A county-wide crackdown on violations of liquor and gambling laws will begin as soon as Sheriff-elect Brodn R. Rayborn files today, he declared today. Bank Official Finds Law of 1933 in Fight

BOISE, Jan. 16 (AP)—A 1933 law was cited today by President J. L. Driscoll of the First Security Bank of Idaho as key issue in the court controversy over issuance of a charter for a second bank in Rexburg, former home town of ex-Gov. Arnold Williams.

"The supreme court has been asked by Williams and his counsel to intervene in the issue after they were named defendants in a First Security countersuit," Driscoll said.

Driscoll noted that the 1933 law said in substance "no branch office of a bank may be established in a community served by banking facilities without the consent of the existing organization."

Consent Not Asked

"The applicant for the charter at Rexburg," Driscoll said, "proposes in its application to establish branches located at Rexburg, Ashton and Driggs."

Driscoll explained that "provision of the statute was intended when it was enacted to protect independent banks of the state from unfair competition by large banks."

Okay by CAA Opens Way For Bids to Be Called on Construction of Airport

Bids for the construction of the Twin Falls municipal airport will be let "as soon as possible," C. D. Hlat, secretary of the Twin Falls airport commission declared Friday afternoon when he heard that the civil aeronautics board has approved federal aid amounting to $387,905 for the airport.

Total cost of the airport, to be constructed four miles south of the city, will be $693,108. City taxpayers last June voted a $250,000 bond issue for the construction of the airport.

Hlat's message to the Republican caucus last evening was by Alexander and Hoffman of Boise, are "about 75 per cent complete" and "we hope call for construction bids as soon as they are completed."

Four civil aeronautics authority officials were in Twin Falls Friday afternoon conferring with Holmes Lash, architect for the $68,300 administration building, and members of the airport commission.

Dr. Orville Varty, Seattle, architect for the entire airport, expressed pleasure at hearing the approval for the airport here and said that plans would be ready for completion. Other members of the CAA party here were Hugh H. Hutchinson, chief of the planning section of the regional CAA office in Seattle; Bill Farrell, assistant district engineer from King, and Kenneth Sandberg, regional administrator.

Go to Busby

They were to leave Friday evening for Boise where they will return Tuesday to complete plans for the administration building and runway layout.

"This announcement insures construction of the airport as soon as the entire program is completed," Hlat declared. "This is what we were waiting for."

Hlat expressed pleasure that other cities in Magic Valley, including Jerome, Wendell, Hasbun, Durley and Teton, will receive federal funds under the federal airport plan. He pointed out that with other cities which share in receiving funds from which "shuttle service" could be arranged, it would enhance the importance of the Twin Falls airport.

CAA Approved

Mayor Bert A. Sreet was out of town and unavailable for comment. The airport commission member had expressed hopes that construction work on the airport would begin this spring and be completed by July.

Truman Calls for Balanced Budget in Next Fiscal Year

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP)—President Truman today called for a balanced budget for the coming year as he urged Congress to cut taxes and whittle away at the mammoth national debt.

Mr. Truman estimated $115,577,000,000—or nearly a third of the total—for national defense, and again ignored Republican demands that this item should be held to $100,000,000,000 or less.

But the chief executive, calling his budget "realistic" and "light," insisted that he had been "hard-bitten" than I like to be in enforcing his own economy demands.

His recommendations for 1947 include a $149,000,000 cut in his revised estimate on what it is for the budget he submitted just a year ago.

Even so, the President said the budget for 1947 will be $115,577,000,000—and with a $200,000,000 surplus. He said provided there are no tax cuts in the next 18 months.

He placed estimated income for the coming year at $137,700,000,000—a drop of $3,200,000,000 from the current fiscal year.

In addition to reiterating his plea for Congress to leave wartime income tax rates in effect, Mr. Truman urged Congress to cut taxes.

1. Present a $1,200,000,000-year cut now scheduled to take effect July 1, unless Congress acts to postpone it.

2. Increase social rates sufficiently to wipe out the post office department's $322,000,000 operating deficit. The President did not specify the rates to be raised, but said:

With carryovers of funds voted by the last Congress, this would make available $200,000,000 available for reclamation construction during the coming year.

