Forty Ask To Leave City Area

Detachment of approximately 110 acres from the corporate limits of Twin Falls was requested by 40 property owners in a petition filed Saturday in district court.

Hearing of the petition will be held at 10 a. m., Jan. 30, in district court here with Judge T. Bailey presiding.

Property listed in the petition includes nearly all blocks one and two of Highland View addition and five lots in Bursley subdivision. Lots 13, 14, and 17 of block one and lot 12 of block two in Highland View addition were not listed.

Few Benefits

Asserting that their lands "do not receive sufficient special benefits from the city by reason of being included within the corporate limits" to justify its retention, the petitioners maintain the grounds of the municipality will be "materially harmed" by the detachment.

Detachment of the petitioned area from the city would shorten the new trunkline sewer by a half mile, according to city engineer John E. Hayes. Laying of the new sewer was planned to commence at Elmdale avenue which separates block one from block two of Highland View addition.

Petitioners Listed

Petitioners listed are Rudolph and Inez Morin, Carl C. and Alma Conklin, Ray and Phyllis E. Park, J. E. and Laura E. Bender, Mrs. J. and Alice E. Parker, Jack E. and Mary E. Lawrence, G. W. and E. D. County Taps 2 Funds for Hospital Bills

Part of the future $10,773.23 hospital insurance fund, now totaling $20,070.73, hospital equipment cash has been thrown into the breach to help pay county hospital bills, action of the commissioners Friday.

According to a ruling by County Attorney E. M. Sweeney that these funds may be used to help pay hospital bills, county commissioners swiftly agreed to the emergency measure after spending the same amount approving a bill to pay the hospital, dating back to Nov. 11.

These bills range from 72 cents to $120.00 for an aggregate of $1,788.78 in hospital bills.

According to figures listed Tuesday by the commissioners when they pronounced the hospital financial statement an emergency cash available to pay these claims then amounted to $7,000.16. Without income tax credits and earnings nor bills receivable which may or may not have been paid within the past 30 days, the county had $7,000.16 with which to pay $1,788.78.

Pay Increase Seen Without More Strikes

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21 (AP)—Economist Robert Nathan predicted today that industry will grant a new round of pay boosts next spring without increasing prices and that strikes will be avoided.

The 35-year-old former government war production planner contended in an interview that many deals will be struck with unions that have disputed his contention that industry will not raise prices.

See Peaceful Settlement

"I feel that it is a peaceful settlement with workers' settlements," Nathan said.

"On the whole, I think industry does realize there is a need for rationality to give some of the capacity to labor some of the benefits of a hand, labor would be inclined to disagree with some of the things that Nathan said."

Nathan said that labor and industry want to maintain peace without interruption.

The economist drew up his argument that wages were increased, forecast that they would be secured without any appreciable rise in prices.

Real Reasons

"I say that the real reasons," Nathan explained, "one is that business already is afraid of consumer resistance. It is very hesitant to raise prices any further. That's reflected in the dip in the stock market."

"The other reason is that real competition is developing in business and that is rapidly becoming clear that business simply won't be able this time to pass on any further cost increase in the form of higher prices."

Santa Claus Greeted With Elation—

Talmadge, 62, Dies; Georgia Row Looming

ATLANTA, Dec. 21 (AP)—Eugene Talmadge, 62, one of Georgia's most colorful public figures, died today, scarcely three weeks before he would have been inaugurated for a fourth time as governor.

The red-baited advocate of "white supremacy" made 272 speeches, against doctors' orders in a bitter Democratic primary last summer.

An attending physician said Talmadge was aware since Tuesday that he was dying, and voted against surrendering his office in a four-year holdover, and said Talmadge's body would lie in state from 2 to 5 p. m. Sunday in the capitol rotunda.

Authoritative sources said Arnall, who ousted Talmadge from office four years ago, would refuse to vacate as governor until constitutional requirements are resolved.

Arnall was ineligible to succeed himself, but the constitution provides he shall serve until his successor is chosen and qualified. Legal advice said this could mean a four-year holdover, until the quadrennial election in 1950.

Arnall said discussion of who would be next governor was "highly inappropriate at this time."

A four-year holdover, as governor and campaign manager of the late governor-elect, said if Arnall were elected, he would appoint Herman, "the legislature would impeach him and appoint enough members from the service to throw him out of the capitol."

Santa Has Tough Row to Hoe, Tired Staff Writer Reports

By DON LEERIGHT

It's fun being Santa Claus—but it's hard work, too.

Friday afternoon, armed with a Santa Claus suit, a pillow to fill and out and Photographer John Brogan for moral support, I ventured onto the streets of Twin Falls to get an idea what youngsters want for Christmas and to get their reactions to Santa Claus.

A woman and her little daughter in law came down the street. The woman leaned over and whispered: "Now tell Santa what you want for Christmas."

She half-pushed the little girl toward Santa. The youngster's eyes grew so big as she stared she looked terrified and big tears came to her eyes. She tugged on her mother's skirt and hid behind her coat.

I was a failure as Santa. All I was doing was frightening cute little girls. I would have turned around and headed back for the Times-News office, but a wide-eyed little boy tugged on my red suit and yelled:

"Santa, bring me a dump truck and a fire truck!"

