Retail Prices Of Living Hit All-Time High

WASHINGTON, April 19 (AP)—Retail prices of cost-of-living items reached an all-time high on March 15, the bureau of labor statistics reported today.

A four per cent rise in food prices between Feb. 15 and March 15 was largely responsible for the new record.

BLS figures showed, however, that food prices since have dropped slightly. A survey of 16 foods in 12 cities between March 15 and April 15 showed a food price decline of about one-half of one per cent. The bureau pointed out that food prices usually increase during that period.

The bureau reported that overall retail prices were two per cent higher on March 15 than on Dec. 15, 1946, when the previous high was reached. Living essentials were 20 per cent higher than on March 15, 1946, and 56 per cent higher than in August, 1946.

Commodity prices, rents and essential services showed a composite increase of about two per cent between Feb. 15 and March 15.

PUBLIC CASH DOWN

WASHINGTON, April 19 (AP)—Money in the hands of the public has dropped a billion dollars since Christmas.

Some government analysts said the public apparently is finding many reasons who kept their savings in the form of cash to dig into their savings.

Public cash holdings leaped up from $11,100,000,000 three weeks after Pearl Harbor to a record of $12,100,000,000 at Christmas eve.

TO LIFT RENT BID

WASHINGTON, April 19 (AP)—The OPA planned today to lift rent control soon from areas in 23 states.

OPA officials said the rent control order would be lifted in from two to three weeks, and would affect about 50 central areas.

$10,000,000 Uncovered by Blast Rescuer

TEXAS CITY, Tex., April 19 (AP)—The next time Paul Stokes finds a dollar bill on the sidewalk, he may not even stoop to pick it up. Yesterday he found $10,000,000.

Stokes of Houston, Tex., has been putting in 24 hours a day as a rescue worker. He was probing the ruins of the Texas City Terminal Railway company when he came across the company safe.

It looked like a safe cracker had used too large a load of nitro on it. It was a messy job, but efficient.

Inside was a mass of papers. Stokes took them to W. H. Sandberg, vice president of the company.

"Thank God for this," Sandberg said. "This is seven million dollars in company fire insurance policies. He gave Stokes the keys to other rooms and asked him to look around again. This time Stokes took a sheet with him. He entered room after ruined room.

When he came back, he had more paper. They were 50 individual policies of workers, and Sandberg said they amounted to millions.

Sandberg said their recovery would speed up steps in recovering insurance tremendously.

HOLIDAY VISITS HOME
PAUL, April 19—St. Russell Stewart, stationed at Great Falls, Mont., with the air transport command, visited here recently with his mother, Mrs. Alma Stewart.

Too Formal to Be Hitchhiking

WASHINGTON, April 19 (AP)—He was dressed formally in tails. Too formally to be hitchhiking. And he was only a foot high.

John W. Crawford of Indian Head, Md., decided he belonged in a zoo. The little hitchhiker did. He was a penguin.

He was one of three golden-created penguins which escaped from the Mt. Olympus, flagship of Adm. Richard E. Byrd's expedition to the Antarctic, when it arrived here Monday.

There are said to be more than 300 types of common stains.

Public Forum Blunders Have Hurt Case for Democracy in World, He Says

Editor, Times-News: It has seemed to me for some time that the blunders of the Anglo-American concept of democracy in the world do not propagate itself in nations where the people are given a choice in the matter.

While I regret the necessity of force and violence, it is sometimes necessary, and I am a firm believer in the rights of any and all peoples to resist tyranny and oppression of any sort and with force if necessary.

Since this seems to be the case in China, Greece and sundry imperial adventures we are ultimately selling democracy down the river by maintaining and upholding oppressive governments or politics at home or abroad.

An I understand the Russian situation, their revolution was a people's revolution against conditions wretched beyond description and in view of the American declaration of independence, should be commended.

I do not believe that I will be able to sell western democracy to Spain, India and China after the way we have conducted our affairs. The emotional display and hysteria in many quarters seems to indicate a fear of communist ideas rather than the fear of the subject matter.

His Friend Finds Answer to Query Concerning FDR

Editor, Times-News: In the Forum for March 23, I asked the question of why FDR was the one man in the world who could have blocked Stalin in his ruthless march towards world domination.

A friend suggested what may be the solution. He explained how FDR was obsessed with a sense of duty, power, benevolence, perhaps, but still a longing he was unable to gratify as shown by his attempted packings of the supreme court in 1937 and his unsuccessful purge of 1938 which must have vexed him keenly.

Hitler had a greed for power, but lacked the judgment to be successful. This one man who possessed the technique to secure for himself absolute power and also chose all positive opposition to Stalin. He used the clever cloak of communism to become the idol of FDR, who sought to copy his technique as shown by the aides and advisers he kept around him—Frankfurter, Murphy, Wallace, Hopkins, Pepper, et al.

Young Eliot, lacking the cunning of his pa and ma, openly advised us not to offend our friend, the great Stalin, but to treat him impartially. Could it be, as my friend suggested, that FDR, awed by the great power of his idol, was possessed of an inferiority complex and eager to court the favor of the dictator who ruled with such abandon, allowed Stalin to get away with whatever he asked with scarcely a murmur?

