NEW YORK, May 24 (AP)—The nationwide front of 840,000 independent telephone workers, weakened somewhat during the recent strike, was jolted anew today as leaders of the key long lines union voted to join the CIO.

J. J. Moran, president of the 23,000-member American Union of Telephone Workers and a vice-president of the Independent National Federation of Telephone Workers, announced the decision of AUTW officials to quit the NFW and affiliate with the CIO and said it was an immediate result of "membership reaction following the strike."

"We believe that as a result of our experience in the recent strike," Moran said, "we cannot continue to exist as an isolated group and remain isolated from other segments of organized labor."

The AUTW membership must ratify the CIO affiliation plan. Moran called "foolhardy" the AUTW move was quickly assailed by Joseph Beine, president of the NFW, as "foolhardy" and not "descriptive to the best interests of telephone workers."

The National Federation of Telephone Workers is composed of 48 autonomous local unions.

Beine pointed out that the NFW at its national convention last November had voted to dissolve the organization and establish a new central union for telephone workers, the Communications Workers of America.

Forced to Appeal

In announcing the unanimous vote of the AUTW executive board to affiliate with the CIO, Moran said the telephone strikers had been forced to appeal to both the CIO and the AFL for financial aid during the strike and said the CIO was chosen because "it offers the greatest opportunity for the telephone workers."

He said inquiries had shown that the AFL "has nothing to offer except a class B membership through the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers."

Marshall Sets Priority Tags On Vital Acts

WASHINGTON, May 24 (AP)—Secretary of State Marshall today set "urgent" tags today on four foreign affairs measures which have made slow progress in congress in a drive to speed up the legislative process.

Officials said the legislation is needed promptly in view of (A) the start of the government's fiscal year July 1, (B) the expiration of certain presidential powers June 30.

UNRRA Substitute

The first bill is a substitute for the United States membership in the International Refugee Organization, which is getting ready to take over the work of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration (UNRRA) in Germany and Austria. Passed by the senate, it awaits house consideration.

2. The sending of military and naval missions to other countries, including China and Iran. It is still in congressional committee.

Neutrality Act Change

3. Sale of arms to friendly foreign nations through amendment to the neutrality act. A congressional action has been taken.

4. Continuation of the voice of America through amendment to foreign information activities. It is due for house consideration next week. No senate action has been taken.

The administration also is eager for the senate to ratify the peace treaties for Italy, Romania, Hungary and Bulgaria.

5. A bill to amend the law governing the 30-day deadline involved, Chairman Vandenberg, R. Mich., expects to call them up after the senate completes work on the tax and labor bills.

FLASHES OF LIFE

CAUTION

MOBILE, Ala., May 24—A Mobile letter carrier, usually alert to the danger of over-zealous dogs on his route, found a note of caution from a thoughtful housewife in her mailbox.

The note read:

"Please leave package in the shed in back. Take a stick to the rooster if he comes toward you."

STUCK

CHICAGO, May 24—Henry Duhal, beverage plant watchman, was surprised today by three gunmen who announced "this is a stickup," but he stuck, or was stuck, for a while.

The gunmen deposited Duhal up his neck in a bag of sweet sticky sugar, then got away with 30 bags of sugar in a company truck.

Southeast Idaho Expansion Plans Told by Company

SUN VALLEY, May 24 (AP)—Plans for a $5,000,000 program to produce high concentrate phosphates in southeastern Idaho were announced today by J. R. Simplot, Boise industrialist, at the concluding session of the Idaho Mining Association.

Simplot declared that pilot operations were underway and that if they proved successful, preliminary laboring, the construction of a full-scale electric furnace plant would start this year with production anticipated another year.

Simplot's announcement preceded the election of officers which named E. H. Hansen, president, manager of the Bunker Hill and Sullivan Mining company, president to succeed John D. Bradley, president of the Bradley Mining company of San Francisco.

Other officers elected were Vice President, A. E. Rosenbaker, Haley, manager of the Triunvirato Mining and executive committees members: Wallace O. Wolf, Kellogg; Henry L. Day, Wallace; Tom G. Russell, Condon; Idaho; J. E. Berg, Wallace, and H. D. Bailey, Buhl.

