Soviet Offers New Plan on Atom Control

LAKE BUCCLESSE, June 11 (P)—Russia today offered the United Nations a new set of atomic proposals which left the Soviet position on the veto in direct conflict with that of the United States but opened a possibility of agreement over international inspections.

Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, speaking before the U. N. atomic energy commission, called for establishment of a world commission to carry out "strict international control over facilities engaged in mining and production of atomic energy."

Retains Veto Power

However, he stipulated that the proposed commission should operate within the framework of the security council, where Russia and the other four big powers hold the power of veto.

Further, he said the proposed body would make recommendations to the council on "measures for prevention and suppression in respect to violations."

Suggests Study

"A study of these proposals will enable us to know far the Soviet Union will go in the matter of inspection."

Gromyko said that the proposed commission, with international recruited personnel, would have "access to any facilities for mining, production and stockpiling."

The United States, which has been unable to secure such a study, has been unable to secure such a study.

Towns Isolated as Floods Cut Off Traffic

Rising South river stopped all highway traffic into Hartford, La., as flood waters undermined bridge leading into town. Thousands of persons have been forced to flee their homes and thousands of acres of crops have been flooded by rampaging middle-western rivers out of their banks due to unseasonal heavy rains.

Sugar Rationing End Seen; Quota Boosted

WASHINGTON, June 11 (P)—Prospects for an end to household sugar rationing by July 1 brightened today as the United States was allotted a bigger share of the world sugar pool.

The international emergency food council, intergovernment agency which divides scarce food imports among nations, granted this country 350,000 tons.

This increase is equivalent to about five pounds a person. A highly placed agriculture department official said the additional supply should be enough to permit rationing to households, if not to institutions and to industrial users, to be dropped by the end of this month.

Pre-war Rate Available

He said supplies available for the last half of the year should be sufficient to allow consumption—including industrial use—at the pre-war rate of nearly 100 pounds a person.

The new allocation for the United States of 3,500,000 tons, compared with an earlier allocation of 3,000,000 tons, prewar consumption averaged about 6,000 tons annually. However, the population is larger now.

The increased allocation was made possible because the Cuban crop has turned out to be larger than originally forecast, and because some countries, particularly France, have announced they will be unable to buy all the Cuban sugar originally allotted them.

The agriculture department official said consumption of sugar so far this year has been at a rate below this country's allocation.

He said he did not know why there has been speculation however that some householders kept large stocks of sugar on hand and are now using these stocks in anticipation of an early end to rationing.

First Ward Leads

Ward No. 1 leads the other two city wards in the number of new registrations, a check of records here today showed.

Only place authorized to accept registrations is the city clerk's office, where additional helpers have been employed temporarily to handle the rush. As many as 80 persons a day try to register at the county clerk's office, according to Recorder Charles B. Hays, who has been directing them to the city hall.

Registration for the election closes Saturday.

U. S. Protest Of Red Coup Given Russia

By The Associated Press

The United States sent a strong protest note to the Soviet Union today on the recent communist coup in Hungary. The note was understood to contain a request for American-Russian-British investigation of the Hungarian situation and to carry a threat of appeal to the United Nations.

Austria's parliament, meanwhile, rejected a communist demand for a parliamentary investigation of conservative Foreign Minister E. Fischer and his "negotiations" with American authorities in Vienna.

The demand was made by communist member Ernst Fischer, who last night told a communist meeting that "Gruher must go."

A dispatch from Associated Press Correspondent Lynn Helmsinger said that a high government official reported that Fischer had made a bid for communist control of the Austrian government and suggested that Russia never would sign a peace treaty with the present conservative-dominated cabinet.

Disputes from Belgrade, Yugoslavia, where leaders of several Balkan states have been converging for the past week, said Premier Marshal Tito, Yugoslavia's communist premier, Petru Grou, had agreed on revision of the Danube waterways system and the text of a cultural convention soon to be signed.

The two also discussed a mutual assistance pact, the dispatches said. Bulgarian and Czechoslovak military missions also are in Belgrade, amid recurrent rumors that a Balkan federation linked to the Soviet Union might soon come under discussion.

Swollen Mid-West Rivers Pour Over Acre Area

ST. LOUIS, June 11 (P)—Pouring over at least a million acres of farmland, crests of the flooded Missouri and Mississippi rivers headed toward this river city today leaving behind a scene of destruction in three midwestern states. The Mississippi began to recede at Quincy, Ill., dropping 48 of a foot in the past few hours after a record peak of 23.3 feet. However, Col. W. M. Leaf, district army engineer, warned that the danger was far from over.

He said the crest was nearing the Sny drainage district levee, across from Hannibal, Mo., where some 120,000 additional acres would be affected if the levee gave way. Water was estimated at about six inches from the levee top. Evacuation of the area was underway.

On the Missouri river some 500,000 acres were flooded in the Glasgow-Boonville area where only six levees remained standing. Five of which were expected to be washed out at any time.

Everying Area

Farmer's lack of confidence of the Missouri and Mississippi rivers, with the help of army engineers and the coast guard, began evacuation of the area in anticipation of a repetition of the flood last April but the weather bureau here said that the high water in this area was not expected to equal the overflow of 1944.

On Red Cross' midwestern headquarters estimated the number of homeless in Missouri and Illinois at 5,700 with another 10,000 believed to be still washed out of homes.

Alexandria, Mo., remained completely flooded following a levee break Sunday and some 2,000 families in Canton and Hannibal were under water. The Red Cross said Hannibal, Mo., and Meyer, Ill. north of here, were being evacuated.

Stores were sandbagged at Hannibal and most of the traffic on the Mississippi was stopped. The Red Cross said that the Mississippi river valley and other parts of Iowa which have been under water since last week.

China Border Clash Laid to Russian Acts

NANKING, June 11 (P)—A Chinese government spokesman today declared "this is no ordinary frontier incident," charged Russia today with partial responsibility for the border clash in Manchuria.

The government instructed its troops in Manchuria to protest the incident to both the Soviet government and to the outer Mongolian minister there as the aftermath of the Chinese border clash with a Mongolian cavalry battalion 50 miles into China.

