when the driver was struck while working on his stalled car near the edge of the road.

The 21-year-old Bolster was standing on the left running board of his stalled car when the right front fender of McCarthy's automobile caught and flung him 20 feet to the right in front of the stalled vehicle, according to two passengers in Bolster's car, William Richard Dunbar, 18, Murfreesboro, Tenn., and Victor Bolster, 14-year-old brother of the victim.

Testimony of the two boys showed that the lights of Bolster's Twin Falls headed car were on at the time that McCarthy's automobile struck the stalled vehicle, then hit the driver.

McCarthy, 22, Twin Falls, lost control of his car and it careened into the highway on the north side of the road, they said.

Describe Brakes Stalled

Deputy Sheriff T. P. Hall, who investigated the accident, asserted that brake marks made by the stalled car could be located in the road five feet behind the point where the Bolster car was parked.

He said that the car that had been down was shoved about 17 feet, according to the deputy sheriff, McCarthy's vehicle, which was heavily damaged, probably because it ended up in the ditch.

It had battered right front fender, wheel and light and a mark on the windshield showed where a man's clothes had brushed across the glass, Hall stated. The Bolster automobile was nicked on the left rear fender and bumper and that tire was partially damaged, he indicated.

Hillbiker Disappears

A hitch hiker, named Daywain Hogue, who was riding with McCarthy at the time of the accident, disappeared from Twin Falls shortly after the deputy brought him to the city dump.

Hall declared that he found a partially-filled bottle of liquor in a ditch about 20 feet from the McCarthy car.

These four, the deputy sheriff, the doctor and the two boys were the only witnesses testifying at the inquest, which was attended by McCarthy.

The panel consisted of Fred S. Hudson, H. J. Reynolds, C. M. Zilkey, J. R. Moore, J. O. Wallgren, J. H. Markins, Hesse M. Williams, Walter McClain and Clyde Edminster.

Owners File Suit To Oust Renter

Complaining that, although Henry Marsh has occupied a tenant house on a farm which they purchased, he has failed to perform necessary labor on the farm, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Moore have filed an action in probate court requesting possession of the house and costs and disbursement of interest.

The complaint, filed by Attorney Frank L. Stephens, alleges that the Moores purchased the property in June, 1946, from Paul C. Baird, and that Marsh has been occupying the tenant structure since that time.

Beans Will Escape Damage by Heavy Rain, Growers Report

After a drizzling 45-inch rain, Magic Valley bean farmers Wednesday night pool-pooled rumors that the water would hurt local harvest. Although Jack P. Smith, county agent, declared that soaked bean pods might split open in hot sunlight after being soaked by the rain, causing partial loss of crops, he stated Wednesday night that no such instances have yet been reported.

Although part of his Great Northern bean crop has been cut and is waiting to be threshed, Harold Johnson, farmer southwest of Twin Falls, asserted that the rain will only delay the threshing for a few days until the crop dries out anew. He explained that this particular variety of bean is harder than garden beans and will withstand any frost save freezing. Another grower of Great Northern beans, Clyde A. Montgomery, west of this year's normal crop, but do little damage to the quality of the crop. Although reports released by AAA and elevator men in Idaho Falls claimed that farmers were leaving out wheat in the fields to rot for lack of storage space, Sanford averred that no such drastic step has been taken with this year's normal crop in Camas county. Because 85 per cent of the crop there has already been threshed and storage found for it, damage from the rain will be negligible, he declared. Only light, intermittent showers fell on Camas county Wednesday.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

LABOR—Labor day, 1946, found leaders of the workingman's organized movement in a fretful and frightened state of mind.

Despite the gains which they have achieved during the past year in the form of collective bargaining, higher wages and political power, they have not been able to consolidate these gains into a sense of commitment for the nation's $7,000,000,000 work for a living.

Although the United Mine Workers affiliated with the American Federation of Labor after an absence of ten years, it is still labor-front. The death of Sidney Hillman weakened the CIO, and that organization is torn by a battle between the conservative and communistic elements.

The influx of the "reds" into the ranks, as well as strikes which threatened to paralyze the nation, may still lead to a congressional crackdown at the next session of congress.

NEW—A new powerful national union may divide the field over future labor disputes and on and off capital hill.

The Confederated Union of America, which has organized anti-union labor relations, has been elected by the older organizations, recently held its first convention at Washington under the leadership of Don Amos, a stationer, engineer from Des Moines.