That attracted more youngsters than I could handle. One mother in excited as Junior or Little Sally. There were mamas who asked Santa if he could bring them a new car. STRIKES

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 21.—Dundee-laden Christmas shoppers paused for a second look when they saw a Santa Claus marching back and forth in front of a department store.

"This store is unfair!"

He was a picket.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 21 (AP)—A federal court jury put the finger on three Alcatraz convicts today for the first time in the history of the "Rock" last. The three were sentenced to death for two of them and a second for the third.

Miran E. Thompson, hand and prison-10, on 21, grinded deliriously as the verdict was announced. It was the last he would hear.

Sam Shockley, the 35-year-old Alcatraz bank robber who received "radio" in his head, looked bleak. It was the gas chamber for him.

Clarence Carnes, 40, Oklahoma Indian kidnapper-already served 20 years, sat dourly as he heard his life spared by a recommendation of the jury.

"They're going to let Shockley, and his crew, be murdered by his lawyer angrily."

Resident Says Bilbo Hearing "Educational"

Foy A. Blackburn, Washington, D.C. member of Sen. Glen H. Taylor's secretarial staff, writes he is gaining a "real education in undesirable politics" through attendance at the Senator Bilbo, D. Miss., hearings on war contracts conducted by an investigating subcommittee.

In a letter to Mrs. William F. Bryant, Twin Falls, Blackburn stated that he had heard several of the sessions being conducted by Senator Mead, D. N.Y., and Senator Ferguson, N. Mich., and that the testimony of key figures in Mississippi politics made him realize that "in comparison, politics in Idaho are really on an awfully high plane." He added that Bilbo's attitude of early cheerfulness had changed and now seems to be getting just a little worried. He obviously is in bad health.

The former Twin Falls resident has been with Senator Taylor since the Nov. 6 election, serving previously as secretary to Patsy Lenoir, Democratic candidate for governor. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Blackburn, Buhl.

Navy Book Gives Account of War

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21 (AP)—Covering the war against Japan from the last two years in a detailed manner, the volume, "The Campaigns of the Pacific War," is based on "ultra-secret" Japanese battle plans and other captured documents, as well as American combat records. The report traces campaigns by campaign the long sea road from Pearl Harbor to Tokyo bay.

It includes a frank recital of U.S. stumblings and slip-ups at Midway, the Aleutians and Guadalcanal, from which the navy painfully learned how to use air power.

Skilled Japanese planning for the Pearl Harbor attack and for the great conquests of the East Indies is acknowledged by the U.S. navy writers.

The success of these plans, however, caused the Japanese ever after to believe that final victory was just "one crushing blow" beyond their fingertips.

China Civil War Said "Imminent"

PEIPING, Dec. 21 (AP)—High-ranking Chinese government and communist leaders agreed today that all-out civil war was imminent.

Gen. Li Tsung-jen, chief of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's Peiping headquarters, said in an interview that government armies would resume their offensive shortly if the communists continued to ignore the government cease-fire order of Nov. 11.

From Yenan, communist capital city, came a declaration by Li Shao-chi, communist party vice-chairman, that the government and the United States had given the communists into arms and "we cannot be beaten; we will never surrender."

Portion of Road To Ski Lodge to Get $35,000 Aid

Good news for skiers, hunters, picnickers and others who travel to the Magic Valley national forest area south of Twin Falls was the announcement Saturday by Director J.D. Elmore of the Twin Falls highway district that highway commissioners have approved a federal aid secondary road project extending from five miles south of Hansen for two and one-half miles to the Rock creek community.

This action, taken by the board during its meeting Saturday afternoon, means that the road to the Magic Mountain section in Shoshone basin will be built, except for seven miles of unimproved road between Rock creek community and the forest service boundary. The two and one-half mile, to cost an estimated $18,000, will be financed jointly by the highway district, federal government and the state. Federal funds will pay for 62 per cent, highway district money 20 per cent and state funds of highways 18 per cent.

Call for bids by the state is anticipated in the near future, so construction may start by next spring. Details of maintenance and right-of-way have been completed, according to Director Elmore.

Similar action on the seven-mile link between Rock creek and the forest service boundary is awaiting approval of the present expenditure by the federal roads administration on a priority basis.

Store Owners Report Great Buying Spree

By JUANITA BAKER

With only two more shopping days left until Christmas, Twin Falls merchants are totting up a greater volume of sales this year than during the first post-war Christmas buying spree, say seven of eight representative entrepreneurs.

Believing the trade will hold up until the last minute, one store owner reported his business 70 per cent greater than December, 1945, although buyers are seeking "practical gifts" such as bedding, appliances, jewelry and robes.

Reasons Given

Attributing to increased sales are "more merchandise offered," "name brands coming back on the market," and "better quality of products."

The lone dissenting opinion was expressed by a sporting goods merchant who declared that "sales have been necessary for the first time since before the war. But one drug store here said, 'This is the best month of the year we've been in business.'"

Quality, rather than availability, has become of paramount importance, all businessmen contend. To the query, "Are people hard to please?" the answers ranged from, "They don't hesitate on the price to long as the brand is well-known" to "Yes, they are quite particular."

Shopped Early

Regarding the duration of the buying season, most store managers think the heavy buying has been done, and that people shopped early due to shortages. As for men's clothes put it, "Only the milkman's gift is yet to be bought."

As usual the "battle of the sexes" raged in the 1945 shopping bout. Some marketmen ventured the opinion, "The women's trade is already done. The men have just begun."

