A series of four concert programs climaxed by the appearance of the Trapp family singers here next April 7 was lined up by the executive committee and board of directors of the Magic Valley Community Council association here Saturday night.

Sawmills Put on Priorities By Expediter

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 (AP)—House Expediter William W. Way announced tonight that lumber priorities will be extended to cover sawmills and mill operations. The action, effective Nov. 1, will require sawmills to obtain priorities to serve on the sawmills the "HIT" or housing priority lumber is handed to them by the builder of a veteran's home.

Agreement that such action is necessary to assure that more lumber will flow into housing has been reached by the national housing agency and the War Relocation Administration, Way said.

Way said he has declared their belief that too much lumber is needed in the housing drive, and has been seeking industry and government cooperation to speed up the lumber mill.

Simultaneously, Way refused to request that the request for Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York for a "super priority" on lumber be granted. He said the governor termed essential to completion of that state's own housing program.

The NIA director told Dewey by letter that the housing shortage is a national problem, and that he would come home and strike her. After their separation, he said, he had to ask him to "slow down" two weeks ago he not only refused her meat but struck her for the first time in 10 years.

Klein was awarded a divorce on grounds of cruelty.

One Way of Fighting Newsprint Shortage

By JOHN BROSNAN

As the mother of invention, necessity has produced some wondrous goings on at the Times-News plant this past week so that readers would have their papers today, despite a severe newsprint shortage.

When almost all of the newsprint, upon which the Times-News is printed on the big rotary press, was delayed by the maritime strike and other factors, it became evident that something drastic would have to be done.

The management went into a huddle and came up with the solution of printing a portion of the Sunday paper on what is known as the flat-bed press, a part of the equipment in the Times-News commercial or "job" printing department.

As a supply of 23 by 35-inch flat newsprint was on hand in the commercial printing department, the only obstacle left was that the flat-bed press is not designed for speed, which is a paramount feature of modern tubular press that prints, folds and delivers to the mail-room in big rolls of newspaper.

To overcome this handicap, the editorial department prepared "copy" on subjects in which there was no time element involved and got it into the hands of the printer early last week.

This was none too soon, as shown by what the commercial printing department went through after that.

It took 11 hours on what is known as "make-ready." This is a process automatically accomplished when the press is set up for turning them into cylinders for printing on the rotary press.

After that the work really started. The Manager Harry O'Halloran and his print shop crew.

As the flat-bed press can only run off between 1,000 and 1,500 copies on one side per hour, it took around 40 hours to print both sides of the four-page supplement.

Included in today's Times-News, the heavy work in running the flat-bed press was done by Harry (Buddy) Heile, who better known as the home run king.

Each of the 20,000 copies that was hand-fed into the press twice to create impressions on both sides, and Heile and Dornick are familiar with the contents of that particular supplement after watching it go by hour after hour.

Then, Al Westergren, circulation manager, also contributed his stint in making the project possible, as it took 100 man hours to fold the supplements after they had been printed.

Now, just for contrast, a check-up with one of the pressmen, Pete Standley, who runs the "tube" press as he calls it, showed that the tube press can turn out 20,000 copies, printed, folded and ready for mailing, in less than 45 minutes.

Need we mention that everyone, and particularly the commercial printing department, will be most glad when the newspaper shortage is a thing of the past?

Twin Falls Hen Turns Out Eggs Striped Brown

Here's something odd in oddities, Mrs. Theo Gehle, route one, Twin Falls, has a Red Hampshire hen, which consistently turns out striped eggs.

When Mrs. Gehle ran across the first of these eggs she didn't think much of it, but when they kept coming, she figured it was time to do something about it. It was brought a box of them to the editor of the Times-News, who said he had seen several brown-striped eggs before, but never one so striped.

Another hen produces occasionally a different type of egg which has an extremely rough shell, but she isn't as consistent as the striped egg layer.

Greater Supplies Of Meat Forecast In 2 to 4 Weeks

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 (AP)—The prospect of more meat within two to four weeks was forecast today by Geoffrey Baker, OPA deputy administrator, as Republican promised their own investigation to find out what has become of the nation's stocks of chops.

"There is good reason to expect improved supplies in both beef and pork beginning with the latter part of October," Baker said in a radio talk.

But the Republican congressional food study committee, headed by Rep. Thomas A. Jenkins of Ohio, took a less optimistic view.

