Hitch Develops in Miners' Contract; South Is Ignored

WASHINGTON, July 5 (AP)—A 24-hour hitch in signing of a soft coal peace pact for northern mines developed tonight, while southern operators reported getting "a complete brush-off" from John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers, postponed until 2:30 p. m. (EST) tomorrow at a meeting of his 200-member policy committee to ratify the "agreement in principle" which has been reached with the northern employers of 150,000 miners. It calls for a 44 1/2 cent basic hourly increase. A UMW spokesman said the lawyers "simply haven't got the language of the agreement worked out yet," but prophesied this would not interfere with a resumption of digging in 3,000 northern pits on Tuesday, when a 10-day industry-wide vacation ends.

Not so bright was the outlook for southern workings. A member of the Southern Coal Producers association reported that five unsuccessful attempts have been made to learn from Lewis the proposed terms of the northern contract.

No Answer Given
A letter and four telephone calls in the last 48 hours have failed to stir an answer from the miners' leaders, he said.

The southern association—far on the outskirts of negotiations since their split with northern owners in December—held a brief meeting, reviving their lack of progress, and recessed until the northern contract is made public.

Up to tonight, 11 countries had either accepted bids to the conference or had been represented by authoritative sources as likely to accept. The included Italy, Portugal, Greece, Turkey, Greece, Eire, Belgium, Denmark, Norway, Sweden, Iceland and The Netherlands.

While the sources in the three Scandinavian countries and Iceland had expressed the belief that they undoubtedly would attend the meeting, their final decision had not yet been announced.

Work on Decision
The foreign ministers of Norway, Denmark and Sweden were expected to meet early next week to try to work out a common stand. The cabinet of Iceland was expected to reach a decision by the end of the week.

WASHINGTON, July 5 (AP)—Russia's opposition to the Marshall plan for European recovery appears to have been softened greatly by the prospect that congress will approve the plan and appropriate the billions necessary to put it into effect.

They're Both Andrew May

Andrew J. May, left, Thursday was found guilty by a federal court of war-time bribery, fraud and conspiracy. He's a former Kentucky congressman. But it so happened that a "mat" of the former congressman wasn't included in files of the Times-News. Instead, there was a copy of a letter from another Andrew May, right, who was a Power county representative to the state legislature until his defeat last November. The picture of the Power county Andrew May appeared on page one of Thursday's Times-News with the news that the Kentucky Andrew May had been convicted.

Labor Camp Will Be Closed by Sept. 30

The Twin Falls labor camp, south of the city, will be closed and vacated by Sept. 30, instead of Dec. 31 as previously announced, according to word received Saturday by Darrell H. Moss, manager of the farm labor supply center, from Howard A. Preston, Portland, Ore. chief of operations for the labor branch of the USDA production marketing association.

Moss said that notice is being given to more than 500 tenants to vacate the camp by Sept. 25. No definite information was received as to what agency will liquidate the camp.

Two reasons were given by Moss for the change. One was that the camp was in poor condition and funds with which to operate, and congressional action dated April 28 which makes mandatory the closing of the camp.

Opened in 1939
The camp was opened here in 1939 as a rural rehabilitation project of the farm security administration. During the war, its population was largely farm labor imported to supplement local labor. At the present time, in addition to the other 500 tenants, there are about 50 Mexican workers at the camp.

As operated for the past two years, the camp has two sections, one of 48 houses for farm workers and their families here throughout the year and the other for housing workers here for only the summer season. However, the nationwide housing shortage kept the management to keep open a portion of the second section for some 20 families.

Staff Reduced
The staff operating the camp recently was reduced from seven to four, and the four remaining will be reduced to three by Sept. 30.

Moss pointed out that the three-month advance in the closing date is being made by lack of funds sufficient to operate the camp until the end of the year.

Nation Puzzled as 'Flying Discs' Seen in 31 States; Airline Crew Views Nine

BOISE, July 5 (AP)—The entire crew of a west-bound Boise-to-Seattle United Airlines plane last night reported they had seen nine flying discs near the airline's route over Emmett, Idaho. Capt. E. J. Smith of UAL trip 105 which left Boise at 9:04 p. m., said that his copilot, First Officer Ralph Stevens, blinked the transports landing lights in the belief the discs were other aircraft.

Smith said it was eight minutes after takeoff from Boise that Stevens and himself saw the discs, flying what appeared to be a "loose formation." They called Marty Morrow, stewardess, to the cockpit to verify that they were actually seeing the discs, said Smith, and she agreed they saw them.

Then they saw four more of the discs, three clustered together, and a fourth flying "by itself, way off in the distance."

The plane was flying into the dim twilight sky when the objects were first sighted, Smith reported by telephone from Pendleton.

Smith is a veteran of the airlines, and the story he and Stevens told is the first confirmation by experienced, highly trained airline pilots that flying discs have been reported over the northwest for the past two weeks.

"Flat and Circular"
"The discs were flat and round," they said. "They definitely were not aircraft. They were bigger than aircraft."

Following their first sight of the discs, said Smith and Stevens, it was observed the five objects were apparently climbing on a course approximately that of the airplane. At no time, they said, was any apparent danger of a collision.

"Bigger Than Aircraft"
The transport was at an altitude of 7,000 feet over Emmett, said Stevens, when he reached forward and turned on the landing lights to avoid what he thought was a small aircraft. Other planes flying a million courses away were seen.

By The Associated Press
The nation was baffled today by "flying saucers" reported seen in 31 states by hundreds of persons, and conjectures came from scores of named and unnamed sources throughout the country. Official government sources took a "let's see one" stand on the phenomenon, and no scientist proffered a detailed explanation.

The California Institute of Technology denied an earlier report that one of its scientists had suggested the saucers might be experiments in "transmutation of atomic energy." Dr. C. C. Lauritsen, head of the school's nuclear physics department, said he believed the discs "have nothing to do with nuclear physics."

The earlier report, quoting an unnamed Caltech scientist, was published in the Los Angeles Evening Herald and Express. The report was called "gibberish" by Dr. Harold Urey, atom scientist at the University of Chicago.

At Columbus, O., Louis R. Starr, national commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, asserted at a VFW convention that he was expecting information from Washington about the fleets of flying saucers. "The title is being told to the people of this country," Starr declared.

"Man-Made"
Two Chicago scientists said the discs are probably "man-made." The undulating, flashing objects "couldn't be meteors," said Dr. Charles K. McClure, director of the University of Chicago's Yerkes observatory at Williams Bay, Wis.

"We realize," said Dr. Oliver Lee, director of Northwestern University's Dearborn observatory, "that the army and navy are working on all these things we know nothing about."

New Discovery?
Lee said the discs might represent the same sort of thing as the "flying saucers" reported seen in 31 states by hundreds of persons, and conjectures came from scores of named and unnamed sources throughout the country.

The unnamed scientist quoted by the Los Angeles Herald and Express said, according to the paper, "these saucers, so-called, are capable of high speeds but can be controlled from the ground. They are 20 feet in width and 10 feet in diameter." (Continued on Page 2, Column 1)

Chess Finals
Slated Today
For Trophies

Finalists in the Idaho state chess tournament will begin play-offs this morning in the Roper hotel in Boise. The tournament is the Idaho's first state tournament.

C. H. Stewart, Boise, and M. Schubert, Lloyd Blaine, and L. Schubert, Lloyd Blaine, will play Saturday afternoon, while the final match will be played in the final afternoon. The tournament is the Idaho's first state tournament.

Surprise entries of the tournament were the Kimmons. Not recognized as contestants at the tournament opening, they played up a string of wins that put them in the final. Stewart, twice Nevada champion, and Kimmons, a former state champion, will play Saturday afternoon, while the final match will be played in the final afternoon.

The suspect had been staying voluntarily at the jail while the case was being investigated by police officials. Police had nothing further to report on the case but said investigation was continuing.

A coroner's inquest held earlier this week determined that the 54-year-old man had died of a heart attack. The coroner's inquest was held at the Roper hotel in Boise.

FLASHES of LIFE
By Associated Press

EAGER LONDON, July 5—When two U. S. battleships, two aircraft carriers and four destroyers turned up on a good day in the British admiralty had a little more to say than the admiralty had to say to the admiralty.

Today, perfectly deadpan, the admiralty reported a "very ready response" in fact, said a spokesman. "We now have a waiting list."

REPUKES
MURPHYBORO, Ill., July 5—A "Telegraph and railroad trouble" shoters who are touring the flooded area between here and the Mississippi river, said that "even the frogs are taking it high ground."

They first reported seeing hundreds of snakes, crocodiles, alligators, opossum and other animals routed into the open by the flood waters. Common sights, they said, were floating blocks of wheat with rabbits riding the currents atop them and munching the grain.

Nation Counts 384 Fatalities

By The Associated Press
The nation counted at least 384 persons killed from accidents by early Sunday with one day remaining of the three-day Fourth of July weekend.

Sixteen 5 p. m. Thursday, 178 persons had been killed in traffic accidents, 131 had been drowned, five had lost their lives in fireworks mishaps and 70 had died from other accidental causes.

California led the nation in traffic fatalities with 20, Florida had 14, New York had 13, Illinois had 12, Michigan had 11, and Minnesota had 10.

The National Safety council has predicted 78 traffic fatalities during the three-day period.