Bilbo Witness Faces Charges For Contempt

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—Attorneys for the Senate investigating committee said today they have asked for authority to file contempt charges against Edward P. Terry, former secretary of Senator Bilbo, D. Miss.

The action is based on Terry's refusal to tell the committee what became of $15,000 which he said a New York gave him to use against Bilbo in the Mississippi election this year.

Committee counsel must obtain permission of the president pro tem, McKellar, D. Tenn., and then pass the contempt complaint along to the federal district attorney here for presentation to a grand jury.

Penalties for contempt of the senate range up to a year in jail and $1,000 fine.

Chairman Mead, D. Ky., directed George Meader, counsel for the committee, also to push a perjury charge against Terry.

The former secretary testified he got the $15,000 from Elmon Liberman of New York to back any opponent who could defeat Bilbo this year.

Unable to find such an opponent, Terry said, he then was told to give the funds to anyone who opposed Bilbo in the run-off primary.

But he mustered a majority over his four opponents in the final primary and there was no run-off. So, Terry said, he handed the cash back to Liberman.

Senator Ferguson, R. Mich., declared this was impossible because Liberman died several months before Terry's bank accounts showed the money repaid. Terry said he was "confused" and declined to tell who received the funds.

Piling Leaves for Soils Experiment

These three Kimberly high school youths are shown at the Twin Falls city dump piling leaves, sawdust and other organic matter lying useless for a composting experiment in an effort to increase the organic content of southern Idaho soil. Left to right are Dallen Nelson, Jack White and Gilbert Garaneli. Their instructor, Mahlin S. Hansen, has suggested a plan to install equipment at the dump to convert waste matter into fertilizer. Kimberly Educator Has Plan To Use Waste for Fertilizer

By BOB LEERIGH

A plan to utilize a large share of waste organic matter at the Twin Falls city dump Saturday was suggested by Mahlin S. Hansen, vocational agriculture instructor at Kimberly high school.

Pointing out that soil analyses conducted by Kimberly students show the organic matter of poor yielding soils averaged only one-half per cent, Hansen declared that many of the leaves, tree limbs, potato vines and other plants discarded at the city dump easily could be converted into fertilizer.

To Experiment
Hansen said that arrangements have been made with the city to set aside a portion of the city dump area for the dumping of organic matter only and for treatment of the waste matter with decaying bacteria periodically to hasten composting.

"It would be a simple matter to install a rotating tubular bin at the dump in which questionable organic matter could be quickly and cheaply sterilized," Hansen said. "Wheat seed in the organic matter also could be killed."

"During the process other fertilizing elements, such as nitrogen, could be added, making a more balanced fertilizer," Hansen also pointed out that additional nitrogen must be added under with most organic matter in order to realize value from it.

Cites Tests
Hansen said tests completed by the Kimberly students show that organic matter should comprise at least three per cent of the soil and that it profitably can be maintained as high as seven per cent.

Kimberly students now are conducting experiments on the composting of leaves, sawdust and other waste organic matter at the city dump, Hansen indicated.

The agriculture instructor pointed out that the first step in the rehabilitation of fertility of depleted soils in this area is the establishment of a proper organic content of the soil.

North Side Writer Protests To Williams on Road Project

Editor, Times-News:
 Excerpts of my letter to Gov. Arnold Williams follow:
 "Dear Governor Williams:
 "I should like to enter a personal protest against the present construction and expenditure of state highway funds on the bridge built from Clear Lake bridge to Danbury not springs in Twin Falls county."

"I find, from interviews with persons of the area and from personal observations of the terrain over which the road is to be built, that only a few families will be served by the road, and that the majority of the families now having immediate access to present good highways at each end of the proposed highway and these immediately having access to good country roads. Not a single farm along this route appears to be without adequate road facilities.
 "Buhl highway district, according to the state's statement, is putting up not to exceed $4000 of the cost of this project and that constitute principally of fencing the road after construction. The road is not, and probably never could be, a federally approved farm to market road under which the state would receive approximately 60 per cent aid. Thereafter the state is obligated to pay the entire cost of this road, now estimated at $35,000 currently. Members of the Buhl highway district are protesting saying they want the road principally to have access to a gravel deposit."
 "For 15 years Jerome county has waited for the state to fulfill its own contract to properly maintain the state highway road. The report has always been the state had no funds. This fall the state entered into an agreement with Jerome county highway district, wherein the state would resurface 48 miles of this highway and oil same if the district would

"I believe any funds now on hand should be used to discharge present pressing contracts, long ago entered into by the state.
 "As a citizen and taxpayer I am entering my protest in stopping construction on this project and in petitioning public funds for more worthy projects."

