U. S. Seeks Pact Against Germany
BERLIN, March 8.—(AP)—Secretary of State George C. Marshall indicated today that a prime American objective in Moscow will be adoption of a four-power 40-year pact against Germany in order to give the United States guarantee to the world that the United States intends to maintain her responsibilities in Europe.

He emphasized at a news conference that such a treaty would provide a political framework within which the United States, Britain, France and Russia might develop the first peace pact with Germany. He would clear away many of the difficulties now blocking allied peace settlements for Germany and Austria, he said.

He stressed strongly the need for such a pact, which James P. Byrnes, former secretary of state, proposed originally for a 25-year period. Marshall recalled that Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov suggested informally later that the period be extended to 40 years.

A broad program designed to improve the nation's educational outlook was formulated by the congress board of managers after investigation by various committees.

Radio 'Libel' Bill Killed by Robins' Veto

BOISE, March 8 (AP)—Gov. C. A. Robins today vetoed a bill which would have exempted radio broadcasting stations from liability in certain cases under the law of libel and defamation.

It was the second measure passed by the 26th session which was disapproved by the governor. A previous veto was affixed to a bill dealing with the reduction of contents in newspaper legal publications.

Robins in a transmittal letter to Secretary of State J. D. Coy Price, explained his veto action as follows: "This bill is clearly class legislation and it does not seem desirable to relieve radio stations of liability for matter broadcast through its facilities, no similar exemption existing as to other means of communication."

The fact that a station could pass on an advance of the intended broadcast appears to offer sufficient protection to the station since it seems well established that the station is not liable for "ad lib" remarks by the speaker. Every safeguard should be maintained which will prevent libelous or defamatory material being broadcast. I am therefore exercising my power of veto with respect to this bill.

The proposed legislation would have exempted the station from liability "on account of having made its broadcasting facilities available to any person . . . in the absence of proof of actual malice on the part of such owner or operator."

Solons Clash Over Plan to Import Labor

WASHINGTON, March 8 (AP)—Republican senators clashed today over whether spending up to $12,000,000 to import farm labor from Mexico and other countries would constitute an agricultural subsidy.

The division of opinion developed before the senate agriculture committee, considering a bill approved last fall to control the labor importing program begun during the war to help farmers in labor-short areas.

Labor used in Idaho

Considerable imported labor has been used in Idaho and Utah.

"This is a subsidy," Senator Ken, R., Mo., told the committee. "With the war over now for two years, I think it's about time we got back to a system of free enterprise with the farmer and consumer paying the cost."

Ken's remarks drew sharp protests from two fellow Republicans, Senator Young of North Dakota and Aiken of Vermont.

The bill would create a subsidy if it set prices for the labor that would be higher than the market rate. It would also require that the labor be used in certain areas.

Ken's remarks drew sharp protests from two fellow Republicans, Senator Young of North Dakota and Aiken of Vermont.

What's It Like to be a Juror? T-N Writer Tells Experiences

By MARTHA MACNAMARA

Getting on a jury isn't the fate worse than death that it cracked up to be. Take it from this Times-News writer, who recently enjoyed the experience.

Getting my office work completed for the moment and racing against time to make it to the courtroom by "10 bells" was no small feat. Consider the fact that my secretary's shoes, I picked about the quiet courtroom before a very few eyes in the gallery, I was already disapproving my late arrival.

I slipped into my seat and took in the motley crowd of spectators, complete with shiny brass cuspidors and big pictures of Presidents suspended in their solemn splendor in this hall of justice.

Misses First Call

A true moment came when names of the jurors were called to form a panel for the first case. The drone of the clock seemed to be interrupted only by the blattling barking "No talking in the courtroom."

Glighly disappointed not to be chosen, this writer returned to her routine work until the next time.

The reporting for duty (like usual) the following week. I was again left out of the "chosen" list. However, the first challenge, however, and I became a full-fledged juror.

I felt very official as I settled in my chair, until my startled eyes rested on the juror sitting just inside the jury box. "Keep Your Eye Off the Rail!" Smothering my laughter, I pictured myself reclining in the chair with my feet draped nonchalantly over the forbidden area.