"There is a growing suspicion in the minds of many consumers," Jenkins said in a statement here, "that the government's interference with the livestock and meat industry has so demoralized this great source of food that we are on the verge of an actual meat scarcity, which would provide an excuse for government action."

Full Rans Dues Baker said he based his belief that the meat shortage will ease up in the next two to four weeks on expectations that fall runs of cattle and hogs will get under way soon.

"As to the arguments of critics that restoration of price control after the OPA official said that restoration of price control on meat does not reduce the total supply until the end of the short supply period."

Increase Seen "On the contrary, it should actually increase the total amount. With price control, the meat and ranchers will be able to plan for better herds and livestock."

U. N. Decision Postponed on Danube Issue

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., Sept. 28 (AP)—The United Nations economic and social council postponed a decision today on the controversial issue of Danubian freedom of navigation after the Soviet Union declared that it had no immediate intention of opening the Danube to free navigation between the Soviet and American occupation zones. In closing a two-day debate, Chairman Andrej Gromyko of Yugoslavia announced that a decision would be postponed until next week. This action was interpreted as a move designed to give some delegates an opportunity to obtain new instructions from their governments. A few minutes earlier Peru submitted a proposal to limit the council's deliberations to the issue of the Danube and Russia which would interfere in the internal affairs of countries involved in traffic on the Danube. Previously the Soviet served notice on the U.S. that military measures in the Danubian area were of primary importance and asserted that changes of measures taken by Soviet military authorities in the Russian occupation zone are not possible. The Soviet declaration was made as a big split in the council developed over a U.S. proposal to convene a second session of the council in Geneva to resolve problems now outstanding the resumption of international traffic on the Danube.

Albion Beats Boise Junior College 7-0 by Blocking Kick

BOISE, Sept. 28.—The quick-charging Panther line paved the way for a 7 to 0 win for Albion State Normal when they charged through Boise Junior college to block an attempted kick on the Broncos' 20-yard line in the game played here Friday night.

The break came early in the first quarter of the contest, and two plays later, Wes Bell, Albion halfback, kicked off to carry the ball 118 yards to the only touchdown of the bruising game. A place-kick split the goal posts for the conversion.

Boise couldn't gain and attempted a place-kick. It was then that the entire Albion line broke through to block the punt and recover on the 20-yard line. The game followed.

Bell was taken from the game in the third quarter after he was injured. Early in the fourth period, Boise penetrated to the Albion 20 yard line, but a fourth down pass interception put an end to the drive.

With only second down, Boise's Wallace attempted a short pass, which was intercepted by Shephard, Boise center, on the 50-yard line. Shephard sprinted down the sidelines for the Albion goal line but was knocked out of bounds.

The Panther line, led by the sun was fired to end the battle.

On the strength of his batting and fielding record, Lowe was voted a member of the northern division team for the 1946 all-star game.

The talented shortstop was purchased by the Cubs from Augustus, Jr. in the Sally league, another Yankee farm. He played for Denver in the old Western league, Norfolk in Piedmont league and Augusta.

President Maury Deorr said the Cowboys had no other sales in prospect for the present. However, some of the 1946 squad may be "traded" by higher classification clubs in the Yankee system in December.

Costly Flood Fatal to Six; Seven Missing

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Sept. 28.—The crest of the death-dealing, destructive flood that left six known dead and seven persons missing here rolled south toward the Gulf of Mexico today.

The United States weather bureau warned lowland residents along the course of the winding San Antonio river to evacuate to higher ground.

The high water swept through San Antonio at a flash flood late Thursday night and early yesterday.

The weather bureau expected the flood's crest to flatten as it spread over the widening river valley.

San Antonio faced a major cleanup and rehabilitation problem. Dr. Dudley A. Reekie, city health director, urged residents of water-logged areas to take special sanitary precautions.

Physical damage to buildings, streets, household furnishings, and store stocks in San Antonio was variously estimated at $1,000,000 to $10,000,000. Water poured into the basements of many downtown business buildings.

Highways from the north and west were open. Roads to the south and southwest were for the most part blocked.

56 Plants in West Already Reconverted

By WILLIAM E. POWELL
AP Special Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 (AP)—In the year since V-J day, the job of beating swords into plowshares has gotten pretty well under way in the western states.

Of 126 industrial plants in that area, turned over to the war assets administration, 54 have been disposed of by sale or lease. Deconversion is going on constantly for scores of others.