Native Idahoans Should Get Top School Jobs, She Urges

Editor, Times-News:
 As to giving the five members of the state board of education more authority, permitting them to hire the state superintendent of schools, and select him from anywhere in the United States, I believe it would only continue to centralize our educational work and retard our present slow progress. It is my opinion that the board of education as now constituted is a good one. It is made up of many of our educational trouble. They already have too much to do. When five persons appointed by a governor, have the authority over all the schools of higher education, including the president and 38 teachers, have the certification of teachers and all the other educational matters of the state and schools, why change their title from state board of education to "board of regents" or "board of trustees"? It call centralization of power. Some would give these five persons more authority to select a state superintendent, set his salary and outline his duties, etc. Others would change the school district boundaries changed by a state committee appointed by these five persons, giving this committee the sole right of decision as to the fairness of such change.
 The state board of education was very active in the promotion of the teachers' retirement act and were on the committee of the recent Teachers' survey.
 The condensed survey does suggest that the state superintendent be appointed by the state board, but many pertinent recommendations mentioned in the complete survey are omitted from the condensed version. Page 21 of the complete survey reads—"Selection of the chief state school officer on a non-partisan ballot would be far superior to any system of election on a partisan political basis." (Our supreme court members are elected by this method.)
 Higher education is the part of our school system that is most in need at this time. We pay the school expense up to college entrance. Many students now leave the state for two or three years for advanced education and often do not return to serve Idaho.
 We are told somewhere in the survey that the higher education depends on the work of the elementary school and the elementary school depends on the school of higher education. It would therefore seem that if we are neglecting our higher education and that more attention should be directed toward such higher education and training.

"If we cannot afford to erect buildings for higher education, we can do as some other states have done (Gowa for example) and place a teacher training course in our high schools and junior colleges, also establish junior colleges wherever possible.
 "Our state board insists that the elementary schools must have first consideration if a change is to be made, but I would say that first consideration and change should be in the Idaho state board of education... a board of regents appointed by schools of higher education.
 "My contention is that the Idaho state board of education should be subject to a decided change; the state superintendent should be elected on a non-partisan ticket and I hope that our incoming legislature will take this matter into consideration in making new laws during the 1947 session.
 "Those best qualified to cope with the problems of Idaho's education are the ones who live here and have been contacting our actual problems and have a working knowledge of our needs.
 "Instead of going so strong for a state superintendent from outside our state, and continuing to hand 'permit' teachers to our children, let us rectify our entire system of education for teacher training here at home before it is too late. School days for many come only once, and it is now or never!

Farmers' Union Finds Defender In Burley Region

Editor, Times-News:
 I do not approve of unions, associations, labor organizations, etc. I am a member of the Communist Party of the United States, and I am convinced that they are merely constituted pressure groups which have no other purpose than to oppress their respective groups with little if any thought for the good of the nation as a whole.
 On the other hand, when I go anti-labor I shall merely bite myself. I believe in the right of every man to work for his own living, and I believe in the right of every man to be paid for his work. I believe in the right of every man to be paid for his work. I believe in the right of every man to be paid for his work.

Eden Man Offers Probe Quotes To Bolster Charges on Union

Editor, Times-News:
 In reply to the Dec. 8 letter of Sam Kistler alias Peter Spryman, Buhl, Lake City, I say facts are stubborn things. When some people don't like facts they usually try to drag a red herring across the trail in order to confuse the reader's judgment.
 Since he could not refute the facts he fell back on the usual defense and started me with a barrage of words which included "unfounded," "untruthful," etc. He admitted however, "We've got some of them (communists) in this country, but are not a communist nation." That is no fault of the communists or their fellow travelers.
 (A fellow traveler is a person whose ideas of government and society coincide with the communist's. To prove my assertion, I will quote a few additional excerpts taken from the "Communist Party Manifesto," part IX, Communist Organizational (1944).
 "The communist party, USA, has given categorical instructions to its members to take the most active part in the Farmer Educational and Cooperative Union, and to work for the securing of the adoption of a communist program and leadership by this farmers' organization, otherwise known as the Farmers' union. Every district of the party must work to have this program become the property of the National Farmers' union. In the Farmers' union, November central committee plenum for enlargement of the communist party, June 1937, and published in the 'Communist' Oct. 1937. In its efforts to secure control of the Farmers' union, the communist party forces were instrumental in securing the permission and interlocking with other farm organizations under communist control.
 "Evidence of this is to be found in Labor Fact book III published by the Labor Research Association headed by Robert N. Dunn, Grace Hutchins and Anna Rochester identified as communists by numerous witnesses and by the files of various communist publications.
 "The United Farmers' league with headquarters in Chicago still, was organized in 1926 as a federation of all farm organizations which support its class struggle program. In 1935, members of the United Farmers' league decided to merge their local organizations with those of other farm organizations. In some cases members of its locals were expelled, principally from the Fairfield Vacation.
 FAIRFIELD VACATION

POT SHOTS

CHOO CHOO
 Dear Potito:
 Robert DeShur, the Boy Scout executive, was in Wendell the other day and two elderly gent in Tinglewall's called him aside after they closed the store at 8 p. m. They invited Robert into the store basement "to show him something."
 In the basement of the store was set up a complete electric train, with an elaborate outfit of tracks, tunnels and switches. The two gent explained that they came down to the basement after closing time to tinker with the train.
 Asked why they didn't put it in the store's windows, they answered: "Someone's boy it is and we wouldn't have anything to play with."

 Dear Potito: I noticed the Toastmaster's topic the other night was "American Women" and Mitch Hunt spoke about the Virgin Mary. Isn't that stretching the point? First Serious Rift Reported In GOP Row WASHINGTON, Dec. 21 (AP)—The first serious rift in Republican ranks since the party won the congressional elections broke into the open today with a demand that presidential candidates keep hands off the house leadership contest.

Rep. Thomas Jenkins of Ohio objected in a formal statement to attempts by outsiders to dominate the American congress.

