"WASHINGTON, CALLING" BY MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON—The other day, a delegation of the American Civil Liberties union from New York City came to the State of Alaska to express their deep concern over the loyalty investigation which is being conducted by President Truman. Their fears are that the American people are realizing that a kind of Gattopato would draw out of this attempt to root out disloyalty in the government.

Clark is also afraid that the order was issued, President Truman said, that a fair test will be applied in determining which are totalitarian organizations and which are not.

One plan now under consideration is the setting up of a political basis, a committee of three to investigate the loyalty of the nation and careful judgment. They would be asked to check and to approve or disapprove of the department of justice.

The list of disloyal organizations would then be given out in that way anyone would know that the membership in a disloyal organization would subject him to dismissal from the government.

Clark is also afraid that the

It may have that effect. But it can cut two ways politically. If the loyalty search develops into a vast and costly witch-hunt, it can alienate independent and liberal voters, and it is on these voters that the President's chance for re-election depends.

Clark is actually aware of the thorny problem that has been dropped into his lap. It is his responsibility to determine standards in that part of the program which has the most ominous possibilities of abuse by any future gestapo.

In the action of the order defining standards, one of the recommended tests of disloyalty is: "Membership in, affiliation with or sympathetic association with any foreign or domestic organization, search. It will be an expensive search. The cost to the justice department is put at about $12,000,000. The annual cost to the civil service commission to screen new employees coming into the government and to insure the loyalty of those on the association, movement, group or combinations of persons, designated by the attorney general as totalitarian, fascist, communist or subversive, or as having adopted a policy of advocating or approving the commission of acts of force or violence, shall not be eligible for a payroll may run as high as $50,000,000.

While officials are reluctant to guess at the number of employees to be fired, it is unlikely to exceed 2,000, or less than one-tenth of 1 per cent of the present 2,100,000.

lence to deny other persons their rights under the constitution of the United States, or as seeking to alter the form of government of the United States by unconstitutional means." . . .

Language as broad as that could be subject to almost any kind of interpretation. Following this precedent, a left-wing administration might in the future find the National Association of Manufacturers to be a subversive organization. Or an extreme reactionary in the White House might have his attorney general rule that an association advocating world government was subversive.

Realizing these fearsome possibilities, Attorney-General Clark is

Few Like Aid Plan Despite Its Approval

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

But few had any enthusiasm for the affair.

That line from an Associated Press dispatch on the progress of the "Truman doctrine" through congress is a perfect description of America as she moves out to establish a world defense against totalitarian communism.

Amity with Russia for peace was the one overwhelming postwar objective which the late President Roosevelt was seeking even through the war years. In his efforts to attain it he made concessions which produced bitter controversy, took what amounted to insults, treated at the expense of his own waning strength without regard for whose turn it was to yield.

U. S. Keeps Views

America refused to go along when the British wanted to invade Europe through the Balkans in order to prevent their occupation by the Russians. Churchill truly feared the complications.

But America stood by her precept that a man is innocent until proved guilty, went for all-out aid to Russia as an ally and accepted every contribution that ally could make toward military success without regard for politics.

The same was true with regard to Russia's unprovoked entry into the Japanese war, and with regard to the halt of our armies in Germany before they reached the heart of Berlin. We had accepted partnership and we played partners.

When the shooting stopped we offered Russia vast loans, were prepared to go just as far as with Britain to help her rehabilitate her war-ravaged country. We were prepared to make any investment, and any concession which could be made within our principles, to obtain lasting peace.

Now, in sorrow rather than in wrath, those efforts and that money must go for wasteful purposes. As the senate voted it was as though the gentleman had been pushed into the barroom corner. There was no alternative but active defense.

"But few had any enthusiasm for the affair."

Lifting of Area Rent Controls

Survey Subject

Possibility that rent controls may be lifted in this area is seen in a survey now being made by H. C. Branderly, representative of the regional rent control office at Denver, and R. E. McCluskey, in charge of the area rent control office in Twin Falls.

Purpose of the survey is to determine if rent controls can be abandoned in this area.

The two officials will contact civic agencies and representatives of various groups such as landlords, renters, real estate agents and others. Their report will be sent to Washington, D. C., where decision will be made.

