JOB FOR STATESMANSHIP

President Truman indicated at a press conference the other day that his New York speech appealing for voluntary price reductions was his last word on the subject. One report of the conference said that the President made it clear that if manufacturers and businessmen insisted on pricing their products out of the market it would be their own funeral.

One might make the respectful and obvious suggestion to Mr. Truman that if necessary goods are priced beyond the buyer's reach, it will be the buyer's funeral as well. If businesses succumb to such practices, the damaging effects cannot be restricted to the men who set the prices.

Perhaps the President is recalling that the voices of business and industry were among the loudest demanding the end of price controls. He may remember that business and industry argued convincingly that, with controls off, production would go up and prices would soon come down.

Now Mr. Truman, having asked for some free-will price cutting, may have decided to toss the hot potato to the Republican congress. If that is so, then the President is pursuing a line of thought which is currently popular at the other end of Pennsylvania avenue. For Republican leaders seem determined to use those tactics in passing a labor bill.

Reports from the majority senate conference on labor legislation indicate that Senator Taft's view is substantially this: The house labor bill, much "stronger" than the senate's, was passed by an almost 3-to-1 margin. This is an indication that the popular mandate of last November calls for stern labor restrictions, and that the senate bill must be made more severe.

This may be good politics. But, unless we misread and misinterpret the motions of Mr. Truman, Mr. Taft, and some others, it isn't statesmanship.

It is indicated that Mr. Taft does not expect Mr. Truman to sign such a bill, or congress to pass it over his veto. The effect—if Mr. Taft's strategy worked—would be to waste congress and the whole affair and leave Mr. Truman responsible for failure to provide the new labor laws that the public wants.

This may be good politics. But, unless we misread and misinterpret the motives of Mr. Truman, Mr. Taft, and some others, it isn't statesmanship.

The original political responsibility for high prices and undue union power is of secondary importance today. Every effort should be made to halt the inflationary price trend and to enact labor legislation which would curb some familiar excess without impairing legitimate union rights.

What is needed to fulfill that public wish is the same White House-Capitol unity on domestic problems that now exists in foreign affairs. The party which proclaims its sense of public responsibility by making the first move toward such unity will surely reap the greatest political reward.

POOR CLEM!

Again we say, poor Mr. Attlee! He and his government decided that they would raise the tax on tobacco to bring in some desperately needed revenue. Cigarettes went up from 48 to 68 cents a pack. Whereupon Britons swore off smoking by the thousands and nullified the tax rise by that now familiar device of the "cigarette strike."

But that wasn't the worst of it. Reports from London tell us that housewives have a new complaint. Swearing off of smokes has had the not uncommon effect on the old man of whetting his appetite to new and alarming proportions. And you know the food situation in Britain—even with tobacco-dusted palates.

It's like we said—poor Mr. Attlee, he just can't win!

NOT THAT POWERFUL

On his return from Europe, Henry Wallace told New York reporters that when he said this country was on the road to ruthless imperialism he was not referring to President Truman's plan for Greece-Turkish aid. No, he was speaking of an article by publisher Henry Luce in one of his magazines.

We believe in the power of the press. But we don't think that power means that any proprietor of the American press is dictating American foreign policy—not even editor Henry Wallace of the New Republic.

Pythons are not dangerous if under 12 feet long, says Dr. Macdon Smith of the British Museum. Always carry a yardstick when in the jungle.

Lots of folks are worrying over what the world is coming to. We just hope it's really coming to.

Men live longer than people—maybe they never worry about trying to live longer.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

SLICE—Although congress has not completed its overhaul of the 1946 budget, reliable information leaking out from subcommittee executive sessions discloses that the house will also appropriate $430,000,000 from President Truman's budgetary requests.

The economists are cutting to the bone, but it will be difficult to effect a larger saving. On this basis, it will require a surplus of approximately $2,000,000,000 to permit the across-the-board tax reduction proposed in the Knutson bill. Mr. Truman recently estimated that the surplus would be $1,500,000,000 as against a previous guess of a $2,300,000,000 deficit—a difference of $850,000,000. The current Knutson contention is that if he could be so wrong the first time, his more recent forecast might also be erroneous.

The results so far seem to support the viewpoint of these Republicans that the deficit is too large. Mr. Truman's budget requests cannot be more than $4,500,000,000. The Martin-Bullock group in the house originally framed the budget-tax-appropriation program in 1946 expectation that they could top off approximately $6,000,000,000.

