Jury Refuses Payments for Gas Accident

last Aug. 11 before starting to fumigate. The Ingelbren's action was based on the allegation of damages incurred by breathing the fumes while Ingelbren was working upstairs in the radio station that morning. Williams declared that he followed the same procedure as on June 3 when he also fumigated, and Attorney Harry Benoit in his final argument contended that the Ingelbren family was not carried without Williams' knowledge.

Deer Testifies

Dr. Harwood L. Stowe was called to the stand by the defense to testify as to permanent ill-effects that could be produced by inhalation of fumes, and he testified that recovery in such cases is usually complete. He also indicated that Ingelbren's condition which required frequent clearing of his throat could have resulted from other causes.

Warren Testifies

Warren E. Egan, former owner of the cafe, testified that on the day preceding the fumigation he had notified the management of station KTWI that it was to take place. J. J. Genta, who is employed at a local flour mill, testified that he had at one time been overcome by cyanide gas but had recovered with no permanent disability.

Abbe Bohm, radio station janitor,

was recalled briefly by Attorney J. H. Barnes for the purpose to give rebuttal testimony.

Nelson Denied

A second motion for non-suit by the defense was denied by the court.

The closed drainage pipes

necessitated a heavy adjournment. Friday afternoon. First indication that it was not well was an urgent whisper by Sheriff Broda R. Rayburn to Sheriff J. O. Thorpe informing him of the plumbing difficulties in the county jail quarters above the courtroom. The bell toll then passed on the information to Judge Porter who adjourned court until Saturday morning.

Before that, Williams had been on the stand and had demonstrated the fumigating process by scattering deactivated chemicals over the courtroom floor.

Small Food Gain Seen This Year

WASHINGTON, May 11 (AP)—The world food supply for the coming year will be little, if any, larger than during the current year, despite widespread efforts to boost production, the agriculture department said tonight.

A severe winter, extensive floods and labor shortages reduced the acreage of winter food grains below that of a year ago in western Europe, some of recent outbreaks of unrest over food shortages.

Only a small part of this acreage loss will be made up by spring grain plantings. However, there will probably be larger acreages of sugar beets, potatoes and food grains, and a further recovery in the output of livestock products.

The department said prospective declines in food grain production in several importing countries may be offset by increased production in the principal exporting countries, notably the United States and Canada.

Land Project Research Hit By Fund Cuts

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP)—Reclamation Commissioner Michael W. Straus said today a house-approved limitation on funds for reclamation surveys would "put handcuffs on future congresses."

The $135,000 voted by the house for general investigations next fiscal year, Straus said, would "for all practical purposes" stop all such work and force the reclamation bureau to disband its technical organization.

He told a senate appropriations subcommittee he is "greatly disturbed" by the house action in slashing funds for surveys from the $5,000,000 asked in the President's budget to $125,000. The subcommittee is studying the bill carrying the funds.

"The house . . . apparently proposes to do all of the engineering and economic investigations of the proposed reclamation projects, all the surveys and investigations, and other activities related to the reconstruction, rehabilitation, extensions of projects, or financial adjustments of existing projects with $7,000 per state," Straus said.

That figure is only two per cent of the appropriations which the congress made available for these same purposes during the current fiscal year.

He said the effect of the limitation would be to curb any future congresses which might decide to undertake reclamation projects, because the necessary advance planning would not be done.

U. S. Smashes Black Market Ring in Reich

BERLIN, May 17 (AP)—Agents of the U. S. military government have smashed one of Berlin's biggest black market rings and arrested the leader, a 50-year-old German named Karl Jahn.

Officials said Jahn began his operations in Holland during the German occupation there and then switched to the lush profits available in Berlin under the occupation.

"Very Clever Guy"

Jahn, described as "a very clever guy" by American agents, was sent to Holland in 1942 with 100,000,000 marks to make purchases for the German army.

One of his fraudulent operations, American officials said, was to purchase a large consignment of goods for the Wehrmacht, which turned out to be brick dust when the German quartermasters received it.

Sold Tires, Gas

In Berlin, these officials said, he has been dealing in all phases of the black market, and is presently charged with the illegal sale of American tires and gasoline, possession of weapons and fraudulent sale of shrapnel to a worthless coal mine in Czechoslovakia.

