were to be made around the new legislature would be in session and might aid it.

"We have been told," said the advocate of contract annulment, "that there is no surplus in the general fund which can be used for raising salaries but that there is money there which was originally planned for equipment such as typewriters and plumbing which has not been purchased because of shortages."

"For one," he said, "the college clapped for this statement," said to be perfectly willing to accept that money for wage raises."

Two complaints were registered by speakers at the meeting.

The inclusion of a clause in contracts which specifies that each teacher must attend one college summer session every four years, and the claim that teachers in the high school are teaching six hours a day where they are only supposed to teach five "and thus probably saving the cost of another teacher."

The teacher who suggested affiliating with the AFL offered the explanation that he could see a group if he were expected to get anywhere.

The instructor also offered to support a contract terminating the right to vote for a strike if the teachers felt that way.

A resolution was made that the IEA meet with the school board. It was voted down for these reasons: being in discussion prior to the vote.

Although no decisive action was taken at the meeting, it was noted that the school board was struck by one of the group's leaders who declared that any course of action decided upon by the school board in motion soon after the two-week Christmas vacation will hinder their efforts if they delay too long.

Denial Given Over Rentals Of Equipment

Contract Signed

Lee Howard, secretary of the Buhl highway district, said that the contract between the Buhl highway district and the state was signed Nov. 25 by T. Matt Lally, state director of highways.

Sternberg said that the area was surveyed four of five years ago, but the crew from Pocatello was replacing the center line of the road and setting stakes for grading.

The highway engineer said that two small bridges must be constructed and there will be considerable drainage piping to install along the route. Sternberg emphasized that the $35,000 was "purely an estimate" on the cost of the road.

Alaskan Road Tests Trucks, Their Drivers

By MURIEL SPENCER
SEATTLE, Dec. 12 (AP)—It's cold on the Alaska highway—a cold that a steel wheel will freeze to your bare hand and a bumper bumper is required to start a truck motor on a paragon.

Way stations are springing up along the scenic, 3,000-mile war-born road from Seattle to Fairbanks and Anchorage. But trucks report a shortage of beds. At least one drove for 26 hours before finding a place to sleep.

Good Food Available
There is good food—breakfast and lunch—along the highway and gasoline is to be had at prices ranging from 35¢ to 75¢ per gallon.

An intriguing story of driving the Alaska highway was related by three drivers, Al C. Jourdin of Anchorage, and Gene Rogers and Rodney L. Wolff, both of Fairbanks.

Jourdin is a driver for Austin L. Lathrop, colorful Alaskan businessman, who sent the first convoy of trucks to Anchorage and back to Seattle again.

"There's no hardship in driving this road," Jourdin said. "I don't mind the cold, but I don't mind the heat. There are just inconveniences."

"There are just inconveniences," Jourdin said. "I don't mind the cold, but I don't mind the heat. There are just inconveniences."

Pot Shots:
J. W. Taylor, the legal mind over Bulw, was beginning to think some people aren't honest.

The other day a woman came in to ask Taylor to identify a picture of a man. Taylor asked her to identify a picture of a man.

Whereupon the cashier cashed the check and whereupon it turned out that Taylor had never seen the check. The gal had just stepped outside the bank, copied Mr. Taylor's name and his office window above the bank and returned for the cash money.

Wilting Santa Asks Cushion On Christmas

By CLAUDE COX

CHICAGO, Dec. 12 (AP)—I want to see Santa Claus today and he told me what HE wanted for Christmas.

He said it was about time someone asked him that.

"For three weeks I've listened to 1,800 children a day tell me what they wanted for Christmas, and not one of them has asked me what I'd like to have," Santa said.

Requests Allike
Nearly all the boys ask him for electric trains, guns, sleds and airplanes. The girls want dolls, bunnies, books and washing machines.

"One of the kiddies even asked for a bunch of bananas. But still I heard no mention of a present for me," he said.

Mr. Claus looked sad. His merry face wasn't merrily any more, and his usually bounding stomach sagged.

He said he would almost be glad when Christmas was over and he could leave his post as a large department store to take up his hobby of selling again. He spends his time above the bank and returned for the cash money.

Delay Facing Completion of Work on Pact

By CLAUDE COX

NEW YORK, Dec. 12 (AP)—American experts on Germany, on the eve of adjustment of the New York meeting of the big four council of foreign ministers, pessimistically predicted today that it might be the spring of 1948 before the German peace treaty is ready for signing.

