, Boise, state department of public health, who spent last week in Magle Valley's eight counties inspecting various milk sheds in the area.

The inspection report hit the inability of dairies to buy grade A milk, even though the plants themselves may be operated in an approved manner.

The grades in Twin Falls were satisfactory last year, so there is no grade A labeling except in cases where a dairymen gets "roughed short," and has to use grade A caps until he gets another shipment of approved caps, explained Dr. Parkinson. Caps are difficult to obtain, he said.

Since U. S. public health service officers rated the Twin Falls milk shed as high as 85 per cent in year immediately preceding the war, there seems no reason to think that a similar excellent rating can not be attained as conditions turn toward normalcy," said McLean.

"Dairies generally have done very well since the difficulties. In Burley, grading was continued throughout the war, and the Home dairy there has been able to retain the grade A label," McLean noted. "The others were degraded to grade C, but here too, the operators are working hard again to qualify" for A.

Rupert has no city ordinance, but the Hyde dairy has qualified for grade A under the state voluntary compliance law, which rates it one of the two grade A dairies in Magle Valley here, said McLean.

Noting that both sell grade A raw milk, McLean reported "It is more difficult to qualify for grade A pasteurization due to the fact that a pasteurization plant usually buys most or all of the milk from farms, and if these farm producers do not meet grade A requirements, the plant may not label the final product as grade A, even though the plant itself may be operated in an approved manner."

"It is this inability to buy grade A milk which is preventing most of the plants in this area from using the grade A label," he said.

Noting an increasing trend to departments, the report said the dairymen's aim eventually is "to have all milk offered for sale labeled not only grade A, but pasteurized also, as an additional safeguard."

Demos in Jerome Told of Meeting

JEROME, Aug. 28—A report on the recent party convention in Boise was given by Glenn Vining at a meeting of the Twin Falls Young Democrats at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Abelt. Marvin Hart was in charge of the meeting.

Mrs. Anna Mae Vining was chosen secretary, replacing Mrs. Jan Kroll who resigned because of poor health. The club voted to meet on the first and third Wednesday of the month.

Joe Elliott, Joe Glavin, both of Burleigh, Lynn Davis and Jim Kroll were appointed to a committee to plan the next meeting. The group discussed securing Pete Legumich, Boise attorney and Democratic candidate for congress, to this fall, as the speaker at the next meeting.

Idaho University Pledges Housing

MOSCOW, Aug. 28 (AP)—At least 3,400 prospective students at the University of Idaho this year were promised housing facilities by university officials today.

The university has been conducting a house hunting campaign in Moscow and in surrounding towns and farm areas.

President J. E. Buchanan said the university now figures it can house 3,400 students, but "we are still looking for space."

Registration permits already have been issued to 3,400 prospective students. Regular campus housing facilities will accommodate 2,150, while veterans' housing projects when completed are counted upon to take care of 125.

EXTRAORDINARY CHARGES

The executive council of the American Federation of Labor has called for a bill to amend the Labor (Anti-Petrillo) bill that makes the AFL criticism of even the Hobbs and Case bills seem letters of recommendation by comparison.

The council says the Lea bill represents "the lowest point in our history of national labor legislation." Never before, it states, "has any congress so arbitrarily and completely struck down the basic right to strike for purely selfish purposes."

"While the Lea bill, with gross unfairness, singles out for attack a single union in a single industry," the council statement goes on, "it contains provisions and imposes restrictions which, if upheld, will crush the freedom of all American workers."

The American Federation of Musicians and its president, Mr. James Petrillo, are fighting for the liberties of every worker in this country and for the very existence of every trade union in the United States.

A glance back at the Lea bill reveals these horrors. It doesn't abridge the right to picket, plainly lawful purposes unless it has suddenly become lawful to "coerce, compel or constrain" a broadcaster to employ more persons than he needs in his broadcasting business, which the Lea bill prohibits Mr. Petrillo from doing.

The bill also prohibits Mr. Petrillo's collection of royalties from the manufacturers of recordings and transcriptions used in broadcasting. But that again is a "lawful purpose" only because Mr. Petrillo and some of his adherents say it is.

The AFL council's contention that the principles and restrictions of the Lea bill would deprive the employees of trade unions of the liberties of American workers also is questionable. For "every trade union in the United States" would have to impose similar restrictions on employers as a single industry. Mr. Petrillo on the broadcaster's side of these principles and restrictions could apply.

And unless the Lea bill is contemplating a demand for paid labor in all trades and crafts, or for royalty payments to the union from all goods and services produced by its members, then there is no apparent cause for alarm.