Delegation to Meet Governor For Talk on Through Highway

SHOSHONE, July 5—A delegation of Shoshone and Gooding businessmen and farm representatives will meet at 2 p. m. Monday with Gov. C. A. Russell in Boise to discuss the possibility of constructing a through highway from Gooding to Pocatello via Shoshone and Dietrich. The proposed highway would closely parallel the Union Pacific railroad main line and would cut through traffic distance considerably.

Leonard Bond, president of the Shoshone Chamber of Commerce, said the Shoshone delegation also would bring other matters before the governor, including a farm-to-market road northwest of Shoshone. Installation of telephone in Dietrich and north Shoshone and obtaining of a veterinarian in Lincoln county.

Bond said the Shoshone-Gooding group, which has been promoting the road for the past several months, probably would confer with E. W. Oranger, state director of highways, in addition to the governor.

Bond pointed out that the highway would be 30 miles shorter than the route through Pocatello and 40 miles shorter than the route through Burley and Twin Falls. The group also has asserted that it would aid farmers in the Gooding and Shoshone areas by enabling cheaper truck transportation.

Bond said the Shoshone Chamber of Commerce representatives also would confer with the governor regarding construction of a farm-to-market road that would run from a point four miles north of Shoshone west to the Pocatello-Gooding highway, which has been promoting the road for the past several months.

Janitor Frightens Theater Burglars

BURLEY, July 5—An effort to burglarize the Burley theater early this morning failed when Mr. and Mrs. George Holden came into the building to do the janitor work and frightened the intruders.

The rear door of the theater had been broken into and efforts were being made to force open the door when the janitor entered the building. Holden did not get a chance to see the intruders, he told Burley editors.

The theft, containing the holiday movie receipts, was not opened and the movie was missing from the building. The Burley police are looking for the thieves.

No Firecracker Burns Reported In Magic Valley

Magic Valley came through a "safe and sound" July 4 celebration without any fireworks mishaps. Although there were a few burned fingers here and there, no serious injuries were reported for hospitalization, a Times-News survey of the area's hospitals revealed.

It was surprised hospital attendants who were all prepared for an invasion of burned youngsters, but there was only one "come call" from Burley, a young boy who was burned on the hand with the explanation that a firecracker exploded in his hand.

The Burley police are looking for the thieves. The Burley police are looking for the thieves. The Burley police are looking for the thieves.

Aerial Search at Reservoir Fails, Another Planned

HAILEY, July 5—A second aerial search of Magic reservoir for the body of a missing swimmer was planned Saturday afternoon and another is planned Sunday for the body of a missing swimmer.

The search Saturday afternoon was conducted by a small plane piloted by Sheriff Virgil Perry, reported to be the first aerial search of the reservoir. A large number of swimmers were in the reservoir at the time.

The search Sunday morning was planned for the body of a missing swimmer. The search Sunday morning was planned for the body of a missing swimmer.

Carol Wed to His Madame Lupescu On Her Deathbed

RIO DE JANEIRO, July 5 (AP)—Former King Carol of Romania was disclosed today he had sought to legalise his 31 years' companionship with the gravely ill Elena Lupescu, in a special "death bed" marriage ceremony.

The ceremony was performed Thursday in Carol's luxurious suite at the Hotel Copacabana was requested by Elena Lupescu under a Brazilian law which permits a marriage to be solemnized in the last moments of a dying person. There was some doubt, however, as to the legality of the action.

New of the ceremony was given out by Mrs. Elena Lupescu, who was out by Mrs. Elena Lupescu, who was out by Mrs. Elena Lupescu.

Common sights, they said, were floating blocks of wheat with rabbits riding the currents atop them and munching the grain.

Residents of Area at Buhl Fight 'Annex'

BUEHL, July 5.—Majority of resident taxpayers in the McCollum addition of Buhl have signed petitions to incorporate as a separate village to avoid being annexed into Buhl, according to D. C. Brannen, secretary of a group formed to avoid the possibility of annexation into Buhl.

Brannen said Saturday night that the move dates back to several years ago when residents of the addition wanted to be included in the city limits of Buhl and their desires were opposed. The McCollum addition is an old residential district located about three-fourths of a mile from the center of Buhl, he explained. The area is adjacent to the Glover road.

The secretary explained that residents of the addition were afraid their taxes would be considerably higher if the area was annexed by Buhl and that the area would derive no benefits from the annexation.

He said the area gets water from Buhl at present under the terms of an old contract made by the man after which the addition is named. The contract cannot be broken, he emphasized.

Petitions objecting to the proposed annexation were presented at a recent meeting of the Buhl city commission but no action was taken, Brannen said. The petitions were signed by 61 persons.

California Blazes

BURNING BIG AREA
LOS ANGELES, July 5.—Numerous conflagrations, burning over thousands of acres in widely scattered sections of California, kept fire fighters on the jump in scorching temperatures today with many homes already destroyed and other property damage mounting hourly.

Work of the blazes occurred in Los Angeles, San Diego and San Luis Obispo counties, where near-record automobile travel over the July 4th holidays was reported.

The fire in the Cleveland national forest near San Diego has burned over more than 16,000 acres in four days and now is being camped in the Laguna recreational area. The Porterville canyon district was described as the "most difficult area."

Probe Slated For Force in German Area

WASHINGTON, July 5.—The senate armed services committee made plans today to investigate the American occupation of Germany, including alleged widespread misconduct and immorality on the part of U. S. troops.

The inquiry, long delayed at the insistence of the state department, was scheduled for the congressional summer recess.

Committee Chairman Chas. McNary, R. S. D., said most members have indicated they'd like to have some of us get over there during the recess.

The investigation has been pushed by Sen. Wayne Morse, R. Ore., a committee member who said it would "hit the iron horse" and "apally" that has caused Americans to forget their responsibilities.

Other committee members said they were eager to "look into" complaints about American occupation. A year ago a proposed inquiry by the senate was delayed when the state department argued it would hurt American prestige abroad. That probe was sought on the basis of a committee report alleging that many U. S. troops had been guilty of misconduct and immorality.

Utah's Monopoly For Liquor Pays
SALT LAKE CITY, July 5.—Utah's state monopoly on hard liquor sales paid out $1,275,224 Saturday morning by Justice of the Peace J. O. Humphrey, through May 30, 1947, the liquor commission reported today.

The figure represented an increase of $411,408 over the same period one year previously despite a 15.5 per cent drop in the sale of whiskey and wine.

The increase was a result of a state law which required a 55 per cent markup on whiskeys and 45 per cent on wines after lower O.P. prices were lifted.

More than 100 million bushels of U. S. shelled corn are used annually to make starch, corn syrup and corn meal.

Deadlock Hits Korea Parley Of U. S., Russ
SEOUL, July 5.—The U. S.-Soviet joint commission on Korea has reached another impasse after five weeks of disagreement, Maj. Gen. Albert E. Brown, chief U. S. delegate, disclosed today.

The Russians objected to consultation with "certain" Korean political groups as part of the program to establish a unified provisional government for the divided country.

Brown declined to say whether he believed the commission was on the verge of another breakdown, but he did announce indefinite postponement of initial oral consultations with Korean leaders scheduled to start Monday. The commission will renew discussion of basic for consultation on that day instead.

The statement was issued on Brown's return from a four-day commission meeting at Pyongyang, headquarters of Russian-occupied North Korea, where members of his staff said American delegates were under constant surveillance.

High Mississippi Levels Off After 103-Year Record

GRAND TOWER, Ill., July 5.—The muddy Mississippi, lapping at second floors of Grand Tower buildings, appeared to have leveled off after reaching the highest peak in over 100 years between St. Louis and Cairo, Ill.

An estimated 600,000 homeless persons in this town's 1000 population were sheltered in tents and two thousand on high ground. Mayor Jesse Grammer said it would take two weeks for all the water to drain from the town if the river falls at the rate predicted.

At St. Louis, Harry F. Wahlgren, U. S. meteorologist, said a fall of 17 feet was expected in the next 48 hours at St. Louis with a sharp drop extending as far south as Cape Girardeau, Mo., and Cairo late tonight or tomorrow. The river was stationary at the southern points.

U. S. army engineers said levees would hold in Perry county on the Missouri side and across the river between Preston and McClure in Illinois. The crest was at least one foot below the barriers' tops on both sides.

'Snake Stampede' Set for July 16

NAMPA, July 5.—Plans were shaping today for the 1947 renewal of the Snake river stampede, staged here July 16-18. Hollywood Western star Eddie Dean has been invited. Leo Cramer's rodeo string has been lined up for the four-day affair, which will feature bigger purses this year.

According to judicial opinions the term "snake" refers to a body of salt or brackish water, less than an ocean.

Spokane Will Be Base for 'Super-Forts'

WASHINGTON, July 5.—Spokane will become the main northern Pacific coast B-29 Superfortress base in the continental United States, the strategic air command has disclosed.

A second force is being assembled at Merced, Calif., and fields are being prepared in Alaska for operation of the air material command.

Nationwide Expansion
Development of west coast B-29 fields is part of a nationwide expansion. Superfortress bases have been established in the midwest and southwest, and others are planned for Florida and Maine.

The air command announced yesterday that the reactivated 92nd very heavy bomber group has been ordered to the Spokane army air field, which it will take over from the air material command.