They feared to might take at least as long and possibly longer to write the German peace treaty for Germany as it has taken to write the treaties for Italy, Romania, Hungary, Bulgaria and Finland. The latter job has taken 15 months and a day.

The German peace talks now begin until March 10. If the job takes a year it will be a year from next spring before the allies can formally resume a peaceful status in Germany.

This outlook was presented as the big four council called what it hoped would be its last meeting in New York for late today. The big four will try to complete the long-delayed first phase of peace-making, to get home for Christmas, and meet again in Moscow in March to start the most difficult task of writing German and Austrian peace treaties.

Friday, Dec. 13, Going to Be Just Like Other Days

By CLAUDE COX

CHICAGO, Dec. 12 (AP)—Is Friday the 13th unlucky?

If you're thinking of accidents, the answer is an unequivocal and busy "no." And that's not just an opinion. It's a fact.

The National safety council, curious whether fate throws more sneak punches than usual on this sober day, ran back through its daily accident records over the years. It found: Friday the 13th is an average day for accidents—no more, no less.

In fact, the council put forth the idea that Friday the 13th could be some sort of national safety day, with every one worrying about accidents on that date.

So when Friday rolls around—it will be the second time it has fallen on the 13th this year—the council suggests you relax. But be careful.

Expert Avers Planets Made Miracle Star

By CLAUDE COX
CHICAGO, Dec. 12 (AP)—Astronomer Wagner Schlessinger said today that when the Three Wise Men saw the star of Bethlehem they probably were witnessing an unusual grouping of three planets.

Schlessinger, director of the Adler planetarium, said there were many theories about the star of Bethlehem, but that there was no record of anyone having seen the star, as described by the Wise Men, before or since the birth of Christ.

Three observers

The only Biblical reference to the star indicates that no one but the three Wise Men saw it, he said. They were priests of Zoroaster and believers in astrology, which was part of their religion, he said.

"Obviously they saw no spectacular object in the heavens, or other persons would have seen it," Schlessinger added. "What they probably saw was the close grouping of Mars, Jupiter and Saturn, which happens once each 800 years and apparently happened in 6 B. C."

Explains Neumann
To H. B. C. the three planets were close together in the astrological zone of Pisces, the fish, which the ancient astrologers called the house of Hebrews, he explained. He also believed that Saturn ruled over the destinies of the Jews.

"That gave the Three Wise Men two good reasons for believing that this extremely rare grouping of the planets meant an event of extreme importance was about to occur among the Jews," he said.

"Since the Wise Men were waiting for a sign of the coming of a King, it is easy to think that they might have accepted this as the sign."

Latest Crisis For Iran Has Quick Ending

By JAMES D. WHITE
SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 12 (AP)—Somewhere the latest spouting issue has been jerked from the international diplomatic lying around in Iran.

For the moment, the latest crisis seems to have been weathered. But Iran has been acting like two countries—the south-controlled by the central government and the semi-autonomous province of Azerbaijan in the north.

Province Acting up

Azerbaijan, in turn, has been acting like two different outfits. This has become plain in the present crisis which fades only as the Azerbaijan radio says central troops can come in to supervise elections after it has become plain they will shoot their way in if necessary.

This announcement was made in the name of communist soviet General Javahri. He apparently represents the Azerbaijan moderates who have a right, would have them more than it would gain. Yet to be heard from is the fire-breathing leftist faction led by Jafar Djalali, who earlier defied the entry of central troops and proclaimed resistance.

Behind this is the background of Iran's oil which brings Anglo-American interests up against Soviet Russian interest in the same thing. But Russia's interest also concerns both the security and the similar situation in northern Mexico would interest this country.

Keeps Hands Off

Superficially, at least, Russia has let the Iranian situation pretty much alone since the somewhat belatedly withdrew her wartime occupation troops from Azerbaijan last May after the United Nations failed on the question.

This in spite of the Soviet press and the Tehran government and alleged Anglo-American influence being since the latest of the latest—that 40 American bombers had been delivered to Tehran—was curiously denied by the state department.

Admiral Assests Another War Would Bring Huge Casualties

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK, Dec. 12 (AP)—Vice-Admiral Daniel E. Barbey thinks the United States might "suffer five million casualties within a few hours" in the event of a future surprise attack against it with modern weapons.

"But they couldn't knock us out," said the commander of the fourth fleet and veteran of 63 landings in the Pacific, "and within a matter of days our regular attack would be underway on a large scale."