Mrs. Truman Gets Weaker, Son Remains

Returning to his hotel at Kansas City after another trying day at 94-year-old Mrs. Martha E. Truman's bedside, the chief executive said he had talked several times to his mother during the long and anxious hours, but that "she slept most of the time."

"She's just about the same," he said, and he added, "there's not much change."

"Little Weaker"

Pauline, he told newsmen: "She's a little weaker, if anything."

She went hurrying to the elevator, leading to his apartment with the assurance, "That is just about all I can say."

The president planned to remain here indefinitely.

His personal physician was quoted for the first time regarding her condition as such that he felt he would not be warranted in advising the President to return to Washington at this time.

Chats With Girls

Despite the sad state of his own feelings, the President stopped and chatted with eight little girls in the lobby of Kansas City's Muehlebach hotel before leaving for Grandview this morning with his wife and daughter, Margaret.

The president told reporters he has been up since 5 a. m. working on a batch of official papers after working until nearly midnight.

All interested persons are invited to attend according to the organization officials.

USDA Foresees Temporary Lack In Sugar Ration

BOISE, May 24 (AP)—Failure on the part of housewives to cash in their ration stamps for sugar today is expected to become valid June 1 may result in temporary sugar shortages, the U. S. department of agriculture said today.

Railroad cars used to ship the sugar will be the bottleneck in getting supplies distributed over the nation later in the season, the USDA warned. Large winter wheat stocks begin moving at the same time and the demand for carrying sugar is heavy.

Grocery sugar bins relieved of sugar early can be replenished at a time when transportation facilities are not yet tied up with the nation's wheat crop, the agency said.

New York Hit by Extensive Probe

NEW YORK, May 24 (AP)—Tom Heath, Preston, Idaho, president of the American Sugar Beet Association today said that he expected Secretary of Agriculture Clinton Anderson to limit rationing in the sale of sugar to housewives.

Heath said if restrictions were not lifted completely he expected that the government would get extra ration stamps for carrying. Heath has served as a member of the sugar industry advisory committee to federal agencies concerned with rationing sugar.

Oakley Boy, 17, Nearly Drowns While Rescuers Save Another Non-Swimmer

OAKLEY, May 24—Artificial respiration today saved the life of Earl Taylor, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thad Taylor, after he was found on the bottom of the swimming pool at Indian Springs.

Oakley youths attending the Oakley priesthood group's annual outing and picnic today were in the pool when Taylor was in the water in the confusion caused when Don Emery, 17, was being pulled from the pool. Emery, who was unable to swim, jumped off the diving board into seven feet of water.

Taylor, who was just beginning to learn to swim, apparently went under the water during the confusion of pulling the other youth out. Gary Peterson, 18, discovered Taylor was under in the pool. He was black and unconscious when rescued by Emery. He was pulled out by Emery and taken to the Oakley hospital. He was hospitalized for three hours and then released to his home in the evening.

Barty estimated Taylor had been under water 10 minutes before he was discovered.

City Council Sets Vote On Liquor-by-Drink for June 17 After Check-up

Twin Falls city commissioners, meeting in special session at 4:30 p. m. Saturday, set June 17 as the date for a local option election to determine whether or not liquor will be sold by the drink in this city.

After a thorough check of signatures on petitions calling for such an election against the names of registered qualified city voters, the commissioners found there were 111 more qualified voters signing the petitions than the 20 per cent called for by the liquor by the drink law passed at the last session of the legislature.

'Drink' Vote Attempt Fails in Most Cities

By The Associated Press

Petitions by temperance leaders seeking local option elections to prevent the licensing of liquor by the drink establishments have failed in Idaho's major cities with the exceptions of Moscow and Twin Falls.

In the home of the University of Idaho, in Twin Falls, and in several smaller communities elections will be held June 17. City councils in Boise and Pocatello where petitions were filed, ruled that the documents did not carry the names of 20 per cent of the qualified voters necessary for calling an election on the issue.

Lacking a mandate from the voters, councils are empowered under the newly adopted state law to license liquor by the drink establishments within city limits beginning July 1.

Harry Keeler, Boise, legal counsel for the Allied City Forces, said there were "several other small communities in Idaho where elections will be held." The ACF, a reform organization, aims at the circulation of petitions to demand the elections.

Keeler said his organization has "nothing more in mind at present" to carry out their program to prevent licensing of liquor-by-the-drink election.

