Labor Chief's Views Shared, Manager Says

The Mountain States Telephone Company's general secretary of labor relations, Mr. Schellenbach, has shared his views on the telephone industry with the manager of the company.

At Austin, Auditor General Arthur B. Knickerbocker said the national guard had been called out in the area. A conference was held with Governor Ben M. Linder, but he said the situation did not warrant imposing of martial law.

At Dallas, hospitals were crowded with the injured, many in critical condition. The Dallas Tribune said they were badly burned and cut by flying glass and many were "screaming with pain."

The telephone union ordered all striking operators, repairmen and all personnel needed, to return to work immediately for the duration of the emergency. The order was issued by Everett Cotter, general counsel for the Southwest Bell Telephone Workers union at St. Louis.

At Dallas, B-29 Bombers
The photograph of the B-29 bomber which flew over Texas, said he had seen a B-29 bomber which he had seen in the air. He was an air force lieutenant colonel during the war.

"Texas City looks worse to me than the New London school explosion of 1937 which I covered," he said.

Work Offices Hit By Phone Strike

Among offices that have been hard hit by the current telephone strike is that of the Idaho state employment service in Twin Falls. Manager A. J. Meeks pointed out Wednesday that inability to receive incoming calls for labor from employers has curtailed operations considerably, and that the office is handicapped in getting in touch with applicants.

In regard to solving the problem of incoming requests for labor, of which there are many for farm work, as well as non-agricultural jobs, Manager Meeks pointed out that persons desiring workers can send requests in written form or may come into the office personally.

Britons Swear Off Smokes as Tax Hike Hits

LONDON, April 16 (AP)—Britons by the millions swear off smoking today—and then made the rounds of the cigarette shops for a final nicotine binge before new highest-in-history prices went into effect.

Beacons were lit for a final nicotine binge before new highest-in-history prices went into effect. The price of 20 cigarettes will cost three shillings four pence (about 68 cents), a 10 percent increase from 30 pence (about 6 cents) in 46 hours.

"Nine out of 10 of my customers say they will stop smoking at midnight tonight," said a first street tobacconist who said his day's stock of cigarettes before 11 a. m. was 100,000.

"We'll Really Stop"
"Not one in a thousand will really stop," his wife predicted. "They say they will, but will still the old craving comes upon them."

Chancellor of the Exchequer Hugh Dalton who caused the price hike by raising the duty on imported tobacco in order to save the government's budget, was quoted by such daily newspapers as the Scotsman, Daily Worker.

"Extortionate!" the Worker cried, denouncing "rationing by means of the purse."

"End of Cigarettes"
Young women, in particular, appeared unconcerned. "It means the end of cigarettes—no more people offering cigarettes around or taking them," complained a 25-year-old business girl.

"At this price a packing cough will stamp you as a millionaire," quipped a government clerk. Dalton, who smokes cigars and will pay more for them hereafter, had a tip for people who were mad at him: "work off your grudge by knocking off smoking altogether," he said.

Rupert Units Obtained for TB Hospital

(From Press Cox)

Removal of the buildings from the Rupert camp to Gooding.

The Gooding tuberculosis hospital was created in 1941, but not activated until last March by a special session of the legislature. Dr. Kenneth A. Tyler, head of the hospital, has since last November, said the unit was expected to be opened soon.

The transaction will give the Gooding hospital a 150-bed capacity. It is now limited to 50 beds.

"The state department of public health is deeply grateful to Sen. Glenn Taylor and Henry C. Dwyer, who have secured the necessary legislation in securing the hospital," Dr. Tyler said. "In addition, we wish to express our sincere thanks to Charles C. Gosselt and Compton J. White, former Idaho senator and congressman."

"Without their valuable assistance in dealing with national officials of the war assets administration in Washington, D. C., the present of war camp hospital probably would have been diverted to other uses."

As of April 1, 39 Idaho persons were receiving care and medical treatment in two sections of the state. Statens being in the Coeur d'Alene hospital and 14 in St. Albans hospital, Boise.