When the testimony began, my first conscious thought was a longing for my trusty pen and pencil. The very idea of retaining all the testimony in my "moggin'" was appalling. Concentrating ever so hard on the first witness, I gradually relaxed as the entire background and story of the case fell into place and fitted together like a jigsaw puzzle.

Clings to Handbag

A woman's best friend is her handbag. At least so it seemed when the testimony of the fairer sex shrank out of their coats before taking the stand, but unconsciously clung to their purses.

A bobby axer with a bored air momentarily disturbed the solemnity of the courtroom by referring to the directions in Twin Falls as "Calawampa."

Weigh Evidence

After receiving instructions from the judge, the jury retired to its deliberations. There my faith in the American public was more staunchly confirmed. All seriousness and business-like the jurors took the case step by step, looked at the evidence with care and arrived at what they sincerely believed to be the correct verdict.

En route to render our decision, murmured "I think we reached the right conclusion." Bristling, a juror standing near, fiercely declared, "I'm certain of it. Why I'd have stayed here all day and night rather than have permitted any other kind of a verdict."

Apache Mine Firm Readies Development

Hotel at Glenna Ferry, the Mammoth group, eight claims, and an option on the Middlesex group of nine claims; John Rulien, Glenna Ferry, the Hoffman claim; William Jones, Glenna Ferry, the Jimmy Lee claim; and Norma O. Roff, Glenna Ferry, the Norma O. claim.

The other portion of the company's holdings is located along the Little Snake river both above and below the Liberal range station.

The corporation's holdings in this area include those of the late Mr. Jones, Halley, a placer group of approximately eight claims; and Joe Friedrich, Halley attorney, and Joe Paul, Halley, eight placer claims under option and contract, located below the Liberal range station.

R. E. Sawyer, Los Angeles, is the senior engineer in grouping the holdings. Junior engineer is Joe Shiplan, Jerome. Both were said to be in title work, abstracting and mapping by Harry Jayne, San Francisco.

Describing the old Volcano mine near Hill City, Shiplan said the whole area has been prospected throughout the history of the region. Early-day prospectors searching for gold found the mine rich in lead and silver. A mill was hauled from Omaha to the Volcano district in 1888 or 1889, Shiplan said, with the concentrates being taken to a smelter in Salt Lake City.

Shiplan said the old Volcano mine brought about the founding of Old Soldier in particular, and of Fairfield to a lesser degree.

Frank Clark, who homesteaded in this region about 40 years ago, told Shiplan he worked on the Hawley group of claims previously mentioned, along in 1907 or 1908, and that hand-dredged ore averaged 120 ounces of silver per ton on a carlot basis.

Shiplan said the concentrates are said to have run between 1,200 and 1,400 ounces of silver per ton.

Idaho's Potato Harvest in '46 Misses Record

BOISE, March 8 (AP)—Idaho's 1946 potato crop of 41,180,000 bushels was the third largest on record, the bureau of agricultural economics of the U. S. department of agriculture announced today.

The total value of the crop, estimated at $77,244,000, was the fourth highest on record and marked the fourth consecutive year in which the crop value exceeded $50,000,000, the agency said.

In 1945 the Idaho production was 43,000,000 bushels valued at $63,500,000, with a 1944 yield of 31,500 acres. Better yields in 1946 were reported. First records were kept for the 1882-88 period when the annual potato production was 402,000 acres.

Bingham led the state's 44 counties in acreage harvested, the bureau reported, with a 1946 yield of 31,500 acres. Bonanzaville was second with 28,400 acres followed by Jefferson, 15,000; Fremont, 13,200; Twin Falls, 12,500; and Madison, 11,000.

Decisions for 150 New Bills Up to Robins

The liquor bill, Robins remarked that his signing of that measure would probably cause the passing of any liquor drink until next July 1, when the licensing provisions of the new law become effective.

Liquor drinks are now dispensed in unlicensed locker clubs where patrons take and keep their own whiskey for mixing on the premises. The new liquor law which becomes effective upon the governor's signature carries a specific prohibition against locker clubs.