Rep. Dewey, who telephoned his remarks primarily at Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's endorsement of Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana for the house floor leadership, but he said they apply as well to "any presidential aspirant."

Senator Taft or Senator Bricker, too, although I don't think they'd try it.

Jenkins is one of three announced candidates for the leadership position to be vacated by Rep. Joseph W. Martin, Jr., of Massachusetts when he becomes speaker of the house on Jan. 3.

The others are Halleck and Rep. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, neither of whom was in Washington when Jenkins let loose his blast at the New York governor's night.

A fourth representative, Clarence J. Brown of Ohio, has announced his availability for the leadership but has not formally declared his candidacy.

While observers long had seen the leadership struggle as a jockeying for position for the GOP presidential nomination, Jenkins was the first member of the party to label it openly as such.

Jenkins reiterated his intention to remain in the race until it is settled by the Republican caucus on Jan. 2.

Yesterday ... and Today

Miss Riley's heart was young and gay when she purchased the first sedan in Twin Falls. Dressed in sturdy boots, breeches and gloves, Miss Riley was all out for comfort when she drove her seven passenger auto.

BPW Sprang From Efforts of Evangelist to Get Audience

By MARTHA MACNAMARA

Do you know that a traveling evangelist was indirectly responsible for the organization of the Twin Falls Business and Professional Women's club? Well, she was, declares Etta Riley, first charter member of the club.

The spy, sparkling-eyed woman, who operated a profitable millinery business in Twin Falls for 25 years, chuckled as she recalled the first meeting of the club called because a woman evangelist traveling through the state wanted the business women in Twin Falls to attend her lectures.

Of course, this was important because, by the time we were through work and ate supper it was always too late. So one night she hired a woman to cook dinner for us. We turned out in full force.

Not only was she present for the organization meeting of the BPW club, but Miss Riley was right in the front row when cars came on the market. She holds the distinction of owning the first sedan in Twin Falls.

"My, my, buying that sedan was quite an event," the early resident recalled. "There were only two in the state. The public felt that they were impractical for traveling, with their fancy tops and all. The majority of the people felt that the sedan could only be used in the city. My car was called a 'convertible' because it had a top that could be put up or taken down. It was a real novelty at the time."

A seven-passenger Hudson and cost $1,800.

Came in 1910

Miss Riley and her sister, the late Stella Riley, came to Twin Falls in 1910 from Illinois and entered the millinery business. Their shop was the first business to be in the Twin Falls East and Trust building which had just been erected. The Priebe Jewelry store was located where the Sturges store stood in the spot now occupied by the Idaho Department store.

Comparing modern hats with the other millinery business, and the 1910 numbers, Miss Riley smiled. "We wouldn't have thought of wearing the dinky little things the women call hats nowadays."

Sedan Aids Work

The sedan proved quite an asset to the millinery business, and the two sisters jauntily set out on buying trips to Seattle, Portland and California.

"Later we traveled through Yellowstone park. Another time we drove to Arrowrock dam above Boise. Those were the days when the road to the dam was in really bad condition," she reminisced.

Building a cabin on Warm Springs 10 miles above Ketchum was another venture tackled by Miss Riley in the early days. Incidentally, she still owns the cabin.

Politically Alert

Taking an alert interest in politics until a few years ago, Miss Riley still has a soft spot in her heart for the Democratic party.

This retired Twin Falls business woman celebrated her 55th birthday anniversary Dec. 15 at her home. BPW club representatives called to present their charter member with a rosette corsage. Later in the day a family dinner was served.

GOAL $17,000

$12,083.25

$12,083 Raised by Community Chest

The Community Chest total crept up to $12,083.25 by Saturday evening as contribution reports slackened off because of the Christmas rush.

Ma Catherine Potter, secretary, said.

She reported $31 was turned in by the chest drive headquarters in the Idaho Power lobby Saturday.

Goal for the drive is $17,000. Participating in the revenue from the campaign are the Camp Fire girls, Boy Scouts, Salvation Army, YWCA and Parent-Teacher association hot lunch program.

Building permit applications for the past week slumped to near rock bottom as the total equaled $1,802.30, lowest previous total was recorded the first week of September, $3,450.

Despite the downward trend of building applications filed, optimism was evidenced in the application filed by R. L. Bailey, route one, to erect a 12 by 24 one-family dwelling at Borah avenue and Quincy street at a cost of $400. Construction would be of cinder blocks.

Ersatz Santa Finds Racket Has Bad Side

Clara is the tormenting one must take from boys and girls who are old enough to think there isn't a Santa Claus. High school-age girls continually would walk by and request Cary Grant, Clark Gable, Robert Taylor, etc. One little boy attempted to pull Santa's beard.

Santa caught him in the act, though. Another boy about 12 years old continually would poke Santa in his pillow.

But what cut deepest, were the cries of "fakers" launched by a group of boys. It made Santa feel that Christmas is for the younger kids and that people should respect their beliefs in the old fellow from the North Pole.

Most girls wanted dolls or doll buggies, but Donna Katherine Ginn whispered softly in Santa's ear as mama couldn't hear that she wanted Kris Kringle to bring her mama a new dress.

Not Choosing Little Dickie Tompkins asked for a baby sister, but when his grandmother told him he already received a baby sister Thursday evening, Dickie switched his desires to a dump truck.