In many respects, it has been a job for men with imagination—the sellers and buyers—and the shape of some of the “plowshares” is interesting.

Here's Variety
The big former Vallecito Aircraft plant at San Diego, Calif., for instance, has been converted into a motor company, a civil center, a bakery, an air conditioning machine plant, a service equipment plant and the San Diego beach club.

Another huge war plant, Buick-Magnesium near Las Vegas, Nev., is the home of plants for treatment of lunatics, three chemical plants, a motion picture studio and a jewelry manufacturing operation.

Former tank corps plant at Glendale, Calif., is manufacturing cameras.

More often than not, however, the plants have been taken over for the purpose for which they were designed, sometimes by the war assets operators. Many of the new steel and aluminum plants that held so much hope for the wartime west, are in private hands, contributing a good share to the general reconversion program.

Leased Two
Kaiser-Franzer corporation leased a Douglas plant at Long Beach, Calif., and an aluminum plant at Trentwood, Wash., for use in its new automobile manufacturing concern.

A chrome ore camp at Columbus, Mont., is now a logging camp for students of Billings Polytechnic, Ore., plant which turned out radio crystals has been sold to the laboratory of the company for manufacture of pharmaceuticals.

A hydraulic pump plant at Seattle is now producing wood-working machinery.

The only Idaho property on its way to a fertilizer plant—was sold to J. B. Simplot, its war-time operator. Three mining properties in Montana still up for sale, and one processing plant in Nevada.

In Utah, two plants, the $200,000, one for processing steel, the other for processing aluminum, have been sold, out of a total of 11.

In Washington state eight out of 10 plants have been placed in private hands and, in Wyoming, an aircraft modification plant and an refinery are still on the market.

Outfit purchased the automobile 24 years ago, drove it only a few months and then put it under canvas in a garage. Dubrow heard about the car a few months ago and, after much persuasion, closed the deal.

Polar Explorer Hints At Uranium Deposit
ADELAIDE, Sept. 28 (AP)—The Australian polar explorer, Sir Douglas Mawson, has expressed the belief that Antarctica contains great deposits of uranium, the vital metal in atomic research.

Sir Douglas, addressing the congress of the Australian and New Zealand association for the Advancement of Science, declared vast areas of Antarctica resembled the uranium-bearing districts of Arctic Canada. He added that the ice-free and snow-free mountains of Antarctica probably also contained great quantities of other raw materials.

Plan U. of I. Homecoming

Discussing plans for the University of Idaho's "biggest homecoming event" are these three students from Twin Falls. Pictured from left to right, they are: Charles Glib, chairman of homecoming; Earl Hayes, committee member in charge of campus decorations; and Dick Saladay, who has charge of the ticket sale.

The homecoming will be held Oct. 26, when the University of Oregon and the Idaho Vandals play a Pacific coast conference football game in Moscow. (Staff engraving)

Washington Letter

BY JOHN T. DAY

I was quite surprised to meet congressional aspirant Pete Leutwiler here in Washington last week. He informs me that during his conversation with Secretary Wallace he got a lot of questions, but that Mr. Wallace is bi-lingual and not only that, we feel that he should study Russian also.

Stacking of surprises, you may have one for the asking when your congressional candidates come through on their stump rounds. Just ask them how many Idahoans they have employed in their Washington offices. Regardless of the nice things I've said and will continue to say about our Idaho delegates, I have a philosophy on this matter and if your man won't give you the facts I'll be more than happy to do so.

It is particularly galling to run into something like this yesterday. I was told by a certain publicity man that I should forget about getting this letter on Ozzett and Phil because Ozzett was a dead issue and you folks wouldn't care about a first district congressman. Well, I have my reasons for saying that he is wrong and this is that he is a professional publicity man.

If you know one of them you will probably look me up, if not, just take a look at the next sidebar marker you see and ask him to tell you about your town. He will be a typical example of the type I'm referring to—there is more to make a big noise, and most important, he has never seen your town before and the answer is true of the publicity plunger who has never seen the state he represents.

In talking to our Idahoans here I find that there is no small amount of wonderment about Ozzett's loss in the primary. I have my reasons for saying that he is wrong and this is that he is a professional publicity man.

Proof of his aptitude in the silver fight came recently in his victory over the powerful silver manufacturing lobby.

