

GI Astounds Doctors With Sleep-Walks

MADISON ARMY HOSPITAL, Wash., Sept. 2 (AP)—A wounded soldier who walks in his sleep taught army doctors here that nothing is impossible in a dream.

Experienced army doctors could make their reputations on the fact that the patient in Madison general hospital is unable to move from his bed.

Then it happened. Just how, no one is sure. Chapin doesn't talk much. He's not the kind of a man to describe his dreams, but when he talks about the Oregon forests, his eyes lose that tired look for a minute.

Maybe Chapin was dreaming about walking through the woods. Anyway, late one night, the man who couldn't get up in bed struggled to his feet, took half a dozen stumbling steps, and fell to the floor of the hospital ward.

They found the man who couldn't possibly walk, lying several yards from his bed.

Seemed Natural
"I guess I was walking in my sleep all right," Chapin said. "But you know, it all seemed kind of familiar and right. I remember feeling how natural it was to put one foot in front of another."

The next night the 39-year-old soldier who had been on the "critically ill" list for nearly two years went for another walk in his dreams—a walk of only two steps before his body gave up and ended the dreams with a fall to the floor.

The doctors who were so sure that Chapin isn't capable of moving from his bed have placed a board against the foot of the bed, so he can't slide out and go walking in a dream again.

Threats Made on Life of Coroner
CHICAGO, Aug. 31 (AP)—A Chicago police squad car with three detectives escorted Cook County Coroner Brodie to Chicago from his Michigan summer home tonight after Brodie said two threatening anonymous telephone calls had been made to his office.

The coroner said the calls were made Friday night, shortly before he publicly announced he would reopen an investigation into the death of James M. Hagen, 66, because mercury traces had been found in the Hagen New chief's body.

Brodie related the calls, apparently made by the same person, told him in effect to "mind his own business" and "if he didn't mind his own business he would regret it."

60 Reported Dead In Bombay Riots
BOMBAY, Sept. 2 (AP)—The unofficial death toll in riot-ravaged Bombay rose to 60 today with 220 seriously injured in clashes between Hindus and Muslims and a 24-hour curfew was imposed by authorities.

The official tabulation of casualties was slightly smaller, standing at 51 dead and 178 seriously injured. British Indian troops patrolled the four areas of Bombay most seriously affected. Police opened fire on a pitched battle between Pathans and milk vendors in Ummarkhadi. More than 500 persons were arrested.

Magic Tokens
"Black-fellows' buttons," curious glassy objects treasured by Australian aborigines as tokens of magic are found by the millions, but only one in a million is in doubt as to their origin, but the most generally accepted theory is that they all fall into one time as an unusual form of meteorite.

Each year for ten only. The house is called a "trahouse," although it can be reached only through tunnels which would be impossible if it were there as a guard.

Heinz said the retreat never was used except to entertain the few "guests" who had settled some deal with the fustian at the Oberhausen chaise several thousand feet below.

Heinz said that the retreat had cost $250,000. Eighteen visits by the three Nazi big shots probably came to about 100 cups of tea. That's $25,000 a cup in rough figures in any language.

You can't get any tea at Berchtesgaden now, or even a drink of water. Germans tend the place and what seems like very aloof reluctance take visitors to the top in the fancy bronze elevator.

Nazis Planned to Use Plague Germ
NUERNBERG, Sept. 2 (AP)—Adolf Hitler, former bacteriologist with German high command, said here the Germans were prepared to release bubonic plague germs on the allies, but were prevented by the sudden collapse of their armies.

He said that Adolf Hitler once had decided on the desperate action in the summer of 1943 as a result of the defeat at Stalingrad.

That action was not taken then, and later there was no time because of the sudden collapse of resistance.

Schirg said he had decided to make his statement because "in the interests of the German people and training of younger German doctors I consider a thorough purge necessary."

BERCHTESGADEN, Sept. 2 (AP)—Think no more of billion peso notes, black market streaks at ten bucks a bite, of broken down cars at $1,500—once upon a time tea here cost $25,000 a cup.

Heinz Koerner, young son-in-law of former Wehrmacht soldier now employed at the fishery's "candle nest" stop the mountain, provided this information.

Heinz doesn't have much to do except answer three mountain telephone which keep ringing constantly. The telephone is used to keep traffic moving only one way at a time on the narrow, winding, breakneck road to the fantastic hilltop hideaway.

This young German obviously had been where the place was restricted to a super select clientele, although he labored hard to give the impression that he had spent much time as a prisoner of war in Italy. But Heinz knew the minute details of the furnishings in the "candle nest" and he had to have seen them to know.

The French army "liberated" everything that remained in the place when Germany fell.

PEGLER

NEW YORK--I have just been talking to Henry Kaiser and to L. H.

...diversion intended to direct attention to a mock scuffle at the far end of the parade.

the victim's flask pocket slipped out the door and up the subway stairs. These ceremonies are a tradition on the ship-building trade and both Kaiser and Korndorff say not only that their companies paid the expenses out of profit but that the parties became more and more

... tank came off the line but the ship-builders were stuck with an old custom which still was honored by the maritime commission and the navy for purposes of that extensive pharos called "morale." Old Henry says the maritime mission selected some of the sponsors, who invariably are ladies. I found that his company "naturally" is expected to pay their freight from home to home, usually double, because each lady sponsor was allowed to pick a matron of honor to travel with her, and put them up in the best available quarters. These weren't always much better than a hutch in a tourist camp, as you

On a long haul by train, the sponsor and her matron got a compartment or drawing-room, by contrast, to be sure, with the set-up and even stand-up accommodations for our brave boys and their little sides had to make do on their crumpled itineraries and, for the munching party, each girl got an child. Then, in Kaiser's yards, the sponsor usually got a silver trawler at cost $80 plus $2.80 tax, including the engraving of her name, the name of the ship and the yard and the date. In some cases, the sou-

And the angry discontent of the good old common man behind his happy, shining face. So now I guess he understands why I couldn't make the trip. He asked me to speak at the peace conference. We got a few of $50,000 each—on condition that we would be economical in cost and his attitude is that if he shot a few nickels of his own company's money for silver he would be a fool. He said, "If you please mind your own business if you would be so kind."