The CIO, which has a federal agency, is now laboring with the labor relations board, the wage stabilization board, the department of labor, the U. S. conciliation service and the War Relocation Authority.

The invaders demand equal recognition with the AFL and the CIO in all collective bargaining disputes.

Dr. Givens has not been given a seat on the official advisory board of the union.

Not pay employee victories do not seem as glorious as they once did, owing to the lack of confidence and the rising cost of living. Due-payers' delinquencies have been so numerous and widespread that even the American Automobile Association of America reports that its finances are in the red.

PRICES—It is symptomatic of top leaders' fear for the future that even the postwar period's revelation of the emptiness of the wage increases in the face of the inflation has not precipitated demands for a new wave of strikes. New disputes are always a last resort weapon, but the more far-reaching strategies are being used.

The reason lies in their estimate of the public and political temper. They figure that they can escape the fate of the CIO by using the Truman draft law if they put their shoulders to the reconstruction wheels in the months ahead.

They are making their pay raises more rigid while at the grocery store by seeking more rigid control of prices.

SUSPICION—In shifting from demands for more money to insistence on lower living costs, they believe they will have the public and legislative members of congress and the administration, with them rather than against them.

New evidence of a new restraint reflects the suspicion that certain elements of the movement, especially the radical CIO-ers, have hurt rather than helped the cause.

The Greens, Lewins and Reuthers are alive to warnings that, unless they curb both their excesses and their extremists, they may be shoved into the same category as the communists by the business of Franklin D. Roosevelt on the basis of the 1922-1923 depression.

CONTROL—The most significant development on the labor front during 1944-1946, or even since V-J day, is the demonstration that communists are not the only ones who pursue the "Moscow party" aim to get control of the movement for their own purposes.

These groups behaved, as orthodox unionists until Japan's surrender, laboring manfully to turn out workers as heroically to weaken the organization. In the opinion of more conservative leaders, the strike and the industrial control and the industrial might which enabled the U. S. to save the allies, including the Soviet, from destruction by the dictators.

WAR—It is now open war between American and communist elements within the house of labor. The communists are not the only ones who pursue the "Moscow party" aim to get control of the movement for their own purposes.

TEACHERS' PAY

One out of every six school children in this country will be the victim of an incompetent teacher during the coming year. That is the estimate of Dr. Willard E. Givens, executive secretary of the National Education association. The average parent might feel that Dr. Givens is conservative in his figure.

A principal reason for the large and rapidly increasing proportion of incompetent teachers, Dr. Givens says, is because we refuse to pay enough to get and keep good teachers.

School teaching has ceased to be an interim means of support for high school graduates waiting to be married. Today, even in the low grades, teaching demands professional training on top of reasonably adequate general education. The cost of becoming a teacher, in time and money, is enough so that the profession is adopted generally as a career, not a filler.

And yet, a teacher with college training, after years of faithful work in the schools, often earns less than youngsters who have not even completed the grades can get in a factory.

The situation is dramatized by the troubles of Norwalk, Conn., where 226 of the city's 236 public school teachers have returned unsigned contracts, and demand that a higher pay scale be negotiated by the board of education with the teachers' association.

The current scale ranges from $1,700 up to $3,200. The teachers want a minimum of $2,000 and a chance to work up to $4,600. The board of education says that this would cost $300,000, which for Norwalk would require a tax increase of around 37 per person, or about $20 for a family of three.

There are some small communities in which the present Norwalk scale would represent a big income. Without passing judgment on the Connecticut situation, even by inference, it can be said that this is not true for Norwalk in the New York suburban area where living costs are high and small town scales cannot be applied.

Teaching is not an easy job. Given the basic education, the technical training, the willingness to keep always learning herself, the teacher must have very rare attributes: the ability to pass on what she knows; the must have a world of patience, perseverance, imagination, sympathy, tact.

Not all teachers have all these, but all good ones do. The ones who lack one or more of these attributes are part of the problem for not attracting and keeping the best in our schools.

We have been buying teachers' equipment, training and ability for peanuts, in most communities, because some folks like to teach, like to be with children like the working conditions, enjoy the prestige that attaches to their job particularly in small communities.

But when inflated living costs outstrip pegged salaries, when the teacher becomes convinced that he or she can live better on a factory wage than on school salary, we lose our best teachers. In justice to our children, it is time we decided what we are going to do about the situation.