The budget message sent Congress stated that the new requests contemplated continuing work at "a conservative but economic rate" on 22 projects now under way.

Reclamation bureau officials said they carryover from past appropriations by Congress should be somewhere between $70,000,000 and $100,000,000 as of July 1, the beginning of the fiscal year.

President Truman said that the 1948 reclamation program contemplated limiting new appropriations to projects for which initial funds were made available in prior years, and would be made in the fiscal year 1949 that is 1948.

"This upward trend in public construction deserves careful consideration," he said.

There were indications that these suggestions will apply to the 1947 fiscal year. The 1947 fiscal year are shown in brackets.

Rolland, Ida. ($250,410) $2,620,000.

Projects for which no additional appropriations were recommended:

Solons Given Senate's Bills On Insurance

BOISE, Jan. 10 (AP)—Creation of a state department of insurance and broader state regulation of insurance were proposed in the legislative program introduced today in the 29th legislature.

Additional legislative proposals sponsored today had urged new insurance laws and recommended the legislature assume control of insurance regulation. The legislation proposed by an interim committee appointed by the last legislature.

Under the bill insurance regulation has been urged because the federal government Jan. 1, 1946 will assume control of insurance regulation "not regulated by state law."

'Sound Beam' May Guide Blind

A "sound beam" developed by three students at the College of the Holy Cross, may prove to be a valuable aid to blind persons.

The device, still in the testing stage, is displayed by Victor Twersky, who with Alfred Didea and Hilda Lazar, worked it out. Designed to detect obstacles in the path of the blind, it emits a beam of sound that is reflected back from obstacles to blind person.

Bright Hopes For Peace in Indies Vanish

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 10 (UP)—One of the brightest hopes for colonial peace in the Indies was dimmed this week in The Netherlands East Indies.

On Sumatra, the small island of Palembang was the scene of a three-day battle, American and Dutch forces with artillery and forced them to withdraw beyond a 12-mile radius from the town.

Refineries Wrecked

Among the fumes lingered the faint smell of the petroleum that once flowed into Palembang's great refineries and came out gasoline, kerosene, fuel oil and wax. As the Dutch recaptured the area after a three-day battle, American and Dutch engineers could go back to repairing the refineries which they wrecked in 1942 just before the Japanese arrived.

The Dutch had shown once more how hard it is to make a complicated, long-term scheme for a peace settlement in the Indies. Indonesian plan for independence—operate in an atmosphere charged with impatient nationalism.

Truce Failed

For one thing, the truce agreement, which was not working well, the Dutch said it broke down when local Indonesian commanders refused to observe occupation lines.

Behind the Palembang blow-up may be a certain long-range tension over oil, though not necessarily about the Palembang refineries themselves.

Solon Protests Reverend Label

BOISE, Jan. 10 (AP)—Rep. Jesse Vetter, Scotchman by birth and a peace advocate, today protested that it is unfair to the ministerial association for me to be designated a reverend.

Vetter took the floor of the house to explain that he had been "mis-represented in a newspaper as being reverend instead of representative. He referred to a typographical error that made the prefix of his name 'Rev.' Vetter instead of 'Rep.' Vetter.

"Two years ago," Vetter said, "I was described me as a Republican from Scotchland. In the last election I was described as a communist from the south by the Highline canal, on the east by U. S. 9, on the north by U. S. 30 and the west boundary is three miles west of Piler.

'Amazed'

Federal Judge Frank A. Picard, of Detroit, says he is "amazed" at the current swarm of union demands for portal-to-portal pay.

But 1946 brought many gains. They included increased health, educational and financial aid and improved machinery for handling Indian affairs and claims.

One substantial benefit was Alaska to the interior department for the year of 1946, when income was the site of a 200-bed tuberculosis sanatorium and a 600-pupil vocational high school.

Indians who served in the armed forces complained of discrimination against them on their return to civilian life. The year's end saw them still fighting for the right to vote in New Mexico and Arizona where it is denied to them.

Eskimo Tribe Remits Funds For Starving

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (UP)—The interior department reported this way: "The little Eskimo village of Unalakleet in Alaska, whose hunger is not unknown sent a $46 check to UNRRA for buy food for the starving people of other lands."