While some petitions were circulated at Coeur d'Alene, Nampa and Caldwell no attempt was made to place the liquor-by-the-drink issue on the ballot in any of these cities which was the deadline for demanding an election before November.

Under the new law, the local option elections can be held no later than every two years. The state constitution requires that no more than one election be held before last Monday.

Accord Seen In Argentina, U. S. Dispute

WASHINGTON, May 24 (AP)—A final accord to end the long dispute between the United States and Argentina over the Falkland Islands is now generally expected in Washington to be reached within the next few weeks.

It may be marked by the retirement from his post at Buenos Aires of Ambassador George F. Messersmith and the resignation of Spruille Braden as assistant secretary of state for Latin American affairs.

The split between them over the conduct of Argentine relations has been wide and bitter and both are believed ready to quit when improvement in the situation permits such action gracefully.

The apparently impending change in United States leadership does not necessarily mean the beginning of an era of better friendship between Buenos Aires and Washington. Argentine officials are still suspicious of what they regard as traditional Argentine efforts to win leadership in Latin America at the expense of North American good will.

Colonel Meek To Talk Here Memorial Day

Col. Frank Meek, who was chief prosecutor on Gen. Douglas MacArthur's staff in the Philippines at the trial of the infamous Japanese General Homma, will be the principal speaker at American Legion Memorial day services Friday morning.

J. G. Thorp, chairman of the Legion Memorial day committee, in announcing that Colonel Meek would speak, said the annual traditional services would be held at 11 a. m.

The Twin Falls Legion post, which annually invites an outstanding Legionnaire as guest speaker, also will decorate the grave of each veteran who died as part of the traditional ceremonies.

Legion Commander Larry Laughridge, W. R. Wolter, Dr. Orrin Puller and a national guard color guard and firing squad under Sgt. Dan Rogers also will participate.

Colonel Meek, a prominent Caldwell attorney and widely-known speaker, is a veteran of both World wars and climaxed a brilliant World War II career as chief prosecutor at the trial of General Homma, who was responsible for the Bataan death march. The notorious Japanese general later was hanged.

Auto Victim's Condition Is 'Fairly Good'

KING HILL, May 24—George E. Johnson was reported in "fairly good" condition Saturday night at St. Valentine's hospital, Wendell, where he is recovering from injuries sustained in a highway accident Tuesday night near King Hill. He is the son of Mrs. J. O. Walker, King Hill.

Johnson's left leg was broken in two places, two ribs were broken, and he began chattering from pain. He was unconscious for 18 hours after the accident, but his physician said the injured man's condition "improved Saturday."

Emore County Sheriff Arthur A. Stevens, who investigated the mishap, said Johnson was walking west on U. S. highway 20, half mile east of King Hill, at about 10 p. m. Thursday, when he was struck from behind by a car driven by John J. Forrester, Prius, Utah, who with his wife was en route to Washington for a vacation.

Forrester told the sheriff he was blinded by lights of an approaching truck and could not see Johnson. He said he stopped immediately to give aid to the injured man.

After an examination by a physician who said he should not be moved, Johnson was taken to the roadside for two hours before being rushed to the Wendell hospital in an ambulance from Mountain Home.

New Poison Stemming Tide in Battles Against Cricket Horde

ORDNANCE, Ore., May 24 (AP)—A new poison succeeded today in stemming the tide of Mormon crickets that threatened to devastate the grain fields and irrigated farms of this eastern Oregon region.

The assistant county engineer reported that half the insects which reached a poison trap four miles west of here were killed. Most of the others, he said, were grossly weakened.

The poison chlordane was applied by plane and truck. It is one of the voracious insects orated within three miles of this hamlet and began chattering their way through wheats in another section.

The horde is "under control" along virtually all its routes of advance from the Snake River valley, said Assistant County Engineer Leroy Puller said after a meeting of county officials here today.

Yesterdays the crickets broke through a belt line and spilled over the sagebrush country adjacent to the farmlands of the Umatilla valley.

Demo Chiefs' Meet Cancelled by Leader

WASHINGTON, May 24 (AP)—The Democratic national committee announced today cancellation of a meeting of party leaders from Alaska, Arizona, California, Oregon and Washington, scheduled for May 29 in Washington.

Chas. Sullivan, executive director of the national committee, said the meeting was cancelled to facilitate attendance at a date to be fixed later.