Mr. Korndorff says the custom of the United States Congress goes back to Helen of Troy, who must have had a large trophy room, but that, remembering quite a fuss about the plunderers were more conservative this time. Federal agents sent to the sponsors of the "Cruisers" a bill for $100,000, which cost $100,000 copy at first but went up to $200,000. Sponsors of cruisers got better gold "V's," set

Although Henry makes quite a virtue of the fact that a person could have choked to death for lack of a drink at his parties, Korndorff said Federal served no liquor either because everyone knows that knocks the hell out of a whole day and, moreover, if people know a party is going to be dry they will find reasons why they can't come. This was just fine for Federal because the navy didn't want any more visitors than a bare ceremonial quorum taking peeks at navy ships. He built 76 destroyers at Kearny and Port Newark.

Mrs. Francis Corey was a guest of the club. A luncheon was served by the hostesses.

The next meeting will be Sept. 8 at the school house.

Weddings, Engagements

Norma Catherine Harlow and Eugene Harold Merrill, Jr., were married recently in Seattle, according to word received. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. John Stafford Harlow, Seattle, and Merrill is the son of Mrs. Harold W. Merrill, Seattle, and Twin Falls.

The couple exchanged nuptial vows at San Francisco on July 10. They were attended by eight engineers, classmates of the bridegroom.

Following a three day wedding trip, Eugene Merrill left for the Pacific where he will be stationed for about a year. Mrs. Merrill will complete her education at the University of Washington.

In 1943 Eugene Merrill graduated from the Twin Falls high school. He attended the University of Washington and was graduated this spring from the Case school of applied science in Cleveland, O. He was affiliated with Beta Theta Pi fraternity.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd O. Graves, Seattle, was the scene of an announcement party of the wedding. The bride's flowers were an orchid sent to her by her husband.

At a ceremony solemnized at 2 p. m. Sunday at the home of the Rev. E. L. White, Mary Maheen, daughter of F. W. Maheen, Richmond, Va., and Glen Vastin, Richland, W. Va., were united in marriage.

For her wedding the bride was in a green wool suit with brocade collar. Gardenias and roses formed her corsage.

Mrs. R. L. Kincaid, Hazelton, attended the couple. She was in a steeled length black gown with black accessories and a diamond brooch.

Following graduation from a high school in Richmond, Mass., Mrs. Maheen was employed at the University of Virginia. Prior to coming to Twin Falls she was employed at the present employed on a farm south of Twin Falls. The couple plans to live in Twin Falls.

OLIVIA PERCY, Sept. 2—Mary Emily Teubert, Seattle, and George T. Theob, King Hill, were married in Seattle Aug. 18, according to word received here.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Theob, King Hill, and the bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Teubert, Seattle.

Pickles and relishes that are easy to make
One of the easiest of all canning jobs — and one that will bring just about the most pleasure during the winter months — is to make plenty of pickles and relishes. Here are two old favorites.

BREAD AND BUTTER PICKLES
2 1/2 pounds small (about 6 large) 2 teaspoons celery seed (about 25) 2 teaspoons salt
2 1/2 pounds medium-size (about 8) 1 teaspoon mustard (about 10) 1/2 cup salt
2 cups sugar
Wash cucumbers; slice; peel onions and slice. Soak separately overnight in cold water; drain. In large kettle combine remaining ingredients. Bring to boil. Pour over cucumbers and onions; let stand 1 hour; bring to boil. Boil 3 minutes. Pack into hot, sterilized jars; seal at once. Makes 6 pints.

TOMATO-HERB CHUTNEY
2 pounds peaches 8 1/2 pounds tomatoes (about 8 large) (about 30 medium-size) 2 pounds pears (about 8 large) 2 cups sugar (about 10) 1/2 cup vinegar
2 cups sugar
Wash cucumbers; slice; peel onions and slice. Soak separately overnight in cold water; drain. In large kettle combine remaining ingredients. Bring to boil. Pour over cucumbers and onions; let stand 1 hour; bring to boil. Boil 3 minutes. Pack into hot, sterilized jars; seal at once. Makes 6 pints.

Stocking Paint

The nearest trick for painting on stockings (fastly and economically) — arriving in time to save both pennies and tempers — is put across with two medium-stroke brushes. You tack these together to make a mitt for the hand that strokes on the lotion.

Motivated with as much leg lotion as you need for one application, the mitt dispenses it under your guiding hand with speed and finesse. Turn the mitt over on the other side, and you have a polishing puff for rubbing off powdery residue.

On the economical side, here's an angle. To pull another pair of cosmetic stockings off the lotion-laden puff — says Jeanette Hurlington, New York career girl, who worked all of this out — merely moisten the puff under the water tap and apply leg make-up as before.

P. S. This method of applying cosmetic stockings also keeps a manicure from looking as though it had a mid-puffish hair.

There are between two and five scissers of the sun each year, and from none to three eclipses of the moon.