Proving to committees that the price of manufactured silver articles usually exceeded five times the price of the silver itself, while then proving that the costly design on such silverware could be equalled and often excelled by "dime store" products.

A diligent worker, he has left Washington after an extra month in the job aid in the silver fight for Idaho needs. They were the Paragard and UNRRA potato purchases. In a recent conference with Director La Guardia, he sought a committee on commerce where his activities were notable, particularly in the silver and flood control. This item has been closely under consideration by the committee and subcommittee. He was instrumental in obtaining such measures as the $10,000 program along the Boise river project. The Hite-Roberts, Lucky Peak, Anderson Dam and Minidoka projects have had his constant attention and support.

Again on irrigation he began work early this year to see that Idaho would receive much needed allotments of such things as canals for dams and such equipment as was needed to carry Idaho's farming industry through the year.

Much-needed railway cars have been shipped to Idaho through Ozzett's efforts. Temporary housing, state or federal retention of Farrington, retention of UNRRA, a qualified grant for home use, and surplus stock sales for veterans, are a few of the projects fought for and won by Ozzett's work and support.

He found time to present such measures as the noxious weed control and land grant college prospecting course bills and presented an amendment to the deficiency bill to aid reclamation work.

If we conclude from Ozzett's defeat that he is a dead political issue, I think we can also conclude that the above facts make his record a very live measure for future surveys of his successor's work.

New for a short note on the man that according to "publicity" you southern Idaho folks wouldn't be interested in.

Representative White is a man who broke land in Idaho and grew up with the 20th century Gem of the Mountains. A farmer and a miner, he divides his time between both on matters that effect them. He has a philosophy on this matter and if your man won't give you the facts I'll be more than happy to do so.

Sugar Dearth End Expected During 1947

By S. BURTON HEATH

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 (NEA)—The sugar shortage is here for the remainder of the 1946 season. Both governmental and private experts agree that the sugar ration you now have is all that you can hope for until next spring.

But here's some good news. You've waited since the spring of 1942, and time after time you have imagined that a treat for your aching sweet tooth was just around the corner. At last it looks as though you were right.

Prospects Good
Insiders say that by April of 1947 there ought to be a substantial improvement in the sugar supply that should be reflected in more liberal rationing. And before the end of next year—perhaps about the coming Oct. 26, when the Idaho Vandals play a Pacific coast conference football game in Moscow. (Staff engraving)

And before the end of next year—perhaps about the coming Oct. 26, when the Idaho Vandals play a Pacific coast conference football game in Moscow. (Staff engraving)

If the raising, harvesting and processing of cane and the refining of sugar is not handicapped by too many strikes, it should be a matter of time before the sugar supply is back to normal.

Thinking in Vacuum
A great deal of mystification about the sugar situation is due to the old American custom of thinking about their country in a vacuum. It is reflected in a question which sounds about like this:

"Now that the war is over and we have plenty of ships, why can't we get all the sugar we want? Cuba produced more than half again as much as before Pearl Harbor, and Hawaii and Puerto Rico almost as much. They more than make up for the Philippines. There ought not to be any sugar shortage."

If the United States did live in an economic vacuum with Cuba as a sweet satellite, there needn't be any sugar shortage now. The United States (the continent, Hawaii, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands) plus Cuba produced almost a million tons more sugar for the 1945-46 year than in the last pre-war year, and the naturally offsets the fact that the Philippines rate in the dehydrated potato price, which is nearly double the old offer and which can easily be handled under the appropriation and law.

Idaho, which has the major portion of its area in forest and public land and the rest in use by agriculture and mining, could use more men like Compton White.

Outstanding 4-H Members Named In Gooding Area

GOODING, Sept. 28—These 26 members of Gooding county 4-H clubs received outstanding recognition at the Gooding county fair.

Shirley Edholm, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Edholm, was named outstanding club member for the county. A sophomore in the Gooding high school, she won blue ribbons in lamb, canning and sewing at the fair. She was also named outstanding in division III clothing.

Shirley and Cecilia White and Carolyn Edholm won first place in district judging in home economics at Piler. Mrs. Edholm won a special award given by the Jerome Cooperative creamery.

Kenneth Kornier, 15, son of John Kornier, was chosen outstanding club member in livestock for the county, winning championships in fitting and showing in the sheep division at the district fair at Piler.