The licensing of liquor-by-the-drink establishments will be restricted to cities and towns that approve. A local option provision becomes operative if 20 per cent of the qualified electors petition local authorities for an election to determine if the liquor places shall be licensed or prohibited. In the absence of protest and a qualified request for an election, the city or town authorities are empowered to issue licenses.

The operation of slot machines will be legalized upon the governor's signing of the new measure. The coin operated device were outlawed early in the session when Robins introduced a bill repealing a 1945 act that permitted them in nonprofit clubs. Under the new measure they will be licensed or prohibited in incorporated cities and towns upon the decision of the mayor and city council.

Nurse Aids Help For Ailing Child

SAN JOSE, Calif., March 8 (AP)—Marlene Munro, not quite 4, has nephrosia, a kidney disease. She may die unless someone helps her get the proper medical aid. So a nurse telephoned a newspaper today.

A year ago doctors could only have given her a 50-50 chance of survival. At Johns Hopkins recently developed a form of albumen to treat the disease.

If Marlene could have perhaps three ampoules a day for about two months, the doctors say she might recover. An ampoule costs about $18. That makes almost $500. For Marlene's father, Salvatore Munro, might just as well be $300,000. He makes $40 a week at the cannery job he got recently after three years away at war.

The nurse didn't tell her name, because she wasn't sure she might be calling. But the San Jose News editor also talked to a nurse who said that the right thing Marlene's story is on the front page.

French Peasants Fear Atom Plant

VERSAILLES, March 8 (AP)—French peasants, fearful of their lives and crops, threatened today to block plans for the building of nuclear experimental laboratories for atomic research on the plateau of Saclay, 25 miles southwest of Paris.

The peasants' objections were serious enough to bring France's top atomic energy expert, Prof. Joliot Curie, to the village, where he told a public meeting that the proposed atomic studies would endanger neither the lives of the peasants nor the crops of the peasants.

He added that Europe's largest reactor had been in constant use in Paris for a long period without affecting either the life or property of the peasants living in the area.

The peasants said they were impressed by the professor's arguments, but wanted to think it over.

New Contract for Truckers Signed

SALT LAKE CITY, March 8 (AP)—A new contract between the Salt Lake Trucking firm and AFL Teamster union was signed today, P. M. H. Lister, secretary-treasurer of the union announced.

The contract, retroactive to Dec. 16, 1946, calls for basic wage hikes, subsistence pay and improved vacation. Lister said.

The pay for over-the-road hauling, previously $120, will be $130 from Dec. 16 to June 15. From June 16 to April 30, 1948, expiration date of the contract, the pay will be $135. For round trips, drivers will receive $110 in subsistence pay. Prime signing the agreement were Garrett Freight lines; Pacific-Intermountain express; Quality Freight; Interstate Motor Lines and Arrowhead Freight Lines.

Auto Workers to Ask New Benefits

DETROIT, March 8 (AP)—The CIO United Auto Workers announced today that it will ask a guaranteed 60-hour week and a 24 1/2-cent hourly wage increase for an estimated 225,000 employees of General Motors corporation.

The weekly wage proposal of the union contemplates that when an employee is called in to work in any one week he shall be guaranteed 40 hours pay for that week, a union statement said.

The present contract between GM and the UAW-CIO permits either party to request negotiations on "economic issues" as early as March 18. Issues not related to wages are not negotiable for another year.

WHEELING, W. Va., March 8 (AP)—The U. S. coal mines administration was under orders today to return a small West Virginia mine to its owner after a federal judge ruled the government's war emergency power to seize it had lapsed even before the formal end of hostilities.