Three Squadrons
Three squadrons of long range bombers, one of which already has been assembled there, will be stationed at the Spokane base. The other two squadrons composing the 92nd group will be brought in as personnel and aircraft are procured. (A B-29 group at the present time consists of about nine planes.)

The 92nd at peak strength will have 296 officers and 1,871 enlisted men.

Mints Win, 14-6, In Holiday Game

HAILEY, July 5.—The Hailey Mints defeated the Twin Falls Juniors 14 to 6 in a baseball game held Friday as part of the Independence day celebration held here.

The program, under the direction of Charles Sprittles of the Triumph mine, opened with a picnic at the City park with ice cream and poppies furnished for the youngsters. Events included the baseball game, bicycle and foot races, a free movie for youngsters and a dance.

At Sun Valley, the celebration included a sack shoot, fireworks and an ice carnival, "Circus Under the Stars."

TO FILL PULPIT
KING HILL, July 5.—Dr. Boyd Patterson, Portland, Ore., will fill the pulpit in the King Hill Community church Sunday for communion services.

Seen ...

Milkman dropping bottle on door step, then brushing pieces of broken glass onto flowers to get them off the step. ... Man surprised as bright orange paper hat flutters off his straw hat as he walks down the street. ... Jessie Selys blushing and scurrying out of office as chorus of whistles greet her. ... Two women wheeling two baby carriages into dance hall. ... Four Trailway buses taking proverbial "bums' holiday" by standing idle in parking lot. ... Small boy rubbing dripping ice cream cone from confectionery store to waiting car. ... Tent poles protruding from trunk of blue Mercury sedan. ... Just seen: Stanley Hendricks, Mrs. R. J. ATHEENS, July 5.—Communists today for a fire in the building housing the aid mission to Greece which took the lives of three persons and resulted in injuries to 21.

The five-story building in the heart of Athens is known as the soldiers' pension building and also housed the British military mission. It formerly was used by UNRRA.

Minister of public order Napoleon Zervas and Athens' Police Chief Angel Evert declared the fire "obviously was started by communists," and Evert said two persons, whose names he would not release, had been arrested.

Two of the victims who died were women.

stops his clock and starts that of his opponent. This calls for split-second decisions in tournament play. Stewart explained. It is neither a young nor an old man's game, he pointed out. Young men lack the experience, he says, while old men may be slower with their mental reactions.

Contestants entered in the tournament are C. H. Stewart, A. L. Paul and Dick Vandenberg of Boise; Bob Schow, Pocatello; Eugene Cowan, Driggs; Glen Buckendorf, Buhl; Don Murphy, Lloyd Kington, LaVeri Kington, Rose Scott and Mel Schubert, all Twin Falls.

Trophies, prizes and medals commemorating Idaho's first state tournament will be awarded the winners in each division at the close of the contest this afternoon.

Mel Schubert, Twin Falls chess enthusiast, arranged and managed the tournament.

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

By INEZ FUCHT

"A man always meets with fewer side glances, as his hairline retreats and his waistline advances."

Over thirty years ago at old Lincoln school in Twin Falls, a white-haired but kipli a diary. Into it he was everything he saw, heard, felt and dreamed. What has become of all the teachers and students whose names went down in the pages of that little notebook? Here is an excerpt from one day:

"It's very nice to watch Albertine (Benoit) toss her long black curls. She does it when she recites, or when she looks at Ruth (Beauchamp), her chum. Ruth smiles, and her cheeks are pink like primroses. A very mischievous boy sits across from them. His name is (Johnson). Today he passed a dead grasshopper around in a paper saucer, and when Miss Vrooman asked why he did, he grinned and said, 'Well, everything else in here is dead, too. Harold ALWAYS has his lessons.'"

"There is another comical boy in the room though I can't describe him. His name is Glenn (Wilkinson) and he's full of the old nickel. He always knows his lessons too. How they can cut up all the time and still know their work I can't figure! Esther (McRoberts) told me her mother sent her to bed without supper last night. I forget what she did. It made me laugh to think of the old girl lying there with her stomach all empty and growling. I thought about it when Miss Bryant took us in the hall to hear Kanusook a duet with Tetramzin on the Victrola. I giggled right out loud."

"The diary doesn't mention Nellie, but we have never forgotten her. Across the years her thin form, her pale face with his black hair, comes back. Her last name was Davis and she dwelt in the country. She was quiet and sweet, and when we couldn't get our arithmetic—which was half the time—Nellie worked sums for us on the sly. As long as breath remains in us we shall be grateful to Nellie. For years we have hoped to get some trace of her, meet her again. Nellie Davis, if you read these lines somewhere, PLEASE come back and let us say 'thanks' in person."

"Got any kidneys?" we asked the jovial young man behind the meat counter. His name was Merle Owens, and he was 16 months back from a hitch in the army. "No, a one," said Merle, "there's a woman down here in the camp buys every one we get. She picked up a couple of stray cats and in nothing flat they had some cats. Then that batch had cats and, well, she has 30 to feed at present."

"Mister," we said, "if she has that many felines she's welcome to all the kidneys in Hagerman!" and we went into the dry goods store next door. Merle's father, Charles Owens, Mr. Owens was busy among the shelves. He was tall, and had sharp brown eyes. "I can't recall when I first came to Hagerman," he said, "must have been about 10. Only three or four families were here then, and they raised fruit and alfalfa. There were no towns anywhere around here then. It took a day to cross the desert. We lived at Alamo winter—that's beyond Oakley—and when we came back to Hagerman we were a day getting from Alamo to what is now the Rock creek bridge west of Twin Falls. We always camped there."

"It took another day to get from Rock creek to Hagerman. We crossed the Snake down near what is now Sand Springs," Owens smiled reminiscently.

"We crowded on a ferry of course, and I was always scared to death!" He said they had a special wagon for traveling. Four horses drew it, and they often drove as many as eight head along. He and the other lads did the driving.

Old timers in Hagerman had fun by sitting down at a hall which stood south in the town. "These affairs began at 8 p. m. and lasted until dawn," Owens said. There was also a little Baptist church, and on Sabbath nights it would be crammed.

The first school was out in the country and all the kids walked. The teacher was a man named Nils. "Did he have troubles with the bigger boys?" we wanted to know. Owens said no, there were as many as 50 pupils, but they didn't get rough. On Friday afternoons the

Scientist scoffs
The scientists report of "transmutation of atomic energy" however, was scoffed at by Dr. Harold Urey, atom scientist. "You can transmute metals, not energy," he said.

Col. F. J. Clark, commanding officer of the Hanford engineering works in the Pacific northwest where the largest atomic influx has been reported, said the saucers were not coming from the atomic plant there. "I have been waiting for some experiments were underway there which would solve the mystery."

Credence Grows
Credence in the saucers—widely laughed off at their first reported appearance June 25—grew as hundreds of observers, many of them trained fliers, reported seeing them.

A crowd of 200 observed a disc at Hauser Lake, Ida., on the Fourth of July. In Portland, Ore., so many residents witnessed them that same day that the police department sent out an all-calls broadcast.

Seen Saturday
Witnesses in two points of California and in Spokane—one of them an army air force sergeant—reported seeing the discs Saturday.

Two persons in different sections of Charleston, S. C., said a flying saucer passed over Charleston heading east at 6:20 p. m. EST Saturday at about the same time two men in Albany, Ore., saw a single disc flash southward, halt, and retrace its course before vanishing into a cloud.

Officials "Know Nothing"
Officials of the atomic energy commission in Washington said it had no experiments involving "flying saucers" under way, and one of them added: "All we know is what we read in the papers."

An army air force official in Washington said the AAF was "completely mystified" by the saucer reports.

Although no general alert had been sent out for radar scanning of the heavens, he said "reports on the interception of any suspicious object on ground radar screens will be carefully evaluated."

teacher held spelling bees. "I didn't like 'em," he said, "I liked writing and arithmetic."

But more than schools, dances, or horse driving, Pioneer Owens remembers the wonder of water. After the long miles of sagebrush and dust, to come down into the cool, lush valley of Hagerman and see the streams gushing! That was a thrill to last a man a lifetime!

The neighbor kid dashed up on a white horse. "The baby—she's allowed medicine for colds!" he asked you? You know what to do?" We were floored. "Go home and stick your finger down her throat!" we said, but we had no idea that was the thing to do. We dashed in and searched the west book shelf and found the volume, "What to Do Until the Doctor Comes." We searched through the pages—various veins, transposition of the fingers—damn it! A lot of help this seemed to be! We went on; yes, here was a poison tablet—but what kind of poison went into call scour medicine, if any? Acid—ojim—no! I don't know. We went down and got Mrs. Toupin who is calm and efficient, and seems to know how to meet rural emergencies. She whisked a pie from the oven and we dashed to her car. "While of egg is good to make them vomit," she said, and we made a mental note.

At the neighbors we found things acclimated to a calm anti-climax. The stuff had been old and lost its strength—yes, the baby was okay. From the back door she gazed at us, an angel-faced child with yellow hair.

And what WE need out here on the range. In a few less college degrees and a lot more first aid!

An oldtimer says he chopped the tail off his cat so the door wouldn't remain open so long in cold weather when the cat was entering the house. He says he boiled the tail and ate it with plenty of salt and potatoes. The cat itself gnawed for an hour on the bone!