House penny-pinchers, a nickname they gladly accept, still aim to curtail the budget by at least $500,000,000. They believe that they have already scraped almost to the bottom of the barrel.

BACKFIRE—The most sensational reductions effected by the subcommittee at their behind-the-scenes sessions consist of a $1,000,000 slash in the army appropriation and a $750,000,000 cut in navy funds. Together with almost $1,000,000,000 topped off the request for possible treasury refunds of taxes, these three economies constitute the major portion of the GOP program.

The reducing squad has not yet published the army-navy figures for fear of provoking a backfire in their operation of the navy budget. Originally, they hammered out a compromise of $500,000,000 with Secretary Foran, who admitted that he could accept that figure. Then, to their surprise, President Truman submitted his army-navy estimates to the White House, and instructed them to resist any cuts at all.

His order, which was construed on Capitol hill as a declaration of war, was the absolute abolition of the controversial agency known as the office of international information and cultural affairs—the state department's so-called propaganda bureau.

When the high-powered agency was voted a year ago against the $1,000,000 appropriation for this executive unit, Chairman Karl Stefan of Nebraska responded without taking a vote.

"The point of order is well grounded," thus William Benton's high-powered agency was voted a year ago without a single Democratic dissent, although it had been praised by President Truman, and Secretary Marshall as a valuable foreign policy tool. The American life in an attempt to counteract communistic infiltration and ideologies.

GOP members deny that the destruction of the Benton bureau signified that the absolute abolition of the agency was intended. They insist that they abolished the agency for hard, practical reasons after a thorough study of its operations.

OYSTERS—Their survey of the propaganda unit's newspaper, magazine and radio activities, the axe-wielders say, convinced them that they were so purrle and so badly ineffective. They lowered, rather than exalted, American prestige abroad the water, in the subcommittee's opinion.

The members, for instance, took a look at a few paintings in the exhibit which Assistant Secretary Benton planned to send throughout Europe. One was entitled "Circus Sitter." Instead of portraying a graceful horsewoman from our foreign circus, the McGowan said that the feminine creature was a fat, sloppily unattractive person of questionable profession. The artist got $750 for the effort.

Another painting was dubbed "American Roses." The congressional critics insisted that the flowers looked more like oysters on the half-shell.

RADIO—The Benton-esque radio program came under heavy fire.

In an attempt to report on American happenings, the programmers read headlines from half a dozen different newspapers, including conservative, liberal and neutral. Naturally, each journal took a different slant on domestic events. The report on listeners abroad was to convince them that the United States was as one congressman put it, a "country of confusion."

Moreover, there are not enough radio owners in foreign lands to justify the feature, according to the McGowan. There are less than 400,000 sets in Russia, which has a population of 100,000,000. Those are owned by Stalin and his "party" friends, not by the Soviet workers and peasants whom Mr. Benton hoped to propagandize.

Chester Bowles's former advertising partner has mobilized his influential friends to try to restore the funds cut by the McGowan. But he will have to do a better salesmanship job there than he did in the house subcommittee.

VIEWS OF OTHERS

THE GREAT QUESTION

Time flies! It seems but yesterday when the shipyard, aircraft and armament plants were roaring full blast, and the OPA was hanging like grim death to prices while soaring wages portended the multiplication of challenge. And the great question, "What will happen when the war is over?" was a question that never again would America tolerate a depression. Unless our established system could find a way to guarantee comfort and security, the system should be scrapped, they cried. The idea of it was that a society were more important than freedom. Although history indicates that such a trade is impossible, they encouraged the notion that in a free society freedom could somehow be swapped for security. It was no "or else" challenge against nature itself, which is another way of saying it was a cheap political gesture. And the chickens are coming home to roost.

There is no comfort in the growing housing shortage, nor in the inevitable decline in living standards generally. It is no security when prices and taxes rise to the point where families wonder how much longer they can make both ends meet, when millions begin to skip on necessities. All of these things were as predictable as the sunrise following the end of the war was declared. "The wonder is that there were so many who apparently thought it might be otherwise."

The question now is are we going to settle down and face our troubles like good Americans or are we going to try the "or else" path of socialism and dictatorship? The latter run the best hope of the United States. The only private enterprise in the world is the popcorn stand on the corner of a busy industry. As long as we keep faith with this institution there will always be a reliable path to our troubles. The way always has a truly representative government in America.—Pascualito Tribune.