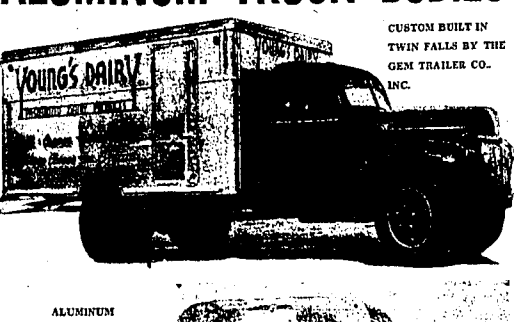

The ruling may ultimately have a bearing on government operation of coal mines. Its war contract with John L. Lewis and his United Mine Workers, scheduled termination of government operation on June 30, the UMW welfare fund and other factors which might contribute to a new coal shutdown.

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

By INEZ PUCKETT

"The fly sat on the axle-tree of the chariot-what! and said 'What a dust do I raise!'"

"My favorite subject is women," says O. Neithaus, popular writer. "But I contend that no woman is worth more than 15 minutes' conversation unless she is over 30, and then only if she doesn't put on make-up in public."

Wonder what Magic Valley men think of this statement?

The first electric flour mill and the first mill in southern Idaho were started in Kimberly, which was founded in 1866 and named for Peter Kimberly, its financier. It is one of the most scrupulous flouring countries in Magic Valley.

Proud natives always take the time to visit visitors for a drive toward Kimberly. Lush crops, attractive farms, fast stock and imposing potato cellars, are to be seen everywhere.

Ben Jacobs is a smiling, husky young man who has been a member of Standard station 88 in Twin Falls. He is the type of employee who isn't afraid to do more than the job requires. "That sun didn't break at the end," he will say. "Would you like me to get a screwdriver and take it off until you can have it fixed?" When he has removed the shield he very carefully hands you the screws and tells you not to lose them.

Ben is an Idahoan who drifted to California for two years and then got into the ground forces for three years of the war. Later he drifted back to Idaho and here where he wants to stay. "Twin is the liveliest town I've been in yet," grinned Ben. "And I've seen plenty of them." He thinks working in a service station is tops. "You meet people from everywhere," he told us. "and you come to really know human nature." Ben didn't think men customers were any easier than women customers to deal with. "It's fifty-fifty, in my experience," he said.

Ben has two of the most unusual names we ever heard and next time we cross the river to Twin Falls, we hope to stop for gas at station 88 and see what Derriott and Demie look like.

The teachers of the U. S. are getting fed up with low pay and class loads which make them sweat at the knees. At a recent broadcast for higher salaries, a speaker told this story:

"A veteran brought his teacher an apple. As he handed it to her he said, 'There's a worm in that, and it's turning! How about you?'"

The stock was worn to a frazzle making trips to the Twin Falls hospital. We heard a nurse say, "Three babies since noon, and more on the way!" Things were in a hustle and bustle out there. As we came around a corner of the one-story building on the north, we ran into a stalwart young man in a sports coat. "Where are the babies?" we asked. He motioned excitedly toward a door behind us.

Inside we found a "waiting" alcove with two agitated males sitting in it. The first father-to-be was a youngster with an outdoor face and brown hair. He said his name was Loyal Rountree and he lived out on route 2 in Hansen. This was his first venture in parenthood, and he wished things would hurry up and get over. "I want a boy," he said gently. "Going to make a farmer of him. We plan to call him Loyal Lee!"

The second husband "cavailing it out" was a bit older and had already gone through the waiting or "waiting" period. "I want a girl," he said. "So I'm hoping for a boy this time." This papa's name was Fred Carson House. "It's a girl we'll call her Mary Kay," he said. Papa House had been living with Mrs. Carson House, "It's a girl we'll call her Mary Kay," he said. Papa House had been living with Mrs. Carson House, "It's a girl we'll call her Mary Kay," he said. Papa House had been living with Mrs. Carson House, "It's a girl we'll call her Mary Kay," he said.

We went down the hall to the glass enclosure where they show the new babies. On the way we stopped to say hello to Mrs. R. P. Precourt. Twin Falls, has moved to Rupert to become manager of the firm. Morris Barnes will be salesman and Ray Reithmann, Twin Falls, is coming here as a service-man.