Barbey believes that America has just a 10-year edge over other countries in the production of weapons of mass destruction. "They are a practical monopoly. But we must keep planning ahead."

He says this military advantage is the strongest behind-the-scenes argument for the success of the United Nations.

If another war does come, however, Barbey said, "it would not be a duel between gentlemen, but a war for the survival of the masses of civilization."

He said he could see no reason for employing possible attacks over the north pole. He thought it more likely that a foreign enemy would "come up a dozen or so submarine and atom-bomb our eastern coastal cities from scattered positions hundreds of miles out in the Atlantic."

Rockets carrying atomic warheads could be fired even while the submarines were submerged, he added.

"But our retaliation would be swift, unavoidable by the enemy, and more devastating—if we keep our strength," said Barbey.

The admiral took issue with the view that the United States is the only country that has the means to win a war.

New Services Over Weather To Help West

By WILLIAM E. LOWELL
WASHINGTON, Dec. 12 (AP)—A new department just getting under way in the weather bureau may turn out to be an active partner with the developing industrial west.

It's called "industrial climatology" and is presided over by Dr. Woodrow C. Jacobs, 37-year-old Californian, who is head of the division of climatology, of which the new office is a branch.

Jacobs doesn't claim any miracles for the new service, but he says it will be a long range forecast and there aren't any bulletins or prognosticating charts to be had for the sake of it. It will, he says, be able to answer some specific questions which may guide the industrial farmer or stockman to a profitable or more profitable future.

Pred. Sheriff, one of Montana's big shepherds, heard about the new service and dropped in to talk with Jacobs.

"I want to know," said Sheriff, "whether it will save me from carrying $20 hay and $40 profit into a mild winter."

Barbey, however, felt a shepherds whether he should shear his or could shear earlier. We would probably give him advice on some of the other problems but he would have to fit his own answer into the scheme of his overall operation.

Hailey Man Hurt In Auto Mishap

HAILEY, Dec. 12.—After his back was broken in an automobile upset near here at 1:30 a. m. Wednesday, Albert Knight, 21, was rushed to the local clinical hospital where his condition was pronounced "good" by the attending physician last night.

Accompanied by his brother, Leonard, who escaped from the accident unharmed, Knight was driving their recently purchased car toward their farm home about six miles north of here when the undimmed lights of an oncoming automobile blinded him momentarily.

He pulled to one side of the road, according to his brother, where the car hit a snowbank, rolled completely over to end up on its side.

Leonard Knight pulled his brother out of the wreckage and drove him a short distance before he summoned aid from a nearby ranch.

The injured man was placed in a plaster cast at the hospital.

Doors were torn off the sedan and windows broken, according to Leonard Knight.

Judge Overlooks Boyhood Pranks

BALTIMORE, Dec. 12 (AP)—Circuit Court Judge J. Howard Murray recalled his boyhood days today and turned down a landlady's appeal seeking permission to evict a tenant whose six-year-old son, he said, played all sorts of tricks.

The landlady, Claude Watson, contended in a four-page brief that young Edwin L. Hestburg, Jr., was noisy, dug up lawns, and rearranged contents of tenants' mail boxes.

Judge Murray, in dismissing the appeal brought by Watson, said he used to do such things himself—extending his activities over an entire city block.

Ski Lodge Road To Be Improved

Room maintenance crews are being moved to the Rock creek area to begin work on smoothing the road to the Magic Mountain ski lodge, according to A. E. Briggs, Burley, forest supervisor.

In a letter to the Chamber of Commerce, which had written a letter to Merlyn B. Stock, forest ranger, urging immediate improvement of the road, Briggs said that work on the Magic Mountain ski area road had been delayed because of completion of parking area in Howell canyon.

Briggs assured the chamber that the Magic Mountain ski lodge road would be "smoothed for the winter."

Jerome Given Approval for Labor Camp

JEROME, Dec. 12.—With seven barracks from Hunt as a nucleus, a permanent labor camp capable of housing 400 men will be constructed here, according to plans approved Wednesday in Washington, D. C., declared Leon Aslett, chairman of the Jerome county farm labor sponsoring association.

A wire from U. S. Sen. Glen Taylor's office informed Aslett that the project, planned since last spring when a site one mile south of here was purchased, had been approved. Official notice of federal sanction will be received from the U. S. bureau of reclamation within a few days, Aslett asserted.