SHE DID SWIM

Naval etiquette presumably would not permit Vice Admiral Blandy to revive the almost forgotten vaudeville catch question that seemed so funny when "Baron Munchausen" first coined it: "Yes you dere, Blandy?"

First Admiral Blandy is, of course, Admiral Blandy's superior. So when Munchausen said that Pig No. 311 never was on a Bikini target ship at all, the junior felt impelled to temper his defense of that famous porker. She was the Jap girl, he says positively, and after the Jap girl was sunk by atom bomb Baker the lady did swim—or keep afloat—at least four hours until she was picked up.

Thus another atomic controversy has been settled. A pig can swim. So there.

PER CAPITA

We have been pondering the department of commerce statement that the per capita income in this country last year reached the all-time high of $1,150.

Per capita means "per head" or "for each person." So the department of commerce is not saying that your family, if it was average, had $1,150 last year. We are told that you had $1,150 for yourself, $1,150 for your wife, $1,150 for your high school son and 1,150 for your grade school daughter.

If you weren't below average, your family of four (which isn't far from the national average) had $4,600 income last year. And a family of three, which is a bit under the national average, had $3,450.

What, then, have we been wondering, has become of that vast majority that has to live on somewhere around $2,000 a year for the whole family?

Six saxophones stolen in a Kansas town, were recovered by police. Law enforcement gets worse and worse!

NEW YORK—The memoirs of William P. Peger, who held office and enjoyed social courtesies which made him a favorite of the New York Yankees, will be published by the New York Times.

BOB HOPE

Professional football got off to a flying start here in Hollywood when Don Ameche's Los Angeles Rams played the New York Yankees at the Glendale stadium.

The opening game was a grand success, with all the movie stars present to cheer Ameche's boys.

That Don Ameche certainly was a star, as he was in the second quarter his boys ran onto the field all carrying a ball. The coach of the Yankees took one look and screamed, "I've gads . . . what's he invented now?" It was very exciting, especially when Don started giving signals from the bench by telephone.

His quarterback kept yelling, "Wrong number!" Yes, that was the case.

Naturally, the game was conducted a little differently from the one in the east. Out here in sunny California the players don't have to wear up going in . . . they have mudspoons under their benches.

Admittedly, the game was not only her guest but the British prime minister.

ANSWER TO THE FANS

Dear Folks:

I note in your column yesterday that you had three different requests were made for you to print pictures of many Cowboy players, including a group picture of the team.

What with newspaper being what it is, I know you T-N folks have the space to comply with those requests even though you want to, but—have the answer for your constituents.

In the very nice printed program for "Player appreciation night" next Monday, Sept. 11, there are full page pictures of each Cowboy player. And there is, in addition, a large group picture of the team.

Fans can buy that program, get all the pictures they want, and help out in this plan to show our appreciation to the boys. See you, and your constituents, out at the game Monday night.

Yours truly, Don Ameche

WHO DONE IT?

The Agricultural Oddity department says the filling system slipped and will we please find out who brought in some "cucumber swans" from Prior.

Whoever brought 'em in, please send us your name and will give same to the A. O. editor. Will you send a picture of said cucumber swans.

FAMOUS LAST LINE

And there goes our next congressman—or maybe it'll be the other guy!

THE GENTLEMAN IN THE THIRD ROW

It is at that time only a better lot until he has hit the ball is a "batter."

Even then you have room for argument because some contend that he is not a batter until he has been credited with a hit, is actually a "batter."

LABOR—Labor day, 1946, found leaders of the workingman's organized movement in a fretful and frightened state of mind.

Despite the gains which they have achieved during the past year in the form of collective bargaining, higher wages and political power, they have not been able to consolidate these gains into a sense of commitment for the nation's $7,000,000,000 work for a living.

Although the United Mine Workers affiliated with the American Federation of Labor after an absence of ten years, it is still labor-front. The death of Sidney Hillman weakened the CIO, and that organization is torn by a battle between the conservative and communistic elements.

The influx of the "reds" into the ranks, as well as strikes which threatened to paralyze the nation, may still lead to a congressional crackdown at the next session of congress.

NEW—A new powerful national union may divide the field over future labor disputes and on and off capital hill.

The Confederated Union of America, which has organized anti-union labor relations, has been elected by the older organizations, recently held its first convention at Washington under the leadership of Don Amos, a stationer, engineer from Des Moines.