As we turned to look at the "baby" window we bumped into the same stalwart young man we'd met outside. He was in a real lousy mood. "I just became the father of a girl!" he said. We stared at each other in excited amazement. It turned out the youngster's name was Eugene Biddle, and he was a citizen of Buhl. "I'm going to school at Alhambra," he finally managed to tell us. "Trailing education!" At this point he was joined by his sister, Mrs. Jim Harding. "They are going to show the babies now, and ours is first!" she said.

We all pushed over to the big glass window and waited. Presently the curtains parted and a nurse in a white mask stood behind the glass. In her arms was a pink morsel with curls on its head. "This kid is expecting one of Life's Big Moments," we thought, looking at the stalwart young man in the sports coat.

On the way out we stopped to pick

Speaker

MRS. DAVID S. SIMMS

World traveler who will speak before the next meeting of the Twin Falls Town Hall at 8 p.m. Thursday in the high school auditorium.

In a room at Mrs. J. D. Ryan of Shoshone, Mrs. Simms had black hair pushed up from a lovely brow. "I've been here since Saturday," she smiled. "So I feel like a veteran!"

Her baby's girl, called her Mary Kay, K. She had lots of coal black hair.

"She's a sweet kid even at six days old," said Mrs. Rose Morrison, a day-in-law in a perky red hat. "I'd like to steal her!"

At this moment who should appear but Loyal Rountree, the kid from Hansen whom we had left down in the "waiting fashen" alcove. He was really palpitating. "I just got a boy!" he told us.

It was feeding time when we left the maternity ward of the hospital, and as the doors closed behind us we could hear the hungry howls of Magic Valley's newest citizens. The afternoon's show had left us almost as frazzled as some of the new fathers. "Good luck kiddies," we called back as we staggered to our car and mopped our sweating brows.

Yes, sir, there's real drama out there in the stork department of the Twin Falls hospital.

World Traveler Speaks Here Town Hall Here

Mrs. David S. Simms, world traveler and authority on international affairs, will appear before members of the Twin Falls Town Hall Thursday evening, March 13. Dr. Wallace Bond, association president, announced Saturday.

The session will open at 8 p.m. and election of a complete new slate of directors is scheduled preceding the appearance of Mrs. Simms at the high school auditorium. At a subsequent meeting the directors will reorganize, according to Dr. Bond.

Mrs. Simms, who returned from several months of study and travel in South America in 1943 has selected "At the Top of the Andes" as her subject of the evening. Previously, she had spent much of her time in Great Britain and on the continent of Europe.

For eight years, Mrs. Simms was the national chairman of the International relations committee of the Business and Professional Women, enabling her to appear behind the scenes in affairs of world significance.

She is considered one of the most eloquent women in America and is appearing before the local group due to its connection with Associated Clubs, which has the mission of bringing outstanding platform speakers to affiliate throughout the United States.

Mrs. Simms has traveled in Europe 14 times and in South America four times. She has also been in the Mediterranean countries three times.

Buhl to Test Water From Utility Well

Buhl, March 8.—Water from the Idaho Power company test well here will be turned into the Buhl city water mains sometime next week, Olin Smith, manager of the Idaho Power company office here, said Saturday. C. J. Burke, president of the power company, and the city council of the Buhl city council earlier in the week that "if the city of Buhl is interested in purchasing the well as a figure to be mutually arrived at later it will be satisfactory with the company."

The well is down 900 feet and is pumping more than a million and a half gallons of soft, palatable water each day.

Trial Basis
The water is being turned into the city mains for a one- to six-month trial basis. Connections will be made as soon as materials can be obtained.

Strike told the city council that the city was under no obligation for the well so far and that the power company had started the project to determine the water possibilities in this area and the status of the land.

Started Year Ago
Last January the power company offered to drill a test well to secure data for the entire area and the spot for drilling was chosen back of the city warehouse between Ninth and Broadway streets. Drilling began April 2, 1946, and large quantities of water was struck last November when the well flooded the area.

The company originally planned to drill to a depth of 2,000 feet but later decided to discontinue drilling beyond the 900-foot level as the necessary information already was secured.