Declines Comment

Chang Kai-shek, foreign office spokesman, gave no reason why China was protesting directly to Moscow and declining comment on whether warplanes with Soviet markings had supported the Mongol attack, as reported by the official Central news agency, Guomindang, however, is pro-Soviet.

The Mongols rode into Sinking Prairie, apparently to attempt to force the release of eight Mongolian soldiers held by the Chinese. Two Chinese soldiers were reported killed and many wounded in the initial assault on Pailashan.

Number Killed

Chinese news today said a number of Mongols were killed; when Chinese warplanes ordered to disperse the clash inadvertently dropped bombs among the invaders.

"Chang told a news conference, 'this is not ordinary frontier incident. The government views the matter with deep concern. It will take the necessary steps to protect the border and maintain the peace in the area.'"

Othman Hates Thought of Purchasing Spuds Twice, Finds Surplus Messy

CHICAGO, August 11, Anteean, R. M., of the home agriculture committee, said it was a shame to let thousands of carloads of potatoes spoil.

"I don't think Smith said he didn't like it, either. But I have to say that as long as you are under obligations to maintain prices on potatoes, you are in a worse position than those who can't pay the price," he added.

So many farmers insisted on their right to sell their potatoes to their Uncle Sam for more than they could get from their regular customers, that Smith was swamped. There were so many potatoes coming out of the ears of the agriculture department that he had to force farmers to sell their potatoes to the government.

U.S. Will Aid Peace States, Truman Says

 "We intend to uphold those who respect the dignity of the individual, who guarantee him equal treatment under law, and who allow him the widest possible latitude to work out his own destiny and achieve success to the limit of his capacity."
 "We intend to cooperate actively and loyally with all who honestly seek, as we do, to build a better world in which mankind can live in peace and prosperity."

To what was interpreted by many as an indication that the $400,000,000 Greek-Turkish aid program and the $350,000,000 relief measure for other devastated countries may be followed later by support for other countries, Mr. Truman asserted: "At this critical hour in history, we of the United States are deeply conscious of our responsibilities to the world. We know that in this trying period, there are many who are over and a peace that is not only secure, the destitute and the oppressed of the earth look chiefly to us for guidance and support until they can again face life with self-confidence and self-reliance."

The president spoke after a round of receptions which followed his good will visit to Ottawa with Mrs. Truman and his daughter, Margaret. He said he counted good neighbor Canada "in the forefront of those who share these objectives and ideals."

Strikes Snarl Two Plants of Car Industry

DETROIT, June 11 (AP)—The automobile industry became enmeshed in new labor troubles today that forced production shutdowns at plants of Hudson Motor Car company and the Continental Motor company.

A slowdown strike of 1,200 Continental workers reduced to a few hours after 15,000 Hudson CIO United Auto Workers refused to cross picket lines set up by an estimated 800 Hudson office workers who are seeking wage increases.

Briggs Strike Averted
 These two newest strike developments came within hours of threatening strikes had been averted through a zero-hour contract agreement between the CIO United Auto Workers and the Briggs Manufacturing company.

Continental's slowdown strike was the first in the industry since one occurred at the General Motors Buick plant in Flint more than a decade ago.

A spokesman for Continental said the strike came after some production workers had been disciplined for refusing to work.

Continental is one of the larger companies making power plants for aircraft, marine vessels and automobiles.

At Hudson, meanwhile, the company closed its plant when its office workers threw up picket lines designed to back up their demands for pay increases.

The Ford Motor company, charging a continuing slowdown in one department, yesterday closed its two Rouge plant assembly lines indefinitely.

One hundred fifty body line workers in the pressed-steel department were sent home a second straight day. The assembly lines, turning out Ford and Mercury, lacked parts, the company said.

1946 Advertising Cost Is 3 Billions

CHICAGO UP—Nearly $3,000,000,000 was spent for advertising in the United States last year, the Encyclopedia Britannica 1947 book of the year says.

Daniel Starch, business research consultant, the author of the article, calculated that newspaper advertising accounted for $1,000,000,000 and radio advertising for $400,000,000. Magazines, direct mail, trade and business publications, billboards and miscellaneous other means accounted for the remainder.

Business spent more than $100,000,000 of its advertising budget to publicize safety, world trade, intergroup and inter-faith cooperation, and proper use of atomic energy, Starch says.

Farragut Slated As Navy Surplus
 SEATTLE, June 11 (AP)—Farragut naval center, an $400,000,000 installation, once the nation's second largest naval training station, will be declared surplus to the war assets administration June 30, the 15th naval district announced today.

The announcement said that with the exception of the David Taylor model basin project on the lake front, all facilities at Farragut will be turned over to the WAA.

The base is now leased by Farragut college and technical institute. The naval district said future leasing would be a matter for WAA and legals officials to decide. Dr. Joseph H. Kuerner, president of the college, now is in Washington, D. C., conferring with WAA heads in an attempt to obtain a five-year lease on the center.

The olive tree which was first found in Asia, is now found on all continents.

Congress Offered "Insurance" Plan
 "On Farm Prices"
 WASHINGTON, June 11 (AP)—A new scheme for government planning to keep farm prices approximately steady today was offered to congress. Its big pointer:

1. A government-backed "buying pool." This would stand ready to buy non-perishable farm products at "fair" prices. The idea is that in times of surplus, when prices tend to go down, this buying would hold them up to the "fair" level. When supplies were scarce, the pool would sell.

2. A special tax on the first sale of commodities coming under the plan. This would provide money to take care of losses on the pool operations.

John Brandt, of Minneapolis, president of the National Cooperative Milk Producers federation, presented the plan to the house agriculture committee which is studying the question of a new, long-range federal farm program.

Jerome Man New State VFW Officer
 POCATELLO, June 11 (AP)—The Idaho department of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, in convention in Pocatello, today elected E. J. Gaudier of Salmon as state commander and resolved a renewed policy of opposing communism.

The anti-communist resolution is endorsed by J. Edgar Hoover's policy of opposing foreign influences and warned that sometimes the "most un-American of all un-American activities are exemplified by witch hunts carried on in the name of patriotism."

In addition to Gaudier, new officers are J. B. Keel, Jr., of Jerome, senior vice commander; Clay Speer of Coeur d'Alene, junior vice commander; Paul Hunt of Boise, junior adjutant; Dr. H. J. Martvigen of Pocatello, surgeon; and Harry Fulton of Caldwell, chaplain.