Town's Plan to Slash Costs of Living Spreads

NEWBURYPORT, Mass., April 23 (AP)—A cost of living slash, which would cut prices of all food 10 percent in this seaport city in response to President Truman's appeal for nationwide reductions, spread to at least one nearby community today and plans were underway to adopt the program in others.

Merchants of the neighboring town of Amesbury voted unanimously last night to adopt the "Newburyport plan" after observing reports that the first day of the experiment appeared to be "highly successful."

Portsmouth, N. H., businessmen, who also sent a delegation to Newburyport yesterday—the first day of the experiment—look steps to obtain price cut pledges which would put the program in operation in that ship-building city.

Observers from other communities, including the heavily-populated industrial city of Lowell, said they were inspired with the plan and would make favorable reports to their merchants.

Under the local program, more than 90 percent of the retail merchants agreed to slash prices 10 percent in a 10-day experiment and have pledged not to buy supplies from wholesalers who would not grant similar reductions.

Buzzed—and much better than average—demand on the first day was for men's furnishings and automobile supplies, merchants reported. They said that the full effects of the experiment would not be known, however, "until the week-end" as "Thursday is a normally quiet day."

Meetings Set To Talk Spud Market Plans

BOISE, April 23 (AP)—Reinstatement of a potato marketing agreement in effect before the war will be considered at meetings of growers and shippers in Caldwell April 30, Twin Falls May 1 and Idaho Falls May 2, the U. S. department of agriculture announced today.

C. O. Youngstrom, assistant director of the University of Idaho extension service, said the agreement to be discussed would be the same as that adopted in 1941. The agreement which regulates size and grade of potatoes was dropped during the war years.

An administrative committee to supervise operation of the program will be chosen at the meetings if the growers and shippers decide upon its reinstatement. W. J. Broadbent, Portland, Ore., field representative for the fruit and vegetable branch of the U. S. department of agriculture, will attend the conference in Idaho.

Growers and shippers will meet at separate sessions in each city and will elect representatives to join their group to serve on an administrative committee for operating the agreement in Idaho.

In Twin Falls, May 1, shippers meet at noon, Park hotel; growers at 8 p. m., Idaho Power auditorium. Under terms of the agricultural marketing act of 1937 the secretary of agriculture is empowered to enter into marketing agreements with producers, processors, and associations of producers for any agricultural commodity or product thereof for the purpose of regulating marketing of the commodity.

All interested potato growers and shippers are urged to attend these meetings. Youngstrom said. Some discussion on re-estimation of the potato marketing agreement was held at a recent industry wide meeting called by Gov. C. A. Robinson.

Expansion of West's Water Supply Asked

PORTLAND, April 23 (AP)—Pull development of western water resources is essential to both national and regional safety and progress, but westerners will have to convince the east, John Haw, director of agricultural development for the North-Pacific railroad, told a banquet meeting of the western snow conference and northwest section of the American Geophysical union here tonight.

"The west has a good case for development of its scanty water resources," Haw argued, "but the question still remains whether we can convince the 47.5 per cent of the stockholders of these United States who live east of the 100th meridian that they should sink billions of their tax dollars in this western development in the next 25 years."

Haw deplored the attempt in some quarters to charge off project expense against recreation, scenic values and social benefits. This attempt to stretch the "feasibility test" has already alienated important groups in congress, he warned.

Under present high costs with "thinly diluted dollars," western people are being "unrealistic in concluding that greater rates are the limit that can be assessed against users of power and irrigation water," he concluded.

E. N. Peterson, Portland, said that extension of water forecasts to the fall and winter months could boost power output in the northwest without any increase in facilities.

Granny Wants Her Freedom, Leader Avers

CHICAGO, April 22 (UP)—Six thousand grandmothers went to work today to build a home for aging grandmas, far from in-laws, squealing babies, and aunts full of dialysis. Grandmas are getting ready to leave home, one of their leaders said today. She's fed up with lending children, baking pies and darned socks. "Granny is just plain fed up," Grandma Rose B. Davis said. "She wants to be emancipated."

John Chenevix, vice-president of the National Grandmothers club, said she and the other grandmas were serving notice that "we are through just this little gray-haired ladies who make the best apple pie in the world."