When the Gooding hospital is opened three patients will be transferred from the Coeur d'Alene hospital and it is anticipated between 100 and 125 patients will be provided medical care and treatment at Gooding.

Howell was a speaker at a special program at which the college students devoted their attention to a study of the United Nations.

The secretary detailed first-hand information about the Russian spy ring that operated in Canada and made public by the Canadian government a year ago, and pointed out that the military attaché in the Soviet embassy at Ottawa was head of such ring.

Memorial Day Race Boycott Brings Gloom

CHICAGO, April 16 (AP)—A boycott by drivers and owners of auto racing cars threatened today to rob the famous 500-mile Indianapolis speedway classic of its claim as the "world's greatest auto race."

The boycott began at midnight, deadline for entries in the memorial day classic, when 31 top flight drivers and owners of 22 cars announced through a spokesman that they had cancelled plans to enter the race because of "inadequate" cash prizes.

Refuse Prize Boost.
The spokesman, Ralph Hepburn, president of the American Society of Auto Racing, said the speedway's refusal to adjust purses upward in view of the "enormously increased cost" of racing was responsible for the boycott.

The speedway increased its prize 15 per cent to $75,000 last year, but has refused to guarantee an increase of "one more dime," Joseph Lencki, one of the owners, said.

At Indianapolis Wilbur Shaw, speedway president, gave no sign of backing down in his "price" fight with the society. Shaw admitted that the 500-mile race still was 12 short of the normal field of 32 starters. Normally, elimination heats must be held to reduce the original field to 32. Only one of the 21 entries made public by Shaw ever had raced in the 500-mile sweepstakes.

Shaw declined to comment on Hepburn's announcement but said he was confident that more entries were in the mail "from distant points in the United States and Europe."

He said that some drivers might be acting independently of the society.

Busy Veterans' Service Office Here Gets Top Rating in State

The office of W. R. (Bill) Wolter, besides being a busy spot, recently has been rated the state's best. Jack George, state disabled American Veteran service officer, while in Twin Falls last week, declared Wolter is the best veterans' service officer in Idaho.

Regardless of organization or whether he belongs to one at all, Wolter gives the veteran the benefit of 13 years in veterans service work. His office is in Legion hall and is rent free to the county.

While his aid to the ex-servicemen of the last three wars (our II, war I and Spanish-American) goes much farther than obtaining pensions for veterans, monetary figures do give a good idea of Wolter's success.

Through his work, over $700,000 now comes into Magic Valley annually through six sources: Pensions to veterans, their widows, and orphans; payments to totally disabled veterans with non-service connected disabilities; insurance payments and benefits to dependent parents of veterans. He adds to that record regularly.

In handling insurance reimbursements and benefit payments, Wolter has passed the $500,000 mark. Birth, death and marriage certificates, and divorce decrees, all of which are necessary in many claims, have totaled more than 3,400 thus far. Wolter has missed less than a dozen of the scores of funerals of veterans in this area the last 10 years.

Totally disabled himself, the county service officer has held the job since its creation last fall by the county commissioners. It is the first

U. N. Chief's Views Might Cost His Job

WASHINGTON, April 16 (AP)—Senator Taylor, D. Ida., told the senate Tuesday that Trygve Lie may lose his United Nations job because he dared to criticize and oppose the United States.

Lie, a Norwegian, is secretary general of U. N.

After President Truman announced his $400,000,000 program for aid to Greece and Turkey, Lie said all international problems should be taken up through U. N.

Taylor, who opposes the Truman program, said Lie reminded "me of my father, who was a good preacher but could not hold a job."

Lie's preacher-father could "jerk tears out of a turnip" and "saved thousands of sinners," Taylor went on, "but as soon as he landed in a new town he soon found out 'who the scoundrels were.'"

The senator said his father found that often the "big shote of the town were pillars of the church and heaviest contributors" even though they owned the "bawdy houses."