Jet-Propelled Bombers Now Outmode B-29

MURDOO ARMY AIR FIELD, Calif., June 11 (AP)—The B-29, America's atom bomber, looks sadly obsolete beside the mighty jet-propelled bombers that are flying here today.

But beauty is only skin deep. The superfortresses that knocked out Hiroshima and Nagasaki are proved. No one knows how soon the sleek experimental jets will become first-class combat aircraft with the range needed by a strategic air force.

Planes Exhibited

With the army's rocket-propelled XB-1 and the navy's jet-driven Skyraider, both small planes aimed at breaking through the speed of sound, the new jet bombers went aloft here in their first public exhibition.

They were the consolidated XB-46, needle-nosed bomber bigger than the B-29, and the North American XB-45, said to "meet all expectations" in performance.

Both were reported to carry 10 tons of bombs like the B-29, to be faster than 400 miles an hour and have a service ceiling of 40,000 feet. They have only three-man crews.

Six-Engine Jet Bomber

Overhead and head-on views of the army air forces' new six-engine jet bomber, the XB-46, which has been undergoing ground tests at the Glenn L. Martin plant at Baltimore and is symbolical of the other jet-propelled super-bombers now undergoing tests at Murco army air field, Calif. The XB-46 is 108 feet, four inches in length, with an overall of 85 feet, nine inches. It stands 27 feet, six inches high. (USAAF photos).

Dad Dead, Youth, 8, Travels Alone To His Grandma

SEATTLE, June 11 (AP)—Looking quite small for his eight years and very much alone, sober-faced little George F. Alexander, Jr., sat in a daycoach of the Northern Pacific's No. 4 train today with a big suitcase beside him.

In a coffin in the baggage car was the body of his father, George F. Alexander, sr., 33-year-old baggage clerk. He died in their auto cabin court Friday of a heart attack, leaving the boy without relatives or guardians here.

George was wearing a brand new suit which O. A. Saylor, the camp manager, and Mrs. C. W. Graham, a resident there, bought from money donated by tenants and friends of the third-grader.

He also had some money and a letter written by C. A. Manthe, the station superintendent, which told all about George and his father. It was to be passed from conductor to conductor on the long trip to the home of his grandmother, Mrs. Walter Stewart at Amoria, near Cherokee, Okla.

"He can't go to his mother," he explained to other passengers in the car.

"She lives in Colorado some place, but my dad and she were divorced," he said.

Dining cars were introduced on American railroads in 1868.

Idaho's Tax Bill Above Food Cost

BOISE, June 11 (AP)—Residents of Idaho paid out $102,057,833 in taxes last year—or something more than they paid for food—Max Yost, secretary of the Taxpayers Association of Idaho, said today.

He said the figures, compiled by the association and the Idaho State Chamber of Commerce, represented a fourth of the total assessed value of the state, three-fourths the state's realized net farm income and three times the value of the state's mining production.

Yost said Idahoans paid an estimated $63,294,880 in federal taxes in 1946, along with state and local taxes amounting to $38,762,953.

Only three classes of taxes were slashed during the years 1940 to 1946, he said. Property taxes were reduced 10.73 per cent, county school taxes 2.84 per cent and irrigation district taxes 20.30.

CALL TO ACTION

To the rank and file of modern men the coming of war has seemed as uncontrollable as the coming of a storm or the turn of the tide. There has been good reason for this. The causes of war have been in the hands of rulers, statesmen, and soldiers. All that the rank and file got was war's consequences. The only way they could stop a war was to win or lose it.

General Eisenhower has challenged that belief and called upon the citizens of this country to face the challenge. He does not say that their actions can end war. He does say that "where men comprehend the causes of war and understand their mutual responsibility to control them, war may happen—but it will cease to be an institution, a characteristic of human society."

There is nothing visionary about the chief of staff's challenge. He makes his point with a logic that all can understand. "National welfare," he says, "is that is, general security from the four fundamental evils of human existence: fire, famine, pestilence, and war—is the business of each citizen because it is, ultimately, who suffers or profits. Because he has made it his business, we have attained measurable success over fire, famine, and pestilence.

"War, however, is not a natural evil; it is man-made. Combining all the horrors of the other three, its malevolence and diabolic savagery have been increased by man himself in the very years that he has learned control over the natural evils of life."

We have taken a sensible, realistic attitude toward the natural evils, as the general points out. Men know that if they do not control these evils the evils will destroy them. Yet the mass of citizens of any country sit blindfolded and immobilized at the approach of the man-made combination of those natural evils, like an animal of the wood caught in an automobile's headlights on a highway at night.

What, then, does General Eisenhower propose? "As I see it," he says, "we need an organized effort, embracing every phase of society, whose goal will be the development of individual, community, and national attitudes that will remove war from the category of the inevitable into its proper position as an evil subject to prevention, or at least control."

That is not a blueprint, but it is a way. The way is tremendously difficult. Even under a government like ours, the influence of the people in such matters as this is limited.

Yet there is nothing to be gained by a passive, pessimistic view that war is inevitable, or by a senseless insistence that we disarm immediately because war can't possibly come again.

General Eisenhower has issued this nation a challenge to action. He has asked that we use our democracy to its limit in the cause of peace. It is up to us to lead the way. The American people can lose nothing by doing so. They may help to win the highest prize that human society strives for.

LOVES ME—LOVES ME NOT

John L. Lewis' ample figure must loom large in President Truman's mind as he ponders whether to sign or veto the new labor bill. For Mr. Lewis has the power to make a presidential veto considerably embarrassing.

The UMW president has until June 30 to decide on calling on his miners next day, when government control of the mines is ended. Mr. Truman must act before that on the labor bill. If the President should veto the measure, the government would have no injunctive power to use in the event of another countrywide coal tie-up. If he should sign it, Mr. Lewis would have the choice of coming to terms with the operators or facing an injunction.

There are many political factors pulling Mr. Truman toward a veto decision. It is generally conceded that by signing the bill he would lose the support of organized labor leaders and increase the likelihood of a third party made up largely of dissident Democrats. (This is not to say, however, that the bulk of organized labor would split with the two major parties.)