CATS

Dear Potos: The following essay on cats was turned in by a grade school pupil here.

"Cats and people are funny animals. Cats have four paws but only one mother. People have forefathers and only one mother. When a cat smells a rat he gets excited. So do people. Cats carry tails and a lot of people carry tails, too. All cats have fur coats. Some people have fur coats and the ones who don't have fur coats say cat's things about the ones who have them."

The greatest show on earth, the circus, is in town. Barnum once said "There's a sucker born every minute."

I ran away with a circus when I was a little kid.

back memories of my younger days, so I decided to take my kids and them a good time. Of course the kids were admitted free, but I had to pay. I forgot to shave, and I nearly froze to death in my short pants.

But the circus is really high class these days. The lion tamer is using a radio to control his lions. They were a little high up, but my kids frightened the eagles away.

We nearly got thrown out when the kids started tickling the trapeze artist.

The man being shot out of the cannon was sensational. But I couldn't understand why they always pointed him at me. For the kids they had a magnet being popped out of an electric toaster.

Naturally, my kids wanted cotton candy, cowboy hats, pink lipsonade and whips. I only bought them whips. Of course, after I bought the whips they got everything else.

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S ANGLE

Most of the propaganda about tolerance and discrimination in the United States is just that—propaganda. It is promoted by professional liars whose nearly blind, parasitic jobs would end if they were not so blind.

Their ostensible purposes. Therefore, they select and distort the facts to suit their own ends. Their protagonists are the most intolerant and the most generally offensive personalities that they can find and the calculated result is that they constantly inflame the emotions of the masses.

There is no place on earth where there is less discrimination than in New York, but cowards else there more holding and indignation on the subject. And it is just this attitude of the night clubs begins to feel that recognition is what his ego needs, he need only insist on a program at Carnegie Hall or the garden to deny the obsolete and archaic word "Negro" and will get a medal for his bravery at a $10 dinner of some lettered society grudgingly engaged in fostering intolerance to rail against.

Of course we do practice racial discrimination against Chinese and Hindus, and specifically on grounds of race, but our native Chinese won't take the bait and we haven't enough Hindus to make it pay.

Later, we got a play on Broadway in which I was almost sure I recognized one of the other of the persons who may still be remembered as remarkably sharp operators in the wartime munitions industry. But, although I could spot the prototype, the character on the stage was skillfully ambiguous.

But, when I saw "Annie Get Your Gun" and when Miss Ethel Merman sang "I'm an Indian, Too," there was no ambiguity there. The Indian in the act was a lacy, gamy character and Miss Merman went on to say, in her sweetly plaintive coloratura, that she was Big Chief Runny Nose, Drooping Drawers and so forth in a most uncomplimentary vein.

Because my wife and I had constructed her but I thought the pretty lady was ridiculing the noble redman in some matters which the author believed to be racial characteristics.

Now there were many persons connected with the Merman opera, from front to back and in the writing, composition and production, who would have been very sensitive about the Indian in the act.

It is then that the Indian has no pride or that he considers the abuse and ignores our hearty liberalism or possibly that he is politically inert and not worth the cost of wires.

Lee is said to be a rather good actor, which is little enough to say of anyone, for acting is an unimportant work, followed in the main, by vain, frivolous, self-important people who have got out of hand since our politicians discovered that they could draw crowds and adorn bad causes by presenting actors at their rallies.

In this exercise, Mr. Runyon wrote that Canada Lee was playing the part of a white man and was very sorry stinker. That, incidentally, is a newly respectable word, formerly taboo in our prints and in our conversation, for the currency of which, and of "house," too, we are

Workers Sell Own Product, Hike Volume

MILWAUKEE, May 8 (AP)—The overalls boys in the back room at the Unit drop forge plant were claiming credit today for a rapid upsurge of the concern's dollar volume of sales—and the management agreed they were right.

It was less than eight months ago that members of Local 407, UAW-CIO, approached company executives with the proposal they be allowed to go on the road for the concern, which manufactures drop forgings for heavy industry.

Sales Manager Carl Helgren is the firm's only full-time salesman, has welcomed Unit's 300 production workers as his assistants.

Union members who hear from friends in other industries that forgings were needed up off Clarence Owen, union president, "salesman" goes out, his regular average plant pay continuing during his absence. If he closes a deal the union gets a five per cent commission which goes into the treasury.