All-Time Record For Employment Forecast in Fall

WASHINGTON, July 5 (AP)—

September may bring a new all-time employment record in this country.

Robert C. Goodwin, director of the U. S. employment service, told a reporter that figure will reach 59,300,000 if seasonal employment follows its usual trend.

Total civilians with jobs last May were 58,300,000, a new record. Goodwin said the expected additional 1,000,000 seasonal workers will be mostly persons not considered in the labor market, such as students and housewives.

Therefore, he said, their employment will not materially change the total unemployment estimated at 1,000,000. This is probably the lowest point it could reach in a "free labor market," he added.

Officials attributed the rising employment to high levels of manufacturing, consumer demand and export.

Nation's Food Shipping Hits All-Time High

WASHINGTON, July 5 (AP)—President Truman reported today that U. S. exports of food to the world hungry set an all-time record in the past 12 months, and he promised continued American aid.

He indicated in a statement, however, that future assistance will have to be reduced if corn and other summer-grown grain crops are short. The corn crop has been plagued by a wet, cool spring and by destructive floods.

The President said the United States exported 18,435,000 long tons or about 41,275,000,000 pounds during the year ending June 30.

Record Shipment
"This," he said, "is the largest total of food ever shipped from one country in a single year."

The old record of 17,122,000 tons was set by the United States a year ago.

While calling attention to the United States contribution to "human needs abroad," Mr. Truman said, "We must not lose sight of the fact that even the greatest efforts of this and other exporting countries fell short of meeting urgent post-war needs for food."

Continue Shipping
"Millions of people are still desperately hungry," he said, "Within our ability to share our resources, we will continue to do our part to relieve human suffering and to help other countries to help themselves."

The President made his statement in releasing a detailed report on food exports by the cabinet committee on world food programs. Its members are Secretary of Agriculture Anderson, Secretary of State Marshall and Secretary of Commerce Hargis.

of light planes returning from some "Fourth of July celebration," he said, "then I realized the things were not aircraft but were flat and circular."

The objects, after first being seen, veered over to the left of the transport and Smith picked up his radio microphone and called Ontario, Ore. CAA radio communications station, about 65 airline miles from Boise.

Couldn't See Objects
"Step outside and look to the southwest about 15 miles and see what you can find," he told the operator. The operator reported that he could see nothing. By this time, said Stevens, the first group of discs disappeared.

"Then," said the first officer, "I saw the second group, three together and a fourth off by itself."

At 8,000 Feet
By then the transport had reached 8,000 feet and was cruising over the rugged country leading to the Blue mountains, ahead of the liner's path. Stevens said these objects "merged, then disappeared. Then came back in sight and finally vanished again to the northwest. They seemed to be higher than our flight path this time. When they did finally disappear, they went fast."

Still "Serious"
SHOSHONE, July 5—The condition of Harry V. Cannon, co-piloting in the Williams Nursing home here, was reported still "serious," by his attending physician.

Cannon was injured June 13 when he fell from a car about three miles north of Shoshone.

IS OUR NECK OUT!

Ever since the war it has been the same old story in the democracies' search for a world peace. Russia has presented one obstacle after another—dozens of obstacles in fact—by precipitating "crises" or walkouts of conferences altogether.

The United States and Great Britain, Uncle Sam particularly, have reached the point where they appear to be chumps in the hands of the Russian bullies.

Why we continue to kid ourselves in the belief that Russia has any desire to cooperate with us in working for a new world order is more than even the man on the street can comprehend. To believe that any real warmth emanates from those cold smiles characteristic of Russian diplomacy is a fool's comfort.

The latest evidence of Russia's cunning developed in Paris at the three-power conference on American aid to Europe. As could be expected, Russia rejected proposals for an economic steering committee and warned "against the consequences" of the western powers going ahead without Soviet cooperation.

So what? This country again sticks its neck out by indicating it will go ahead with the Marshall plan for economic aid to Europe despite Russia's flat refusal to cooperate. All of which probably means an outright economic-political conflict between the United States and the Soviet Union.

Great Britain's reason was not so idealistic. The British government doubts, probably with good reason, if such a plan could be carried out in Europe without Russia's approval.

The layman could guess that Russia is interested in controlling Europe—that it will be glad to continue taking the democracies' gratuities, so long as these democracies gain no controls standing in the way of Russia's ultimate objective.

One could gather, reading between the lines, that diplomatic relations in Washington are far more serious than our government is willing to admit.

When General Eisenhower told a senate committee the other day that the war department "had not entirely excluded the possibility" of war within the next year, although it does not expect it, he wasn't just talking through his hat. The war department and generals like Eisenhower aren't ordinarily given to loose statements about things so serious.

But Russia isn't in any shape to enter another war, we hear it said by those who are quick to discount all such possibilities. These same people probably were the ones who said Japan could be knocked over in three weeks and that anything like Pearl Harbor never could have happened.

HOW OUR LAWS WORK!

When the last legislature wound up its session with a buck-passing flourish by legalizing liquor-by-the-drink on a local option basis, we predicted that this particular legislature, by its actions, would prove to be one of the weakest in the state's history.

The previous legislature had been ridiculed for two years for its so-called "private locker club" law, but that much-abused statute will look like a model of jurisprudence once this new liquor-by-the-drink act gets up to biosoming out.

Just as one would expect, strange things already are taking place. One provision of this new law, for instance, stipulates that liquor by the drink may be legalized only within the limits of incorporated municipalities.

Why liquor-by-the-drink should be made possible for those living in incorporated cities and villages, but not for those living in unincorporated hamlets and rural areas, is a discrimination which no member of the last legislature has been able to explain satisfactorily.

Take Owyhee county, for example. In all its 1,748 square miles of area with 4,000 inhabitants there is only one incorporated community. So, just as you would expect, there is a moment underfoot to incorporate the entire county area, about the size of Massachusetts—into a "village." That's the only way the people of Owyhee county can comply with this new joker which the last legislature calls a law.

Meantime, up along the Yellowstone highway, it is planned to incorporate a new village of Island Park, which would stretch along a narrow strip of land for 25 miles—so to make it "legally" possible for people along that route to buy their liquor by the drink.

All the while, chicken coops are being installed inside hundreds of places of business, to house the newly-legalized slot machines from which our last legislature very wisely ruled all minors must be barred!

Authorities disagree as to why men have to sleep. Maybe it's just to get away from authorities who disagree.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

BUILDING—A legend involving millions of dollars' worth of heavy machinery construction, which the nation will be broken under Hartley-Tate provisions outlawing jurisdictional strikes, provided the labor unions are not able to block the application of this so-called "whirligig."

In view of the importance of the building industry to promotion of recovery, it is not surprising that high purchasing power, authors of the measure regard this section as the "most effective and immediate contribution which the legislature makes to the national economy."

It is not generally realized that serious bottlenecks these intra-union and CIO-AFL controversies have created in the construction and other fields.

JURISDICTIONAL—Fred Hartley, N. J., chairman of the house labor committee, got the inspiration for a nationwide investigation into this problem after the local jurisdictional difficulties and disasters in the northern section of his own state. His inquiry there convinced him that conditions were worse than he had imagined.

He discovered that $60,000,000 worth of industrial construction and $10,000,000 of home building had been halted for months because of a labor war between the carpenters and the hod carriers. They have quarreled over the simple question of which group should haul lumber on the job.

CARPENTERS—The two protagonists are big, headstrong and belligerent men—William L. Hutchinson, carpenters' boss, and Joseph V. Morosini, the hod carriers' president. Neither have made any attempt to settle the dispute, spending most of their time at Washington, Indianapolis and Florida, despite the workmen's desire to get back on the job.

"Hutch," who once slugged it out with John L. Lewis at an Atlantic City convention, has been the central figure in these conflicts. With new methods of construction born of the war gaining headway, he fears that his carpenters will lose their jobs. Worst of all, he suspects that he may lose out and prestige in the inner councils of the labor movement.

So, at the drop of a hat or a hammer, he has called strikes in which his union members bickered with the electricians, masons, mechanics, hod carriers, plumbers, etc.

BLOCKADING—Mr. Hartley has named an investigating subcommittee headed by Ralph Anderson, Gwin, N. Y., who handled labor relations when he served as a special assistant to the war shipping board in World War I, and subsequently as an aide to the Secretary of War Newton D. Baker. This group has already uncovered many practices that may call for amendment of the act recently passed over President Truman's veto.

Speakers for western lumber interests testified that construction of 210,000 homes had been held up almost since V-J day because of a dispute between CIO and AFL units. Assuming that each residence would cost $10,000, the sum $2,100,000 would otherwise have been paid out for materials, transportation, labor and other services totaling at least $3,000,000.

For the country at large, it is estimated that jealousy or jurisdictional disputes may account for the blockading of $15,000,000,000 in all kinds of work waiting to be done.

BOYCOTT—The Gwin group has also discovered a more insidious form of labor union conflict than the ordinary jurisdictional arguments, disastrous as they have been. This is the use of cut-throat game by many large industries throughout the nation, but its effect has been especially severe in New England.

CIO-organized plants, which fabricate equipment for factories, bridges, railroads, highways and other homes, cannot obtain secondary contracts, if the finished articles are handled on the job by AFL workers, and vice versa. Large engineering firms, like Stone and Webster, recognize this state of war. They must buy both raw materials and the completed product from a firm organized by the same union which controls the construction team.