The CIO, which has a federal agency, is now laboring with the labor relations board, the wage stabilization board, the department of labor, the U. S. conciliation service and the War Relocation Authority.

The invaders demand equal recognition with the AFL and the CIO in all collective bargaining disputes.

Dr. Givens has not been given a seat on the official advisory board of the union.

Not pay employee victories do not seem as glorious as they once did, owing to the lack of confidence and the rising cost of living. Due-payers' delinquencies have been so numerous and widespread that even the American Automobile Association of America reports that its finances are in the red.

PRICES—It is symptomatic of top leaders' fear for the future that even the postwar period's revelation of the emptiness of the wage increases in the face of the inflation has not precipitated demands for a new wave of strikes. New disputes are always a last resort weapon, but the more far-reaching strategies are being used.

The reason lies in their estimate of the public and political temper. They figure that they can escape the fate of the CIO by using the Truman draft law if they put their shoulders to the reconstruction wheels in the months ahead.

They are making their pay raises more rigid while at the grocery store by seeking more rigid control of prices.

SUSPICION—In shifting from demands for more money to insistence on lower living costs, they believe they will have the public and legislative members of congress and the administration, with them rather than against them.

New evidence of a new restraint reflects the suspicion that certain elements of the movement, especially the radical CIO-ers, have hurt rather than helped the cause.

The Greens, Lewins and Reuthers are alive to warnings that, unless they curb both their excesses and their extremists, they may be shoved into the same category as the communists by the business of Franklin D. Roosevelt on the basis of the 1922-1923 depression.

CONTROL—The most significant development on the labor front during 1944-1946, or even since V-J day, is the demonstration that communists are not the only ones who pursue the "Moscow party" aim to get control of the movement for their own purposes.

These groups behaved, as orthodox unionists until Japan's surrender, laboring manfully to turn out workers as heroically to weaken the organization. In the opinion of more conservative leaders, the strike and the industrial control and the industrial might which enabled the U. S. to save the allies, including the Soviet, from destruction by the dictators.

WAR—It is now open war between American and communist elements within the house of labor. The communists are not the only ones who pursue the "Moscow party" aim to get control of the movement for their own purposes.

Not pay employee victories do not seem as glorious as they once did, owing to the lack of confidence and the rising cost of living. Due-payers' delinquencies have been so numerous and widespread that even the American Automobile Association of America reports that its finances are in the red.

PRICES—It is symptomatic of top leaders' fear for the future that even the postwar period's revelation of the emptiness of the wage increases in the face of the inflation has not precipitated demands for a new wave of strikes. New disputes are always a last resort weapon, but the more far-reaching strategies are being used.

The reason lies in their estimate of the public and political temper. They figure that they can escape the fate of the CIO by using the Truman draft law if they put their shoulders to the reconstruction wheels in the months ahead.

They are making their pay raises more rigid while at the grocery store by seeking more rigid control of prices.

SUSPICION—In shifting from demands for more money to insistence on lower living costs, they believe they will have the public and legislative members of congress and the administration, with them rather than against them.

New evidence of a new restraint reflects the suspicion that certain elements of the movement, especially the radical CIO-ers, have hurt rather than helped the cause.

The Greens, Lewins and Reuthers are alive to warnings that, unless they curb both their excesses and their extremists, they may be shoved into the same category as the communists by the business of Franklin D. Roosevelt on the basis of the 1922-1923 depression.

CONTROL—The most significant development on the labor front during 1944-1946, or even since V-J day, is the demonstration that communists are not the only ones who pursue the "Moscow party" aim to get control of the movement for their own purposes.

These groups behaved, as orthodox unionists until Japan's surrender, laboring manfully to turn out workers as heroically to weaken the organization. In the opinion of more conservative leaders, the strike and the industrial control and the industrial might which enabled the U. S. to save the allies, including the Soviet, from destruction by the dictators.

WAR—It is now open war between American and communist elements within the house of labor. The communists are not the only ones who pursue the "Moscow party" aim to get control of the movement for their own purposes.

These groups behaved, as orthodox unionists until Japan's surrender, laboring manfully to turn out workers as heroically to weaken the organization. In the opinion of more conservative leaders, the strike and the industrial control and the industrial might which enabled the U. S. to save the allies, including the Soviet, from destruction by the dictators.

WHIRLIGIG

LABOR—Labor day, 1946, found leaders of the workingman's organized movement in a fretful and frightened state of mind.