"We decided work might fall off with the war ended," explained Owen. "So Vernon and I went on ahead at the time, went and told the company we'd like to get into the selling picture because we wanted to keep the machines running and company earnings up on the theory you can't have high wages without plant production."

Manager Willing

Harold E. Brey, general manager of Unit, admits he never heard of such an idea, but was willing to try it. That was last September.

Today the man hour output of the company is 15 per cent above the best previous peacetime average and the plant is operating at 95 per cent of full capacity. Wages of workers range from 98 1/2 cents to $1.58 an hour, with average earnings at $1.61.

Marty Arrouge Severely Bitten as He Battles Dog

SUN VALLEY, May 7 (AP)—Marty Arrouge, Sun Valley ski instructor, is recovering today from injuries suffered during an encounter with a stray dog which forced Arrouge into a lake at this resort, James Scanlan, Sun Valley publicity director, reported.

Arrouge battled the animal "while trying to protect his movie actress wife, Norma Shearer and her 13-year-old daughter, Katy, from attack by the dog," Scanlan said.

The skier, who suffered injuries on his chest, arms and legs, was released from the Sun Valley hospital but is still under observation.

The trio had just left the resort's opera house with their French poodle, Francon, on a leash when the poodle was attacked by a stray boxer dog. Scanlan said. Arrouge grasped the poodle but persistent attacks by the boxer forced him into the lake, Scanlan reported.

Miss Shearer and her daughter sought refuge behind adjacent trees until bystanders repelled the dog, Scanlan added.

New AAF Jet Aims at Globe Speed Record

PARMINGDALE, I. I., May 8 (AP)—The army air forces P-84 Thunderbolt, the country's fastest plane, will try this summer to break the British world speed record, Republic Aviation corporation officials said today.

The AAF permitted officials at the same time that Republic is now in high gear peacetime production on the sleek new fighter which will clock 621 miles per hour in unofficial trials.

Record 618 MPH

The British-held speed record is 618 miles per hour. Under international rules it must be exceeded by five miles for a new record to be set. Both the P-84, then an experimental plane, and the Lockheed P-80 Shooting Star were to attempt records last fall but at the last moment the trials were called off.

The Thunderjet, however, established an American record of 611 miles per hour at Muroc army air field, Calif., test base for new aircraft.

P-80 Test Seen

Alexander Kartvel, Republic vice president, who designed the plane, said he was hopeful of coping a world record this time. There are reports that an attempt may be made earlier by a P-80.

A tour of the plant here showed the fighters rolling through the assembly line, better than one being completed daily. Republic has orders for more than 400 under a contract estimated at $55,000,000, including research and development work.

'Median' Income Up $169 in 1945

WASHINGTON, May 8 (AP)—The median income for American families living under one roof rose by $169 during 1945 to a total of $2,376, the census bureau reported today.

Median means middle: half of the 40,975,000 family units got more income than the median figure, the other half got less.

About one third of the total number of families had incomes between $2,500 to $3,000. About one in 10 got $3,000 to $10,000, and only 13 out of 1,000 got more than that.

Electricity Burns Hospitalize Man

Herbert McDonald, 37, was reported in good condition Thursday at Twin Falls county general hospital where he was taken following severe burns from an electrical shock while working with the bureau of highways Wednesday morning in Deadman's gulch west of the hospital.

McDonald and William Shipman were engaged in cleaning a clogged siphon between the gulch and west of the hospital, using quarter-inch iron pipes in the work.

Shipman said he called to McDonald to swing a piece of pipe around so that he could join it to another pipe. McDonald, who was standing with one foot in water, swung the pipe overhead about two or three feet beneath high tension electric lines.

The current jumped the small siphon, shocking and burning McDonald. Shipman said that flames jumped from McDonald's shoes and gloves while the current was passing through the pipe.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Where's the Argument?

You should have heard Ed Carey and Spike Miller debating the merits of Guernseys versus Holsteins. Ed's our frechief, and Spike handles hardware—but to hear them argue you'd have thought that they'd been dairying for life.

Finally they put it up to Sam Carter, who breeds dairy cows! Spike hems and haws... and concludes there's a lot to be said for Holsteins, and about as much for Guernseys... take your pick!

Actually, Ed and Spike were like people arguing about—say, beer versus buttermilk. Folks who've never tasted beer will sometimes get mighty vehement about their choice of beverages. And folks who've never tasted buttermilk will be equally pig-headed.