Unalakleet is not unknown among the Indians of New Mexico, but nine Pueblos in that state offer to "share their scanty stock of grain with hungry people abroad," the interior department reported today.

Poorly Known

Though willing to share with others, many American Indians live close to poverty. Commissioner of Indian Affairs William A. Brophy said in an annual report that in the year of 1946, when income was relatively high, one-third of Indian families received less than $500.

When household income is low, work and family dependency allowances, the income of many Indian families dropped sharply.

But 1946 brought many gains. They included increased health, educational and financial aid and improved machinery for handling Indian affairs and claims.

Chickens to Face Close Order Drill

A chicken ranch in Durley is the plan of M/Gen. John G. Mikes, Jr., who retired from the army nine years ago after 30 years service.

General Mikes and his wife decided to make Maple Valley their home after he was stationed at Rupert during the war.

He served with the field artillery in World War I and was discharged in 1917. Recalling in the quarter-master corps in 1930, he has served continuously since. His assignments include Ft. Warren, Wyo., post of San Francisco, and the Rupert POW camp.

Grazing in Minidoka Forest Will Be Good, Sheepmen Told

BURLEY, Jan. 10.—Sheep will find good grazing this season in Minidoka national forest, because of the mild winter this has been. Forest Superintendent A. E. Briggs told 30 members of the Minidoka national forest woodworkers association meeting here last night.

Prospects for a top-notch growth of grass are good because the ground is wet and there's a thick blanket of snow over the area, he explained.

Elected officers of the association by its members who hold 10-year grazing permits for forest access are: Dan Cavanaugh, Twin Falls, president; Eugene Pickett, Oakley, vice president; John Noh, Twin Falls, secretary-treasurer.

Only new shepherds named to the five-man board of directors was Ira Butters, Burley. For Cassia east division, replacing Garnett Edd, Burley. Directors re-elected were Robert Blackstock, Piler, Cassia west division, replacing Garnett

QUESTIONS—The writer frequently receives many interesting and provocative questions from readers. It is obviously impossible to answer them all.

Question: Does the government actually own and operate the coal mines? Answer: The coal mines are owned and operated by private individuals.

HOUSING—Question: In view of the housing shortage at Washington, how and where are all the new members of the house and senate as well as new congressmen and senators?

Answer: Haven't you known? There are hardly any available homes or rentals in the nation's capital.

TICKET—Question: What is your best guess as to the Republican ticket in 1948? Answer: It is difficult to say at this time.

Answer: By all counts, James Francis Byrnes, ex-governor of South Carolina, is the most likely candidate.

TAXES—Question: Will the Republican congress reduce personal income taxes in 1947? Answer: Yes, the GOP leaders, with a few exceptions, are in favor of it.

ENTHUSIASTIC—Any reaction, however, will probably be staggered as to the great relief to folk in the lower brackets.

Present talk suggests that they might give a five per cent cut to those making between $20,000 and $30,000.

House members, who must run every two years, are more enthusiastic for tax relief than the senators.

Views of Others: Noting that Gov. C. A. Robins has been having difficulty in persuading good men to accept some of the nation's jobs, the Blackfoot Bulletin observes:

It is proof that political jobs are among the poorest jobs there are, and also the best ones unless they can't find anything better.

As a general rule, people competent to handle most of the better Idaho political jobs are made twice as much money doing the same kind of work outside politics.

The employment of second-rate people will result in government. The average citizen will wonder the fact when he feels like asking his legislators to quit the salaries of public officials.

On the other hand, the condition should not be such that the average officer is forced to expend his salary, and not infrequently more than that, in the expense of office.

The unsavory business concerning Senator Theodore Bilbo has focused attention once again on the 14th amendment and the way in which it is enforced.

The 14th amendment provides that if any state denies the right of vote, in either national or state elections, of any male citizen who has been honorably discharged, the state shall be considered as an essential condition.

But don't worry. Nobody is going to do anything about it. If Bilbo is kicked out of the senate (and he won't be) it will go for that reason—Fascist! Keep your mouth closed when angry, advise a health expert. Unless you think you can lick everybody.

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S ANGLE

WASHINGTON—When Thomas F. Mealey was up for confirmation by the senate on his appointment to the post of chief justice of New Jersey in 1942, there was much complimentary testimony as to his high character.