He will receive a 4-H short course scholarship as a special award given by the Jerome Creamery. Just as he took first on the livestock judging team at the Piler fair with Thelma and Zola, he will receive a 4-H short course at the Wendell high school by the Gooding seed company.

County Line Fails To Halt Marriage

FLORA, Ill., Sept. 28 (AP)—Love and Mrs. O. E. Cornett laughed at mere man's boundaries in the delight of young lovers.

Edna Young of Rantoul, Ill., and Ruth Nelson of Pontiac, Ill., asked the Flora minister to marry them, but were dissuaded when he told them he couldn't honor their license from an adjoining county.

The sympathetic minister led the couple to a spot just across the county line and performed the ceremony beneath the boughs of a big tree.

They were put out of business by the reason that we still are short of sugar is because this country and more than 20 other are sharing the sweetness with the rest of the world. And the world supply is in bad shape.

The present stockpile, or backlog, in this country is described as being fairly good. But it can be disclosed now that it would be considerably better if we had not been forced to divert some 300,000 pounds of sugar from the family table in mid-1944 to make synthetic rubber so that the army could have tires for the invasion of Europe.

British Propose Ice Cream Laws

HARPENDEN, England, Sept. 28 (AP)—The urban district council here has adopted American standards of ice cream production and distribution in proposals to the ministry of health.

A recent outbreak of typhoid in Wales was traced to contaminated ice cream.

The council is proposing that ice cream contain minimums of eight per cent milk fats, 10 per cent milk solids (non-fats) and 36 per cent total solids. It wants pasteurization of the mix and a bacteriological standard.

The council proposes also that ice cream be subject to control by the ministry of health and that it be wrapped to avoid contamination.

U. of I. Will Shift Plan of Registration

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow, Sept. 28.—Complete revision of the University of Idaho's registration procedure is contemplated before the second semester, announced President J. E. Buchanan at the close of the regular three-day registration period. The new system is being developed to handle in excess of three thousand students in three days, he indicated. Eighty over 3,000 students were able to register during this regular period, which ended at noon Saturday. Although this total exceeds the previous all-time fall enrollment total of 2,822, some 400 to 500 students are yet to enroll. A heavy registration next week was apparent.

300 Didn't Show

"We are holding over 300 permits to register for students who did not show up for the regular registration," the registrar announced. "A hundred veterans were asked to defer their registration a week because their quarters were not ready. Twenty-five students working as carpenters have deferred registration privileges. Graduate students, however, at 100 this year, always register late."

The long registration line, one of which extended to the engineering building, scared out many students, making them start to wait until next week and pay the $2 late registration fee rather than "swat the long line with the cane," he said.

Will Visit Others

President Buchanan indicated that as soon as the registration rush is over, Registrar DuSault will visit other universities in the northwest to study their procedures and return to a complete analysis of the Idaho registration plan. "With our larger enrollment it may be necessary to decentralize registration as is done in the larger schools so that many registration operations may go on simultaneously," the president announced.

Even with the swamped registration machinery and the huge registration in prospect for next week, the three-day enrollment period for the first semester closed yesterday with 581 already enrolled, the college's 200th anniversary high figures, with 604, is up about 150 from its previous mark. The college has been dropping to less than 100 students during the first semester, but the first large tabulation of enrollment divisions will be made at the end of next week.

This Judge Needs a Special Case He Has So Many Degrees

By LORAYNE ORTON SMITH

Meet the gentleman with probably more degrees and honorary titles than anyone else in Magic Valley. He's a quiet, retiring little man who has added to the county probate court rooms at Burley for 14 years. His name—Judge Henry W. Tucker.

The judge is reflective about how he gained possession of such an impressive array of "degrees." He admitted he "had studied quite a lot." Outstanding among the collection are parchment signifying the judge as jurist laureate of the Western university, India, and as honorary member of the Pontifical Theatine academy, Rome, Italy.

Special Case

In fact, so many scrolls does the scholar have, that his wife made him a special leather case in which to transport them. Born in England, Sept. 26, 1880, young Henry attended London schools and in 1902 moved with his family to Salt Lake City. He has never left the States since.

After attending the University of Utah, Tucker graduated from Hamilton law school and was admitted to the Idaho state bar in September, 1915. He received his doctor of civil law degree from the former St. Louis university.

In addition to his scholarly pursuits the judge also, taught school in Utah, Wyoming, and Oklahoma, and was a bank clerk for some years.