On the other hand, there certainly must be millions of voters outside labor's ranks who would like to see a curb on some union activities, such as Mr. Lewis' high-handed tactics in the past. The UMW chief hasn't much to lose in popular favor anyway. If he should fail to pass the labor bill over the President's veto, and Mr. Lewis should then call a strike, he would be dealing Mr. Truman's 1948 chances a heavy blow as heavy, perhaps, as the formation of a third party.

It is going to be a difficult decision for the President to make. But it wouldn't be so tough if he only knew, as of right now, just how well John L. Lewis likes Harry S. Truman.

More people would amount to something if there were fewer easy ways to do.

A magazine article tells how to start an amateur glass club. But how do you stop one?

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

DISINTEGRATING—The Democratic organization which Franklin D. Roosevelt led to victory in four presidential elections is slowly disintegrating under the far less able and inspiring leadership of President Truman and National Chairman Robert H. Taft.

In the opinion of the topnotch party politicians, almost every municipal machine, almost every county unit, almost every key unit in the Roosevelt-Farley organization, has suffered serious losses. Racial groups which voted almost unanimously for the late President are falling away. No matter how he acts on the anti-union bill moving toward his desk, Mr. Truman does not enjoy the popularity with the workingmen and their families that his predecessor did.

Key Tuckers Southern members of congress, with only a few exceptions, have opposed him on capitol hill. Their antipathy will not hurt his chances in any of the scrubbed Democratic states below the belt and Dixon line, but it may swing a few of the border commonwealths into the Republican column next year, especially Kentucky, Oklahoma, Tennessee and Maryland.

ANTAGONISTIC—Another important group which appears to have been alienated by the administration's foreign policy is the internationalists, the internationalists which FDR carried around in his vest pocket. Henry A. Wallace's sharp criticism of Mr. Truman's anti-Russian policy has driven many of them from the Truman-Newman camp.

Unfortunately for the President, most of these seemingly antagonistic groups live in the large cities, which he must carry by overwhelming majorities if he is to offset the Republican in the rural areas. Had it not been for his tremendous vote in a dozen municipalities, Mr. Roosevelt would have been defeated by both Wendell Willkie and Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

It is understood that the White House will soon take steps to rebuild and regain this tenuous bloc. And it is expected that former National Chairman James A. Farley, provided he is reasonable, will be drafted for the job of popularizing Mr. Truman in such cities as Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Chicago, Detroit, San Francisco, Los Angeles, etc.

HOTBED—Canny Eric A. Johnston, former president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce and now Hollywood czar as head of the Motion Picture Association of America, has acted quickly to counteract congressional charges that the film industry is a hotbed of communism.

Besides hiring former Secretary of State James P. Byrnes, who scrapped the Moscow "appeasement" policy of the Roosevelt administration, as counsel for the movie people under suspicion, Mr. Johnston has announced a program of visual education designed to exalt the merits and benefits of capitalism.

PICTURES—In cooperation with the national foreman of the producers of the industry, the industry editorials which will be shown in elementary and high schools, as well as in motion picture theaters. Whatever possible, they will be shipped abroad and exhibited as evidence of America's positive recovery.

These pictures, which will portray graphically our industrial power during and since the war, as well as our high level of living, will serve as a supplement to the state department's "Voice of America" for Mr. Johnston has worked closely with William Benton, assistant secretary of state in charge of propaganda.

In fact, if congress fails to appropriate funds for the Benton brothers and magazine, Mr. Johnston will carry on the same sort of pro-American activities here and overseas.

BLAME—War assets executives privately blame congress for the small return which they will make to the treasury and the taxpayers in their disposition of surplus property. In the final liquidation, they say that they will be lucky if they get back five cents in sales for each dollar of original cost.

The War Assets Administration has been a much better show-off than it was for the last two years. So as to aid small business, and (2) so as not to give large corporations an undue advantage. In fact, the statute virtually gives a monopoly in the acquisition of war leftovers to small companies.

Obviously, they cannot pay as much as their larger rivals can afford. Nor do they pay the quantity which the greater corporations want. But it is the law that they must be given preference. Even though it will mean a loss to Uncle Sam and to the taxpayers.

TOBACCO—American tobacco growers are taking a licking in the postwar shakeout of their industry. After enjoying five wartime years of unprecedented prosperity, their reverses may have political repercussions in next year's presidential campaign, especially in the border states of Kentucky and Maryland, which have shown GOP-lah tendencies in recent years.

Despite our recent loss to England, the British have imposed less restrictions on the import of American tobacco. They have also increased the price of cigarettes to such an extent that it is expected to reduce our shipments by at least 30 per cent. In Maryland, the price for the crop is 20 cents a pound less than the producers obtained in 1939 to 1946.

Our aid to Turkey has also operated to the disadvantage of the American grower. Ankara has been able to ship its tobacco because of our financial assistance, and it is supplying the grown-in-America stuff on which we had to depend when the Mediterranean trade lanes were blocked during the war.

Marylanders and Kentuckians are up in arms. In fact, five state growers recently staged a "tobacco rebellion" reminiscent of the 1776 tea parties, refusing to sell their product at the auction markets because of the low price.

WHEELBARROW

Hi, Potatoes:
Hazel Parrott, the gal who works in the county weed control office, is just about to give a wheelbarrow to her lovin' hubby, Charley.

Seems that Charley very generously offered to give Hazel a wheelbarrow on their 13th wedding anniversary Monday. Hazel said she was generally opposed to the idea of a wheelbarrow, but she decided to accept it when she saw that it was a wheelbarrow.

Better see Hazel today to Parrott way to find out if Charley did give Hazel the wheelbarrow and the ride downtown in it.

CHICKEN

Little Miss Pot Shots suddenly took a notion she didn't like the soup she was getting for her noon meal. She would walk to the stuff and finally take only a few spoonfuls. Then one day, Mama Pot Shots gave her some chicken soup.

Sixteen-month old Little Miss Pot Shots liked it. She licked the soup bowl clean and asked "what's that?"