American officials said they believed Jahn would be brought to swift trial before a military government court.

Jahn was arrested when he attempted to sell the "Behnding of St. Catherine," a painting by Lukas Cranach, to an agent for 175,000 marks.

He Says Legion Doesn't Have Right to Engage in Politics

Editor, Times-News:
The recent editorial in the Times-News entitled "The Right is Theirs" is the sort of propaganda for which I do one of the nation's greatest and finest organizations a great, and possibly disastrous disservice in recommending, and urging, this traditionally and constitutionally non-partisan organization to enter partisan politics.

The American Legion, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and the Disabled American Veterans membership rolls will list an average cross-section of the American people. Membership in these organizations is made up of millions of men with widely differing opinions on social, religious and political questions. . . there are Catholics, Protestants and Jews; members of the AFL and CIO, the Chamber of Commerce and the Rotary club, Elks, Masons and Knights, and there are, likewise, Republicans and Democrats.

No single organizational officer, or group of officers can speak on any controversial question for any group with such a wide divergence of opinions. If one man, one group or one title, be it name or title they may hold, can speak for all Legionnaires, then why isn't it just as logical for the heads of fraternal organizations, a chamber of commerce or a church, to speak politically for their entire membership. We Americans pride ourselves on our ability and our right to form our own individual opinions. It was Hitler's youth organization and other groups similar to it that did the thinking for the German people. You either belonged to the party and thought like the party, or eventually you ended up in a concentration camp. Today, in Russia, communism is practicing mass thinking. This is not the American way—do I believe it is the American Legion way.

There would be no reason to mention the name of United States Sen. Owen H. Taylor in this letter, except for the fact that the Times-News injected the senator's name into their editorial, while Idaho has the same time noting that the source of their news story and their editorial.

Writer Covers 6 Subjects in Her Letter to Forum

Editor, Times-News:
We should help other countries as much as we can without destroying our own economy. Senator Brewster says we have helped Greece already. I read somewhere that there are many good plans lying around Washington which would promote labor peace but which are ignored. A writer of India says the people there are born into debt, live all their lives and die in debt and that they spend too much on weddings and funerals. "The same thing could be said of a good many Americans."

It might be better for world peace if there weren't so many military men in key positions. Speaking of cooperatives, as I understand it, if the profits are divided and returned to the producers, then that is a co-op and as an organization is tax free since each producer pays taxes. But when certificates are issued and the money is returned to the company, then that is where the argument comes in.

If folks were as determined to help their sugar as they are to have their beer, maybe we'd have some sugar for canning.

Hazelton Writer Deplores Death Of Unknown Girl

Editor, Times-News:
I stood watching while life left the small body lying crumpled in the traffic officer's arms. A small crowd of people had formed already, regarding the scene with silent pity. The truck driver knelt, face buried in his hands near his truck which stood askew against the curb with its engine still idling. My gaze dwelt with him for a moment and then returned to the form lying in the officer's arms. A wisp of yellow hair drenched in crimson fell over one ear and a pale, ranging from brown to a livid red could be seen through a torn place in her blue tulle dress. One small leg bent at a point halfway between the hip and knee to form a right angle with her body, and hung over a little red paper from which had been spilled three bright pennies and a scrap of paper on which was written, "bread, crackers, 2 qt. milk."

It was a big and uncomprehending world which failed to pause and look at the little girl as I did. A world so busy in its grown-up wisdom that it failed to note the absence from its midst of a child's simple dream.

I brought the scene into focus once more. The crowd, a living layer, still looked. Blood trickled down the blue of the officer's tunic and the driver still knelt near his idling machine. I turned away.

I shall never know her name nor will you who read this ever care. Let her die as she has lived, a prodigy and victim of our proud and shiny civilization. Consider her as never having lived, for she has never been named. I am sure of what follows, and so by our standards can never have existed.

Aircraft Industry Ails, Says Solon

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP)—Senator Brewster, R. Me., said today the nation's aircraft industry is ailing and needs government help quickly.

"Our hemispheric air defenses," he told a reporter, "are going out the window while we are stalling around."

He said it was up to congress to act because "it is difficult, if not impossible, to draw a line of demarcation between national security and the interests of the aviation industry."

Brewster was interviewed in advance of an air policy session of a senate commerce subcommittee which he heads.