Show Reveals War Wonders In Equipment

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 (AP)—The stepfather and Joe the Talker will have a chance Monday to view new wonders in office machines that were kept under wraps during the war and others that were monopolized by the armed services.

At the national business show in Grand Central palace they will see: Typewriters operated by radio from another part of the room; a train, plane, or automobile. Trending discs on which traveling salesmen can dictate expense accounts while they drive.

New Burglar Alarm

Detectors, like a burglar alarm, that warn of fire before they start. Machines that figure out Mr. Whiskers' cat, while they tabulate and total large payrolls, and print lists for old age benefit and other deductions, all in one operation.

Not to mention a new carbon paper that will not curl when soaked in water—which may help solve the popular puzzle about writing under water with those new pens.

The national business show will run from Sept. 30 to Oct. 5. After being suspended for five years, the show will feature wartime developed machines and methods now being made available for peacetime business offices.

Demomark Net

The New York Telephone company will demonstrate its mobile telephones, first tried out in St. Louis last year, combining wireless with wire phone service.

Globe Wireless, Ltd., will display the radio-type, light-weight typewriter by which a reporter, for example, can write his account at the scene of the fire and have it reproduced simultaneously in the newspaper office.

Handiwork on Searf

This is a sample of the drawings by Mrs. Edgar Dye on scarves, kerchiefs and similar garments. Imagine this figure in bright colors against a blue background and you have an idea how striking her work appears. (Staff engraving)

Mrs. Edgar Dye, who broke into print with her "laughing Easter eggs" last spring, has found another outlet for her artistic talent.

Previously, Mrs. Dye's work had been primarily confined to paintings of which she has "several trunks full," but more recently she has found textile painting on chiffon to make neck scarves and handkerchiefs for her friends and their children. These delicate works of art have all the perfection of the manufactured articles, plus the originality and depth of hand painting.

These include pictures of teddy bears and rabbits on the scarves and kerchiefs for children, with more sophisticated drawings on the articles for women. Before it's over, Mrs. Dye plans to tackle handpainting some neckties.

An unusual feature of the work is that the brightly-colored scarves are washable, as the colors are impregnated into the material by use of iron. From the primary colors of red, yellow, blue and white she obtains a wide variety of colors and shades.

Mrs. Dye, who resides three-quarters of a mile south of Twin Falls, president of the Twin Falls Art and is one of those individuals to whom it "comes naturally." Her brother, Dale Benedict, is similarly gifted and is putting his skill to good use by studying architecture under the GI bill of rights.

Star Display Probable for October 8-10

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 28.—The possibility that one or all of the nights of Oct. 8, 9 and 10 will bring the most spectacular shower of shooting stars this country has seen since 1872, led the American Meteor society today to ask the aid of interested observers in compiling data on the stream.

According to Dr. Charles P. Olivier, president of the society and professor of astronomy at the University of Pennsylvania, the display would be preceded by a Giacobini-Zinner comet and are believed to be parts of it in the cosmic nucleus.

Comet Invisible

The comet itself, GABORIN 1933, without a telescope, but on Oct. 9, 1933, the most recent occasion upon which it was in a favorable position to provide celestial fireworks for observers. It is credited with a close approach to earth on Oct. 10, 1933, and there is ground for hope that observers here may have better luck.

"Meteors are notoriously erratic in behavior and no positive prediction can be made, but one or all of the three nights of Oct. 8, 9 and 10 should furnish many meteors, with Oct. 9 as the most likely date for the greatest display," Dr. Olivier states.

"The fact that the earth will be only 121,000 miles from the orbit traveled by the comet, as compared with 600,000 miles in 1933, adds to the possibility of an unusually spectacular shower this year."

"For observers in the eastern half of this country another favorable circumstance is that the meteor shower, if it appears, should reach its height at about 9:30 p. m. eastern standard time."

"At that hour the radiant point of the meteors, which is in the constellation Draco, will be high in the northwestern sky. All such bright moonlight will prevent observers from seeing the faintest meteors. Large numbers of brilliant ones should be visible."

Volunteer observers are urged by Dr. Olivier to count the meteors seen during every half hour on Oct. 8, 9 and 10, being careful to record the exact hour and minute at which they begin and end each half-hour count and to describe the condition of the sky.