Magic Valley papers must be in electric on playing with an infant for Christmas, because the majority of the boys confided to Santa that they want trains. None admitted, however, that the trains was the motivating force behind the request.

Santa received a down-the-nose look from one little girl. She already had talked to him and in the confusion of youngsters she was singled out again.

"I've already told you what I want," she said in a tone of voice that said she was not to be trifled with to remember what thousands of youngsters throughout the United States wanted. Santa beat a quick retreat.

Daughter Unimpressed Among the hundreds of Twin Falls youngsters to ask Santa for a month-old Sherry Gays Leight. She was unimpressed by the whole thing. She said she didn't care what she looked like and she didn't care what she didn't want.

More youngsters joined the crowd and thrilled mamas still pushed bashful frightened youngsters to the back of the line. It kept getting hotter and hotter behind the mask and whiskers. Finally, a tired, but wiser, Santa frankly wrote a note to Photographer Brown.

"Don't we have to go homeplace now?" Photographer Brown came to the rescue.

Teen Agers Net Large Loot

John Brown, county probate officer, is shown here looking over part of the loot recovered by city and county officers Friday from six Twin Falls boys. Four youths gathered the automobile accessories, part of which is shown here, and two other boys surrendered 30 miscellaneous items "lifted" from 15 local stores. (Staff photographing)

Enough booty to fill the back-end of a pickup truck was recovered by city and county officers Friday when the apprehension of four teen-agers. Another 30 miscellaneous articles including knives, golf balls and two pistols were recovered from two other boys.

The general round-up of stolen articles taken by the foursome comprised a list of auto accessories ranging from tires and tubes to chrome strips off car bodies—everything loose on an automobile.

"Where, hub caps, fender skirts, fog lights, antennas—some deliberately broken off, rear vision mirrors, clearance lights of all kinds and descriptions, and wolf tails are among the items recovered," Police Chief Howard Gillette said.

Two 450 by 16 tires, one auto and the other implement, stolen only Wednesday from the Idaho Bank and Elevator company storage room were recovered. This offense including breaking and entering a building and counts under the classification of first degree burglary, a felony, Gillette said.

"Investigation of these thefts involved bringing in individuals who bought some of the articles," Gillette explained. "Local citizens who purchased this stolen property didn't seem to understand that its receipt involved a felony. It is an unwise practice to purchase anything when its origin is questionable."

Some of the booty recovered included articles taken from purchasers at a loss to them of the purchase price. A trip to Boise by the four youths had been planned to dispose of loot not sold here, according to local officers.

Unique use of a half dozen rear vision mirrors was made by the youths. Six were attached to one car. Four more, apparently for want of room, were loose inside the car.

"Entering 'burly,' 'slow,' and other light signs had been added to the boys' collection somewhere along the road.

"Most of the articles can be identified and will be returned to owners at an early date," Gillette said. In regard to the comparatively minor thefts by the two boys, the 30 articles had been stolen from 15 Twin Falls stores. The boys returned the items Saturday.

Judge Favors Divorce Plea Of Buhl Man

John P. Anderson, Buhl farmer, will be granted a decree of divorce against Emily Anderson, district court records showed Saturday as Judge James W. Porter submitted his memorandum decision in the case. The hearing, conducted here recently, was behind closed doors. The charge was cruelty.

Judge Porter also granted Carrie Morgan an uncontested decree of divorce against Ralph Morgan following a hearing here. Mrs. Morgan will receive two lots in Buhl and the plaintiff will receive a 1938 coupe, under a property settlement agreement.

Three children will become beneficiaries of Morgan's $3,000 life insurance policy, under terms of the agreement.

The marriage took place Nov. 14, 1914, in Harlan county, Neb. Mrs. Morgan charged desertion.

In the Anderson case, Judge Porter noted he was denying Mrs. Anderson's cross-complaint for divorce on a charge of cruelty.

In his study of community property, Judge Porter ruled to be the separate property of Anderson: 40-acre farm two miles south of Buhl; cattle, auto, chickens and proceeds certificates for shares of preferred interest in the Idaho Egg Producers' co. rents, and furniture in his possession.

Mrs. Anderson will receive furniture in her possession, a community interest in $12,125 face value U.S. savings bonds, and $200 cash in her possession.

The plaintiff was ordered to pay $250 attorney fees for the defendant. Judge Porter instructed counsel for Anderson to prepare findings of fact, conclusion of law and the decree.

The marriage took place Dec. 23, 1924, at Cincinnati, O. They have a daughter, 17.

Three other decrees of divorce were signed here by Judge Porter. Each plaintiff alleged cruelty.

Michael William De Matteis, stationed with the army at Shumway, Alaska, was divorced by Ruth De Matteis. The marriage took place Aug. 13, 1945, at Glendale, Calif.

Joseph W. Lowder divorced Helen Lowder. The marriage took place June 18, 1942, at Wells, Nev.

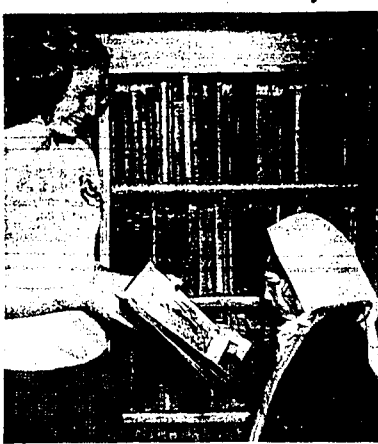

Ray D. Barnes divorced Margaret D. Barnes. They married Sept. 7, 1935, at Kimball, Neb.