"We are ahead of other nations in current operating models," Brewster said, "but far behind in the development of new types of planes."

Prices of U. S. farm products in 1945 were about equal to those in 1918.

Advantages of Small Schools Claimed Over Reorganization

Editor, Times-News:
After reading the May 4 editorial about school reorganization and also the front page news item of May 8, we would like to explain our views on this subject.

The editorial said in part that it remained to be seen if the little school districts would decide if better education for their youngsters is more, or less, important than other considerations. The wording is unfortunate because, after quite a lot of study of the matter over a period of several years we have come to the conclusion that our little schools have a great many advantages to offer a school child which definitely are lacking in the large town school.

During a discussion of the pros and cons of large and small schools at a recent meeting of the Shannock school, J. C. Eddy, former assistant state superintendent of public instruction, made the statement that a teacher who had 20 or more pupils in one grade could give each one more individual attention than a teacher who had 40 or more pupils in four or more grades. This theory is sound and should prove true but we have found exceptions to the rule.

Most of the teachers who have taught in our little school have complained to us that pupils enrolled here during the school year are behind the students in our school of the same grade. They usually are so far behind that it is a problem for the teacher, and many of the pupils to continue in the same grade. We also have found consistently that these pupils from the large schools are deficient in reading, a subject upon which all our learning depends.

We have been told by excellent teachers who have taught in these larger school systems, that there are always some who are passed without this necessary accomplishment. One teacher said she taught a fifth grade class of 34 pupils, of which 13 could hardly read a word. If it is so for the teacher, and the equipment to teach, how can this condition be true?

We can be proud of the fact that not one child has passed from our

Alfalfa Insect Injures Crop In Buhl Area

Dr. H. C. Manis, head of the entomology department and extension entomologist for the University of Idaho, will be in Twin Falls county Wednesday to assist farmers in the west end in combating alfalfa weevil and other insects. County Agent Jack P. Smith, announced Saturday.

Smith said that considerable alfalfa weevil damage already has been done to alfalfa fields in the west end, although the main population of the weevil isn't expected in this area until June 1.

Weather blamed

Smith blamed warm weather two weeks ago for early appearance of the weevil.

Dr. Manis will conduct a meeting of Buhl district farmers at 9:30 a. m. Wednesday in the Buhl Grange hall and will explain the identifying

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

By MISS PUCKETT

One of our readers with a feeling for warm and human verse, sent the following verse. Sorry the author's name isn't included, but you folks will enjoy the poem just the same.

THE TWO OF US

I feel the tug of home when far apart
From home I love, I hide my lonely heart.
The fields I cherish who have made home sweet;
The children's laughter, their swift running feet;
The furniture, familiar, worn by using;
The lamp, the table, you beside it musing;
All of our years of living, light and shade,
Sorrow and joy, beneath the roof we made.

These flash before me when I am far from Those beloved scenes where dear ones are.
With searing inner vision I divine
My lawn, my maple trees, my own sky line.
My smiling home where those I love belong,
The tug of home! How sure it is, how strong!

"When I get blue," writes a woman up Rock Creek way, "I just say to myself, 'You're here, it's spring, and you're a ranch in Idaho!' Where else can one enjoy such luxuries as water rushing, a moon peeping into one's bedroom over a cowshed, blackbirds holding a racket convention in a poplar tree, and silence soft and deep as plush!

What would YOU do in a case like this?

The family dwells miles from any town. They have no telephone. Papa was lean in the purse; he owed for taxes, mother's operation, and payments on the new pickup. He decided to sell some property for $3,000. Buyers came sniffing. One was really hot on the trail. Papa was hard-headed. "Give you $2,000 for it," he said, "and not a cent more." Papa showed the thought of his debt from his mind and changed his jaw stubbornly. "Nope," he said, "that piece is worth what I'm asking. Take it or leave it."

Five weeks went by. Papa was right up against the wall now, and the hard-headed buyer hadn't returned. One day he sat down and wrote the man: "Change my mind. If you still want that piece for $2,500 you can have it." He drove a half mile to the mailbox and put the letter in, being careful to raise the little metal flag so the carrier wouldn't pass him by.