Idaho Justice James Ailshie Seriously Ill

BOISE, May 24 (AP)—James F. Ailshie, who at 78 is serving his 24th year as an Idaho supreme court justice, was seriously ill tonight at St. Luke's hospital where he was taken yesterday.

His attending physician said the justice, a leader in the state's legal profession for a half century, was suffering from the infirmities of old age. Friends of the family said Ailshie's condition was extremely poor but that he was better than last night. A daughter, Mrs. Lucille McHarg, formerly of Coeur d'Alene, arrived by plane today from Denver.

Active In Work

Despite his age, Ailshie has been participating in the court's work and conferring with fellow justices on important questions of law. He visited the office last about a week ago.

Ailshie is the father of Attorney General Robert Ailshie, who is also active in the court's work. He settled at Grangerville in 1901 after being admitted to the Idaho and Oregon bars following his graduation from Willamette University.

The June 17 election will be held under the state's new constitution, which provides for a single election for all offices. Ailshie is one of the few justices who have served in both the old and new courts.

NATIONAL REPRESENTATIVES
425 Market Street, San Francisco, Calif.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

RECORD—Sixty-eight Republicans recently reviewed their 110-day legislative record and the party's record of war in the House of Representatives. They believe that they have passed the trickiest political ball back to the White House in a manner to cause a general election.

"When we wind up around July 4," says Mr. Martin, "we will have set a legislative record unmatched in many peace-time years. We will have straightened out the complex problems of our business, taxation, education, and the penetration of American institutions, bureaucratic control for the sake of control—that has been the nation's and hampered a healthy economy since before the 1929 depression."

"We will have given the administration the tools with which to make the economic machine operate in high gear. Whether President Truman will accept them, and whether he can make them work with his present administrative staff, we cannot say, but we will have to answer to the American people in 1948."

The day state leaders were not dishing out the typical political speech. All save a few have been in the house and senate along with him and share his confidence. The division and discouragement which split their ranks only a few weeks ago seems to have disappeared, at least temporarily.

SOVIET MOVIE CRITIC

Just when the house un-American activities committee is investigating the movie industry as a hotbed of communism, along comes a Soviet writer named Yuri Zhukov to accuse it of being an instrument of capitalism.

Of course, Mr. Zhukov says that Hollywood has placed itself at the disposal of "monopolistic capitalism and reaction." That is a required stock phrase of communist writers. On the basis of Hollywood's end product, however, we would be inclined to string along with the Russian's essential meaning instead of the house committee's supposition. Certainly there are communists and fellow travelers in the film industry—some of them prosperous individuals who can dabble their feet in their private swimming pools while weeping over the exploited proletariat. But the studios' output doesn't indicate that the reds and pinks are in charge and spreading insidious propaganda on film and sound track.

American movies are aimed primarily at the American public. Only a small fraction of that public wants to see the communists run their government. No studio could turn out pro-communist or anti-American pictures for long and still hope to survive in the competitive market.

Movie shortcomings aren't too harmful or misleading to the American public. Our audiences know distortions of American life when they see them on the screen. But to foreign audiences the average American film could be extremely misleading.

One might think that this is all part of a plot of Hollywood communists to undermine our economy and government. We do think it betrays some want of imagination and responsibility among convinced supporters of the capitalist system. Our films as a whole don't need more capitalist propaganda. But they need more honesty and realism.

PEACEMAKING HUMOR

What does a sense of humor have to do with preserving world peace? A great deal, General Eisenhower seems to think. For he has included it in a prescription which he has offered his countrymen for attaining that goal. The other ingredients are firmness, patience, and military preparedness.

We agree with the chief of staff. At the same time, we think he would agree that a sense of humor is a commodity that isn't easy to keep on hand at all times in these days. There is so much disappointment and apprehension connected with the peace efforts. With half the world ill fed, with governments and economies tottering with little quietness threatening to become big ones, world affairs are no laughing matter.

But a sense of humor doesn't always need something to laugh at. It isn't an emotion that is satisfied by slapstick. Nor is it the gift of witty speech that is nourished by cynicism or a sense of superiority. Both of these are much too smug to deserve the name.

A sense of humor springs from an admission of the ridiculous pretensions that all of us are guilty of from time to time. And since every person is anywhere near normal is predisposed in his own favor, that admission lends tolerance to one's general outlook.