"My father would stand up in church and name them and say they were sinners who were going to hell," Taylor continued. "And the next day he would be looking for a new place to preach."

Grangers Will View Cancer Drive Films

Potato Goal in County Will Be Cut 4 Per Cent

Final 1947 production goals were mailed Tuesday to Twin Falls county potato growers, according to Ben Jansen, Kimberly, county A-C-A chairman. The goals are set in connection with a federal price support program.

The 1947 goal compared with the average for the past five years shows a seven per cent reduction throughout Idaho and a four per cent reduction in Twin Falls county, Jansen said, and compared to the 1946 goal a 10 per cent reduction throughout the state and a six per cent reduction in the county.

Chairman Warns Potato Growers On 2 Deadlines

Ben Jansen, Kimberly, county A-C-A chairman, Tuesday reminded Twin Falls county farmers of two important deadlines, April 20 is the last date for the final offering of potatoes to the commodity credit corporation, and April 30 is the last date for signing 1947 plan checks.

Jansen urged farmers in doubt about their standings on potato loans to contact the county A-C-A office before April 20. In order to receive the benefits of the price support program, farmers producing more than five carloads of potatoes were to make five offerings—each 20 per cent to the commodity credit corporation on the 20th day for five months. April 20 is the date for the final offering.

Regarding the 1947 plan sheet sign-up, Jansen said growers interested in the support price program

THAT'S THE DIFFERENCE

Although there is no power controversy in the territory served by the Idaho Power company, any privately owned public utility has every reason to be on its guard against government interference and control.

It is particularly obvious that the federal government is trying to get control of the nation's power facilities. Its dogged determination to force a Columbia Valley authority upon the northwest is the best evidence.

In this connection it was interesting to note one paragraph in the Idaho Power company's last annual statement:

"We have endeavored to keep the public fully informed as to the elements which make up the cost of electric service. A privately owned tax-paying utility such as ours obtains its capital on its own credit. A federally financed system not only enjoys tax exemption but obtains its funds by the use of the credit of the taxpayers of the nation, which automatically results in lower interest rates. These two handicaps alone are equivalent to 40 per cent of the total operating revenues of our company, and it is inconceivable that our federal government, which owes its existence to the ability to tax, with indebtedness in excess of $200,000,000,000, and uncertain ability to maintain a balanced budget, should continue to threaten a tax-paying utility, or any other business, with such unfair competition."

During its 30 years of existence, the Idaho Power company has paid $27,835,988 in federal, state and local taxes. The company's total taxes for 1946 amounted to $2,426,169, or 10 per cent of its operating revenues paid of operating revenues paid by the company's customers.

It would make a difference if the privately owned companies didn't have to pay these taxes. They'd make the tax-free government-operated projects look silly!

CRITICISM, BUT NO SOLUTION

The excited, almost hysterical senate debate on David E. Lillenthal's appointment to the atomic energy commission called forth some alarmed criticism of the so-called Acheson-Lillenthal report by Sen. Robert A. Taft. He called it a "most extraordinary plan" which offered no basis for saying that Mr. Lillenthal had contributed to the solution of the atom bomb problem.

Mr. Taft seemed alarmed that, under this plan, an international atomic development authority would build bomb plants in Russia to balance those in America. He seemed even more alarmed at the thought that the authority would take over our plants and operate them "with international personnel, Russians, if you please, who would find out exactly how the whole thing had to be operated."

There are a few other details, however, which Mr. Taft failed to mention. The authority's international personnel would include Americans. They would be involved in the operation of American plants. They would also be involved in the operation of plants in Russia and other countries.

Perhaps, as Mr. Taft suggests, this doesn't solve the atom bomb problem—though he is scarcely accurate in blaming Mr. Lillenthal alone for the failure. He was chairman of a board of consultants that aided a five-man committee, headed by Undersecretary of State Dean Acheson, which James F. Byrnes, then secretary, appointed to study the problems of atomic energy control.