Late that afternoon Papa's pig-tailed daughter, Julia, fetched the mail out to the field. Yes, the carrier had taken his letter, and he'd left a note. Papa took the envelope and opened it. His hairy old hands were shaking a little. The letter was from the prospective buyer. "Been thinking it over," it said, "and I've decided to give you the $3,000 for that land."

Johnny Bergin runs the Rock Lodge down Hagerman way, says he's from French Canada, that his name was once French, but he's changed it. Johnny runs a small grocery, sells tires and gasoline, fixes flats. He's been an auctioneer, cook, cowboy, and truck driver. Johnny juggles a jack and other tools up a hill to fix our tire. It was after 9 p.m. and he was tired from the rush, but he was obliging to a lady in distress. The moonlight spilled on his hairy arms as we followed him up the highway where the red light of the car glowed.

The night was full of sounds of rushing water and the chirp of cicadas. Johnny's young pal Gene Smith, joined us at the top of the hill. Gene is slim and blond, and was born in Shoshone. "I was in dozens of states during the war," he said, "and soon as I could, I headed right back for good old Shoshone." Johnny Bergin nodded his dark head. "You bet," he agreed. "Idaho is wonderful!"

So that made three of us, heading over a flat tire in the moonlight singing the praises of the Gem state.

P. C. Smith, up at Glenna Ferry, just sent us a dinger of a story. He says an old-timer told him this, and reckons some of the other boys around may remember.

Seems Ringling Brothers circus came to Halley about the time the railroad was building. Cowhands, miners, sheep herders, section hands, ranchers, trucked for miles bringing their families. Travel was by buckboard, horseback, or wagon. The hitching posts of Halley were jammed.

Along in the afternoon, when the fun was at its height, Old Jumbo the circus elephant, decided to go places and do things. He yanked his picket pin and started swinging and trumpeting down the main street of Halley. As he approached the hitching posts the terrified horses kicked, reared, and squealed. Those unable to break and run were

Freight Cars Lack to Last, Solon Avows

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP)—Sen. Clyde M. Ransom, Kansas, predicted today that the freight and box car shortage will last until construction companies have been turning out 10,000 cars a month for two years.

He estimated present freight and box car construction rate at between 4,000 and 6,000 a month. The 10,000 rate will not be reached at least until June, he told the senate.

Delays Cited

Read made no reference to charges being investigated by a group of house westerners that eastern railroads have "manipulated" a shortage in the west. He stated, however, that a countrywide shortage to delays in making up wartime deficiencies.

"Steel is the bottleneck in freight car building," he said. "It is my opinion that the railroads should have not less than 200,000 new freight cars."

100,000 Needed Now

"Not less than 100,000 new box cars should be built. Only when that sort of program reaches a successful conclusion will the country have a reasonably satisfactory car supply by the railroads."

"It will require in my judgment a construction program of 10,000 cars a month to be carried on for 24 months before the country is relieved of a definite freight car and especially a box car shortage."

'Operation Naval Reserve' Begins In Entire Nation

BOISE, May 17 (AP)—Idaho joins the nation next week in "operation naval reserve"—a two-pointed project intended to inform the public of naval functions and to enlist among 12,000 Idahoans in the navy reserve.

The week's program will be climaxed in Boise on the concluding day, May 25—with an open house at the new naval armory and a memorial service honoring navy dead sponsored by the navy mothers. The open house at the Boise armory is under the auspices of Idaho veterans' organizations.

John L. Edwards, U. S. vice in charge of the Boise office of the naval reserve said the Idaho goal for enlistments during the week was 1,278. That is in addition to about 1,500 now in the reserve.

While the Boise naval facilities will be the largest for the training of reserves, electronic warfare training units will be established at Lewiston and Twin Falls with others to be activated as enlistments grow.

Among the enlistment goals for the week, Rice said, are: Bury, 60, and Twin Falls, 172.

Murderer's Eye May Give Sight To 2 Blind Men

LITTLE ROCK, May 17 (AP)—The corner of the right eye of a dead murderer was divided today between two living blind men.

The left eye was burned and rendered useless for surgical transplant, doctors discovered, when the murderer, Volle Bill Bates, 20, Men, Ark., was electrocuted yesterday at Tucker prison farm for the slaying of a taxi driver.

We made two grafts of the good eye. Dr. J. F. Cogrove, who with Dr. J. F. Henry performed the operations, said:

"It will be at least 10 days before we know whether the operations are successful," he declared after finishing the first transplant.