Camp will have both dormitory and apartment style quarters. Construction will begin immediately so that laborers won't need to be housed at the fairgrounds here next year as they have in the past.

Hopes Vanish In Search for Buried Miner

CLOSE, Ariz., Dec. 12 (AP)—Convicted they were digging for a dead man, rescuers went into a copper mine today with dynamite to blast out the body of a miner buried alive by a slide.

They virtually abandoned hope of saving John Orekar, 40. What may have been last feeble tapping echoed hollowly down a metal pipe from his tomb more than 20 hours ago.

Believed Dead

"We are now digging for a dead man," said Deputy State Mine Inspector William Kuehar, "I seriously doubt that he was not killed instantly." Inspector Clifford Muddock agreed.

Crumbling sidewalls as the rescuers dug deeper into the rock and ore made it increasingly dangerous to send men into the mine, and Kuehar called off all operations last night, fearful of more casualties. It was the first rest for rescue crew leaders since the disaster Saturday.

Blast Planned

As a last-ditch step rescuers planned today to blast out the slope, or tunnel, where the miner was working on supports designed to prevent the cave-in that caught him. It was blocked by 500 tons of loose

Use of Plastic On Car Interior To Be Extended

DETROIT, Dec. 12 (AP)—Briggs Manufacturing company, one of the nation's leading automobile body makers, announced today the development of a plastic process that promises to greatly extend the use of that material in interior car trim.

A unique element of the new process is the photographic reproduction of wood, leather and fabric patterns on plastic interior trim.

Demonstrating use of the new plastic in interior door, rear quarter panels and deck lid panels, Briggs executives said that eventually everything inside the car except the seat cushions, rear and other "comfort" items may be made of molded plastic.

W. Francis Briggs design and research supervisor, asserted that "anything that can be photographed can be reproduced in molded plastic for complete interior trim."

"The richness, depth and texture of wood and leather finishes," he added, "can be duplicated so perfectly it takes an expert to distinguish the plastic from the original material."

Professor to List Economic Data at Meet

William E. Fols, professor of economics at the University of Idaho, will address a meeting of Chamber of Commerce directors and industrial leaders in Twin Falls Monday noon in the Park hotel, according to James A. Spriggs, secretary-manager of the chamber.

Professor Fols has been working on an economic study of the state to develop a picture of the economic structure from the basic industries of agriculture, mining and lumbering through the processing and transportation stage to the finished product.

He will report on his findings throughout the state and complete his data, especially in regard to sugar factories, starch factory, potato and bean shippers, seed houses, granaries, flour mills, packing plants and other farm product processing plants.

Ralph Farmer, dean of the school of business administration at the university, and Floyd West, assistant secretary of the Idaho Chamber of Commerce, will accompany Professor Fols.

Safety Campaign In Cassia County Gets Good Start

BURLEY, Dec. 12.—First efforts of a county-wide safety campaign being conducted here by Cassia county sheriff's officials and Burley Police Chief Bill Williams were felt here when some 80 Burley residents were given police court summonses for improper parking in the residential area.

Chief Williams said law enforcement officials were asking cooperation of the public to report all motor vehicles failing to observe stop signs. Violators will be fined $25 for this offense.

The 80 persons were given warnings in police court and told they may expect fines if they are apprehended on a second charge.

Reckless driving comes in for its share of emphasis in the current campaign and offenders will be fined not less than $50, Williams declared.

Pardon Board to Continue, Rules Idaho Attorney

BOISE, Dec. 12 (AP)—Attorney General Frank Langley ruled today that the state board of pardons composed of the governor, attorney general and secretary of state should continue to function until next July 1, the effective date for inauguration of a new pardon board to be created by the legislature.

Langley gave the opinion to Secretary of State Ira H. Masters when termed as "null and void" a constitutional amendment adopted by voters last November to abolish the present board and replace it with a legislative-created board. Masters asserted that the amendment as voted on did not conform with the legislative resolution submitting it to voters.

The constitutional amendment approved by voters at the general election read: "From and after July 1, 1947, shall the pardoning power now vested in the governor, the attorney general and the secretary of state be vested in such board as may hereafter be created or provided by legislative enactment."

Deadline Set For Petition After Hearing

BOISE, Dec. 12 (AP)—Attorneys for Mrs. Gladys Broadhurst have until 10 a. m. Friday to file a habeas corpus petition against extradition of Mrs. Broadhurst from Idaho where she is wanted in connection with the slaying of her husband, W. D. Broadhurst.