Such an outlook makes it possible to understand better the pretensions and self-esteem of others. It leads to more temperate thinking. Without a sense of humor the firmness that General Eisenhower prescribes can become overbearing, and the exercise of patience becomes almost impossible.

HINT OF A GIANT'S DEPARTURE

Winston Churchill is reported ready to quit as leader of the Conservative party as soon as Britain's economic crisis is ended. The millions throughout the world who share a grateful admiration of his wartime leadership will be sorry to see him retire from active duty, even though his role of "first in war, second in peace" may be something of an accolade to a brilliant career.

But the continuing set for his departure make any friend of unfortunate Britain hope that his retirement is not far off. And the grand old statesman can help speed the end of his country's crisis and his own well-earned rest by employing his talents in a loyal opposition which is as loyal as it is opposite.

SIX-YEAR PLAN

On the day before a German denazification court found him guilty, Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, Hitler's old financial chief-puller, said he had a plan for Germany's recovery. All he needed, said Schacht, were some background files, 30 or 40 sheets of paper, and three weeks.

But the court, with understandable compassion, didn't want to rush the old man unduly. So they gave him not three weeks, but six years—six years of solitude, free from outside care and distractions. We trust that the man in the jail house will rustle up the paper and a nice sharp pencil.

Here are some facts and figures for "Phone User":

At the time of the strike my husband was earning $63.50 for a five-day week. He was working six days a week, and one-half for the sixth day, plus some overtime at that time, and one-half week rate. He "lost" the sixth day, all overtime, plus his wages for five weeks and three days. WHO won isn't much of a guess.

MILLION-BILLION

Dear Pot Shot:

I read in your column that the headline writer got mixed up on a recent headline and wrote $50 billion instead of $500 million.

No wonder the Times-News gets tangled up on its figures when it writes them incorrectly so as to be down to what it considers the level of the reading public.

As one who has spent eight years teaching our young ones reading, writing, and arithmetic, it sends my blood pressure up whenever I see figures written that way. Really, $50 billion should be read "three hundred fifty dollars million"—and what does that mean? If the editor means "three hundred fifty million" why not write it correctly, $350,000,000. That's the way children are taught to read it in school. Why pay good money to have your figures taught something they will have to unlearn? Are grown ups too dumb to know?

In a latest movie that great actress, Agnes Moorehead, plays the role of a mad woman. This is really a milestone in the art of makeup.

If the makeup men go much further, they'll be bringing up the signing of the declaration of independence with the original cast.

One day Vera Vance says to Miss Moorehead on the set all made up and rushed over by her. She took her for one of her old school-mates.

And when it was discovered that Miss Moorehead wasn't really 105, there were a lot of broken hearts. The next day G. Aubrey Smith went out and registered with the foreign legion.

Buddy Westmore worked hours making Miss Moorehead look so old. My makeup man does the same thing in reverse.

Yes sir, the men behind the grease paint are doing wonders these days. Imagine transforming an attractive woman in her 30's into a shrew over 100. That's almost as neat a trick as changing a veteran's park bench into an apartment.

With all of this advancement in the art of makeup, age will mean nothing to an actor. You'll soon see movies with Mickey Rooney playing Dr. O'Leary and Lionel Barrymore carrying home school books for Margaret O'Brien.

At last actors can stop worrying about getting old.

And perhaps soon these tricks will be available to the general public. Of course, my brother never worries about old age—he's sure of his' read and water for the next 20 years.

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S ANGLE

I have discovered another captain of industry who "like Job" Barbed of the A. and P. grocery chain, who was taken for $100,000 by Elliott Roosevelt and his late father, believes that a fine young citizen should not suffer denial of business opportunity just because his father is a powerful man.

He is August A. Bush, Jr., president of Anheuser-Busch, Inc., the St. Louis brewing company.

Western Pot Shot: Dave Beck Jr. is the son of the sixth vice president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, a powerful individual in the K. and L. Beverage company of Seattle, which recently was appointed to be the distributor of Budweiser beer in Seattle.

Dave Beck Jr. is the son of the sixth vice president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, a powerful individual in the K. and L. Beverage company of Seattle, which recently was appointed to be the distributor of Budweiser beer in Seattle.