All 10 members contributed to the report. It was the approval of President Truman, Mr. Byrnes, the congressional atomic energy committee, and Bernard Baruch and his associates. After their careful study and consultation, it was used as the basis for the more extended plan which this government offered the United States.

The Acheson-Lillenthal group discarded the idea of treaty agreements and national inspection—which Russia favors—as putting too much strain on a nation's good faith and too much strain on its neighbors' confidence. It discarded a control system based only on international inspection as a "policy" of difficult job, and because the "policy" would know less about atom-bomb building than those they were policing.

The group finally decided that, for safeguards and possible benefits, the only solution was to put all dangerous aspects of atomic energy development on an international basis. There would be no national control of raw material or any research or production capable of turning out weapons. Even the safe atomic activities carried on by individual nations would be subject to international inspection.

It would be interesting to hear Mr. Taft's alternative solution. The tone of his criticism indicates that he favors no international snooping in our country and no atom bomb plants in Russia. How would he handle the atom and still keep peace in the world? How would he prevent atomic experiments and developments in other countries? How does he refute the expert scientific consensus that it is only a matter of time until other countries have atom bombs?

If Mr. Taft has a better plan, the world deserves to know about it.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

PRICES—Treasurer Secretary John W. Snyder made a careful study of the nation's manufacturing and merchandising situation before he and President Truman launched their current movement for a general lowering of prices in key industries and goods. It was not a haphazard undertaking.

Mr. Snyder discovered that the present prices had followed the same pattern that it did after World War I. Twenty months after the end of the war, prices began to rise, and then began to sag until it dropped so low that the country was in a depression. It was the result of over-production, customer resistance and wholesale firing of employees.

The 1945-1947 period which he keeps on the right-hand side of his clock at the Treasury paralleled the 1918-1920 period. Prices are now as high as they were 20 months after the Kaiser fled to Holland and the remains of his government surrendered. That Mr. Snyder and President Truman are to force a "general and gradual reduction so as to avoid a 'recession' which might strike the nation on the eve of the presidential election.

THREAT—Secretary Snyder is also alarmed because of the inflationary pressure into the economy. The inflation is beginning to operate. They are barely visible now, but they constitute a distinct threat that a recession, which the nation's more fastidious manufacturers, bankers and business men. They have responded enthusiastically to Mr. Snyder's personal and public exhortations to announce price reductions.

At 1945, inventories have piled up in the shops of retailers, middlemen and manufacturers. There is no longer a shortage of labor materials except in a few lines.

But prices have risen by at least 25 per cent since the legislative scrapping of OPA, and folks are staying away from the stores. The first time in years, big department stores held pre-Easter sales instead of deferring reductions until after the holiday. Manufacturers and business men are aware of the conditions and these threats. But no individual wants to lead the low-price movement alone.

CUTS—The treasury boss has found the business community extremely cooperative. All they were waiting for, in his opinion, was an official pronouncement that the White House had taken the lead. The customer a break on the cost of food, clothing, furniture, automobiles, radio, etc.

But if these corporations take a voluntary cut in profits, their actions may promote a more reasonable attitude among union leaders. The price cuts will be advertised as a rate in pay, and a disastrous round of new strikes may be prevented.

By the same token, the Republican congress may become more lukewarm to the efforts of the National Manufacturers' association and the United States Chamber of Commerce.

Both sides are aware of the fact that the announcement cuts like those already put into effect by Henry Ford II, International Harvester, the Plymouth branch of Chrysler corporation, and other concerns.

CREDIT—The Truman-Snyder price reduction policy has a political as well as an economic angle. A bold move for the use of credit in many key industries, including coal, steel, railroads, etc.

VIEW OF OTHERS

A WAY OUT
A man walking on the moors was caught in a torrential downpour. He looked around for some sort of cover and spotted a hollow tree lying on its side. To gain protection from the tempest, he crept inside through a narrow opening.