Despite the gains which they have achieved during the past year in the form of collective bargaining, higher wages and political power, they have not been able to consolidate these gains into a sense of commitment for the nation's $7,000,000,000 work for a living.

Although the United Mine Workers affiliated with the American Federation of Labor after an absence of ten years, it is still labor-front. The death of Sidney Hillman weakened the CIO, and that organization is torn by a battle between the conservative and communistic elements.

The influx of the "reds" into the ranks, as well as strikes which threatened to paralyze the nation, may still lead to a congressional crackdown at the next session of congress.

NEW—A new powerful national union may divide the field over future labor disputes and on and off capital hill.

The Confederated Union of America, which has organized anti-union labor relations, has been elected by the older organizations, recently held its first convention at Washington under the leadership of Don Amos, a stationer, engineer from Des Moines.

The CIO, which has a federal agency, is now laboring with the labor relations board, the wage stabilization board, the department of labor, the U. S. conciliation service and the War Relocation Authority.

Pioneer Spirit Need Cited by Dudley Swim

ALBION, Sept. 5 — Main speaker at the silver anniversary meeting of 200 Idaho pioneers, the "Tera", yesterday was H. Dudley Swim, national vice-commander of the Legion, Twin Falls.

Emphasizing the need of the pioneering spirit today in his talk in the Normal school auditorium, Swim pointed out the necessity of injecting a forward-looking attitude into labor-relations and community affairs.

He expressed the hope that further improvements in railroad service may soon be obtained for Magic Valley and more adequate trunk-line telephone service.

The meeting was called to order by President Hiram B. Lewis, Declo. The group sang "America" and the invocation was offered by Frank Critchfield, Oakley. After a reading by Mrs. Lottie Bach, Oakley, a women's trio sang.

Anti-Liquor Talk Given at School

Wayward H. Johnson, world traveler, author and playwright, spoke to Junior and senior high assemblies Wednesday. His topic was "How Important is it of a Second?" a speech on the influence of alcohol on the mind. He stressed the importance of realizing that many accidents of today are caused by drivers who drink.

Johnson, who is working under the extension department of the Methodist church, is traveling through the United States presenting drama at churches and speaking at high schools.

Sunday, Sept. 8, Johnson is speaking at the Methodist church at 11 a. m. on "America's Greatest Peril." Sunday night his drama, "The Criminal," will be presented at a church in Buhl. This drama will be enacted in Buhl Monday night and in American Falls Tuesday.

Just a Few of These Will Fill a Sack

These hefty Idaho potatoes are from the farm of Homer F. Ramseyer two miles north of Filer. Weighing about two pounds apiece, this kind of seed is the type for which Idaho is famous. Ramseyer believes that his 80 acres of potatoes will average 540 sacks in the car, and in one day 2,161 sacks were dug and loaded, which may be some kind of a record. Digging is being done with a one-row digger, and Ramseyer and his son, Duane, are both joining in on the digging. (Staff photo-engraving)

C. of C. Fund Drive Nearly $18,000 Here

A total of $17,892.50 has been subscribed to the Chamber of Commerce for membership dues and activity fund subscriptions. It was announced at a banquet last night closing the personal contact drive of the campaign.

In the drive, $6,287.50 was subscribed in the last 10 days.

V. E. (Bill) Nitschke, one of the team captains, pointed out at the banquet the need for an educational and promotional program to sell the Chamber of Commerce to Twin Falls merchants.

The drive fell $1,697.50 short of the $19,590 budgeted the directors, but chamber officials last night were confident that late returns would make the drive "over the top."

About $400 in merchandise was given out to the team workers at the banquet.

The team of John Yapple netted the highest subscription total with 23 members and $947.50. Other team totals were Herbert R. West, 17 members, $612.50; Jewell Ahlin, 12 members, $500; Homer Burnett, 18 members, $877.50; Phil Caragli, 21 members, $645; O. J. Bothe, 16 members, $385; Nitschke, 20 members, $923.50; Orlo Iliff, 16 members, $515; Harold Woolley, 16 members, $582.50 and Hugh Phillips, 13 members, $310.

Already received by mail was $10,340, and pledges for more subscriptions totaled $1,065, according to James A. Sprague, secretary-manager.

Jerome Camp Lists Change In Personnel

JEROME, Sept. 5 — Frank Ordas, Twin Falls, began duty today as placement man at the Jerome farm labor camp. He replaces Dan Rogers whom the extension service has advanced to supervisor of farm labor in Jerome county.