Some years ago, in San Francisco, Mr. Beck, Jr., told me that he had put an embargo against certain O'Brien children who were from the state of Washington to protect his union's interests in a dispute with the brewery workers' union.

The brewery workers claimed jurisdiction over the men who formerly drove the brewery's big horses that the late Billy Sunday said sang and later drove the brewery's big motor trucks. Mr. Beck said these drivers were teamsters, not brewery workers. He won.

A business firm or a combination could be prosecuted on criminal charges for such interference with commerce, but the federal court decisions affirm the right of a boss unionist to do this if he acts solely in the interests of his union. Of course, such an act and monopoly on a combination of other brewers or relieve them of serious competition, that would be fine for them. In this case there was no evidence of collusion.

Anheuser-Busch withdrew Budweiser from the Pacific Northwest in January, 1943, as a patriotic act, abandoning a great market to ease the load on the railroads. Donald M. Nelson, chief of the War Relocation Authority, thanked the company and said it was his understanding that it represented a saving of transportation of more than 100,000 barrels of beer a year.

In a recent announcement, Anheuser-Busch says that the company hopes to meet the growing demand which "the world's largest brewery, working at capacity, is unable to handle."

After the withdrawal, the Seattle distributor "made satisfactory arrangements to handle other beers" and almost every distributor of beer and general merchandise in that city wrote us making application for the Budweiser distributorship in that important trade area.

"After a very careful investigation," Mr. Bush continues, "we decided to place the distribution of Budweiser with the K. and L. Beverage company of which Irving J. Levine is president. This firm in our opinion, was the best distributor in the city of Seattle."

Following the completion of our arrangements with Mr. Levine and the K. and L. Beverage company, we understand that Dave Beck, Jr., subsequently joined their organization but his having done so had no connection directly or indirectly with our choice of a distributor in Seattle.

I do not infer, however, that Anheuser-Busch was exactly against at this development.

"By way of comment, however," Mr. Bush says, "my understanding is that Dave Beck, Jr., had a very fine war record in the army during the recent world war. Why or under what circumstances he joined the K. and L. Beverage company I wouldn't be able to say as we have no knowledge of the details or do I know the young man."

"Neither do I know his father. However, it was known that Mr. Beck, Jr., should not be penalized for joining any organization simply because his father is officially identified with one of the largest unions in the country."

As I said before, John Hartford also felt that the son of an ill-fated father should not suffer discrimination on that account, although he afterward testified that he thought he had been earmarked for Elliott Roosevelt's $200,000 touch and would have liked to get off the hook.

And neither had Hartford, ever been Elliott's son, but he certainly did know who he was, and something about his powers and methods, as I learned Mr. Bush knows, too, in the case of Joe's case. There is no reason to think that Mr. Bush objects to this case, however; on the contrary, it seems to be a wonderful connection.

By a source of information in Seattle I am told that Dave Beck, Jr.'s interest in K. and L. distribution is 24 per cent. Considering Budweiser's old reputation and the continuing power of the advertising campaign, this should be a fine break in life for any war veteran.

He Raps Writer Who Attacked Legion Resolution, Editorial

Editor, Times-News:

This is in answer to the ridiculous letter which appeared in the Public Forum last Sunday saying The American Legion had no right to speak in politics, and which attacked a Times-News editorial supporting the Legion's right to speak out for the welfare and security of America.

First, thanks for that editorial. We note that last Sunday's letter writer erroneously said the editorial urged the Legion to enter partisan politics. The word "partisan" did not appear in your editorial, and of course it is absurd to think the Legion should become a Republican or Democratic organization. So last Sunday's letter writer is fundamentally off base throughout in attempting to inject partisan politics into the picture.

Your editorial was the outgrowth of a Legion resolution adopted at Hazelton which was a sharp repudiation of the group of left-wing radicals in the U. S. congress which brazenly supports policies detrimental to the welfare and security of America. The resolution further stated that "we as Idahoans, Americans and fifth district Legionnaires sharply repudiate the policies of this group, and wholeheartedly condemn the action of any representative from Idaho in the U. S. congress who supports the un-American policies as advocated by this group."

This was adopted UNANIMOUSLY by the convention, for the best interests of Idaho and America, and far above any partisan politics. The fact that the shoe fit Idaho Senator Taylor does not alter the picture. Taylor has aligned himself with this Wallace-Pepper fringe which brazenly and faithfully follows the communist-line propaganda.