Her mama told her it was chicken soup. The next day L.M.P.S. was given a bowl of beef soup. She turned up her nose at it when it was turned up. Then mama tried psychology, she remarked—the told L.M.P.S. it was "chicken with beef" soup. L.M.P.S. remarked "mummm" and licked the soup bowl clean.

Her mama said "chicken with beef" "chicken with beef" "chicken with beef" and it goes down so easily.

Why doesn't Twin Falls have highway signs on the main highway directing traffic to Shoshone falls? In going through your city he had to stop and inquire several times before finding out the directions to the falls. It is really something to see!

GEORGEYAN IN THE FOURTH ROW

BOB HOPE

I see that there is a great deal of concern in Detroit these days because less than half the eggs in Detroit originate in Michigan. The state wants more eggs produced there.

This brings to mind the story of old Ned, the poor farmer from San Fernando valley who owned a chicken farm.

His greatest pride in life was Jennifer, his profitless hen, reputed to drop eggs faster than his sponsor drop options.

Word spread around the valley that Jennifer could put out more than a good work could hit an even two dozen.

People would come from miles around to watch Jennifer in action and old Ned became the proudest farmer in California.

Then one day it happened. Jennifer didn't give.

Old Ned was terror-stricken. He couldn't believe his eyes as they searched the hen and found only a forlorn hen looking up as though to say "I did my best. Believe me, I tried, Ned."

Ned understood. He smiled, shrugged his shoulders and said, "You need a vacation, Jenny. Take the rest of the day off."

But the next morning he looked again and again Jennifer hadn't delivered. She just sat there lazily able to face him, looking up at him.

Then Ned began to try everything. He brought a radio into the yard and played "The Banned Dance."

He told her about the goose that laid the golden egg and even stayed up nights reading her statistics on mass production.

By the time Jennifer finished was a few half-hearted chickens and a warmed-over hen. No eggs.

Then one morning at dawn, Ned happened to get up earlier than usual for his trip to town. As he started down the highway in his car, a sight suddenly met his eyes that turned his blood cold and made tears stream down his cheeks.

Two hundred yards up the road stood Jennifer. Hydrated before her were two dozen of the eggs eggs in San Fernando, and in back of her stood a huge sign:

"Why pay more on the market?"

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S ANGLE

NEW YORK, June 11—These dispatches sometimes give offense to the tender feelings of the liberal-labeled of the left by the very honesty of the opinions and prejudices here expressed.

In a recent instance, I referred to David Dubinsky's version of the American language. Opinions of Dubinsky vary. Mine is not favorable because I think his conduct as a union boss reflects the same degree of inability to accept American ways that is denoted by his difficulty with the language of his adopted country.

Woodrow Wilson who, I presume, will be recognized as a President of "liberal" view, repeatedly expressed apprehension that adult immigrants, from the monarchies of continental Europe, would change our way of thinking and impair the American concept of personal freedom and civic responsibility under self-government.

I think I see in the conduct of many of our unions, including Dubinsky's ladies' garment workers, a survival of customs and habits which immigrant rulers of so many millions of American citizens learned in their formative years in Europe.

They may sincerely believe that they are "liberals" and benefactors of their subjects when they arrange outings, study classes, and "social services" for their underling subjects and promote unemployment benefits and other small financial guarantees against the routine emarrasements of life.

I am equally sincere and vehement in my disagreement. This paternal or patronizing program gives the union too much authority and influence over the members and weakens their self-reliance. It is European. The continental Europeans bowed to the state. They had a huddling, hard instinct. They were afraid to be men alone, to be individuals and the term "masses" was not inappropriate when it was applied to them.

We received from our German immigrants the idea that the state should pension the aged and the unemployed and with some reluctance we adopted it. We abandoned the old American and Christian principle that the children had a duty to provide for their old parents, although some states still deny public support to old people who have sons or daughters within their borders who could manage to support them.

Unemployment pay has become a vicious and debilitating racket as every honest person admits who knows anything about it. We have seen couples with money in the bank knock off work and go tripping across country on vacation tours in their own automobiles on unemployment pay.

We have seen loafers refuse payroll jobs and hire out by the day for cash at a dollar of $1.50 an hour so that they could keep eligible for the dole.

I hope it is understood that I am not holding Dubinsky, individually, responsible for all this. I say only that I think he and many of his colleagues in unionism from the same sort of the creek in Europe are mistaken in their belief that they have broken entirely free of influences which molded them early in their lives.

Practically all of them have been unable to grasp the old American proposition that an American had to support himself, not by his own say, for his rainy days and, if he refused to work, go hungry. If he refused largely to them, that proposition has been revealed.

This is a good time to state a fact known to only a few of us, and most of those few lawyers, which may astonish and horrify those who think it is un-American to oppose it. It is not, to observe that a man who presumes to endorse candidates for high office, speaks our language in a thick dialect.

That fact is that Dubinsky and hundreds of other more or less noted union leaders, and indeed, whole neighborhoods of New York and other cities, could be sent to concentration camps tomorrow if our relations with Soviet Russia should decay a little more.

The law here is not the evil doing of any of the hardy native political devils known as fascists. It is an act passed by a strong Democratic congress in 1942 at the behest of Franklin D. Roosevelt and was signed by him.

It says that any person who shall enter, remain in or commit any act in violation of any place designated as a military area, shall be liable by the city of New York, contrary to the order of a military commander, to be fined $5,000 and sent to prison for one year for each such offense.

This law was passed about three months after Pearl Harbor for the special purpose of enabling the army to confine American citizens of Japanese ancestry as well as actual Japanese in their homes at night, when arrangements had been made to ship them off to desert concentration camps.

Both the curfew and deportation phases of the law were tested and were upheld in a supreme court decision almost wholly appointed by Roosevelt. There is absolutely no doubt that it means just what I have said it means.

In the test deportation case, a native American, a man of unquestioned loyalty, was arrested and sentenced for remaining in his home neighborhood. Although Hugo Black, in the majority opinion, stated that the law was not a consideration in the exclusion, Justices Jackson, Murphy and Roberts all pointed out the obvious dishonor of this reasoning.

And the camps in which more than 100,000 of these persons were confined, including children, certainly were concentration camps as the dissenters agreed. Although Black tried to have it that they really weren't.