He lay there for two hours before he realized he had become virtually a prisoner in the tree. The rain had caused it to swell and the opening through which he had entered was now too small for him to squeeze his way out. But even worse was soon to follow: the tree began to creak on its hinges and he knew it would be only a matter of hours before he was crushed to death.

Such was the horror of his predicament that, like a drowning man, his past life flashed before him in a panorama. He saw what a mess, selfish life he had led and he began to feel so small that he realized he would never creep out through the opening. This he did—went home and led an exemplary life ever after—Meadow Digest.

FOCUS ON AMERICA
Photographically speaking, almost everybody is. No longer is discussion of lenses, film, and technique restricted to its natural habitat. Such talk is now heard far from the usual environs of camera club and photographic society. From practically every profession, occupation and trade come the "shutterbugs" to enjoy their hobby.

Veterans whose cameras, in many instances, were "photographed" in the U. S. Army triumphantly took a few pictures of the European continent. They are now sweeping the majestic landscape of their homeland—from New England's rocky coast to the broad reaches of the Pacific—with the recording lenses of their cameras.

POT SHOTS

Dear Pot Shots:
I would like to take a paint brush and sweep the small stack of sticks (and I mean some kind of a stick) from the center of our new license plates.

For the state child labor law and other traffic offenders may easily get away this year while someone is trying to read a car license number.

For the past, clean, easily-read 1946 plates.

Next year, when we get a potato on the plates we may imagine it is mashed potatoes and gravy when it gets splattered with mud.

BOB HOPE

One of the greatest comebacks in show business is the recent one made by Al Jolson. And believe me, it's wonderful for Al to come back to the top again.

He's had so many ups and downs in his life and career that it's hard to believe the story of his life and career in "The Yodeler" and "I'm a Believer."

When he was young, he was a street singer in New York. He had a lot of money for his time, but he didn't know how to use it. He was a very successful singer, but he was a very poor manager.

"WASHINGTON CALLING" BY MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON—One nation-wide strike is in progress as the senate labor committee acts down to try to agree on legislation which will bring order in the industry. The telephone workers are out, and the nation's business is being run by a handful of men.

Under such a course, the strong likelihood is that no labor legislation will come out of the senate. The committee is so divided that it is highly doubtful if there would be sufficient votes to pass the catch-all bill over a veto.

Home Builder Unit Talking Over Details

A further discussion of materials, costs, and procedures was held at a meeting of the Twin Falls Home Builders Association Tuesday night.

Several contractors and building engineers contributed their views on a point of view concerning the project proposed by the association.

Among the dealers and contractors present were Bob Davis, W. F. Porter, Rex Johnson, George Clapper and R. E. Lee.

Graydon W. Smith reported that articles of incorporation for the association were still in the process of preparation. He said he expects to have them ready for presentation at the next meeting, which has not been definitely scheduled but will be held next week.

The proposed committee described additional tasks considered suitable for the project.

Gene Brentholm indicated tentative plans he had drafted for the project.

William Will March said he intends to go to Pocatello Wednesday to inspect a similar project already under way in the city and to confer with leaders of two proposed projects.

Pet Gorilla Will Be Shown Today

Cheeta, the gorilla with a Hollywood career, will be shown here starting at 8:30 p. m. today. Joseph Lewis, the gorilla's owner, said the animal has appeared in several Thraxon movies and will be located at the corner of Third and Main streets at the hotel until Saturday evening.

Lewis claims his 215-pound half-grown gorilla has the intelligence of a six-year-old child and can walk, talk, and swim. He also can swim, clean his teeth, smoke a pipe, and write his name and address in his own handwriting.

A portion of the proceeds of the showing will be donated to the cancer drive, Lewis said.

Othman Finds Price Confab Bit Confusing

By FREDERICK C. OTTHMAN
WASHINGTON, April 16 (AP) — Secretary of Treasury John Snyder was none too hospitable. He had a big can of opium and a long black pipe to smoke it in, but didn't give me a whiff?