Can this be the solution? We ponder to avoid mistakes in the future.

Wayward Bus Driver Back On Old Route

NEW YORK, April 19—William Cimilio eased his crowded bus to a halt a Bronx street corner soon after dawn today and said over a shoulder to his intent passengers: "This is the turning point of my life."

"The road to the left—off his regular route—led over the George Washington bridge to sunshine, open country and the great highways. Last month Cimilio turned left and ended up in Florida, gaining nation-wide understanding for a man who just got tired of the same old route."

Among them stepped a member of a committee of sympathetic bus drivers who arranged a benefit dinner for the errant driver. "Get your tickets," he called. "Let's ease the financial burden of Willie Cimilio."

They bought—gladly. Although Cimilio faces a grand larceny indictment as a result of his unscheduled wayward journey, the company gave him his job back yesterday. But he didn't get the same bus.

Cheap Whisky From Natural Gas Revealed

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., April 19.—More good drinking alcohol can be made from natural gas than all the whisky, gin and rum consumed by Americans in 1946, a peak year. And the cost would be only about one-fifth that of grain alcohol.

This report was made to the American Chemical Society today by Dr. Robert S. Aries of the Polytechnic Institute of Brooklyn.

On account of legal restrictions thrown around production of drinking alcohol, Dr. Aries thought that drinking of natural gas alcohol is unlikely to become a national trend.

Another reason, he said, is that this same natural gas will be considered even more valuable for producing synthetic gasoline and some by-products like aspirin, rayons and plastics.

Natural gas, he said, is a most flexible raw material for chemical synthesis because it can be converted economically into so many useful things.

He predicted that it will take two or more generations to deplete the present known natural gas resources. The first step would be to stop wasting the gas, as is now done in some southwestern fields. He said that until the natural gas is depleted in this nation likely to turn to coal as a source for synthetic gasoline.

Better Auto Fuel

A new chemical process is likely to increase the sugar supply of Africa by extracting it from molasses by means of a process developed by Emanuel Bloch and Richard J. Ritchie of the Pepsi-Cola company, Long Island City, N. Y.

Dr. Vladimir Haensel and Dr. V. N. Isakoff, Universal Oil company, Chicago, announced the first commercial process for making fuel which is a possible auto fuel which is 50 times more powerful than gasoline.

Seeds in Soil Get Blame of Weed Return

SPOKANE, April 19 (UP)—University of Idaho agricultural experts say that one of the common causes of failure in eradicating noxious weeds is new outbreaks from seed left in the soil.

And they have come up with some surprising figures on the amount of such seed that stays in the ground after the old plants have been killed.

Bindweed Studied

The studies were made on bindweed, or the so-called morning glory, and reported by K. H. Klages, head of the department of agronomy at the school, and C. L. Seely, associate agronomist, who is working on a special weed control project being conducted by the university.

"They came to these conclusions about the amount of bindweed seed that remains in the soil after various kinds of control work have been carried out:

Conclusion Told

1. Where established plants are eradicated by chemicals, as much as 75 per cent of the original seed in the soil may be unharmed.
2. Continuous cultivation usually requires three years to kill out weeds and at the end of that time, 35 to 40 per cent of the original seed is still in the soil.
3. Where bindweed is eradicated by alternate intensive cultivation and cropping, six years are required. At the end of that time, 10 to 15 per cent of the seed remains in the soil.

The men, summarizing the results of their study, say that these facts "show that seedling control must become a part of any weed eradication program if definite results are to be expected."

Building Permits Applications Hit Total of $64,920

After casting along between $14,000 and $20,000 weekly during March and early April, the total of building permits in Twin Falls slipped into high gear last week for a $64,920 total.

This is more than double that for the previous week when $31,225 was recorded. Totals for previous weeks were less than a third of that of the current week.

Largest single project instituted during the week was the application by Rogers Brothers Seed company of Idaho Falls to build a $25,000 seed processing and storage building.

At week's end, the Orange Transportation company, through R. E. Daley, of the Proprietor Building company, applied for a permit to erect a $3,000 roof over the dock at 205 Fifth avenue, west side of the structure will be 18 by 25 feet.

Ronald G. Jones has applied for approval of a building permit to dwell in to be moved to a new location when the cost of log declines. The unit, 20 by 20 feet, will be constructed of salvage lumber from the Hunt relocation center.

Two building permit applications were filed with the city clerk Friday.

W. T. Knebe, route 1, plans to erect a 20 by 20 foot unit on the Hunt to a lot on the north end of Harrison street, place it upon a cement foundation, convert it into a one-family dwelling, and add new siding and shingles, all at a cost of $2,000.

H. L. Hubbell, 219 Highland View, seeks permission to move a 14 by 20 frame garage from Buena Vista avenue to that address and remodel it. Estimated cost is $200.

'Swing' Dead, Girls Needed, Leader Avers

HOLLYWOOD, April 19 (UP)—Bandleader Charlie Barnet said today that it's going to take a line chorus girls to sell any more swing music.