This kind of cold, deliberate blockading is driving numerous small and large companies to the wall, according to evidence in the hands of congressional committees.

WIVES—A nugget of human evidence dug up by the Hartley and Gwin investigators suggests that these work stoppages are fanned by labor higher-ups like Messrs. Hutchinson and Morosini rather than by the workmen themselves. Incidentally, the wives of men tossed off their jobs by a walking delegate's abrupt orders are reportedly especially bitter.

When the Hutchinson or Morosini representatives visit a plant and ask if there are any intra-union disputes, the men assure them that everything is fine, and that there is no cause for a strike, even though the dispute may be unsolved. Apparently, the individuals with families to feed and rent to pay do not want to be forced off the payroll simply for the argumentation of the international officers at Washington and Indianapolis.

DEBT—Harry S. Truman's friends think he owes a heavy debt to James A. Farley and George E. Allen for their inside stories of the Roosevelt regime, as published in two national magazines. They may have stripped the bulbs from the heads of the two former cabinet members who trouble the man in the White House—Henry A. Wallace and Harold I. Tamm.

The two authors, who were close to both FDR and Mr. Truman, write that the rebels were dalked and distributed by both chief executives as long ago as 1938, according to Mr. Farley. FDR had called Mr. Wallace "unreliable," and had decided to dump him as a v. p. candidate in 1944.

VIEWS OF OTHERS

SHOE ON THE OTHER FOOT

The labor unions are promising court tests of all the numerous provisions of the new labor law, appealing to the judges for protection, as is clearly their right under the constitution.

But it seems only the day before yesterday when it was the conservative "princes of privilege" who were turning to the constitution to uphold what they claimed to be their rights in a settling score consideration until the supreme court was done over by FDR.

Those who now seek court protection had nothing but scorn for those who sought it then against a liberal congress. What! Interfere with the right of the people's chosen representatives to govern? The courts were revamped for the specific purpose of making congress supreme, of limiting if not destroying the power of the judges to say "no."

Now those who fought to increase the power of congress and to reduce the power of the rebel gentlemen who interpreted the constitution with their hands had gone far, for the political winds have shifted and they now find themselves a minority, in need of appeal from the power of the legislative body that criticizes the current political situation.

This possibility was pointed out at the time by a few, including the present writer, but the warning went unheeded. The moral, we think, is that all of us had better protect the constitution, which is the protector of the minority, the majority can always protect itself. Because—no one knows how soon he will be one of a minority himself!—Nampa Free Press.

POT SHOTS

FLYING DISCS AGAIN

You'd better get your gun. All those flying discs are nothing but the new secret weapon Uncle Joe Stalin has been perfecting. Notice that most of them have been seen in the Pacific Northwest, which is closest to Russia.

That also explains why Uncle Joe has been playing his cards close to his chest.

SOLVES-ALL

TIME ON THEIR HANDS

I see where the Idaho State penitentiary boys are putting out a newspaper called, "The Clock." Maybe a better name would be "The Calendar."

EXTERMINATE

Dear Expert-on-All-Things: I've heard it said that when you have a problem, refer it to Pot Shota. Seems your constituents can come up with the answer to just any little old problem.

OH FOR THE LIFE OF A GENERAL

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower does the family dishes Sunday nights.

It came out when the general was testifying before the house foreign affairs committee.

It was recalled that once during the war when he was going to Europe Mrs. Eisenhower told him not to get too "uptight" over his war success; that he would still have to do the dishes when he returned.

"You don't do the dishes now, do you?" he was asked.

"Only on Sunday nights," Eisenhower grinned.

Always knew generals got all the breaks!

PRIVILEGE

The Pot Shota office boy says it's a woman's privilege to change a man's mind.

FAMOUS LAST LINE

... Junior's been lying out on the lawn all day but hasn't seen any flying saucers.

GENTLEMAN IN THE FOURTH ROW

BOB HOPE

The scientific age has even taken over the schools according to a recent exhibition put on by the southern California school house planning conference.

The exhibit was sort of a kindergarten with modern pictures to educate the students, aluminum desks for good posture, and ear phones instead of books.

The new method is a little boy's improvement. Now the little boys won't annoy the little girls by dipping their curls in the inkwells. They'll just stuff spitballs in their ear phones.

The "new" thing won't be grading, radar, rockets and record players. You won't believe it but pencils are now made of aluminum. All you need in school is a week's supply of phonograph needles.

It's not going to be strange to see those kids doing their studies with the aid of this new auto-electric apparatus. If Junior is reprimanded by teacher for not doing his homework, he simply replies, "Sorry teacher, I blew a fuse."

One youngster who had the answer raised his hand by mistake and was expelled. He knew he should have sent up a flare.

But don't worry about Junior. The teacher won't punish him by making him stay after school and write "I am a bad boy" on the blackboard. He'll just hand him a box of steel wool and point to the 200 aluminum desks.

There's one thing they haven't solved though. How can you teach the kids from cheating. Now can you, when the kids keep tuning in on each other's frequency.

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S ANGLE

NEW YORK—The interlocking association of the Roerich mystic and the new deal, through the medium of Henry Wallace and several other leading personalities, has never been fully revealed in its weekly reality.

Wallace was a member of this group and he appeared in the life of Henry Wallace, its principal financial figure, as a very influential job in the departments of agriculture and commerce.

Henry Morgenthau, father of Henry the Mog, was Roosevelt's secretary of the treasury, fell for a new len called biophysics and associated with the guru, or swami, of that outfit, one Frederick Kester, whose publications were put out by the press of Nicholas Konstantin Roerich, at the Roerich Lamasery and museum, also known as a "master institute," at 310 Riverside drive.

Ketterer is still in action. I telephoned his office for an appointment but was told he was on tour and could not be reached. This struck me as strange. Most showmen, lecturers and preachers who drop the life road are booked methodically and can be caught by phone, mail or telegram in a few hours. The said life agreed that he could be compared to a show.

I then learned that Sol Bloom, the new deal congressman whose desk I heard Roerich's Lamasery actually had lived in the place for some years. Mr. Bloom is one of the oldtimers of congress.

He is not a showman but has the happy and mature disposition of a fellow who never took himself too seriously and lived by the way as he traveled through life.

He was born in Pekin, Ill., and was taken to San Francisco by his parents when the country was of the Mississippi was still frontier. Sol was a showman at the first Chicago world fair in 1893, managing all concessions including a pitch on the Streets of Cairo where a bazaar came introduced to the hootchery, described to the thin walls of a snake-charmer's shed.

"She wriggles and she's not a woman," he said, to center was the wham-chock closing phrase of the cultural discourse of the traditional midwest professor at such displays.

The professors themselves were almost as great an attraction as the hootch dancers, of whom Mr. Bloom now reveals there were perhaps as many as 15.

In congress, Sol has been a new won't annoy the little girls by dipping their curls in the inkwells. They'll just stuff spitballs in their ear phones.

when he and Mrs. Roerich were paying the bills for this champion moocher of them all, Mrs. Roerich told him and Mrs. Roerich, one day in Vichy, that her old man had a mental power over others and that if anyone went against him, he had power enough to kill him with his thought.

The Hunches allowed so much of Roerich's nonsense, and so did Henry Wallace, that it seems certain that they fell for this business of the mental dangers and blue flames, too.

But Sol says Roerich never did any magic tricks around him.

"He never gave me any of that mystical business," says he. "I never went to them. If you would stay around that Roerich long enough, he would get you. I never let him look me in the eye. I never let a hypnotist look me in the eye and whenever he would try it on me I would run."

Public Forum

She's Irritated by Treatment Given Our "Cowboy" Taylor

Editor, Times-News: I'm still just not enough under the collar to write any first letter to the forum.

The idea of our state's senator being put over the nation and relegated to page eight of our local newspaper really makes me burn. True, he made the front page the following day, but I'll bet it took pressure from somewhere to bring it about. (Editor's note: No pressure.)

Whether Senator Taylor was right or wrong in his stand on the Taft-Hartley bill, I don't know. Some say yes, others say no. A good many are on the fence as I am, but everyone else recognized what he was trying to do and gave him full credit on front pages. Oh yes, he took a lot of kidding, but it wasn't unkind and if you'll notice, it was well colored with respect.

This state has cried, begged and pleaded for a spot in the national sun. We've been the step-child of the nation, the forgotten state, since I can remember. Now we have a man in Washington who typifies in the west, cowboy hat, guitar and all, who has given us more free publicity, more recognition than we've ever had before, and who should be most appreciative. Democrats and Republicans alike, act like a bunch of snobbish small town school boys.

The cast likes him, and whether we like it or not, that's where the "powers that be" are located. He's made more headway with them than any of our other representatives.

Old Folks Tired Of 'Supervision' Of Pay, He Says

Editor, Times-News: Why is it we old people must submit to being told how to spend our money? Other persons are handed their checks and nothing is said. We are children. We earned and spent money before most of these supervisors were boys.

But they sit around and try to figure out how small they can make our checks. We old folks, both men and women, are largely responsible for making this country what it is today.

Our representative in congress suggested that the government give the old folks $60 per month and let them go. I think it a very good idea and urge other old folks to write to their senators and representatives urging such a law.