My purpose here is not to suggest that Dubinsky be sent to a concentration camp because he speaks rudely in English. My purpose is to observe the shudders of revulsion at the very thought that such a thing can be in the United States, after 12 years and a bit of Roosevelt who wanted this law and signed it in his own hand.

It does resemble fascist law and the dissenting justices said so. And yet, in the event of serious unpopularity with Russia, the Dubinskys of the union movement and the PAC and the Anti-Red League, all the people who were more clamorous in hollering up Roosevelt as a holy man and hero would be sent to the camps. And finally, after coming all my life and references I must report that I find no memorandum of any protest against our deportation of our own Japs in our own country by any of those who have been bleeding at every pore for some, but not all, of the deportees of Europe.

Writers Slate Next Session At Idaho Falls

stating that writing with ultimate success in view is truly hard work; also citing a sense of judgment and a sense of worth.

He warned writers to avoid the desire of "jumping too fast," in other words not to feel that their first efforts should be accepted by the higher paying markets, but to be satisfied to work hard and start submitting to a market that would be far more apt to accept their manuscripts, with an ultimate goal in mind and build consistently toward that goal.

Larson Colston, guest speaker at the banquet held Tuesday evening at the Park hotel as a climax to the conference gave a dynamic talk on the Hollywood marketing angle, not only of moving picture material but songs. He stressed the fact that writers should band together, as unity spells prestige, and illustrated his point with the situation which has developed in the world of music, urging the Idaho Writers' league to organize a marketing center for its members.

Mrs. John E. Hayes was toastmistress of the banquet and introduced the guests and those taking part in the program. Musical numbers included two vocal solos by Mauriel Pughiano, accompanied by Donna Rae Bagley; and piano selections by Jay Hill. In the receiving line were Mrs. Goertzen, Mrs. Leila Tetter, Gooding, state secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Hager, president of Twin Falls chapter; Mrs. Martina Yetter and Mrs. Olive May Cook, past state presidents, and Mrs. Hayes.

During the evening a telegram of greeting from a convention gathering of Poets of the Pacific in San Francisco was read by Mrs. Tetter. Mrs. Goertzen is a regional vice-president of the organization and Mrs. Cook is on the board of trustees. Mrs. Hayes and Mrs. Maye Anita Johnson, Albion, are also members of Poets of the Pacific. Announcement was made by Mrs. Elinor Allen, Boise, of a book of poetry by Mrs. Edith McDonald, Grainsburg, Twin Falls, which is scheduled to be off the press at this time.

Mrs. Hager was in charge of table appointments for the banquet, the table being decorated with low ivory pottery containers of pink and white roses the center one being flanked by tall lighted pink tapered tapers in matching holders. Favors were fans presented by a local business firm, and trilled nuptials fashioned by Mrs. Hager.

League members voted on a new book project which will be the assembling of a book to contain regional verse and short pictorial prose on Idaho people and scenic attractions. The committee named to handle the project includes Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Hager and Mrs. Jean Donaldson, Moscow. Manuscripts will be received by them for sorting, judging and possible placement in the book.

The contest committee announced plans for the annual contest sponsored by the league and open to all Idahoans. The opening date is July 1, and manuscripts will be received up to Aug. 1, names of those who will receive manuscripts to be announced in the near future. A feature on Tuesday afternoon was the art exhibit, "Vacation on Canvas," presented at the Twin Falls public library by Prof. A. J. Pink-Schneider, Dorothy Long and Ruth Long, all of the art department of Northwest Nazarene college, Nampa. A special attraction of the event was the simultaneous working of the three artists on one painting. The group will also present the exhibit during the forthcoming regional convention of the federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs at Sun Valley.

The league went on record expressing appreciation to the various business houses, the Chamber of Commerce and the Times-News for their cooperation in making the conference a success.

Testimony of Defense Hits Divorce Case

Third day of the district court hearing in the divorce action of Mrs. Nancy M. Hammond against Howard Hammond, seed company owner, saw the plaintiff's case tested and opening of defense testimony.

Hammond took the stand to testify on assertions made in his cross-examination in which he contends that property involved is worth less than Mrs. Hammond had claimed and that she had called him names, struck him and concealed facts about an alleged previous marriage.

Tuesday afternoon brought completion of testimony on behalf of Mrs. Hammond.

During the afternoon session, Mrs. Hammond was again called to testify about stocks and other property, and four other persons were called to the witness stand.

Dr. Harwood L. Stone stated that he had been summoned to make a house call to treat Mrs. Hammond for what appeared to be bruises on her shoulder and back and which she told him had been caused by a scuffle with Hammond.

Mrs. Hammond's son, Robert Milton Rogers, described life in the home as well as bickering incidents previously related to. A deposition made by Hazel Higbee along similar lines was read.

Hammond was called for cross examination under statute and was asked one question concerning the amount of the seed company's accounts receivable on May 1, 1947. His reply was that on approximately April 30 the accounts receivable, including contracts, amounted to about $108,000.

Primary Election Changes Urged in Professor's Book

MOSCOW, June 11 (AP)—Dr. Boyd A. Martin of the University of Idaho faculty has recommended strengthening of the Idaho direct primary law as well as other changes in a book, "The Direct Primary in Idaho," which has just been published by the Stanford University press.

While saying that he "does not wish to advise the people of Idaho what action to take with respect to their direct primary law," Dr. Martin made his recommendations as conclusions reached as a result of his exhaustive studies.

He said that the direct primary law in Idaho should be continued and strengthened; that the short ballot should be adopted to enable the party voter to vote more intelligently; that the present method of drafting the platform should be continued; that the provisions of the law regulating a candidate's expenses should be amended to increase the total amount allowed; that, to avoid giving wealthy candidates an unfair advantage, publicity pamphlets should be introduced at state expense, and that the present open primary should be amended to provide for a closed primary.

Emergency Roads Seen 'Permanent'

WASHINGTON, June 11 (AP)—Some of the roads built by the forest service into its timber stands to meet emergency needs are planned for permanent use.

Chief Forester Watts wrote Senator Taylor, D., Idaho, that the larger part of access road funds now being spent in building emergency roads to large timber tracts.

"These forest areas," he said, "be used over a great period of years, and, in some cases permanently, the operating policy of the forest service which governs the harvesting of national timber."