Rupert Club Hears Educational Report

RUPERT, Dec. 21—Willard Hayward, principal of the Pioneer school, discussed the Peabody Educational survey at a recent meeting of the Rotary club here. He stressed the need for equalization of taxes in districts and pointed out the favorable aspects of consolidation of school districts.

Supt. Dafoe also spoke on the survey and answered questions from the group.

Children Are Choosey

Because nearly half the books circulated at the city library each month are checked out by children, their preferences require and obtain the same attention as grown-ups. Here, June McConley, 7, daughter of Mrs. Willie McConley, 41 Washington courts, doesn't seem to share the enthusiasm of Norma Fink over the proffered volume. Miss Fink, high school senior, assists in the library after classes. Children withdrew 4,305 of the 8,812 books circulated in November. (Photo by John Price-staff engraving)

Fortune Paid In Ohio Town In Big Bonus

SCIO, O., Dec. 21 (AP)—This village of 1,400 was a potential "boom town" today as 27 Scio-Ohio pottery employees pondered how to spend—or save—$700,000 in Christmas bonus checks from their boss, L. P. Reese, a relief recipient 14 years ago.

The Scio bank was ready for a rush of business, and Cashier William Hughes observed happily: "This will play the chickens with the notes at our bank."

Given at Party
The money was handed out at a pre-holiday surprise party last night.

Interviews with many who received the maximum bonus of $2,000 indicated that much of the money would be used to pay debts, increase savings and buy bonds.

The 53-year-old Reese, who was penniless in 1932 when he began building an abandoned pottery into a $3,000,000 plant explained his gift thus:

"I've got all the money I need, and my ambition is to keep my employees the highest paid pottery workers in the world."

Pay Increased, Too
Along with the bonus, he announced a 10-cent-an-hour increase in wages, with a $1 hourly minimum for unskilled workers.

To 88 men and women who had been with his pottery for at least 10 of its 14-year existence, Reese gave bonuses of $2,000. The average bonus was $225.50, and the smallest, $10 for new employees.

Laymen's League Meets at Rupert

RUPERT, Dec. 21—Men of the Christian churches of southern Idaho held the quarterly meeting of the Eastern District Laymen's league at the local church. The Rev. Cecil Weaver, Buhl, spoke on the topic: "The Group, the Victim and the Task."

During the business session the group went on record opposing the relaxation of present liquor laws and favoring stricter enforcement. Dinner was served by the women of the Universal club of the local church.

O. M. Mitchell presented the program which consisted of Christmas songs by a high school mixed quartet, vocal selections by Mrs. Edith Corless and group singing conducted by D. L. Carlson.

The next meeting will be held at the Gooding Christian church.

$600 Stolen From Glenns Ferry Club

GLENN'S FERRY, Dec. 21—Sam's club in Glenn's Ferry was burglarized of about $600 cash and prizes as well as a shotgun and a 22 rifle early Thursday morning, according to Deputy Sheriff John Willis. Also taken were a slot machine, blanket, silverware as well as the contents of the cash register and the guns.

RUPERT, Dec. 21—Clifford W. Cox, a railroad employee here, who was injured in an accident last month, has been taken to a Pocatello hospital for treatment on a crushed and broken limb.

CIO Starting Legal Actions For Back Pay

By The Associated Press
The CIO has started legal fight in several cities to collect partial back pay and damages in excess of $100,000 and a union official in Detroit predicted future suits in that area would approach the billion dollar mark.
Filing of the suits followed a favorable decision last June by the U. S. supreme court in a suit started by the CIO against the Mt. Clemens (Mich.) Pottery company for such sums as the 1935 fair labor standards act.
In the Detroit area, Richard T. Leonard, vice-president of the CIO, United Auto Workers and the union's national Ford director, predicted the filing of suits against 600,000,000 from Detroit area employers, including claims of $770,000,000 against Ford.
UAW attorneys said a suit asking $600,000 from the Briggs Manufacturing company would be on file in the Detroit federal court "by Monday at the latest."
Suits seeking a total of $100,000,000 have been filed in the Cleveland district court and at Pittsburgh, the CIO has started legal action seeking at least $120,000,000 for 120,000 steel workers.
Suits seeking $50,000,000 in behalf of 5,500 workers were filed in four Midwest cities Friday.

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

By INEZ PUCKETT MEWEN

MEWEN

The Panama hat lies in a trunk in the attic. Once it belonged to an old chap named Irving Darrow, who with a group of other early settlers in Magic Valley, called themselves "The Homeless Twenties." These men once ordered Panama hats from a Twin Falls haberdashery then known as Strauss and Claiborne. The hats were wide-brimmed, elegant, and the real McCoy. Among the "Homeless Twenties" who sported them were John Hayes, the city engineer of Twin Falls, and Judge Sam Hamilton. What happened to the other members and their hats we don't know. Judge Hamilton says his did noble service for awhile and then, after being worked on by a local dry cleaner, he decided to get rid of it. Irving Darrow's hat served its master faithfully for a decade. When the old gentleman tired of its flourishing brim and rich band, he gave it to a young man in his family. This was in 1925. The young man wore the skypiece to university classes. After one look, the students began calling him "Mint-Julep Mac."