Stronger Body Helps This New Tire OUTWEAR PREWAR TIRES

See Us for this Extra-Safe, Extra-Trouble-Free, Extra-Mileage Tire

No sensible driver would deliberately run his tires over a rock like the one in the picture. But sometimes it can't be helped... and that's when you will be glad if you have new B.F. Goodrich passenger car tires. Built with more and stronger cords, the tire body is better-engineered and 35% stronger than in prewar tires. This extra strength was needed to carry the wider, flatter tires in building this stronger body to hold the more durable tread, B.F. Goodrich engineers built into it greater resistance to "road shock."

Of course, supplies of tires are still limited. In spite of greatly increased production, demand is even greater. This is especially true of the B.F. Goodrich tire that OUTWEARS PREWAR TIRES. Please check your needs in advance. Talk to us. We'll do our best to keep you car rolling until we get new tires for you.

Is OUR GOVERNMENT Becoming a SIDE SHOW?

When you stop to think about it, that isn't such a silly question after all. A good many of our present day politicians are employing just about the same tactics the sideshow ballyhoor uses to lure people into the tents.

You've seen these politicians traveling over the country with their elaborate bandwagons and loudspeakers. You've heard them twang banjos and blow mouth organs. Some of them are past masters at working themselves into a frenzy that would put the ordinary carnival hawkker to shame.

When you stop to analyze it, there's only one purpose behind all this ham acting. These bull-fiddle diplomats aren't concerned about the state of the nation, the peace conference, reconversion and the like. Such things are not for them to be worrying about.

They're out to be elected in spite of hell and high water.

They're going to get your vote if they have to chew tobacco, sing falsetto, kiss the baby or hire a 7-piece hill-billy band.

With them, it's just a case of which candidate can put on the best show!

And that, if you stop to think about it, is a sad reflection on the people who are supposed to vote intelligently. Fact of the matter is, it's the people who are to blame for countenancing and encouraging all this horseplay which can only result in inferior government.

These ham actors try to make a big impression on all of us while they are back home, but it's what they have to say, what they do and how they vote in Washington that really counts. That's something we often forget.

But when they are safely returned to Washington for another term, they seem content to drift with which ever tide they find most advantageous to themselves.

The point we are getting at is this:

Seldom has this country ever been in a sorer state of affairs. Instead of returning to normalcy after the war, as most of us anticipated, we find ourselves in a predicament that just doesn't make sense.

Our representatives in Washington—instead of going to bat on those pressing issues that are foremost in our minds—are shadow-boxing for effect, with anything and everything that will keep them "off the spot." Their chief concern is making an impression on their constituency back home and "keeping in line" with the higher-ups who crack the whip within their own particular party back in Washington. By avoiding every political issue possible, they accomplish little or nothing.

That's one of the big reasons why the country is in a dither.

It should be obvious that someone must put an end to all this political hokum. And the only ones who can put an end to it all are the people themselves. With their votes—AND ONLY WITH THEIR VOTES—can the people stop this spree of ham acting by electing capable, responsible and conscientious representatives to public office.

If you are fed up on being amused—if you are tired of this "sideshow"—it's up to you as an American citizen to fulfill your responsibility. Make up your mind to vote without fail—and only for those candidates who will be a credit to our government. Help to elect those public officials who, in your estimation, will do the most to bring this country out of its present difficulties.

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

By INEZ PUCKETT McWEN

"It's odd to think we might have been in the moon and stars unto each other. Only, I turned down one little street."

"How you went up another!"

—Les

In the hills of Hemet, Calif., a young girl named Helga, last winter Helga was cook for a certain movie queen, a girl very glamorous on the screen and very stately and mean at home.

This star's favorite sport was trying to knock down food left-overs. She was always snooping in the scullery, hinting that the help had eaten or devoured the extra tid bit.

Helga says it got pretty tiresome. One noon there were artichokes for lunch—and half a dozen remained. The girl's queen came home at evening, demanded the left-overs with her dinner.

"I happened to throw 'em away and do dishes and do the later peeling," says Helga. "But de maid and dame, we go and I do 'em out—make 'em all pretty and dress 'em up and serve 'em!"

We wish we could tell you which movie stars it was, folks. Would YOU be surprised?

It's good to see the old earth and living life—just once more. The world is a big place, and down the road there is a woman driving a car.

Woman is there too, driving a car or a train. We passed such a woman on the way to Jerome. She had a blue rug tied around her head and was wearing a Fernalt.