It is the fashion among some labor leaders to reject with horror the suggestion that any caprice of a union official might be contrary to the public welfare, and to charge that any and all attempts to curb those caprices are designed to destroy the whole labor movement. But in this case the charge is so extravagant as to seem downright foolish.

CONFLICTING REPORTS

President Peron of Argentina made some frank statements to leaders of his National Revolutionary party the other day. He said that it was necessary to form a single political party from the union of the Peronists. To govern is not my profession. My profession is that of a soldier, and I will die fighting."

We are more inclined to believe President Peron's estimate of his own capabilities and the loyalty of his next political move than the United States given him by Andrew Jackson Higgins, the confident New Orleans shipbuilder, during a once-over-lightly trip to Argentina last June.

Mr. Higgins, it may be recalled, assisted the Peronistas that American correspondents were in deliberate error when they called General Peron a dictator, and that American press coverage of Argentina was "controlled" and "doctored."

BAD MEANS TO GOOD END

A meeting of Tennessee veterans advocates formation of a national veterans political organization to win out machine politics. That's a noble intent, boys. But why not let some non-veterans? They suffer the consequences of machine politics, too. And why not put away your guns?

It is easy to sympathize and sympathize with the disillusionment of many from the Glia who have returned from fighting a war to conditions which mock their suffering and sacrifice. But it is time that the armed, extra-legal veteran political action in the south was brought to a stop.

Guns win wars, but they don't correct injustices permanently. That is a task for peaceful courts and determined nonviolent action. Promoting the public good by force of arms belongs to the days of Robin Hood, not to our own. And gangs of gunmen are an eventual menace, however noble their purpose.

71 GOLFERS SEEK MAGIC OPEN TITLES

Rollo Gibbons, Jerome's star golfer and defending champion, shot into a tie for the Magic Valley Open medal yesterday when he put together nine-hole rounds of 39 and 35 for a 74 at the Twin Falls golf course.

Gibbons, who tied Harry Payne, had three birdies in his morning 39, but a high wind made golf almost impossible. He birdied the Nos. 6, 8 and 9.

Seven other golfers qualified, bringing the total to 71 for a four-round tournament. Fred Noye said the total would be more than 80 when the curtain is rung down on the closing round tomorrow night.

Match play in the tournament will be held Sunday and Monday. None but tournament entrants will be permitted to complete until Monday afternoon. Qualifiers and their scores: Fred Noye, 42-44-88; Bob Denton, 44-42-86; A. Farnsworth, 44-43-87; H. J. Laree, 44-43-87; Harry Barry, 43-47-90; J. J. Whitley, 44-47-91; R. J. Seeds of War Lingering in Moslem Area

By JOSEPH C. GOWDIN
JEROME, Aug. 28 (P) — The Moslem world from Egypt to India appears to be harboring the germs of international war, with Palestine the focal point of greatest infection. In 10 months of travel and reporting in Iran, Iraq, Afghanistan, western India, Palestine and the Persian Gulf countries, I have seen only one spot of relative tranquility — tiny Afghanistan.

Political and religious conflicts and the stubborn Russian-British ideological tug-of-war pose constant threats everywhere.

Policy Blamed

The Moslem League's "direct attack" policy generally is blamed for delaying Indian independence. From its internal strife and only recently freed from foreign troops, the new forces are now being sent to northern and southern frontiers. A Delhi announcement said that Iraq was sent to "protect British and Indian interests in South Persian oil fields."

Blood has flowed in India, Iran and the Holy land. Muslim washbas have anchored off Bahrain, Abadan and Haifa. An Afghanistan activist moderation plan officials claimed "complete friendly understanding with the great powers," but foreign observers said that the nation is not altogether free of fear of Russia and domination of her neighbors across the guarded Khyber pass.

Troops Reported

In Tehran a foreign diplomat said Russia was stationing troops along the frontier facing Iran. He predicted "military action" between the Iranian army and the Azerbaijan provincial army "within two weeks unless full agreement is reached with the Azerbaijan delegation now in Tehran."

Ghadi Mohammed's Kurdish tribesmen, quiet since the Azerbaijan conference two months ago, were being used by a foreign military observer as "antagonist" over their part in the negotiations.

"The Kurds," he said, "definitely are a picture. The Iranian army fears they are dealing privately with the Russians." Kurdistan, he said, might be the key to the corridor to the Turkish border and southward to the Persian gulf.

$15 Fine Levied in Intoxication Case

Harold V. Newman, Twin Falls, was fined $15 and $25 costs Tuesday by J. J. Pamphrey, judge of the peace, on a charge of intoxication on a public highway, following his arrest at 2:15 a. m. by city authorities.