At the instance of Senator Gordon, R., Ore., the senate recently provided an additional $10,000,000 for access roads.

Transportation Hit by Walkout

OAKLAND, Calif., June 11 (AP)—A strike of 3,000 AFL bus and train operators against the key system today halted the public transit system of six east bay cities and the electric trains over the bay bridge to San Francisco.

More than half a million persons went without their usual means of transportation. An extra load of private cars choked approaches to the bridge and slowed the commuter pace.

Members of the Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees quit work a minute after midnight and before daylight threw picket lines around key system stops and garages.

Extra police were called out to help keep the stream of private vehicles moving across the upper deck of the bridge.

Bulgaria Acts Cause British Great Anxiety

LONDON, June 11 (AP)—Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin told commons today that developments in Bulgaria had aroused "serious anxiety" in the British government. "Just it is the intention of the Bulgarian government to extinguish the last vestiges of liberty in Bulgaria," Bevin said.

Bevin said messages concerning Hungary were coming in from Moscow when he left the foreign office, but he had had no time to study them.

Envoy to See Molotov
Sir Maurice Peterson, British ambassador in Moscow, has been asked by Bevin to see Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov about the situation in the Balkans. Bevin told commons.

Laborite Albert Blackburn asked Bevin to "press hard and quickly for the facts which should have been furnished to him long ago, so that the people of Britain and Europe may take up their minds whether we are witnessing a revival of totalitarian terror."

Apprehension Aroused
The arrest of Nicola Petkov, leader of the opposition to the government of communist Premier Georgi Dimitroff in Bulgaria, and "other measures" aroused government apprehension, Bevin said.

He said Dimitroff had assured the British envoy in Sofia that "not one hair of Mr. Petkov's head would be harmed while he was under arrest."

Pair Would be for Alaska in Canoe
SEATTLE, June 11 (AP)—Bob Miller and Les Welch were paddling their 68-pound aluminum canoe through Puget sound today, bound for Alaska and "not in a hurry."

"It might take us a week just to get out of Puget sound," said Welch, president of the University of Idaho students said their destination was Juneau.

Both are war veterans. Miller, 24, learned to handle a canoe on the rivers near his home town of Lewiston, Me. He wields the bow paddle and must make the trip kneeling on an air cushion. Welch, 26, hails from Orofino, Ida., and learned his rivercraft on the Clearwater river and its rushing tributary, the North Fork.

ANNVILLE, Pa., June 11 (AP)—A Holstein calf on the nearby farm of Harvey Swigert got a head start on the other animals when eating time rolls around—it has two mouths.

The calf, born Sunday, has almost two complete heads. Each head has a nose, mouth and two eyes but only one ear. The heads are joined together where the respective left and right ears normally would be.

Swigert said the animal is able to take nourishment in both mouths at the same time.

Boys State Lads Told to Become Active in Affairs

BOISE, June 11 (AP)—Gov. C. A. Robins today called upon the youths attending Gem Boys' State to make a "sincere participation" in affairs of state "whether it be as a private citizen, member of a school board or as a congressman."

Robins addressed the 107 teen-agers who are assembled from all parts of the state at a joint session of the Boys' State legislature today. "One of the most hopeful signs today is the study of the mechanism of government of such groups as this," Robins declared. "No doubt many of you will be agents of your government in some respect. . . it will be incumbent for you to know how and why your government does these many things."

The chief executive said the youths should be honest in accomplishing the rights and duties of citizens, be productive both in private and governmental affairs, be loyal and contribute to the "up-building" of the state.

LOOT IN ROBBERY

LAS VEGAS, Nev., June 11 (AP)—The sheriff's office was swamped with telephone calls last night from peace officers in Nevada, California and Utah who said they heard a three-state alarm about a $300,000 highway robbery.

"We haven't got any $300,000 robbery, or $200,000 or even a $50,000 robbery," moaned Night Deputy Harry Healy. "We put out an alarm, but it didn't say anything about $300,000."

What happened, he said, was this: Ed Terry, 65, of St. George, Utah, reported that while en route home after selling some cattle he was waylaid eight miles north of here by two armed men who robbed him, not of $300,000, but of $500.

SEATTLE, June 11 (AP)—The drought which has put its withering finger on many Pacific northwest grain fields has prompted the U. S. department of agriculture to revise downward—by 6,538,000 bushels—the estimate of the prospective winter wheat yield in the three northwest states of Oregon, Washington and Idaho.

Rex Stewart, department economist, said the new estimate was 90,785,000 bushels, compared with 107,325,000 bushels actually harvested last year. The 10-year average is 81,170,000.

New Location Of Palisades Route Talked

WASHINGTON, June 11.—The public roads administration holds out little hope for construction of a new highway between Alpine, Ida., and Idaho Falls.

About 15 miles of the present route will be flooded by the projected Palisades dam. The Idaho Falls Chamber of Commerce suggested a new route up McCoy creek to the north end of Gray's lake and thence to Idaho Falls.

May Boost Livestock Secretary J. R. Goble said it might bring a larger proportion of livestock to Idaho Falls from the Pinedale, Wyo., region.

In response to an inquiry from Senator Taylor, D., Ida., Public Roads Commissioner Thomas MacDonald expressed doubt of the plan's feasibility.

He said the reclamation bureau is preparing to build the road around the lake and this route will add only about three miles to the total length.

Cost $3,850,000.

He estimated that the McCoy creek route would cost in the neighborhood of $2,800,000 and would require a climb of approximately 1,400 feet.

Besides, he said, the McCoy route would seem to be less attractive for livestock shipment than the present route over state highway 29.

Of the estimated 30 families in the Gray's lake area, about 20 are in Bonneville county, he said, concluding:

"Unless the cost of building this 27 miles of road is reasonably close to the cost of replacing the present road along the future reservoir, which seems very improbable, its construction cannot be justified."

Lamb Pool Hits All-Time High

A pool shipment of 754 sheep by the Twin Falls County Livestock Marketing association Friday to Ogdan, Utah, brought what association officials on Tuesday called a new record price for ranch lambs on any market.

Ranch lambs sold for $24.00 per hundredweight at the market. After expenses and shrinkage were deducted, the association paid $23.40 on home weight to the growers.