To prove it, the grandmas decided not to bake pies or knit sweaters in order to raise the money for their haven. The women, ranging from 40 to 90 years old, have joined the Chicago In-laws.

Earn Over $5,000

They have earned more than $5,000 toward their dream home by staging "grandmothers' rallies" in 20 cities. In two days of kicking up their heels they hope to have the first full-fledged grandmothers' rally in their own rockers.

Plans for the home and admission rules will be made as soon as the grandmas have $10,000 in the bank, Mrs. Davis said.

Rocket Navigator

Rocket route: With his pen pointing at Venus, Dr. Samuel Herrick, astronomy professor at the University of California, calculates the course of a seven-mile-per-second rocket-ship voyage to Venus.

California Professor Charts Round-Trip Voyage to Venus

LOS ANGELES, (NEA)—Astronaut you will hit Venus within a few hundred miles and the pull of its planet's gravity should direct you to space. Now you shoot a few rockets in the opposite direction to break your speed. Don't count on parachuting out of the rocket ship, because Venus doesn't have the earth's atmosphere; there will be nothing to fill your parachute.

But if your figures are wrong and you're Venus by more than 2,000 miles, the rocket ship will probably run out of fuel and drift in a circle around the sun forever.

Dr. Herrick is confident that within a few years earthmen will be rocket-shipping to the moon. But he holds some contempt for such an unappealing trip, and hopelessly hitches his navigation plans to Venus.

The earth is zooming in a circle around the sun at a speed of 18 miles a second, and Venus also is racing around in its own orbit at a similar high speed, a moving target which will require a lot of figuring if you are going to hit it at the end of a 700,000,000-mile trip.

Dr. Herrick calculates a speed of seven miles a second is necessary for a rocket ship to get off the earth and to escape the pull of gravity. He is not concerned with how such a speed is to be obtained, but he feels confident that someday people will be able to design rockets which will gain that momentum.

So first you plot the angle at which you should leave the earth, remembering that you and your target, Venus, are tearing around the sun at similar speeds and in different sized circles or orbits. You must also calculate the pull on your ship from the earth, the sun, the moon, and any planets you happen to approach on your journey.

If you aim correctly and your calculations come out as expected, you will hit Venus within a few hundred miles and the pull of its planet's gravity should direct you to space. Now you shoot a few rockets in the opposite direction to break your speed. Don't count on parachuting out of the rocket ship, because Venus doesn't have the earth's atmosphere; there will be nothing to fill your parachute.

Loss of U. S. Pact Papers Is Revealed

WASHINGTON, April 22 (UP)—Have you any old U. S. treaties in your attic?

Well, somebody must have. Because the state department disclosed today that some of its treaties have disappeared completely.

William Benton, assistant secretary of state, told a house expenditures subcommittee:

"Some of our treaties are missing." Chairman Chenevix, R., Colo., couldn't have looked more surprised. "You mean, the books in which the treaties were printed are gone," Chenevix suggested, hopefully.

"No," said Benton. "I mean the treaties are gone. They're not in our files anywhere. The losses go back over a century."

He warned the committee, which is looking into state department operations, would find him more treaty-printing money, but Chenevix seemed to think the state department has too much money already.

Employer Work

"What are all those people doing down there?" he asked.

"They work," Benton replied.

"They're much harder working than those I have employed in private business," said Benton, who used to be an advertising man, "and those I hired in private business were better paid."

Family Gathers Here
Members of the Brailford family have arrived for a reunion in honor of the 80th birthday of Mrs. Albert Henry Brailford. His eight children, including Fred, Bill and Bob Brailford and Mrs. Jess Heinbolt, who reside in Twin Falls and vicinity; Jim Brailford and Mrs. William Travers, California; Mrs. Mathew Devine and Mrs. Edward Elliott, New York, are all home for the occasion. Mrs. Devine and Mrs. Elliott came by plane from their homes.

Mr. Brailford was born in Nottingham, England, April 22, 1867, and when an infant, was brought by his parents to Canada, where he was reared. He was later employed as a cowboy with Sparks and Trishin. There he built up his own cow outfit and twice was voted out by the hard winters. For five years he was a partner in the lumber business of T. Sullivan and company, in Buffalo, New York, in which city he was married to Beatrice Elizabeth Pinner.