From where I sit, it's in things we know nothing about that we get bigoted and stubborn. But when it comes to things we know a lot about, we're able to see both sides... be tolerant and reasonable... and above all, understanding.

Parking Changed On Second Street

Motorists who have been used to queuing through traffic on the 200 block of Second street north near the Twin Falls city hall will be relieved to learn that there have been some changes made.

Diagonal parking on both sides of the street was previously permitted. This narrowed the street to the point that drivers of cars passing one another had to hold their breath to keep from sideswiping. Parallel parking has now been marked out, widening this sector considerably.

Further down the street toward the courthouse, the curbing has been painted red, eliminating parking entirely to relieve congestion throughout remainder of the block.

Idaho Cancer Society Chief Tells Service

BOISE, May 2.—One of the major functions of the Idaho division of the American Cancer Society is to provide service for victims of cancer through a three-point program, Mrs. Orant Hess of Boise, state commander of the organization, said today.

Mrs. Hess declared "little has been said" about this phase of the program although residents are "familiar" with educational and scientific research projects into causes of cancer.

Direct Aid
The first function of the service plan is a "direct aid" phase through a maintenance fund which fills a definite gap in already existing programs of official agencies.

"It was set up because necessary treatment, in many instances, is not available in the patients' home town," Mrs. Hess said. "The cancer society assumes all room and lodging expenses for these people while they are away from home for irradiation, but not in a hospital."

Doctors Trained
The second, Mrs. Hess said, "is to offer to general practitioners in the state an opportunity to participate in an intensive refresher course in the newest methods of diagnosis and treatment of cancer."

Last year 26 Idaho physicians participated in this course at the University of Oregon medical school. "The third function is to provide laboratory services for cancer diagnosis to all Idaho physicians for the purpose of making technical studies of body cells and tissues. This service will be available just as soon as sufficient laboratory supplies are obtainable."

Plastic Chips Bring 'Silent' Poker Games

CHICAGO, May 2.—Wild Bill Hickok and Calamity Jane would pick and turn in their graves if they knew what science has done to the grand old game of poker. The longboards in the east tube room have taken the fun out of it. One of the hard thinkers has come up with a little do-dad called "the silent partner"—poker chips that don't make any noise no matter how you bang 'em around. They are on display at the national plastics exposition here, along with everything from pink panies to toy pink elephants.

No More Backet
Time was when you made a big racket when you dumped a silver dollar into the pot to protect that ace in the hole. But no more. In addition to their silence, there are all sorts of interesting qualities to the new poker chips. For one thing, they resist all sorts of weather, the man said.

Debit Side, Too
That's on the east side. On the debit end, you'll have to watch your opponents. Especially strangers. The chips don't make any more racket being slipped out of the pot than they do when you dump 'em in.

Back to the lovely side, and in walks Miss Bakelite of 1947, new Shirley Molohon of Chicago, five-foot, two blue eyes, weight 111. She's dressed entirely in plastic, "from the hide out," as she put it.

U.S. Conducts 'Atomic Navy' Experiments

WASHINGTON, May 8 (AP)—The navy revealed today it has stepped up preparations for atomic warfare by organizing groups of experts to study atom bomb defense and ship propulsion with atomic power.

The navy bureau of ships will operate an atomic warfare defense section, nuclear power section and radiological safety section.

The atomic warfare defense section will develop measures to protect ships against atomic weapons. The radiological safety section will be responsible for development of protection of ships crews from atomic explosions and atomic ray contamination.

The nuclear power section will attempt to apply nuclear power as a substitute for existing means of propelling ships. Navy men believe that ships and submarines powered by atomic energy are a strong possibility.

Plan New Warships

The navy revealed last yesterday that it is building radical new warships that will go into battle with crews and instruments all hidden from the enemy and protected from atomic explosions.

Assistant Secretary of Navy W. John Kenney reports that new warships will incorporate Bikini atom bombs tests and recent Antarctic cruises.

Power Firm Will Double Its Stock

BOISE, May 8 (AP)—The Idaho Power company has been authorized by its stockholders to double its capital stock to provide funds for expansion and construction. C. J. Sizke, president and general manager, said today.

Stockholders at the company's regular meeting in August, Idaho, gave the authorization for the capitalization increase, which will be carried out only as needed. The company now has 100,000 shares of preferred stock of $100 par value and 450,000 shares of common stock of $20 par value.

Strike said the company has outlined a building program of new dams, power plants and other facilities which will require an investment of approximately $30,000,000 in the next five years.