Taylor's strange brand of thinking is quite nauseating, we think, and it certainly does not reflect the sentiments of Idaho. It behooves Idahoans to be vigorously articulate in letting one and all know that Taylor and his Wallace-McCowan propaganda does not speak for this state nor its citizens.

That is what the group of Legionnaires assembled at Hazelton did in protesting against policies and individuals which they considered unhealthy to America. Their right to

Exhibit Planned On Alfalfa Pest

GOODING, May 24—A demonstration on the control of alfalfa weevil will be held at 9:30 a.m. Monday at the Harold Brown ranch five miles north of Gooding, County Agent Robert Higgins announced today.

A similar demonstration will be held at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday at the A. H. Butler ranch in the Clover creek area northwest of Bliss, Higgins said. He urged all farmers having trouble with alfalfa insects to attend the meetings.

Attempted Burglary Of Theater Probed

Twin Falls city police Saturday were investigating an attempted burglary at the Idaho theater, in which an apparently hungry thief broke the lock from a door to the candy room and also broke the door from the pop corn machine.

Entry was gained through a door on the south side of the building. No loss, other than the property damaged, seemed to have occurred.

Held For Forgery

After waiving a preliminary hearing, John Jennings was bound over to district court when he was arraigned Friday before Probate Judge E. T. Hamilton on a felony charge of forgery. The complaint was signed by E. N. Jacobs, Judge Hamilton set bond at $750 and remanded Jennings to the custody of the sheriff.

Jennings allegedly cashed a $9.35 check at the Flier Variety store.

Five Divorce Orders Given Couples Here

Five divorce decrees have been granted by Judge James W. Porter in district court.

In one of these actions, that of Jeanne E. Scherbinske against Ferdinand Scherbinske, the complaint was filed Friday and the divorce granted the same day. The complaint named mental suffering as basis for the action, and it was filed by Attorney J. R. Bolwell.

Custody Granted

The decree, besides granting the divorce, awards custody of a child, age 4, to Mrs. Scherbinske, with the provision that the father is to have the right to visit the child and to have her temporarily in his care at reasonable times. It further specifies that when the daughter reaches the age of 16 years, the mother is to have custody for nine months of the year during the school period and the father is to have custody during the vacation period. A property settlement is confirmed by the decree, which provides for $80 monthly support money to be paid by Scherbinske.

Granting of the divorce followed default of the defendant.

William J. Young was divorced from Richard D. Young who defaulted. The divorce suit was filed Wednesday. The court restored her maiden name of Young.

They were married July 23, 1944, at Elko, Nev. They have no children and no community property. The divorce was sought on grounds of cruelty.

Awarded Costs

Hazel Marie Low was divorced from Glen Arthur Low, who defaulted. The court restored her maiden name of Hazel Marie Jewett, and awarded her $12.96 court costs plus $75 attorney's fees. They were married Dec. 8, 1945, at Elko, and have no children and no community property. The action was filed on grounds of extreme cruelty.

Mabel Dohy was divorced from Wesley Dohy who defaulted. Her maiden name, Mabel Eaker, was restored by the court, and their household furniture was awarded to her as her share of their community property. They were married April 6, 1946, and have no children. The divorce was sought on grounds of extreme cruelty.

Della Rose O'Neal was divorced from Wilbur O'Neal who defaulted. The court restored her maiden name, Della Rose Owen, and awarded her $12.96 court costs plus $75 attorney's fees. They were married Dec. 8, 1945, at Elko, and have no children and no community property. The action was filed on grounds of extreme cruelty.

AAF Unwraps 'Air-Delivered Hospital' Plan

WASHINGTON, May 24 (AP)—The army air force has blueprints of complete hospitals which could be dropped by parachute on battlefields or disaster-stricken communities.

The idea has been submitted to the AAF's air surgeon, Maj.-Gen. Malcolm C. Grow, by several aircraft and engineering firms and serious attention is being given today. AAF officers said today.

The idea has been submitted to the AAF's air surgeon, Maj.-Gen. Malcolm C. Grow, by several aircraft and engineering firms and serious attention is being given today. AAF officers said today.

Each unit would be a separate fuselage, capable of being released in the air or detached after the airplane had made a normal landing.