Dr. Charles F. Boucher, 72, retired from Springfield, Ark., bricklayer was first in the operating room for the transplants. He was followed by Frank Mcracken, 49, Post Smith piano tuner. Each had one eye which transplants might help.

Before his execution, Bates, who had his eyes to someone who "needed them badly." They were removed shortly after the execution.

Record High in Available Work Shown in State

BOISE, May 17 (AP)—All sections of the state are demanding more work. The Idaho state employment service said today in a report that listed 2,394 job openings on May 10. That was a 23 per cent increase over the previous week and was a record total for 1947.

The reopening of orders for forest service insect control workers in Idaho caused a net increase of 253 in forestry jobs.

Farmers throughout southern Idaho seeking beet thinners and blockers accounted for the main part of a 110 increase in available agricultural jobs. The total on May 10 was 340.

Other net gains in job openings were reported in mining, construction, transportation, trade and service industries. The ISSS said "in most instances these increases represented expanded employment. In mining, however, the increases were caused by the seasonal out-migration of mine workers."

The ISSS said the arrival of Mexican agricultural workers started May 8 and continued at Jerome and 80 at Hazelton.

Junk Burning To Try Hotel Fire Remedy

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP)—Experts at the national bureau of standards are burning enough junk today to fill a Langley Collier dream cottage.

The final result, they hope, will show how to avoid such disasters as the fire which took a heavy death toll at Atlanta's Wincoff hotel and the LaSalle hotel in Chicago.

While 30 pounds of wood, paper and excelsior go up in flames in the room-like cinderblock furnace they built for their tests, the experts will record the intensity of the heat on instruments.

They know how different types of construction withstand fire. Now they want to find out the varying amounts of stress that different types of fires put on various types of construction.

The first test in the series is intended to reveal the characteristics of a fire in a room which has 30 pounds of combustible material such as furniture per square foot of floor.

Such so-called "floor loading" usually averages from about three pounds per square foot in apartment houses to 50-60 pounds per square foot in warehouses. Homes average less than eight pounds.

Today's fire simulates floor loading conditions in a light warehouse. From the 450 temperature readings which they take every hour during the fire, they hope to determine just what the walls have to take from such a blaze. The results will indicate what type of walls would give adequate protection against such fire.

Wendell Man Named To Trucking Board

BOISE, May 17 (AP)—Gov. C. A. Robins announced the appointment today of a legislatively-created committee to investigate interstate and intrastate license affecting Idaho truck companies and stage lines.

Appointed were Sen. Leonard Floren, D., Clearwater; Rep. L. B. Jordan, R., Ida.; W. B. Joy, Boise, state public utilities commissioner; D. B. Bradshaw, Wendell, representing shippers; and Norman B. Stedfeld, Pocatello, representing truck and stage line operators.

Shrine Initiates Large Class at Boise Conclave

BOISE, May 17 (AP)—One of the largest classes of candidates in recent years entered the Shrine organization today when 41 novices from southern Idaho crossed the mystic Shrine's burning sands to become nobles in the El Korah temple here.

More than 200 visiting nobles and Shrine officials from Oregon, Montana, Washington, Nevada, Utah and Wyoming attended the spring ceremonial. Some delegates came by chartered airplane from Salt Lake City.

Novices listed included sons from Bury, Piler, Twin Falls and Jerome.

The novices walked their "last mile" before initiation ceremonies in a downtown parade headed by Grand Marshal Roy Davidson.

The day's program included a novice luncheon at noon, a meeting of the camel herders, a business meeting, and dinners for the novices, uniformed units and the nobility.

Speaker Says Youth Ability Now Dormant

"Although the young people of today have all the qualities of success including self reliance, persistence and optimism, together with many other worthwhile qualities, the spirit is in a most dormant condition," said Mrs. Rose M. North, dean of girls at Twin Falls high school, when she addressed the annual fellowship meeting Friday of the United Council of Church Women.

The meeting was in the form of a luncheon at the Elks lodge church, Mrs. M. H. Krenzel, president, conducted the program and business session.

"The boys and girls of today are a constant joy to work with," Mrs. North stated, "but we must bear in mind modern boys and girls are different from those of other periods; they are restless and confused."