Coal Consumers Advised To Order at Once

Although cool fall days still are some months away, users of coal today were urged by Aberdeen dealers of this area to lose no time in placing orders for storage fuel. The Aberdeen dealers pointed out that the greatly increased demand, both for home and industrial uses, makes it necessary for them to deliver fuel regularly the year round in order to have an adequate supply at hand when the heating season begins.

Aberdeen, they pointed out, can be stored now and "forgotten" until cool weather comes. It loses no heating qualities during the summer, and by storing now users will have this detail out of the way in the fall, when so many winter preparations must be made around the home.

The Aberdeen dealers said that they are receiving constant shipments of this quality coal from the mines at Kenilworth, Utah, in all sizes. Whatever size you use, therefore, now is available and can be delivered promptly. Dealers say that all users check their needs, place their orders promptly and accept delivery during the coming weeks.

State Queried on Punchboard Law

BOISE, May 8 (AP)—The Idaho attorney general's office has been asked "what kind of regulations" can be imposed by cities and counties on the operation of punchboards and appling games which became legal yesterday.

Under a licensing law passed by the 1947 legislature, the boards and games are legal when stamps have been purchased. About $25,000 in stamps have been sold by the state.

James W. Blaine, Ada county attorney, asked the attorney general for the opinion, explaining: "It is our opinion that the new punchboard law authorizes licensing of the boards for the purpose of regulation and not as a revenue raising measure. However, we want the opinion of the state attorney general on the matter."

High Ideals Said Success Formula

PAUL, May 8.—The achievement of success is based on the fixing of our eyes on the hills—and high ideals, the Rev. Leonard Clark, Burley, told the Paul high school graduating class in the baccalaureate address.

"Success is the power to rise above the base side of life and the more prepared we are spiritually, morally and intellectually, the more prepared we are to achieve success," he said.

He warned the graduates against burdening themselves with handicaps, malicious habits and the depending upon another man's "push."

Bishop Keith Merrill, sr., and Davis Green gave the invocation and benediction. Music was furnished by Mr. and Mrs. Ray Sanford, accompanied by Mrs. Bob Widmeyer.

Cuts Endangering Airport Projects

WASHINGTON, May 8.—The proposed $10,000,000 cut in appropriations for the civil aeronautics administration would eliminate one half of the larger airport projects now proposed for 1948, Commerce Secretary Averel Harriman said today.

In addition, there would be no government funds for the operation of airport traffic control towers, except for the one in Washington. "Unless the cities are prepared to finance operation of these towers by July 1, discontinuance could mean the virtual paralysis of commercial air transportation," Harriman said.

Officials estimated the average annual cost for operation of each airport towers at about $35,000.

Two Mothers of Idaho

MRS. LOUISE C. MCCLUSKEY
(Coe's Photo-Engraving)MRS. ANNA E. HAYES
(Staff engraving)

Sunday is Mother's day all over the nation and a fitting tribute to motherhood is the annual selection of an outstanding mother to honor as the national mother. This year the American Mother of the year is Mrs. Frederick G. Murray, author, lecturer and successful mother of five children. Her home is in Cedar Rapids, Ia. In Idaho Mrs. Ruth Black Millay, Lewiston, was chosen as Idaho's Mother of 1947. Mrs. Louise C. McCluskey, Buhl, as a close second. Among the other runners up in the Idaho competition was Mrs. Anna E. Hayes, Twin Falls, daughter of one of Idaho's first pioneer couples. To Mrs. Murray, to Mrs. Millay, and all other mothers we say salute, not especially on Sunday, May 11, which is set aside as Mother's day, 1947, but throughout every day of the year.

Weddings, Engagements

Amesbury-Johns
FILER, May 3—At the home of the Rev. O. E. Janka, pastor of Grace Lutheran church in El Centro, Calif., at 1:30 p. m., April 29, Joanna Ruth Johns, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. The bride, given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Gerald L. Harding, wore a powder blue dressmaker suit, accented by a corsage of red roses.

Mrs. Gerald Harding, El Centro, sister of the bride, wearing a lavender wedding gown with gardenia corsage, was maid of honor. William Louis, San Jose, Calif., was best man.

A reception was held following the ceremony at the Harding home, with Mrs. Truman Clark, Castleford, assisting.

The former Miss Johns is a graduate of Filer high school and attended Idaho state college at Pocatello. The bridegroom served three years with the seaboard in the south Pacific area.