Two traffic law violators also appeared before Judge Pamphrey, who ordered fines of $5 and costs of $2.50 paid by Harley Palmer, Twin Falls, and Leand Hough, Buhl. The charges were running a stop sign. Deputy Sheriff D. C. Partridge, county traffic officer, signed the complaints.

Two Injured As Auto Overturns

JEROME, Aug. 27.—The scolding on two accidents in this area within the last two days listed one passenger with a deeply lacerated head, one driver fined $100 and $5 as cost for reckless driving and two cars "totally wrecked."

James R. Perks, 1934 coupe, slid out of control on road pavement about nine miles northwest of here on U. S. highway 50 as he was bringing two passengers from their home in Jerome to the city.

One of the occupants of the Plymouth sedan, Dixon, received a deep cut in the head when the car jumped the curb, rolled over and went down about 150 feet from the roadways, according to Deputy Sheriff Jim Purdy, investigating officer.

Dixon was rushed to Gooding hospital for treatment and local physicians reported Tuesday night that he was "getting along" but he will be released with in the next few days.

Peck and a third rider, Ray Jackson, escaped the mishap with minor bruises.

The second car wreck occurred at 2:15 a. m. today when Virgil Crossley, 28, pilot his 1933 car bottomed out in the gutter pit next to U. S. highway 42 and one-half mile north of here on his way home.

Alone in the car at the time, Crossley pleaded guilty of reckless driving when he appeared before Probate Judge William G. Comstock at 3:30 p. m. today and was fined Sheriff Lee Johnson, who investigated the mishap, said that the overturned Model 'A' Ford was a complete loss.

Jerome Volco Block Factory Rated Highly

JEROME, Aug. 28.—R. J. Larrabee, Seattle, Wash., an inspection engineer of the Underwriters' Laboratories, Inc., Tuesday completed a two-day inspection of the manufacturing procedure of the Volco block plant, the Cinder Products company, here.

Larrabee also appointed James Pappas, Jerome, as a volunteer assistant, as special local inspector of Volco building block and the Volco manufacturing procedure in behalf of the underwriters.

Larrabee said that the company's product, the Volco masonry block, not only is approved by the underwriters, but has the highest rating classification possible, B-4.

"Only six manufacturers in the country have this classification," which means the block withstands four hours of 2,000-degree heat while under pressure, the maximum required in a building load, he said.

"The Volco block, while still white hot on the side exposed to the furnace, withstands the fire hose stream test and the double test conducted by the laboratories in Chicago," he said.

Of the three classifications possible for building blocks, many companies make the D-2, a smaller number achieve C-3, and only six have qualified for B-4, of which Volco was the sixth, he said.

Two to four plant inspections per month will be made in the future, Larrabee said, and will be authorized by the home office of the laboratories, and include the entire manufacturing procedure, including aggregate, cement, the proper proportion, the manufactured product as to curing, aging, texture, dimensions and strength.

Five to 30 or more blocks will be selected at random from the plant and various building sites throughout Idaho and sent to Boise for complete strength tests.

Shortly, he said, the Idaho rating bureau will have information on the tests and the approval and B-4 classification rating on the masonry blocks and this will result in "lower insurance rates to be set up to apply to Volco blocks only."

A. M. Peters, assistant of the underwriters' certificate on Volco blocks in their own individual building may secure the special inspection service and certificate, resulting in a saving in fire insurance costs, said Larrabee.

Free Clinic for
Hard of Hearing

New "Hearing-Lenses"
To Be Demonstrated
At Rupert, Friday

D. D. Parish, experienced Acoustician, will be in Rupert, Friday, Aug. 30, to conduct a free clinic for the hard of hearing at the Cathedral Hotel, 10 a. m. until 6 p. m.

Parish offers his new scientific, free diagnosis to anyone troubled with any degree of deafness at absolutely no obligation.

"This personal diagnosis," said Parish, "is based on results of Acousticon's new 'speech-hearing test' and points out with scientific accuracy the exact nature of a person's defective hearing, just as a scientific eye examination determines the degree of defective vision."

New "Hearing-Lenses" Shown

One of the most important discoveries made during the war resulted in a development, called "Hearing-Lenses."

These "lenses" are now being used in a plan perfected by America's oldest manufacturer of hearing aids, to correct almost any type of defective hearing.

The latest development of these "Hearing-Lenses" featured in the new Acousticon "Super-Power" Unit, will be demonstrated by Parish at the free clinic.

Parish pointed out that those unable to come to the Cathedral Hotel could probably obtain the free diagnosis and a private demonstration in their homes, by phoning 134, Rupert. Private appointments, he said, would be filled in the order received, as far as possible.—Adv.