Overall length of units intended for use with a large transport would run up to 30 feet, giving a room size comparable with many ordinary hospital rooms.

The method of releasing them in the air is a matter of debate. Some designers contend that parachutes large enough to lower the units without damage would be too cumbersome and require too much special opening equipment.

They suggest that a comparatively small chute be attached to the top of the unit for guiding purposes and that the speed of descent be checked by the use of rockets shooting downward and set off by a proximity fuse as the unit nears the earth.

Jury Clears Man From Charge of Resisting Police

After indicating that both sides involved were partly at fault, a jury today returned a verdict in favor of the defendant in the trial of Ernest E. Bjork on a charge of resisting and interfering with officers in line of duty.

The charge was preferred last April 21, following an incident at a local grill in which Bjork was alleged to have interfered with officers while they were investigating a fight that had occurred and with witnessing arrest.

Witnesses called were City Police Officers K. L. Johnston and Richard Prastler and Police Chief Howard Gillette by City Attorney J. H. Blandford, representing the prosecution; and Bill Schwabach, Tom Gilchrist, James Ruge, Mrs. James Ruge, Mrs. James Martin, Bjork and

South Side Pilar at Hamilton Cowboy Juniors at Rupert Murfrough at Castleside	North Side Holley at Jerome Wendall at Glenns Ferry Shoshone at Richfield

The Magic Valley Baseball league will launch its second season on June 1.

Plans for the circuit's opening were made at a meeting held at the Memorial Lutheran school last night. Dale Taula, Pilar, was elected president.

Teams already entered in the league will represent the Walker league of Twin Falls, the Lutheran Laymen's league, Hansen, Clifton, Eden, Pilar and Jerome. An eighth member is sought.

Four of the teams will engage in practice contests today. Jerome will oppose the Lutheran Laymen's league team while the other two, Clifton and Cowley, will play at Hansen.

A cartoon illustration showing a person's legs sticking out of a box. The box is labeled "SPORT FRONT". The person is wearing shoes and socks. The illustration is in a simple, bold, black-and-white style.

"If congress provided $1,000,000 for baseball equipment for the Americas today:

boys the sport it would do more so than all the rest of the anti-narcotics program" — Edwin J. Thum, chairman of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber company.

To that old YOSS says "amen."

And also: If the money that is being used in teaching American boys that America is a land where all life were used in teaching them, via sports, the "good life" our U. S. and the world would be a lot happier.

The idea that athletics for boys are just an amusement like play is being degraded from the minds of the American public. Athletics not only promote physical well-being, but teach boys how to live together.

And if that, gentlemen, isn't the primary object in the "good life" program, then what is?

Press Told to Slander Reds, Russia Hears

MOSCOW, May 25 (AP)—The Soviet press and radio charged today that American and British correspondents were sent to Moscow during the recent big four foreign ministers meeting with "definite instructions" from their bosses to "slander the USSR and discredit the socialist system."

Authorities for the accusation were the weekly magazine New Times and Commentator-Borjov, whose remarks were carried on an English language broadcast of the Moscow radio.

Single out for attack were correspondents of the New York Daily News, Baltimore Sun, Scripps-Haward papers, and Chicago Tribune.

New Times charged that the correspondents and their chiefs "hoped they would be successful in smashing the system of reparations from Germany to the Soviet Union."

"In their dispatches from Moscow they tried to underestimate the losses caused to the Soviet Union by Germany in order to contest the undebatable right of our country to receive reparations," the magazine said.

"They came to the Soviet Union not as impartial observers of Anglo-American public opinion but as the well-known American correspondent Ralph Ingersoll noted 'as correspondents of an undeclared war.'"

Children Escape Injury in Crash

Twenty-four school children en route to a picnic at Banbury park yesterday narrowly escaped injury Friday noon when the open flatbed truck on which they were riding was struck by a car which State Police Officer A. E. Perkins said was attempting to pass the truck as it was turning left off the highway.

Perkins said the car was driven by George C. Rice, 60, Klamath Falls, Ore. Driver of the truck was Lloyd B. Thurber, route 3, Gooding. The collision happened shortly after noon at the foot of Banbury grade on U. S. highway 30.

Force of the impact failed to knock any of the children off the truck, but damaged the Rice sedan slightly.