"Blessed With Life" she went on to enumerate the various other youth problems, and possible causes and said that to an extent today's youth is "bored with life."

"I am sorry to say," the speaker continued, "the boys and girls of today have no stars in their eyes," explaining that they are products of the times and instead of criticism they need sympathetic understanding and help.

She pointed out that the significant fact that the great problem to face is that daily living today does not sufficiently challenge boys and girls.

Suggestions Made

Quoting "America is moving on," she said "back," Mrs. North outlined a few general suggestions that should help in the present day situation, among them the need of better schools, schools that meet the needs of modern youth, better churches, stating it is "important that the Christian program be challenged enough to hold their own."

Another suggestion she made was the need for better recreation, more wholesome and interesting, also better working opportunities for young people.

Community Needs Cited

Major Clara Nelson of the Salvation Army spoke on the real needs of the community from the standpoint of young people. She mentioned in particular the need for more supervised activities for them.

She stressed the urgent need of some sort of organized Christian program at the labor camp, stating there are now 60 children there with no Sunday school facilities provided and declared that a Christian youth center is needed there.

Major Nelson also spoke of the plans and projects of the new Salvation Army home, and said she hopes to have a sewing room for use of mothers, many of whom have large families but are unable to have a sewing machine of their own.

Mrs. Winifred Smith of the department of public assistance spoke on the problems confronting a community in the care of the poor and aged, going back to ancient times and citing the fact that the needy had always been taken care of.

She also gave figures on the number of dependent persons in the state of Idaho in Twin Falls county.

Mrs. Maude Dygert gave a resume of the various activities of the YWCA, and the major role they play in providing interests for the girls and young women of the community.

New Officers Elected

New officers elected to the council include Mrs. Howard Larsen, president, from the Christian church; Mrs. O. H. Proctor, vice president, Methodist church; Mrs. Herman L. Dodson, secretary, Baptist church; and Mrs. J. W. Smith, treasurer, church of the Nazarenes.

Mrs. Donald Blackstone led the devotional period with Mrs. Austin Wallace singing "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by Mrs. Dygert.

Burial will be held at 8:15 p. m. Sunday at the White Mortuary chapel, and requiem mass will be celebrated at 10 a. m. Monday in St. Catherine's church. Burial will be in Twin Falls cemetery.

Byrnes Hits War Talk; Sees Peace

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP)—James F. Byrnes, former secretary of state, declared today that "these difficulties" which handicap peace, and that in both Russia and the United States "there is too much talk about war and too little talk about peace."

"The people of neither country want to go to war," he said, and only blundering leadership could bring about another conflict.

Byrnes, who was in London today, said that the "best way" to explain it is that a man erected a large business building a short while back, using these blocks and had insurance written on his building. Then when we supplied the insurance company with rating certificate for the blocks, the owner of the building got a refund of $225.00 on his insurance. "I can understand that."

He said the Jerome lumber pine blocks. "We sell lots of them, and the folks like them. In fact we built a nice modern farm home out of them. It is the pride of every one who sees it."

We have No. 1 cedar shingles, fir, larch, spruce, cedar shingles, flint light windows, asphalt roofing, roll roofing, oak dimension, oak wagon tongue, nice straight oak buck rake for $1.85. Hope you are the same.

May Tells Jury Garssons Owed Payments Made

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP)—Ex-Congressman Andrew J. May has told a jury a $7,500 transaction between him and the munitions making Garsson brothers involved money they owed him in a business deal.

May gave that explanation yesterday as the opening witness in defense government charges that he took $5,000 in bribes from Henry and Murray Garsson, key figures in a $78,000,000 munitions combine.

The government contends the 72-year-old May, wartime chairman of the house military committee, accepted the money for performing favors.

May said he took $2,500 from Henry Garsson as part payment in a deal in which Murray bought out the Kentucky congressman's interest in a Greenbrier, W. Va., manganese mining enterprise.

May said he borrowed $10,000 in his own name to help Murray Garsson finance this same deal further, on a written agreement that Murray would pay the notes. One of the notes in his name at a New York bank was for $5,000 and Murray Garsson paid it, May said.

He will resume his testimony Monday.

severed our connection to form this new council that we might have a representative when needed."

He stressed, however, that there was no intention of withdrawing from the AFL.