Results may come sooner than we expect. Under the present rules, it seems we are humiliated as much as possible. If folks get busy, enough pressure may force the law through congress next year.

The states could still bear half the burden. The county commissioners could determine when a person was eligible for a pension. Then we would be rid of a lot of government job holders—and good riddance.

O. L. RALES (Jerome)

Past-President for Rebekahs Succumbs

BOISE, July 5 (AP)—Ella Lois Martin, 82, a past state president of the Rebekah lodge and Boise resident since 1892, died here last Saturday.

Her husband, Frank Martin who died May 22, 1942, was a former Idaho attorney general.

Farmers in Danger of Losing Good Labor Setup, He Warns

Editor, Times-News: The farmers of Magic Valley have enjoyed for some time the advantage of a well-balanced labor supply. There may have been a few times in the past few years when help was hard to get temporarily but eventually the crops were planted, tended and harvested. Much of this supply has come from the Twin Falls farm labor camp now due to be closed Sept. 25, 1947, by an economy minded government administration.

Do the farmers realize that this will create a chaotic labor situation during fall harvest and subsequent years? There are now several hundred laborers, who do some degree of farm labor, living in this camp. Just enough extra help to facilitate prompt action in the crops.

But when this camp is closed, there will be 100 families either clamoring for housing in an already stringent housing situation, or forced to move from Magic Valley in quest of homes. This will cut off a vital labor supply at the beginning of harvest and one way or the other, it is going to hit the farmer who has to turn the most-in-the-pocketbook.

The two things that can happen are: (1) No help with crops rotting in the fields or (2) an increase in the cost of available help. For the extra help needed to harvest crops or any other rush season work are not going to live in tents along the ditch bank or pay the high cost of housing without a substantial raise in wages.

The farmers would do well to investigate the possibility of state or co-operative control and operation of the Twin Falls farm labor camp in their own interests.

TOM PINKLEY (Twin Falls)

People Are Kind, Hill City Woman Finds After Fire

Editor, Times-News: People are considerate and nice, though most of us don't realize it until people start helping us after we have experienced some sort of tragedy.

Recently, we had a bad fire at our house.

Everyone has been so kind to us in our period of need. So many people have helped us that it is impossible to contact all of them personally. But we want to thank them. Yes, people are kind.

MRS. JOE PARROTT (Hill City)

3 Area Residents to Attend Farmer Camp

Three Magic Valley persons are attending the Farmers Union all-state camp at Estes park, Colo. July 6 to 14, according to Rachel Harvey, national field worker who has been stationed in Rupert.

Attending the party are Rachel Ann Hasselhoff, Castleford; Josephine Gilson, Rupert, and Claydon Ward, Declo.

Idahoans Warned Valued Historic Items in Danger

Editor, Times-News: Probably few people in south central Idaho realize that a valuable collection of historic items is in danger of being removed from its most significant location, the state's birthplace at Spaulding.

The Sacajawea museum at Spaulding, 12 miles up the Clearwater river from Lewiston, now consists of a log cabin schoolhouse built in 1838 by the Rev. H. H. Spaulding, and priceless personal possessions of members of the Lewis-Clark expedition, Nez Perce Indians the past century and a half, and earliest white settlers in Idaho.

Everyone who has seen the museum has been amazed by the large and colorful collection of early Indian regalia, weapons and peaceful instruments. But few of Idaho's people have seen this museum and realized that its existence is threatened.

Mrs. Joe Evans, owner, is not very well and is unable to care for the place for many more years. She wants the federal government to take it over. Sen. Glen Taylor has introduced a bill that would provide for the Sacajawea museum as a national monument. If the bill doesn't go through, Mrs. Evans plans to sell the items piecemeal to museums all over the country. She has documentary evidence from such places as the Smithsonian institute that certain items are authentic and that the institute wants them.

We in Idaho have the foundation for a beautiful and meaningful monument. Spaulding has a pretty state park at the site where the Lewis-Clark expedition camped several days. It is the site where first whites settled in Idaho. But the museum building—the old log schoolhouse and first printing house in the northwest—is not large enough for appropriate for such a valuable collection.

If the federal government sets up the museum as a monument, the collection will continue to grow. The monument will be another resource—a combination of a natural and man-made resource—for Idahoans to be proud of and to be truly a monument to the state of Idaho and to the most prized values—their history and their geographic magnificence.

Idahoans can help preserve the value of Idaho's birthplace by writing to their congressmen to support the bill to establish the Sacajawea museum as a national monument.

Valley People Report Seeing 'Flying Discs'

velocity and great altitude. They left no vapor trail, he related, and he could not hear their noise, if only because of many exploding firecrackers in the vicinity.

"The next bunch was sort of churning," said Mrs. Grinstead in explaining how the second flight of either nine or 10 discs was milling as they quickly spiraled upward. They were seen at about 3 p. m.

"The second flight appeared at about the place where the first flight was seen, according to Mitchell. They gained altitude very quickly while circling, he related, climbing almost out of sight before they departed at high speed in a westerly direction.

20 People Saw Flight
More than 20 persons saw the second flight, and as word quickly spread among the picnickers, nearly 60 persons were watching while the third and largest flight was first seen directly overhead by Mitchell at 3:10 p. m.

"I distinctly counted 18," he said, before they climbed so high that only two or three could be seen. The third flight also milled around as it circled and climbed before heading west. And when they started to leave, they really moved," the Texan said.

Mrs. Grinstead said that some persons who saw the third flight counted as many as 24 flying discs. Their speed made counting difficult.

Two Seen Saturday
Along about 4:40 p. m. Saturday, two flying discs were seen by Bus Cowham, operator of the Bowling Green, when he was driving his car east on Elizabeth boulevard, not thinking about flying discs when something attracted his eye to the north.

"At first," he related, "I thought it was a kite some kids were flying." After looking more closely Cowham said he thought they were shiny flat pans soaring west through the sky. He described them as silvery and said they appeared not more than six or eight inches across.

"Traveling Fast"
Unable to estimate their speed, altitude or distance away, Cowham said they were traveling pretty fast. They were flying beneath a cloud, were out of sight in less than a minute and looked about one-tenth as big as the moon would look.

He got out of his car to see them better and said they left no vapor trail and that he could not hear them.

"They looked like a skimming tin can lid except they were traveling in a straight line," he explained.

Brilliant, Lone Disc
A lone and particularly brilliant disc was reported seen at 7:30 p. m. Friday by Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Ulrich from their residence on Miller avenue west. They said it was as bright as the reflection of sunlight off polished metal and was shiny much of its shininess when it apparently became surrounded in a ball of smoke.

The single disc was flying extremely high, they said, and made no noise. They described it as round in shape.

"Bigger Than Star"
In relating the size of the flying disc to that of celestial objects, the Ulrichs said the disc appeared much bigger than a star would appear, and was about one-third the apparent diameter of the moon.

A disc was also reported seen by Mrs. Brooks Stover, Buhl, and her grandson, on June 28 and 29, respectively. She saw a disc at about 10:30 p. m., which she first thought was a reflection until it began to vibrate vertically and lose its shape with the addition of a steamer.

King

Maglo Valley grows the cutest babies in the world, any parent will tell you. But this baby is more proof — and this boy has a trophy and a screen test with International Studios, Hollywood, to show for it.

Jimmy Valentine, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Valentine, former Twin Falls resident now living in South Gate, Calif., was selected king of the South Gate baby show. "Three-year-old Jimmy is the grandson of Mrs. and Mrs. H. R. Valentine, Twin Falls, and Mr. and Mrs. A. Brenner, Eden.

Cave Scoured for Its 'Lost' Owner
SHELLMOUND, Tenn., July 5 (AP)—Gov. Jim McCall of Tennessee ordered state police to use "all available means" to make gloomy, bat-filled Nickajack cave yield up John T. Hurn, 35, of Nashville—whether alive or dead.

State mining inspectors joined a four-man Red Cross party which entered the vast, dank cavern today in search of the part-owner of the commercial cave. At the same time, C. P. Webb, division chief of the state highway patrol, called for two more cars of officers.

Hurn, part-owner of Nickajack cave, disappeared four days ago and his brother, Hollis Hurn, said he had gone deep into the vaulted, slippery cavern in hopes of finding another entrance. The cave has been operated for a number of years as a commercial enterprise, and advertised as a tourist attraction. It winds under parts of Tennessee, Georgia and Alabama under honeycombed sand mountain.

Hurn's wife, expecting her fourth child only a few days hence, kept a tight-lipped vigil at a home near the cave's entrance.

Scandinavians to Get Reparations
NEW YORK, July 5 (AP)—Jesse Edwin Baugstad, chief of the shipping division of the state department, said today that approximately $40,000,000 would be paid by the United States to Scandinavian countries as compensation for damage to ships and loss of lives taken over this country during the war.

Baugstad made the statement to newsmen in embarking on the Swedish American liner Gripsholm for Gothenburg, Sweden, en route to settle the claims.

He said about $25,000,000 would be paid to Denmark and a total of $40,000,000 to Finland and Norway.

'Factory Homes' Given RFC Loan
COLUMBUS, O., July 5 (AP)—Louis E. Barr, national commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, said today the reconstruction finance corporation had approved a loan of $15,500,000 to the Lustron corporation to help in finance construction of factory-built homes.