Not Snyder, he kept his dream pipe in a locked case. It was a souvenir from a big-time raid by his narcotics commissioner and nobody was hitting the pipe in the inner sanctum of moneybags Snyder.

This, as I think you soon will agree, was a pity. The conversation between Snyder and the experts at his press conference involved recessions, depressions, fiscal powers, debt retirement and such matters as economic. Had the head money-maker given me a small puff on his pipe, I might have understood the situation better. As it is I've got to report the good news in my own bumbling way:

Prices of things in general seem to be on the way down. A ball point fountain pen can be bought for 40 cents. A radio factory has nicked $20 off some models. A furniture store here has topped one fifth off the price of everything in stock. Stuff like that. Snyder has noticed a good deal of evidence.

His inquiries from the financial press, the amazing gentlemen who can look at a treasury statement and make sense of it, said well and good, but what about the price of things to eat?

They said they didn't see how President Truman could ask business to lower prices so long as he kept the price of potatoes. They said this seemed paradoxical.

What Snyder said, did it? He said, what subsidies? He clammed up and said that if the financial writers wanted to know about food prices they ought to talk to the secretary of agriculture. The experts smiled at this. It was the old answer of the government big-wig taking no chances on getting in bad with the boss.

I'm not blaming Snyder. Congress passed the hold-up-farm-prices law. The late President Roosevelt signed it. President Truman is enforcing it, and Snyder is the bookkeeper. He writes the checks and it's not his job to comment.

That does it. Next time I call on him, he'd better have his pipe filled and waiting. Or he'll tell me how badly I'll get lost in the fiscal maze.

WASHINGTON, April 10—The U.S. House foreign affairs committee today approved the additional $400,000,000 Greek-Turkish aid bill.
Chairman Eaton, R., N.J., said the vote was 12 members for and 12 against with three voting members absent.
As finally approved by the committee, the measure would authorize major differences from the previous law under debate in the Senate.
Missing from the house vote were Connelly-Vandenbergh, who is terming the measure counter to the principles of the United Nations charter.

Asher Wilson Talks Before Alumni Here

Asher B. Wilson, for 16 years a member of the state board of education, brought a thought-provoking message upon the needs and importance of education before the Twin Falls chapter of the University of Idaho Alumni association at the courthouse.

Throughout his discussion, centering upon findings of the Peabody survey and the action taken by the legislature to place its recommendations into operation, the speaker stressed importance of placing proper education of the state's youth above the consideration of dollars and cents.

As the state board representative on the survey commission obtaining services of the Peabody institute, Wilson has been in close touch with this latest development in the state's educational system, and he pointed out that the legislature has enacted into law more than 90 per cent of the Peabody findings.

Needed to Think
"We must do everything in our power to see that every young person has the facilities and inspiration to attain at least a high school education," the speaker declared. "Such an education is necessary for people to think and act as individuals. Our last generation failed when after the first World War they were unable to do anything about preventing a second World War."

"We must not fail again, because there will be nothing left with which to build if there is another war," Wilson continued. "Our people must be educated so they will know what to do and how to do it whenever trouble starts to break out."

The speaker derided the situation by which the United States' liquor bill is larger than the total annual budget for education. He also commended the fact that the burden of education falls upon honest enterprise and operators of rackets are relatively untouched.

Must Be Stretched
"An example of the state's educational needs, he pointed out that the public school allocation for the next two years is approximately $20,000,000, but that this amount must be stretched to educate between 115,000 and 120,000 children.

As an example of one of the methods by which the Peabody report will raise educational standards, he mentioned that within eight years, all teachers will be required to have at least bachelor of arts degree.

"Our schools must be adequately manned," he continued, "and so to do that we must have the money to do it."

In closing, he outlined how school consolidations equalize the educational burden so each child will have the same opportunity as any other child in the state.