Gregerson indicated that an election to determine permanent officers of the Joint Trades and Labor council would be held in the near future.

According to United Press information, since Hall's election was certified to national headquarters, many of southern Idaho's locals have deliberately become delinquent in paying dues to the state federation.

As quoted by the Associated Press, Hall said at Boise Saturday that he was referring to President Green the action of the Twin Falls and Pocatello union locals. Hall declared that it was an "attempt by certain Pocatello and Twin Falls labor officials to form a dual organization in the state."

He asserted that on recent visits to Pocatello, Twin Falls and Idaho Falls "there was no mention of any desire to form a dual organization, and no contemplation of no action until all information could be turned over to Green. Any definite action must come from that office."

Demos Want High Prices; GOP Avows

major of government is one of the cost factors in the high cost of living."

Administration spokesmen have been vocally in the price reductions that Mr. Truman will also veto any labor bill which may be passed. Back this contention.

Reece said that "the Republican congress, in the pending bill for improved relationships between labor and management, is seeking to increase the nation's capacity to produce the things the people need."

Production at capacity rate, he argued, means that "invariably, prices will go down."

Democrats want to "perpetuate the outrageously high prices" so as to "dodge the responsibility for their own misdeeds," he contended.

Reece listed as "the basic causes for today's high prices" the following:

1. The Democratic administration's incurable addiction to spending more than it took in.

2. Its political approach to all questions involving the relationship between labor and management resulted in a steady round of wage increases. "It is obvious that when costs go up, prices will go up also."

3. Reckless and ill-timed buying by government agencies of food for foreign relief, which has resulted in pushing up, or keeping up food prices."

Man Charged in Shotgun Assault Free Under Bond

Ray E. Copenberger, Roseworth, was released from Twin Falls county jail Saturday noon on a $1,000 bond. Through his attorney, Earl E. Walker, Roseworth demanded a preliminary hearing when arraigned Friday before Judge S. T. Hamilton on a charge of assault with intent to commit murder.

The hearing will be held at 10 a. m. Thursday.

Copenberger is charged with firing a shotgun at Gerald Hildreth, Caldwell, late Tuesday night in a community after an alleged argument earlier that evening. He was apprehended Thursday night by a deputy sheriff assisted by the Pocatello police department and the Caldwell constable.

The pellets pierced the rear of the cab of the truck Hildreth was driving and went through the seat, some of the shot reaching a can of tobacco Hildreth was carrying in a hip pocket, investigating officers reported.

Chinese Students Demand War End

BEIJING, Sunday, May 18 (AP)—A call for an end to the civil war was added today to the demands of more than 15,000 Chinese students on strike in at least 17 of China's universities.

Five thousand students at two of Peking's three largest universities demanded immediate cessation of the civil war, asserting the strife was to blame for economic conditions which make it difficult for students to live.

It was the first major demonstration against civil war in north China. Students elsewhere have been demanding higher food rations, increased government subsidies and changes in curricula.

Reich's Strife Stirs Europe, Analyst Avers

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Some three weeks ago U. S. Secretary of State George Marshall came back to Washington from the despatched his four foreign ministers conference in Moscow, Europe must be settled without delay.

Premier Stalin had told Marshall that compromise were possible of the great issues dividing the allies, but the latter in his report to the people declared that the fate of Europe couldn't wait on compromise through exhaustion. The secretary of state added:

"Disintegrating forces are becoming evident. The patient is sinking while the doctors deliberate. Whatever action is possible to meet these problems must be taken without delay."

Proof of the truth of Marshall's prophecy was treading on heels. Today the German economic crisis, complicated by a grave shortage of food, makes it only too clear that the "disintegrating forces" are a very real fact. For Germany is the epicenter of the earthquake which is rocking all Europe.

Moscow Silent

Within the past few days great statements of Britain and France have echoed Marshall's thesis. Only Moscow remains as yet the sphinx. Unity in Europe—at least in central and western Europe—depends on the politico-economic rehabilitation of Germany. That's not because Germany's neighbors love her—for nobody does—but because she was the keystone of the European structure.

Whether the desire for settlement exists on all sides is a great question upon which the fate of Europe depends. We may not find the answer to that before the November conference, but meantime there are growing signs that the western allies intend to go ahead on their own to try to make peace for Europe if Russia cannot see her way to cooperate.