The loan, he told the VFW's Ohio encampment, will pave the way for conversion of 1,000,000 square feet in the former Wright aeronautical plant here into the main factory for Lustron.

The program, he added, calls for producing 80,000 houses yearly, beginning late this year.

Meeting of DAV Set for Tuesday
Members of Stradley chapter No. 5, Disabled American Veterans, will meet at the Legion hall at 8 p. m. Tuesday to discuss plans to purchase a quonset hut to be used as quarters for the chapter.

Mitchell Hunt will attend the meeting to assist in plans to procure the building.

James Sparks, adjutant, will give a report on the convention held at Lewiston. All members are urged to attend the meeting to participate in the discussion relative to obtaining the quonset hut.

NO CAUSE FOR UNDUE ALARM, OFFICER AVERS
SACRAMENTO, Calif., July 5 (AP)—The public relations officer of nearby McCellan Field cautioned today against undue concern about the mysterious flying discs reported in skies over the U. S.

"Lots of people are worried to heck about the things," Maj. Duncan Annum said. "But there's nothing to get excited about. If there were anything to them the army would have notified us."

No Cause for Undue Alarm, Officer Avers

The officer suggested the discs might be part of some army training experiment and added "they might be good propaganda too."

Major Annum said his remarks were personal opinions.

FOCALTELLANS SEE 'DISCS'
POCATELLO, July 5 (AP)—Jack Smith and R. A. Beynon, local residents, today reported that they had observed the mysterious discs.

Beynon saw the objects from a hillside and reports that they were flying fast and appeared to be rather star-shaped.

Smith says he saw a number of the discs flying north toward Mackay. They came from behind a cloud and were against the sun, making a count of their number impossible. They were in two groups. Smith was just east of Aberdeen when he saw the objects.

"ONE WAS RED"
SALT LAKE CITY, July 5 (AP)—"One saucer of Beaver who de- scribed what he saw as a bright object similar to a ball of fire."

Headed southwest to northwest, the disc turned back at one point then resumed their previous course, Mrs. Welsh said.

Later, another red one was reported by Miss Marilyn Mammal of Salt Lake City who said she saw it tonight.

A sky object was reported by Mrs. Lucy Osborne of Beaver who de- scribed what she saw as a bright object similar to a ball of fire.

SEEN NEAR ST. LOUIS
ST. LOUIS, July 5 (AP)—Nova Hart, a St. Louis mechanic, said today he observed what appeared to be a "flying saucer" while he was on a family picnic yesterday near Pattonville, in St. Louis county.

Hart, a former infantryman who was trained to spot all types of aircraft during the war, said the object was traveling in a northwesterly direction at an altitude of about 200 feet and with the speed of an airplane.

He described it as circular, about 14 feet in diameter, with a ribbed framework and silver gray in color. It appeared to have a motor with a propeller attached in the center, he said, and it kept turning in the manner of an airplane doing a slow roll.

Hart said his wife and her parents, Mrs. and Mr. J. H. Jackson, also observed the object.

SHIP UNION CHIEF ASKS TRUMAN TO INVOKE NEW ACT
CAMDEN, N. J., July 5 (AP)—John Green, national president of the CIO Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers, today called on President Truman to invoke his authority under the Taft-Hartley act to end the strike of 65,000 shipworkers on both coasts.

"I am convinced that effective means and power for bringing about a just and speedy termination of this strike, more properly to be called a lockout, are in your hands," Green said in a letter to the White House as the ship stoppage entered its 10th day.

"Our union is being compelled to deplete the resources of its members in a preventable struggle and stop work on vessels vitally required by the government and the national economy while the shipbuilding and ship repair industry of this country is being dealt a blow at a most critical time in our history from which it will take many years to recover," Green declared.

2 Burn to Death in Plane Wreck
DONNELLY, Ida., July 5 (AP)—Al Garrett, U. S. forest service employee, said today that two bodies "burned beyond recognition" were found in a small two-place plane which crashed approximately five miles southeast of Roseberry in Valley county on July 3.

Garrett, who was among the first to arrive at the scene, said the plane was struck by a tree or by one other obstruction before plummeting to the ground, he said.

Garrett reported the two bodies were still in the plane which when reached had burned to an extent that its type and number could not be ascertained.

Skyrocket Starts Blaze at Jerome

JEROME, July 5—Several tons of baled hay and a large barn were destroyed in a fire started at 8:30 p. m. Friday by a skyrocket.

The Jerome fire department fought the blaze on the Tom Kehrens farm six miles south and one-half mile west of Jerome until midnight and it was then the fire was believed out. They were called back at 3 a. m. Saturday when the flames burst out again.

A skyrocket, which fell behind the barn, against which the hay was stacked, was blamed for starting the fire.

Church's Second Annual Meet Set

JEROME, July 5—The second annual camp meeting of the Assembly of God church will be conducted at Jerome beginning Tuesday and continuing through July 12.

Iowa College Group Slates Idaho 'Class'

The Iowa Mountaineers of the University of Iowa will set up camp Aug. 13 through Aug. 28 in the heart of the Sawtooths on the banks of Little Redfish lake. The group is on its annual summer outing and will climb several of Idaho's highest peaks.

Paul Petzoldt, famous Himalayan mountain guide, will act as guide. Ken Jones, expert climber and guide for many years in the Canadian Rockies, and John Ebert, veteran climber of the Iowa Mountaineers, will serve as assistant guides.

To Climb Peaks
The mountain-climbing club will scale the heights of Mt. Borah, Mt. Heyburn, Mt. McGowan, Castle peak and other mountains in central Idaho.

On the return trip, the group will visit Craters of the Moon, Yellowstone national park, Devil Tower national monument in Wyoming and the Black hills in South Dakota.

"School" Rather
The first annual mid-west school of mountaineering will be held in connection with the outing. Men and women interested in mountaineering will be eligible to enroll in the climbing classes.

Cars and trucks will be used to transport hikers and climbers between the base camp at Redfish lake and favorable starting and terminating points for the climbing. Fish fries will be scheduled frequently and the mountain climbers will take plenty of time out to enjoy fishing in Idaho's streams.

The summer outing committee announced that Magic Valley residents may join the party at the base camp any time during the Sawtooth outing.

To Speak at Camps
Mrs. John E. Hayes will be guest speaker at two home demonstration camps for Idaho women to be held this month by the University of Idaho extension service.

The first camp in the series will be held July 13 and 14 at Lava Hot Springs and the second will be held July 20 and 21 at Ponderosa in the island Park country near West Yellowstone.

At each camp Mrs. Hayes will present speeches on the topics "The American Family Must Remain" and "A Four-Point Community." Other speakers will include Mrs. T. H. Berryson and Mayor Earl J. Glade, Salt Lake City; Dr. James Miller, Portland; Mrs. Martin, Boise; Dean D. R. Thompson, Moscow, and Dr. J. R. Nichols, Pocatello.

The theme of the camps will be "The Home, Citizenship and World Affairs," and although they are designed as women's vacation camps, many family groups will attend.

The purpose of the camps, according to Mrs. Hayes, is to bring educational and inspirational programs to the residents of rural areas. The program is divided into two units, one providing valuable information in food preservation, gardening, home beautification and landscaping, the choice and care of textiles; and the other unit of the program is designed to enrich living on a farm by providing cultural and inspirational activities.

"In this way the meetings provide cultural experiences as well as practical experience for the country women attending the camp," Mrs. Hayes stated.

Between 400 and 600 men and women attend the annual camp at Lava Springs and a smaller number will be present at the Ponderosa lodge meeting. A camp will also be held July 9 to 11 at Fish Haven on Bear Lake. A camp was held in June for north Idaho counties and similar ones have been held at Easley Hot Springs, McCall and Coeur d'Alene.

Mrs. Hayes is leaving today to attend the National Educational association conference at Cincinnati where she will represent the National Congress of Parents and Teachers on a panel discussion on "The Parent-Teacher Program as an Educational Force." Mrs. Hayes is first vice president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Following the Lava Hot Springs camp, Mrs. Hayes will be in charge of the national PTA conference in a training program to acquaint the teachers with the activities of the PTA program.

To Give Program
Gene Kline, baritone, will be featured on the "Young Artists on the Stage" program at 9:45 p.m. Monday over a local radio station.

Kline will sing "Oh, Man River," "Home," and "The Day."

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar E. Kline, Piler, the singer was graduated from high school in North Platte, Neb., last year. His record superior rating in voice at the Nebraska state music festival and in the Midwest national in St. Louis, Mo., making him eligible for competition in the national contests at New York City. He is a former piano student of Edith L. Fox. The program will be heard over KFTI.

Calendar

The Women's council of the First Christian church will meet at 2:30 p.m. Thursday in the church parlors. Mrs. Paul Taber will speak on flower arrangements for the altar and tea tables in the church.

The Past Noble Grand's club will hold a picnic at 7 p.m. Tuesday at the home of E. T. Guttery, 180 Fillmore street. Members are requested to bring a covered dish, steak or hamburger and a card table.

MRS. ALVIN W. JENKINS
(Keller photo-staff engraving)

In a candlelight ceremony performed at 2 p.m. Sunday, June 29, at the First Presbyterian church, Marian J. Carder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George S. Carder, Piler, became the bride of Alvin W. Jenkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn W. Jenkins, Twin Falls.