Ordas, according to Rogers, is experienced in handling labor. He is an ex-serviceman. He will continue to reside in Twin Falls and drive to and from Jerome.

Rogers, in the new capacity of supervisor, stated that all growers and association members are to refer their orders either to Ordas at the Jerome labor camp or to C. C. Bure at the Hazelton labor camp.

JEROME, Sept. 5 — Sign up for southern white labor has been postponed until Monday and Tuesday.

Two Boys Finding Tractor, Receive Reward of $150

JEROME, Sept. 5 — Two laughing schoolboys stood to be $150 richer today because they poked around an abandoned canal south of Burley Tuesday and literally unearthed a brand new tractor that was stolen from W. W. Wilson's farm near here last April 20.

The tractor was layered with weeds and dirt as were a pickup truck and hay-baler discovered nearby by the boys and identified by investigating officers as vehicles taken from Tremonton, Utah.

Wilson was so pleased with the return of his tractor that he posted $150 at the Burley sheriff's office to be given to the two boys.

Sheriff Lee B. Johnson, who accompanied Wilson to identify the tractor, declared that it was undamaged and in good condition. Apparently the ditch had been used for face-lifting jobs on stolen automobiles. If paint drippings thereabouts are any indication, Johnson averred.

2 Escape in Auto Upset Near Curry

Two persons narrowly escaped injury when the car in which they were riding went out of control and turned over twice on U. S. highway 30 near the Curry school at 8:30 p. m. yesterday.

Deputy Sheriff Jim Benham and Ed Hall said the driver of the vehicle was Robert B. Farnham, 31, who stated his machine dropped down off the edge of the pavement at a point where gravel had been removed, leaving a "drop" of approximately 12 inches.

Farnham said he lost control and the car overturned twice, entering the ditch and striking a telephone pole. A passenger with Farnham was not identified by the officers. The car was "badly damaged," their report stated.

YWCA Drive
 The Twin Falls YWCA has set 300 new members as a goal for the membership drive in the fall. The drive is being led by Mrs. Bernard Martin, chairman.

15 women composing the YWCA board have pledged individual to acquire a minimum of 10 new members. Mrs. B. G. McCall is president of the board. There are 14 members who compose the membership committee, which is headed by Mrs. Martin.

Members of the Twin Falls community are urged to back the drive in order to insure the strength of the Twin Falls YWCA and enlarge its present program. Mrs. Martin stated.

She pointed out that the YWCA promotes and sponsors the junior and senior high school girls, young business women, and young matrons. There are 31 girls who belong and meetings of the various clubs are held twice each month.

Mrs. Martin added that members benefit by participating in recreational, cultural and civic activities. There were 21 high school girls and one business girls' club that attended the leadership conferences this summer.

Board members said that many other young people have been reached through special activities sponsored by the organization.

MAGIC with SPERRY PANCAKE & WAFFLE FLOUR

MAKE A DIME WALK
 Your family will marvel at your cleverness. Just try it! Marvel over the ease with which you turn out real old-fashioned sour cream buttermilk hotcakes (5 minutes from package to plate) with Sperry Pancake & Waffle Flour. Yes, it's as simple as adding liquid to the Sperry Mix to prepare Sperry hotcakes and waffles!

PUT A SILVER DOLLAR THROUGH A QUARTER-SIZE HOLE
 It can be done! It's simply a matter of "knowing" the kind of "know-how" Sperry used in blending 7 specialized pancake ingredients (including country-churned buttermilk and a special grind of corn called corn meal) to give you those marvelous hotcakes you get every time with Sperry Pancake and Waffle Flour. See #2 in Magic Answer Box below.

A PACKAGE OF PLENTY
 Here's real baking sleight-of-hand! Coffee cake, muffins, dumplings, pancakes and waffles—all made the quick and easy way with Sperry Pancake & Waffle Flour. Recipes on every package.

SPERRY'S MAGIC ANSWER BOX

1. To remove dime from under a glass supported on 2 pennies—without touching the dime or glass—scratch tablecloth with wave about 2 inches from glass. Dime will slip under glass and "walk" toward you.

2. Make a hole the size of a quarter in center of paper. Fold paper from top to bottom so hole forms 1/4 circle; then from left to right so hole forms 1/2 circle. Unfold and put dollar through hole. Creases enable paper to stretch without tearing.