Other market prices were $22 for yearlings, $7 for ewes and $3 for cull ewes.

Next pool shipment is scheduled for June 20, with June 17 as the deadline for listings. Association officials urge members to get as many lambs as possible in this shipment to avoid the hot weather.

Cherry Growers Have Thin Crop

LEWISTON, June 11.—Lewiston area cherry growers agreed today to ship what portion of the crop remains on the trees after the rain and wind combined with a thin crop to cut production to the lowest point since 1942.

Martin Fischer, president of the Lewiston-Clarkston Cherry Growers association, said that although damage was heavy in this area it was worse elsewhere.

"Orchards around Yakima and Wenatchee, Wash., were ruined," he said, "hence competition won't be so keen and the market will be firmer."

Idaho to Expand Pupil Lunch Plan

BOISE, June 11.—Some 25 or 30 schools will be added to Idaho's school lunch program which last year accommodated students in 226 schools—if congress approves the proposed appropriation for the plan, Alton B. Jones, state superintendent of public instruction, reported today.

Jones said procedures for the plan were discussed yesterday during a meeting of state and federal agency representatives.

Hearing Waived

Joseph Cleveland, 20, Jerome, waived preliminary examination Tuesday when arraigned before U. S. Commissioner J. O. Humphrey on a charge of violating the national motor vehicle theft act. Cleveland allegedly transported a plane truck from Gooding county to Utah.

The case was bound over to U. S. district court at Boise. Cleveland's bond was set at $1,000, and he was remanded to the custody of U. S. marshals.

During the war the American Red Cross collected 13,262,242 blood donations for the armed forces.

Boys Knew It All the Time: 'Soap Is Bad'

CHICAGO, June 11.—This little item will rile the dickens out of the kids.

An internationally-famous beauty expert today strongly advised scrubbing the very young with soap and water. Behind the ears, or elsewhere.

Destroys Oil Glands As a matter of fact, Jean Ferrell said her advice goes also for the old folks. Plain soap and water, she said, destroy the oil glands and feed the skin tissues. It's better to use cleansing creams and medicated creams that stimulate the blood cells.

Miss Ferrell practices what she preaches. She admits to being well-scrubbed the half century—"Just how far is my own business." She looks like a woman of 35, slim of figure and smooth of skin. She has a seven-point program for skin care up the little ones—and "wiping them spick and span."

Steps Revealed First apply cleansing cream. Wipe off gently. Apply medicated cream. Cover this with cocoa butter. Cover this with non-alcoholic astringent. Wipe all three layers off.

Seventh—go out and play. The beauty expert particularly advised against the use of alcohol as an astringent, that is. Alcohol taken in quantities of any size on the outside cuts the oil from the pores, and leaves the skin dry.

There are several types of leprosy.

Family Lives in Sedan Parked at Railway Station

CHICAGO, June 11 (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tousey, who say land-lord's objections to children prevent them from finding a home, are living with their four children in an old sedan parked near an elevated station.

Mrs. Tousey bathes the children, feeds them, and the children, aged 3 years, in the washroom of the elevated station. A man in a lunchroom across the street heats the baby's bottle.

The children sleep on a mattress piled atop the family's belongings in the back seat. Tousey, a war veteran who works as an extra man on the elevated lines, matches some sleep behind the wheel of the car.

"We tried everything—the social agencies, the government agencies, everything," Tousey said. "We can pay $50 a month, but no one has a place for us. No one wants children."

Austria Narrowly Averted Red Coup

VIENNA, June 11 (AP)—Ernst Korf, socialist speaker of the national assembly, told the assembly today that Austria had only narrowly escaped the fate of Hungary.

Korf said that informal talks between Chancellor Leopold Figl and communist leader Ernst Fischer on the possible reorganization of the Austrian government were "an ambush against democracy."

He characterized them as "a definite fascist method of attempting to achieve the strong government idea."

Both Figl and Fischer listened glumly as Korf attacked them. They had presented their version of the discussions only a short time previously.

CIO Sponsored Gotham Parade Hits Labor Bill

NEW YORK, June 11 (AP)—A CIO sponsored parade moved through Manhattan's rush hour crowds last night in a demonstration against the Taft-Hartley labor bill and election at Madison Square Garden where CIO President Philip Murray assailed the measure as a "threat of fascism."

Police, who described the demonstration as the largest labor march in the history of New York City, estimated that 60,000 persons participated.

Murray, who was supported in his criticism of the bill by Mayor William O'Dwyer, described the measure as a "dangerously provocative bill," which "announces to every man and woman in America that the forces of reaction in this country want a showdown with free American labor—and they want it now."

'Empire Strong,' Princess Asserts

LONDON, June 11 (AP)—Princess Elizabeth, speaking at a luncheon in her longest address, said today the link between the British Isles and the dominions "is stronger than it has ever been."

"Our commonwealth is not so much a single act of statecraft as a miracle of faith," she said.

She spoke to a large audience of dignitaries after receiving the freedom of the city of London. The honor had been bestowed only on two other women, Florence Nightingale and the Baroness Burdett Coutts.

Prime Minister Attlee, other cabinet members and national leaders cheered her several times during the speech. Attlee and the others listened intently to her clear, unhesitating voice. The king and queen did not accompany the heir presumptive.

Homeless Hero, Wife, Daughter, 'Park' at Show

NEW YORK, June 11 (AP)—The shrill crying of a baby echoed through the dark reaches of huge Grand Central palace early today. Special Patrolman Charles Beekman, assigned to keep an eye on the international textile exhibition, pounced across the third floor, flashing his light.

The light paused on an army tent, set up as a part of the exhibit, as out from it crawled Harry Harrison, a 28-year-old former paratroop captain, his attractive red-haired wife, Nina, 25, and their daughter, Judith, two.

"We just decided to move in," Harrison said, explaining they were tired of living with in-laws because of the housing shortage and had hidden in the tent before the exhibition closed last night.

"An army discharge or a whole chestful of medals will get you on the subway if you've got a nickel besides," Harrison said. "As far as settling a place to live, you could be the war's biggest hero and that wouldn't help."

The New York Central railroad, owner of the building, declined to let them stay.