"Swing is dead, passe, and a deterring to a band, he said.

"Jazz bands must come up with a new type of presentation or these days are numbered," he said. "Even the kids, on a date, don't want swing any more. They want entertainment."

Barnet said that entertainment was what he was going to give them. He was afraid he couldn't sell a little of the old swing to the customers even between shows.

"A half hour of entertainment, a half hour of music, that's what we'll have to give them," he said. "When you advertise a show and a musician puts on a funny hat, that's no show."

Something New Wanted

"We're putting together a show which includes a line of girls, five star acts and the band. Kids don't want to dance all night any more, and we're not going to make them."

After eight boom years of swing, Barnet said, even such great names as Harry James, Jimmy Dorsey, Woody Herman and Duke Ellington were finding bookings falling off and were breaking up their bands.

"Woody Herman is trying to be a crooner," he said. "Harry James is making movies. And Artie Shaw is writing a book.

"It's easy to see that the public wants something new."

John H. Shobe was fined $10 and assessed $3 costs, a Thomas T. McDonald paid a $10 fine and $3 costs, both on speeding charges.

Other motorists paying $1 each for over-parking were: Ray Lincoln, C. E. Wagner, L. Selya, Vivian Nye, Ed Vragul, James E. Lovell, and T. J. Johnson. Mrs. A. W. Madigan, Harold Johnson, Mrs. L. B. Life in MAGIC VALLEY

By INEZ PUCKETT

Because the road is steep and long And through a dark and lonely land, God upraised your life to me, and put a lantern in your hand—Kilmer

A funny thing happened to O. K. Nesbitt, outside salesman for Sears Roebuck. There a while back he took the mislaid sewing machine to the local store for repairs, returned to claim it. "You already came and got your machine," said the clerk.

"No street" said Mr. Nesbitt. He and the clerk went back to the store to look for it. Seems a likely fellow had stopped in at noon that day, gone back to the repair department to see if his machine was ready. He had written on a tag attached to the machine) had the repair bill, and walked off with the works.

The line for these crooks don't stay in the cities where they belong. Hey, Mr. Nesbitt? Did you ever get any trace of your machine?

All data for the Idaho town series running in this column, is taken from the Idaho Encyclopedia, a book sponsored by the federal writers' project under Mr. Roosevelt and published by Gaxton.

In the Old Wythe hotel in Boise we met Jesse Halley, the son of the oldtimer who gave that town its name. Jesse Halley had kind blue eyes and wavy, and full of memories of long ago.

The town of Halley is a gateway to our great Sawtooth mountains, and headquarters for the Sawtooth national forest. They say as how John Halley filed on 40 acres there in the Wood River valley, and on Blackfoot a little ways to the west, laid out the Halley town in 1881.

Because of the mines near Blackfoot, Halley was a busy town. Business men, gamblers, miners, and professional men packed their dusty boots for Halley, day in and day out. The Encyclopedia, "Of all the late-mining camps in Idaho territory, no other rose so rapidly to its own prominence and political distinction."

The Wood River Daily Times came out in 1881. It was Halley's first newspaper and the second in Idaho territory. In 1883 Halley became the terminus of the branch line of the U.P. railway, and he was Blackfoot to replace the stage line.

... And what do you know about THIS, folks; by 1883 Halley had a population of 2,000 people and one of the most modern and beautiful hotels in Idaho territory!

Halley also had a nice country courthouse, three daily and two weekly newspapers, 18 licensed saloons, an armory, a smelter, several sawmills, two hospitals, and schools, theaters and shops. The business section burned twice, but Halley built it right back again. The town became the seat of Blaine county in 1883. In 1903 it was incorporated as a village, and in 1909 as a city of the second class.

When the mines declined, the population of Halley melted away, but today after a progressive town and the commercial center for mining, farming, lumbering, and stock raising.

Oh yes, Halley was also the first town in the territory to have an electric light plant and a telephone system!

The great silver maple stood just over the rise beyond the ranch. When the wind whirled his branches, they rustled to lift the heart. Robins nested in his hair. A little irrigation ditch laved his feet. The dog, and we walked with the dogs, we passed him, bowed respectfully, said,

"Pleasure as found like me. But only God can make a tree. But the gleaming old patriarch interlarded with 'progess'. Men came and girdled his bark. All summer and autumn we watched him die. In November took a last walk to the goodbyes. His leaves had dropped, but he stood as proud as ever against the Idaho sky.

Last week we went back to see him. They'd come with tools and sawed him down. The rat slump stood hideous above the little ditch. The robins had fled.

But even in defeat the old tree held his own. Along the branch, his mighty trunk lay white of green. It was spring, and he was that beautiful thing—a tree. His man beings could mutilate him, leave him to die, but they couldn't stop him from obeying the laws. God's ancient law of bud and leaf.

And speaking of trees—Attorney Agree in Twin Falls, is a man who respects them. He has a luxurious old mansion that follows the line of his home—says Mr. Agree fetched a willow whip and stuck it in the earth there when they first bought the place in the twenties. Now the tree looks down on the house benevolently, waves its green arms in the