A decree of divorce given William Nye from Clarence Nye July 12, 1946, was modified by Judge Porter, who gave the father custody of their three children for one year. Originally the mother had been given custody of the children. Damage Suit For $17,087 Faces Driver Alleging the death of her husband, C. H. Eldred, resulted from injuries sustained in an auto-truck crash Jan. 24 near Jerome, Mrs. Clarence Eldred, Twin Falls, Friday afternoon filed a $17,087.50 damage suit against Edgar Eldridge, Buhl, Eldred and Eldridge were drivers of the vehicles involved in the collision. Eldred died two days later at the age of 70.

As described in Mrs. Eldred's complaint, the accident happened at about 9:30 a. m. Jan. 24 at a point about five and one-quarter miles south of Jerome on U. S. highway 20. Her complaint states Eldred was driving his sedan north, on his own side of the road, at about 35 miles per hour, and that Eldridge was driving his truck, loaded with milk, south "so carelessly and negligently" and at such "high, excessive and dangerous speed" that it went off the west highway shoulder, swung east across the center line, and collided with the Eldred car, continuing 150 feet until it hit a tree.

Also charged in this complaint is that the Eldred car was demolished by the collision.

Damages amounting to $17,087.50 are sought by Mrs. Eldred—$15,000 for the death of her husband, $1,250 for loss in value of his car, $750 funeral expenses, $475.00 hospital charges and $50 medical expenses.

Attorneys representing Mrs. Eldred are Rayburn and Rayburn and Harry Povey.

Interference Of Radio Set By Sun Spots

By The Associated Press
Sun spots and magnetic disturbances interfered with radio communications over a large part of the earth's surface Saturday.

Press Wireless, Inc., in New York reported conditions erratic.

Associated Press radio circuits to London were stopped for a time.

A spot on the sun 15,000 to 20,000 miles long was reported Friday by Director Roy K. Marshall of the Planetarium at Franklin Institute, Philadelphia. He said the spot was clearly visible without a telescope.

If the observer used a photographic film to observe the spot, Mr. Marshall said the spot was one of the largest in the past two or three years, and would disturb radio transmission until Monday or Tuesday.

In San Francisco, Press Wireless, Inc. reported Friday night it experienced a "complete curtain" on its communication from the orient for eight minutes.

At Bloemfontein, South Africa, the Harvard University observatory reported yesterday an eruption of sun spots which it said likely would cause widespread radio fading and various magnetic disturbances.

The observatory said the spots were converging over about 500,000,000 square miles of the sun's surface and would reach the center by Sunday.

Meyers' complaint charges Ortega with the theft of a two-way plug, a three-section harrow, and a cultivator with double trees and neck yokes, all valued at $25.

GOODING, March 8.—A total of $5,000 has been set up by the Gooding county agricultural conservation committee to be used by the Northside Canal company for purchasing materials to carry out a weed control program in Gooding county, providing a 100 per cent sign-up of water users in Gooding county is obtained.

Charles P. Baker, chairman of the Gooding ACA, and Charles White, secretary and manager of the Northside Canal company, today urged water users to sign the pool.

The agreement so the noxious weed eradication plan can be worked out. White says farmers in Jerome county have signed up 100 per cent and will participate in the program.

J. H. Silbaugh has been named manager of the Northside Canal company in Gooding county for the weed eradication plan.

Hustead Sets Bid for Buhl Mayor's Post

Buhl, March 8.—Everett Hustead, president of the Buhl city council, has announced he will be an active candidate for mayor of Buhl in the municipal elections April 22 while members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce adopted a six-point program for mayor candidates.

C. D. Boring, who is completing the unexpired term of C. C. Voeller, who resigned as mayor a year ago, announced that he definitely would not be a candidate for reelection.

"I've served eight years in the city council and as mayor," Boring said. "I'll continue to be active in civic affairs but not as an officer."

Gus Averett, present councilman, has announced he will seek reelection. Two councilmen posts will be filled in the voting.

James suggested platform included an organized plan for city streets, construction of a civic building to include an auditorium and gymnasium, setting aside of an industrial site to attract further industries, adequate sewage facilities, an adequate airport close to the city and a plan to keep the city clean physically and morally.