Whenever we behold one of these women we lift our hat. She's earning her salt as a human being and deserves respect.

We know a woman farmer who has two college degrees and can turn her hand at either tractor driving or reading Latin in lighter moments. She haunts fertilizer for her orange groves—looking lean and efficient in blue jeans—and then changes roles and comes to town looking like something dink and elegant in Vogue. She's got the idea of what is tops in modern woman.

Her husband agrees with us.

They still have the faded bill sent in by the doctor who rushed in to aid Lincoln a few hours after the assassination. This old bill brings the flesh and blood Abe Lincoln closer than any pages of a history book. There was liniment at $3; 42 worth of ground mustard (two pounds of it), and 90 cents worth of ointment.

When you recall that Lincoln was shot through the head these items seem queer. What do you suppose that M.D. did with two pounds of mustard, for instance?

The Lincoln funeral bills are also interesting. They call for a $1,500 coffin of broadcloth, cedar and satin; 70 yards of white silk; 150 pairs of kid gloves, 170 boxes of white thread and 430 worth of flowers.

Two coachmen got new silk hats at $5 apiece, and Capt. Robert Lincoln had him a black silk sky-cape which set the taxpayers back $10. The "first class" nurse hired to attend Mary Todd Lincoln sent the government a six weeks bill of $210.

The oddest item on the old bills is this one: "Removing the remains of Willie—Ten dollars."

"In each human heart are a tiger, a pig, an ass and a nightingale. Diversity of character is due to their unequal activity!"

Ambrose Bierce said that.

Algiers Bride at Burley Has First Milk in 5 Years

BURLEY, Sept. 28 — The first time she had tasted butter, milk, cheese and white bread in five years was when she visited the army post in north Africa with her future husband, Frank Grigg, Durley.

Now that Emma Leonie, petite French girl, has arrived in Burley to end a war time romance begun in far off Algiers, she is impressed with the difference in American buildings. In Algiers, where she was a French embassy stenographer, all the homes have walls around them for protection.

The couple was married Sunday, Sept. 8, at the Methodist church here with the Rev. Leonard Clark officiating. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Leonie, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Grigg, Durley.

The couple met when Grigg was stationed with the air force in Africa. They will make their home here, where he is employed at King's garage, Paul.

When they beheld one of these women we lift our hat. She's earning her salt as a human being and deserves respect.

Prankster Fined For Siren Blast

PENNY, Ill., Sept. 28 (AP)—Eight long loud blasts of the town siren startled Percy sleepers in the wee morning hours. When they collected in the public square they found an intoxicated citizen tipally enjoying the future.

He told a justice of the peace he was a broken fire hydrant and decided the alarm would bring someone to fix it. The magistrate fined him one dollar for each siren blast.

Movie Writer Tells Boners

By Directors

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 28 (NEA)—We'll never forget the time Harry Joe Brown was directing an airplane sequence for a movie in which two aviators bailed out at 15,000 feet.

There was only one cloud in the sky, and they were told to bail out by the cloud, for scenic effect. But the wind carried them away from the lone cloud.

There was Harry Joe, 15,000 feet below, yelling through a small megaphone at the parachuters, as the cameras ground away: "To your left! To your left! Move to your left!"

Other Tales Told
Director Al Rogell, the old remixer, was remembering the other day on the set of "Heaven Only Knows," and he told us some other stories on Hollywood directors and how they react under pressure.

There was even one on himself. Rogell and a camera crew waited aboard a ship for three days to shoot an ocean scene, but no clouds showed up to break the sea-horizon line. Finally Rogell saw a sea gull and decided to use sea gulls for scenic effects.

There was a shortage of bread, so he used garbage for bait. He rehearsed his cast and crew, then the garbage was dropped and the cameras rolled. "Ninety million sea gulls roared down on us to grab the food. They blocked out the background completely."

One at a Time
"I stopped the camera and shouted to an assistant director: 'It's no good. No good. Send the gulls through one at a time.'"

Then there's the Wesley Ruggles story. Three thousand head of cattle were corralled in a canyon in Arizona for a big stampede shot. But Ruggles didn't think they could raise enough dust. So for a couple of days he had trucks picking up dirt and spreading it around the canyon.

Then, with nine cameras trained on the cattle, the stampede began.

The first of the cattle hit the dirt, and the cameras picked up just dust.

The stampede had to be refilmed after crews of men swept the canyon.