Mealey finished his job in the bank case and in due time was nominated to the federal court. John Long, another Democrat, and a ball-balancing martyr, applied for the job.

Mealey was confirmed, however, never in a judicial position. He was confirmed in time he would find himself under cloud and questioning observations.

HYPOCRITES AGAIN—OR WHAT?

Now that a bill has been introduced to repeal a 1945 law legalizing slot machines, it remains to be seen if this session of the legislature will turn out to be just another farce.

Gov. C. A. Robins described this spurious piece of legislation as the means through which "the monstrosity known as the slot machine" accordingly or outlawed by a train of abuses well known to most of us.

Monstrosity is a mild word for this fling at legislative prostitution which would make it appear that all the clubs in which slot machines are flourishing these days are innocent non-profit affairs.

Even now, in connection with the proposed repeal of this ludicrous law, someone comes forth with the suggestion that the legislature establish a "heavy license" on all slot machines operated within the state.

Let's hope that at long last this legislature will be big enough to do one of two things—either legalize slot machines as "license them" accordingly or outlaw them altogether, with the legal terminology in either event written so there can be no doubt as to its meaning.

The same can be said of our liquor laws which are so ambiguous that enforcement is next to impossible. It's no coincidence that on night spots, night clubs, or whatever they were called in times past, are now popularly known as "social clubs."

"Social club" is a little ruse that successfully takes advantage of loopholes in our poorly-constructed two-faced statutes.

We do not propose to tell anyone whether we should have slot machines or night clubs, but we do contend that any member of the legislature with an ounce of sense or even a semblance of respect for law enforcement know what should be done.

When we go to court, we are made to appear stringent, but which actually are designed to accomplish the opposite purpose is a disgrace to the state.

The same is true of our 35-mile-per-hour maximum speed limit—a law no one observes, a silly regulation no one respects.

When we are going to quit pretending we are something or anyone else, why go on being hypocrites when it comes to such things as our moral standards, legal principles, law enforcement and the dignity of our courts?

Instead of fooling anyone, we are actually making monkeys of ourselves.

EDITORIAL RESPONSIBILITY

Henry Wallace, new editor of the New Republic, is no stranger to an editor's chair. He occupied one for a year at a time and then as chief editor of Wallace's Farmer.

When Bernard Baruch branded as false a New Republic story from Washington which identified him as one of the government string-pullers in the recent coal strike, Mr. Wallace replied: "He (Mr. Baruch) must know that I naturally had nothing to do with this story from Washington."

We don't see why Mr. Wallace assumes that Mr. Baruch or anyone else knows that an editor naturally has something to do with every story in his magazine or newspaper, inasmuch as he traditionally accepts responsibility for what appears in his publication.

Editor Wallace is not Orator Wallace, responsible only for his personality spots or written word. If he persists in the opposite belief, he may be in for some painfully embarrassing enlightenment in the future.

'LUXURY TAXES' ON DIVORCE Speaking of class legislation, that's the charge which the county clerk in Reno has hurled at the proposal that the state double the existing $2 marriage license fee and slap on a $5 divorce tax.

BOB HOPE

The official report in Alaska's general election showed a majority vote in favor of statehood for that territory.

It may be a good idea, but where it may be a good idea, they are going to get Eskimo congressmen who will stand all the hot air in Washington.

Just imagine campaigning for three days a week in a style; instead of kissing babies, the candidate will be a good round rumbunctious nose.

Why I should worry. If rubbing noses should ever sweep the country, I would be a great lover.

SCHOOLS GET BIDS TO PEP UP GAMES

At the weekly meeting of the high school pep club Wednesday, members decided that the organization would invite all schools whose basketball teams play here to bring their pep organizations to the games.

The organization will ask some of the larger schools to try to provide stunts for during the half-time of the games or for assemblies.

Also decided was that the Twin Falls school will play the home out-of-town basketball game this season. The club will go to Jerome, Idaho, to play the game.

Twelve non-active members were asked to resign so the club could fill their positions with new members. At the next weekly meeting the new members will be decided upon.

"They are told this lease was valuable, and while the city of St. Louis has a priority, we don't like the idea of buying back our own property."