Before introducing Albert Murray, program chairman, who in turn presented the speaker, Chapter President Jack Smith called upon various members for reports.

Fep Band Trip Off
The district president, Stanley H. Payne, reported upon the fact that the University of Idaho Pep band was originally scheduled to appear in Twin Falls, but that the trip to this particular point, as part of a state tour, was cancelled because of conflicts with other events on April 24, such as appearance of a "mammoth" band in Twin Falls and the high school music festival. He indicated, however, that an effort will be made to arrange such an appearance here at some future date.

A report from Bob Leerecht, co-chairman of the committee on planning the visit of Coach Dixie Howell to this area, showed that the new Vandal mentor will probably arrive late in May, following spring football practice. His appearance will include those at high school assemblies, before civic and service organizations and possibly at a banquet meeting. He will also be presented in a radio broadcast.

The mailing list committee, headed by W. G. (Bill) Priest, disclosed that 239 alumni in this area have now been listed, and that Louis Denson of Kimberly and Russell Cogswell of Hansen are cooperating in compiling names and addresses of former students.

"Red Haters" Scuttle U. S. Russ Embassy

MOSCOW, April 16 (UP)—Armand D. Willis, director of the United States information service here, charged today that "career Russian haters" dominated the American embassy in Moscow.

Willis said the "Russian haters" had effectively scuttled attempts to improve the exchange of information and cultural relations with the Russians. He made the charge as he departed for Washington to report and resign.

Ann Sabotaged
The information officer said that he had been deliberately prevented by foreign service officers who surrounded Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith from performing the job for which he was sent here by the state department's office on international information and cultural affairs.

"They have built their reputation and careers on being Russian haters," Willis said. "Our operation was designed to find a way to build American-Russian friendship. That imperils everything they stand for."

"Pro-American"
Smith denied Willis' allegations, saying "we aren't for anything or anti anything in this office. We are only for one thing here—we are pro-American."

Among Willis' charges were that he had difficulty in seeing the ambassador, and that Smith had ordered him transferred to Budapest. Willis called this an effort to "shanghai" him.

Elbridge Burrows, embassy counselor, characterized the Willis charges as "complete eyewash."

Hailey Legalizes Slot Devices for $500 License Fee

HAILEY, April 16—The Hailey city council has passed a city ordinance legalizing and licensing of slot machines in Hailey. A $500 license fee is being charged for each machine.

Mayor R. R. Horne reports that with the closing of filings for city officers only two candidates have opposed. The mayor is opposed for reelection by Thomas Walker, a bank cashier who is seeking public office for the first time.

John L. Fowler, Jr., has filed for councilman in the first ward in opposition to James Leichter, who is seeking reelection. Two city councilmen, Albert Savaria and George Cutler, are holding councilmen and George Allen, city councilman from the second ward, is unopposed on the ballot.

Among Willis' charges were that he had difficulty in seeing the ambassador, and that Smith had ordered him transferred to Budapest. Willis called this an effort to "shanghai" him.

Sun Valley Is Incorporated "Village" Now

HAILEY, April 16—Sun Valley has been incorporated as a village, becoming the second community in Blaine county to become incorporated in the past month.

An order of incorporation was issued by the commissioners, naming W. P. (Pat) Rogers, E. F. Seagle, Dr. J. R. Morris, Winston McCrea and Florence Kelly rider as trustees to hold office until the election and qualification of their successors.

One hundred and 35 residents of the famed resort signed the petition. Observers believed the incorporation step came as result of the recent Idaho legislation outlawing the sale of liquor-by-the-drink after July 1 and the licensing and operation of slot machines to within the confines of incorporated areas. Ketchum was incorporated as a village about a month ago.

Among Willis' charges were that he had difficulty in seeing the ambassador, and that Smith had ordered him transferred to Budapest. Willis called this an effort to "shanghai" him.

Elbridge Burrows, embassy counselor, characterized the Willis charges as "complete eyewash."