Gov. Arnold Williams yesterday approved the extradition request but ordered that Mrs. Broadhurst be released from the jail at Caldwell until she had been given an opportunity to file a request for a writ of habeas corpus.

District Attorney E. Otis Smith of Vale, Ore., charged that Mrs. Broadhurst is an "accessory after the fact" in the slaying. Her 22-year-old chauffeur, Alvin Lee Williams, is being held at Vale on a first degree murder charge. Authorities say he admitted killing Broadhurst Oct. 14 on a lonely road between Caldwell and Jordan Valley, Ore.

Meanwhile, Cleve Groome of Caldwell and P. Gallagher of Ontario, Ore., attorneys for Mrs. Broadhurst, announced that the value of Broadhurst's estate will total over $100,000 when all property is listed.

Publishers of Two Weeklies Reveal Trade

JEROME, Dec. 12.—Two southern Idaho publishers have swapped newspapers. It was disclosed Thursday by Harold H. Smith, publisher of the Northside News here, and William F. MacKnight, publisher of the Preston Citizen. The contract in which the trade was made became effective Jan. 1.

MacKnight, whose newspaper experience was gained in Utah, Colorado and Oregon before he came to Idaho in 1940, has published the Citizen since consolidating the two Preston papers in 1943. Previous to entering the army in 1941, he published for 18 months a consolidation of two Oodling weeklies.

He is a past president of the Idaho State Editorial association. Mr. and Mrs. MacKnight and their three children will move here January 1, when he will take over the Northside News.

New publisher of the Citizen will be Don E. Smith, brother of H. H. Smith and advertising manager of the News here since his discharge from the army air force last May. He published the Jerome Star, Colorado-Advocate for seven years before coming to Idaho.

Civilian Atom Group to Get Control Jan. 1

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12 (AP)—The military's atomic bomb and energy business—a $1,400,000,000 concern with 43,000 workers—will pass into the hands of the civilian-controlled atomic energy commission at the start of the new year.

The commission, still little more than a body of five members and some help borrowed from other federal agencies, disclosed today it would take over the army's Manhattan district, "essentially intact," including its organization, properties and personnel about Jan. 1. An order from President Truman expected shortly will provide for transfer of title.

Until the commission is in full operation (probably months away) the Manhattan district will manage for the commission nuclear fission development and manufacture of atomic bomb material. In charge of the district as operating executive probably will be Col. K. D. Nichols, present deputy chief of the district.

Maj.-Gen. Leslie Groves, army engineer who has directed the Manhattan district since its formation in Sept., 1942, is stepping out of that role.

The commission, in its announcement made after a conference with President Truman, said it had asked Secretary of War Patterson and Groves that the latter "continue to be available as a consultant." The general is described by some associates as desiring to retire from active duty.

Chairman of the commission is David E. Lilienthal, former Tennessee valley administration head.

Detective's Day Off Brings Work

MILWAUKEE, Dec. 12 (AP)—Mrs. Velma Sheen, a store detective, went Christmas shopping on her day off—and ended up with a couple of presents for police.

As she dropped into a store, she spotted a shoplifter she knew by sight and gave chase. After nuzzling the woman, Mrs. Sheen paused for breath on a street corner and noticed an automobile with out of state license plates, answering to a description of one police were seeking in connection with shoplifting activities. In the car, police said, they found about $1,000 worth of merchandise stolen from a local store.

2,000 Loans of $1 Sought Here For Vet's Home

B. B. Clarke, Twin Falls veteran, Wednesday inserted in the Times-News a classified advertisement urging 2,000 Magic Valley residents to loan him $1 each so he will be able to make a down payment on a home for his wife and baby before Christmas.

The house Clarke now is living in, his ad explains, "is to be sold." He says he needs the money "not later than Dec. 21."

"What a Christmas, with no home after five year's service," Clarke exclaims in his ad.

Clarke states he "will repay every dollar" and that the balance of his home project will be financed through the GI bill of rights, Clarke,

PLANT, Mich., Dec. 12 (AP)—One child died and a score of others were injured Wednesday when a bus carrying them to a rural school near Ponton, Mich., was demolished against a tree after a tire blowout.

Ivan Dorow, 11, of Linden, Mich., died in a hospital five hours after the accident. An additional 16 were hospitalized. Others were treated at the scene.