They swore the hat had gone through the Civil War on the southern side of course. "It's from Kentucky," they would say. "Where the land is full of colonies and the colonies are full of corn!"

Once a year the Panama went into a Los Angeles shop for overhauling. The workmen always flattered over it. "Not quality," they would say reverently. "It's telling you matter, today, they don't make like this!" Once they narrowed the brim and put a different band on. That was in 1935. The hat did a lot of traveling that year—saw Quebec, New Orleans, Seattle, and Mexico. Everywhere it went men looked at it with curious eyes. Having started with a brilliant bunch like "The Homeless Twenties," it was a gallant hat, and lay lovingly in the hand when its owner uncovered for the dead or the flag. At sight of a lady it practically tipped itself.

One day a big-shot doctor who had been kind to "Mint-Julep Mac" looked at the Panama with watering mouth and said, "I can buy anything I want for myself but that hat, dammit, and that's out of my reach!" "Mint-Julep" removed the hat from his head and handed it over. "It's yours," he said.

For two summers the doctor wore the hat set at a jaunty angle on his graying head. When he died it disappeared and was forgotten. Then one night at a Legion meeting "Mint-Julep Mac" was flaunted to behold the Panama on the pate of a total stranger. He walked up and said, "Brother, I dunno how you got that hat, but it was mine once, and I want it back!" The stranger handed it over. "Just found it among doc's things," he muttered. "Too darn good to throw away!" This was in 1945. By now the old headgear was beginning to show a few cracks, and the best blocking couldn't quite restore its loveliness. Sometimes, alone in its box, it dreamed of young docs in Magic Valley, and "The Homeless Twenties" there in the little sagebrush town of Twin Falls. "I'm tired," it seemed to say. "I've done faithful service. Now I want to be retired to a closet shelf."

The hat came back to Magic Valley in 1946. All last summer it sat

On Brazil Mission

JAY R. FOWLES

... Oakley youth who has left for South America where he has accepted a call to serve as missionary for the LDS church in the Brazilian mission. Graduating from the Oakley high school in 1942, he attended the University of Idaho and spent two and one-half years in the service, one year of which was overseas. He is the son of Mrs. Inez M. Fowles. (Staff engraving.)

on the head of "Mint Julep Mac" and tried to look trim, and not too floored at the change in the old stamping ground. Then one day when one of Idaho's "unusual" breezes was rocking the land, "Mint Julep" felt the ancient skypiece suddenly turn him to the wind and take off. It sailed out of the car, over a fence, and into a pasture. His owner leaped to retrieve it. "Darned if this hat hasn't seen the world," he said. "It's been 'round here somewhere!" His wife took the hat and held it gently all the way home. "It's seen too much of life to just be thrown away," she said. So that's how come the hat of Irving Darrow, the old pioneer and member of Idaho's "Homeless Twenties," has been honorably retired from active service and now spends its last days among scent scented finery in an annex trunk.

Since so many of you want to know more about Coker, our mad Siamese, we will give what information we can. The veterinary in Twin Falls, an up-and-coming young man named Jackson, tells us that a lady over there owns a female Siamese. So far as we know, it is the only one in this vicinity besides our Coker. We fetched "The Morning Star of Siem" from California last January and he is now a year old. Lean, compact, very much like a small Cheshire. Honestly folks, we don't know of any place in Idaho where these Siamese cats are bred or sold commercially. They are creatures of warm climates.

Coker spends hours on his scrap of buffalo hide under the stove. His small cream-and-brown rump sticking out is very dry. He loves heat and bright light, and will battle to get close to either. He has a sassy air, and Coker loves to leap on this and go for a mad ride. You can hear the chair way off and complaining at all hours.

This funny little guy has a mania for grooming himself, the other animals and his masters. At the slightest excuse he will give a yell in Siamese, charge across the room, climb you, and begin to wash your hair or ears. He does not play as other cats do, but instead, crouches and circles, at the same time putting back his ears and turning his head up and sideways. This is accompanied by blood-curdling growl. It always worries the other animals into fits. They simply can't understand it.

Any kind of fur throws Coker clear off the beam. Several times he has climbed the closet wall to get our fur hat in his teeth and carry it about with awful snarl. On such occasions his bright blue eyes get a deep red. Once a lady came calling in a fur jacket. Before we knew it Coker had hurled himself on her, was busy eating the coat. We had to pry him off. We finally got him an old fur mitten which had once been part of a rabbit. He plays with this by the hour and keeps it hidden in a box in the corner of the kitchen. He will carry the mitten around the house, then put it down, and do high, airy leaps over it.

Many of Coker's ways are baffling. He is the most affectionate of animals yet given to moodiness and strange whims. Each dawn he comes in, springs from one twin bed to the other, as he utters weird yowls. He climbs our highest potters, going straight up them in a kind of lightning crouch. He is without fear of anything in this world.

We don't pretend to be an authority on the Siamese cat, and doubt if anyone could be, but to those readers who seem eager, we'll own one of these pets we would say—don't do it unless you have endless patience, a great love of animals and time to worry about a raw kidney and condensed milk diet.

A certain Idaho missionary was going to hold religious services at an Indian village. Before going to the meeting he said to the chief, who was his host, "Is it safe to leave my things in the lodge?" The Siamese nodded gravely. "Entirely safe," he said, "There is not a white man within 100 miles of here."