The Rev. G. L. Clark, retired Presbyterian pastor, read the nuptial vows before an altar decorated with tall baskets of mixed flowers and lighted tapers in candelabra.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white wedding gown fashioned with a bustle and a fingertip veil held by a tulle of net and flowers. Her bouquet was composed of gardenias and sweethearts. As tokens of sentiment she carried an old lace handkerchief borrowed from her grandmother and a strand of pearls.

Maid of honor was Jan Carder, who wore a pink gown and carried a bouquet of pink carnations and white sweetpeas. Bridesmaids were Mrs. William Luke, Mrs. Kenneth Straughen, Mrs. Glenn E. Jenkins and Mrs. Donald Heter. All wore dresses in pastel shades and carried bouquets of sweetpeas. Betty Jenkins, dressed in a pink frock, was flower girl.

Glenn E. Jenkins, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. John P. Jones, Duane Anderson, C. L. Luke and Edward Kincaid, all of Twin Falls, served as ushers.

John W. Thomas, Twin Falls, presented solo songs accompanied by Mrs. J. A. Dygert, who also played the wedding marches.

The bridegroom's mother wore a black afternoon gown and Mrs. Carder, mother of the bride, wore a coral-colored afternoon dress.

Following the wedding a reception was held at the Park hotel dining room. Mrs. Charles Casey, Mrs. Vivian Helfrecht, Mrs. Wayne Truhead and Laura Robinson assisted at the reception table. Mrs. William Luke was in charge of the guest book and Norma Greenwall, Piler, assisted with the gifts.

For her traveling ensemble the bride chose a gold suit with black accessories.

The bride is a student at Piler high school from which she will be graduated next year. The bridegroom was graduated from Twin Falls high school in 1944 and served in the marine corps for two years. He is now employed at the Chevrolet garage in Twin Falls.

The bride was recently honored at showers given by Mrs. Harold Nelson, Mrs. Wayne Truhead, Mrs. Glenn E. Jenkins and Mrs. Donald Heter.

Following a wedding trip to Salt Lake City the couple is now residing in Twin Falls.

Maroon Women Meet
Members of the Maroon Women's club met Thursday at the Maroon school house with Mrs. J. M. Tucker and Mrs. Honer Shelton as hostesses.

A patriotic program was featured at the meeting. Group singing of the "Marine Hymn" accompanied by Mrs. Lawrence Campbell at the piano, opened the meeting. Mrs. Arthur Childers conducted the singing.

Roll call was answered with patriotic quotations. The white elephant was won by Mrs. Ralph Brown and furnished by Mrs. Jennie Hill. The program consisted of a holiday contest which was won by Mrs. John Drury and Mrs. Campbell.

Mrs. Floyd Draper was a guest of the club. The next meeting will be held July 17 at the school house with Mrs. Mae Huffman and Mrs. Wade Sharp as hostesses.

Give Surprise Party
Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Sundvall gave a surprise birthday party for 30 guests in honor of the birthday anniversary of their daughter, Irene, last Sunday.

The groom's mother wore a two-piece dress of aqua and white. Both wore matching corsages of yellow roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the McGinnis country home for relatives and friends. The reception table was centered with a five-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom and surrounded by yellow and white roses. The cake was cut by the newly married couple and served by Mrs. Witherspoon.

Mrs. Russell Herron, Mrs. Robert Herron, Mrs. Alfred Herron and Mrs. John McGinnis assisted in serving refreshments. Mrs. Eugene McGinnis and Mary Wohlhab were in charge of the gift table.

The couple left on a wedding trip to Salt Lake City following the reception. The bride chose a three-piece aqua suit with white accessories and a gardenia corsage for traveling. At the conclusion of the trip the couple will reside at the Justamere Inn.

The bride was graduated from Twin Falls high school in 1946 and is now employed at the Twin Falls Bank and Trust. The bridegroom was also graduated from the local high school in 1946 and is now working for the Stuart Morrison tire shop.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Herron and three sons, Ritzler, Calif.; Mrs. W. T. Witherspoon, Columbus, O.; and Eloise Stallions, Tulpe, Miss.

Among the pre-nuptial parties given in the bride's honor was a shower arranged by Mrs. Mary Olmstead, Mrs. John McGinnis, Mrs. Alfred Herron and Mrs. Russell Herron at the Community church for 60 guests.

Helen Herron, cousin of the bride, was the bride's only attendant. She wore a gown of yellow marquisette and a halo of yellow flowers with a short veil. She carried white carnations with yellow streamers.

Gordon Golder was best man. John McGinnis and Alfred Herron, uncles of the bride, served as ushers. Norma McGinnis, sister of the bride, played the wedding march as the bride came in with her father. Naomi Herron and Eloise Stallions presented vocal selections accompanied by Miss McGinnis.

MRS. MILFORD B. WEIST
(Staff engraving)

Rosalie Boyd, Twin Falls, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Moore, Jerome, and Milford B. Weist, son of Mrs. H. L. Weist, Kearney, Neb., were united in marriage in a ceremony performed Wednesday, July 2, at the home of the bride's parents in Jerome.

Judge John L. Gould read the nuptial vows beneath a rose arbor on the lawn of the Moore home.

The bride wore an ivory brocade wedding dress with pink and black accessories. Her corsage was a lavender orchid. The matron of honor was Mrs. Arzella Telford, who wore a gown of aqua dress with grey accessories and a gardenia corsage.

Arthur Peterson was best man. Mrs. Moore, mother of the bride, wore a black and gold suit with black accessories. Her corsage was of gardenias and roosebuds.

Following the ceremony a reception was held on the lawn. A three-tiered wedding cake was cut by the couple.

Guests who attended the ceremony from Twin Falls were Mrs. Arthur Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. Carl White and Opal Fisher, Mrs. F. C. Smith, Helena, Mont., also attended.

For her traveling ensemble the bride wore a blue suit with black and pink accessories.

Miss Weist attended Jerome high school and has been employed at the Rogerson Coffee shop. The bridegroom is a medical representative of the S. C. Massingill company of San Francisco. A veteran of World War II, he served three years overseas in the medical corps.

Mr. and Mrs. Weist left on an extended wedding trip following the ceremony and will be at home in Pocatello after July 18.

(Staff engraving)

SHOSHONE, July 5—Arlene Nebeker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Quayle Nebeker, Shoshone, became the bride of Cal Duane Bateman, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. D. Bateman, Gooding, in a nuptial ceremony that was solemnized Monday, June 23, in the Idaho Falls LDS temple. President John Sawyer performed the marriage service.

The bride wore a white tulle wedding gown with princess style bodice, long pointed sleeves and a long train. The fingertip veil was held by a white tulle.

The bride was graduated from Shoshone high school in 1947, and the bridegroom was graduated from the Ammon high school, Idaho Falls, in 1944.

After a honeymoon trip to Yellowstone park the couple will make their home on a farm near Gooding.

The couple was accompanied to Idaho Falls by the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. P. D. Bateman, and Mrs. L. J. Bateman, sister-in-law of the bridegroom.

For her traveling ensemble the bride wore a blue suit with black and pink accessories.

Miss Weist attended Jerome high school and has been employed at the Rogerson Coffee shop. The bridegroom is a medical representative of the S. C. Massingill company of San Francisco. A veteran of World War II, he served three years overseas in the medical corps.

Register for Camp

Seventy-four girls have registered for the Zion Centennial camp for Beehive girls of the Murtaugh, Kimberly, Bull and Twin Falls wards of the LDS church which will be held July 8, 9 and 10 at Easley Hot Springs.

The camp has been arranged under the direction of the stake beekeepers, Mary Arrington, Minnie Hill and Zelma Warberg.

The girls will meet at 8 a.m. Tuesday at the first ward chapel in Twin Falls from where they will leave for the camp in a group. Each girl is requested to bring a lunch.

Beehive girls who have not registered for the camp are asked to contact Mrs. Hill immediately.

The program of the camp will include games, dancing, swimming and hiking, a sunrise service and an evening testimonial meeting. A pioneer story festival has been planned for the outing, and special meals will be arranged by Opal Goodman, Murtaugh.

Hold Picnic
KING HILL, July 5—Mrs. Nathan Miller, Indian Cove, will be hostess to members of the Missionary society Wednesday for an all-day meeting and picnic at her home.

The Pasadena 4-H girls club met Friday at the Pasadena school house for a picnic. Mrs. Leo Stevens and Mrs. Romig are leaders of the group.

Band Teacher Hired

BUHL, July 5—Jack Lines, Greensburg, Ind., has been obtained by the Buhl school board to teach instrumental music in Buhl schools next year. He is a graduate of music from DePauw university and has had

Deafened People May Now Hear Clearly
Science has now made it possible for the deafened to hear faint sounds. It is a hearing device small that it fits in the hand and enables thousands to enjoy sermons, music and friendly companionship. Accepted by the Council on Physical Education of the American Medical Association, this device does not require separate battery pack, bulb, wire, case or garment to bulge or weigh you down. The tone is clear and powerful. So made that you can adjust it yourself to suit your hearing and your hearing changes. The makers of Beltonone, Dept. 6, 1450 West 19th St., Chicago 4, Ill., are so proud of their achievement that they will gladly send you a descriptive booklet and explain how you may get a full demonstration of this remarkable hearing device from your own home without risking a penny.