Phillips Company Probes Wasatch, Idaho Oil Fields

SALT LAKE CITY, May 17 (AP)—Representatives of Phillips Petroleum company today started an investigation of properties of the Wasatch Oil Refining company of Utah and the Idaho Refining company of Pocatello, aimed at possible acquisition by Phillips of 80 per cent of the stock of the two firms.

Ken Beal, head of the Phillips delegation from Bartlesville, Okla., said his company had authority to look over local properties, books and records of the two companies.

Henry D. Moyle, vice president of the Wasatch company, said that the two intermountain firms had offered to exchange 80 per cent of the stock in both companies for Phillips petroleum stock.

The offer expires June 12, Beal said that should Phillips accept, the Oklahoma company plans to operate the local fields under the present trade names, using virtually the same management.

'Slot' Operators In Wendell Lose Bid to Slash Tax

WENDELL, May 17.—Efforts of Wendell slot machine operators to modify the present slot machine ordinance met with defeat at the hands of the city council.

A vote to change the law and require a flat license fee instead of the 50 per cent of the gross intake of the machine ended in a deadlock in the council.

The retiring village board passed an ordinance calling for a license requiring 50 per cent of the gross intake of the machines. When Wendell was incorporated as a city, the ordinance and the village board was dissolved and an entire slate of new officers took over city administration.

Proponents of the change to a flat license fee contended that more machines would be operated in the city under a lesser license fee and that the gross revenue for the city would in turn be higher.

It was decided that the law as approved by the retiring village board would be tried and that if changes are necessary later they could be made.

Meeting Set for Tax Discussions

Auto Makers Have Set '48 Model Styles

By DAVID J. WILLIAMS
AP Automobile Editor

DETROIT, May 17 (AP)—Most of the nation's car manufacturers have their 1948 model fairly well blue-printed and are currently working the door to last minute changes should competitive factors suggest such action.

Before the war the car designers frequently complained that yearly model changes did not permit them time to improve the things they would like to put into new cars.

Should Improve

If this be true, the vehicles to carry the 1948 line should be truly impressive in appearance and operation. Certainly the designers have had plenty of time to try out their ideas since the industry last brought out a really changed model.

It is no secret that the car makers originally planned 1947 models should be the "real postwar models." With this end in view they had a number of mechanical and styling changes ready to introduce—after they had sold some five million or more of the postwar "stop gap" models.

Traffic Fines

Motorists have paid one fine for a stop sign violation, one for making a left turn at the Main-Shoshone intersection and 24 fines for over-time parking in Twin Falls city traffic court.

Those paying $1 over-parking fines were: Lily Sawyer, Mrs. Earl Cheney, D. H. Ball, Ida May, Johnnie Kuest, Nellie Matthy, G. B. Weeden, Mrs. M. E. Holmes, Mrs. E. Shiller, Brinker Hoff, Mrs. Buell Warner, Ed Yeagui, Edward Wilson, Mrs. Charles Emerson, C. W. Gardner, M. Whitehead, L. V. Ghan, V. R. Larson, C. E. ## Probe Urged Of Red Acts In Hollywood

LOS ANGELES, May 17 (AP)—A house subcommittee on Un-American Activities has concluded its investigation of communist influence in Hollywood and Chairman J. Parnell Thomas, R. N. J., says the following recommendations will be made to the full committee in Washington:

1. An all-inclusive public hearing be held starting June 18 covering Hannes Eisler and others.

2. Launch a broader field investigation of communism in the motion picture industry.

3. Follow this with a full dress public hearing either in Washington or Hollywood.

4. Public hearing beginning June 28 in Washington to air disclosures of Viktor Kravchenko and others.

"No. 1 Agent"

Eisler, Hollywood composer, is a brother of Gerhardt Eisler, charged by the group as "No. 1 Soviet agent in the United States." Kravchenko, former red army officer, renounced communism while a member of Soviet purchasing commission in Washington in 1944. Both appeared before the committee here.

Thomas declared the week-long hearings produced "recorded testimony that the White House exerted its influence on certain people in Hollywood to have certain pro-Russian motion pictures filmed during the regime of the late President Roosevelt."

Actors Robert Taylor and Adolphe Menjou, novelist Rupert Hughes and producer Jack L. Warner testified before the group.