In the spring of 1904 the family came west, locating at Ashland, Ore. and from there drove a team and wagon to Hagerman valley where they purchased their home ranch. A year later they moved their sheep business and Brailford has been in this business continuously for the past 42 years. He is now actively carrying on for him.

MRS. D. GREGORY REID (Staff engraving)

HAZELTON, April 22—At a candlelight ceremony, April 9, at the Hazelton Memorial church, in Parma, Bertha Jean Harvey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Harvey, Parma, became the bride of the Rev. D. Gregory Reid, Hazelton, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Reid, Salt Lake City, Utah. The Rev. Stanley V. Banks read the nuptial service as the couple stood before the altar, which was banked with lilies, blue hydrangeas and daffodils. Tall candelabra with lighted tapers were arranged on either side. Below the rostrum were two tall white baskets filled with lilies, blue iris and forsythia, and the decorations were extended to the wall on each side of the altar with large vase arrangements of pear blossoms. The centerpieces of the church were marked off with white streamers for the relatives and intimate friends of the bride couple, and at the entrance of each new was fastened a nosegay of jonquils and blue hydrangeas.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a wedding gown of white embroidered tulle, styled with a yoke of chiffon and long sleeves, pointed at the wrist. Her fingertip veil was caught to her hair by a sweetheart tie of seed pearls. She carried a white Bible on which rested an orchid tied with shower streamers of white satin ribbon, knotted with white hydrangea flowers.

Helen Kreizenbeck, carrying a blue chiffon formal and carrying a colonial nosegay of pink carnations, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Betty Hadley, Salt Lake City; and Phyllis Newland, Nampa. Feller Hurls 9th One-Hit A. L. Contest

CLEVELAND, April 22 (AP)—Al Zarilla's single to center in the seventh inning spoiled what might have been Bob Feller's third no-hitter, the first fireballer collecting his record ninth one-hitter against the Browns, 3 to 0.

Joe Gordon's three-run homer in the sixth provided the artillery for the Indians' victory. Feller was striking out only 10 men and walking only one, Jack Moss, first baseman in the ninth. Only 25 men faced him.

Glancing Bob broke his own major league record for one-hitters, set last year.

St. Louis' Alvin Dark, who had been hitting .300, was hit by Feller's first pitch.

Idaho Falls Pilot First to Announce Starting Lineup for Opener

WHITTIER, Calif., April 23 (AP)—It looks as though skipper Roy Gilhouse of the Idaho Falls Rascals is the first Pioneer League manager to announce a starting lineup for the April 25 opener.

The Rascals will try up the lid against the Seattle Cardinals.

Pioneer League, new pilot for the eastern Idaho entry, stressed his lineup is still subject to change, especially in the outfield.

The starting battery will be pitcher Leon Haworth, big right-hander from nearby Hollywood, and catcher Dick Wilson, former coast league and Southern association infielder, Lefty Hall Jackson will play first base, Gordon (Pinky) Evans, a newcomer, will be at second, Dick Nichols at shortstop and Jim Latham at third.

Gilhouse plans to play right field with Walt Bricker in left and Earl Silverthorn in center. Silverthorn, a former Rascals player, part of last season with the Boise Pilots, and is a fast-stepping performer.

Among hitting leaders

San Francisco, April 23 (AP)—Two players formerly with the Lake City Bee of Pioneer League were well up on the batting honor roll of the Pacific coast league released here today.

Chuck Henson, Bee first sacker last season, posted a .386 average for his 11 hits in 44 times at bat while Joe Boria, former Bee outfielder, hung up a .333 record for 13 hits in 36 times at bat.

Henson at Houston

HOUSTON, Tex., April 23 (AP)—Bolly Henson, who was second high in Pioneer league batting averages last year while playing for the Pacific coast Cardinals, currently is holding down club base of the class AA Texas league.

President Norval Rutherford of the South Central Idaho league expects to call a meeting of team sponsors next week—let you know the place and time within a few days—to reorganize for the coming season.

The veteran diamond enthusiast wants one circuit composed of the larger towns and another formed of the smaller places—something like the A and B circuits in high school sports.

In order to keep up interest in the league, good scorekeepers and a secretary who has time for the work are needed just as much as umpires.
