

Man Slightly Hurt as Two Cars Collide

One man was slightly injured and several cars were damaged in four minor traffic accidents investigated Friday and Saturday by Twin Falls city police.

Three of the accidents involved cars either parked or pulling away from parking places.

Bill Cooke, 49, Indian, received minor cuts on his head, lip and hands when the car driven by his wife collided with a machine owned by Viola M. Hemminger, 881 Fourth avenue west, at the intersection of Third street and Third avenue west.

Damages to automobiles were not listed by police in their report of the accident but both cars were forced off the street by the impact.

At 4:20 p. m. Saturday city police investigated a collision between cars driven by Katherine Farnwall, Flansen, and Lucille Grell, 404 Addison, in the 100 block of Second street west. The right front and rear fenders of the Farnwall machine were damaged when the two cars struck as the Farnwall vehicle pulled away from a parallel parking place. Slight damage was done to the left front fender of the Grell auto.

Two cars were damaged in a collision in the 100 block of Harrison street investigated by Twin Falls police at 11:25 p. m. Friday. Kenneth E. Ison had driven his car east, an auto parked by Robert L. Huehner, Castleton, then stopped and backed up to talk with Huehner. Right fenders of a pickup truck driven by W. T. Holmes, 148 Washington street, were damaged when a car being backed out of a parking space in the 400 block of Main avenue south by Clara M. Fox, 900 Fourth avenue west, collided with it. Police investigated the mishap at 11:20 a. m. Saturday.

AAF Strength Is Reduced by Man Shortage

WASHINGTON, July 26 (AP)—Army air force officials said today that the AAF's organizational strength of the air arm is being built toward an ultimate 45-group force, a manpower shortage will prevent attainment of fully effective strength for some time.

It is hoped that the 35 groups will be in existence at the end of the year but, AAF officials told a newspaper, this does not mean that those units will have enough manpower by then to put them at anything like full combat effectiveness. Present strength of the AAF is about 310,000 men and officers.

The AAF said today that the strategic air command recently was able to put only about 130 B-29s into the air for mass "raid" on the east coast although it had on hand many times number of superfortresses.

The 55-group force is a figure scaled down by economy requirements from the original proposal of the AAF for an interim force of 70 combat groups.

The AAF said today that 35 groups are now operating. Included are eight groups of "very heavy" bombardment aircraft of the B-29 type, three light bomber groups, two tactical reconnaissance, one long-range mapping group, one long-range photo reconnaissance and one troop carrier group. Seventeen of these units are within the United States, with the remainder stationed overseas.

Three Are Given Divorces Here as Husbands Default

Helen Vanderhoff was divorced from Bruce Vanderhoff. Custody of their 6-month-old son was awarded to her, and the court ordered Vanderhoff to pay $12 weekly for the child's support. No property was involved. Real estate and furniture in Ocean side, Calif., on March 24, 1945.

Doris M. Ramsey was granted a divorce from Wilson J. Ramsey. She was awarded custody of their 6-year-old son under terms of a previously signed property settlement agreement approved by the court.

What's happened further provides that he pay her $35 per month support money and $65 monthly alimony. Real estate and furniture in Sacramento county, Calif., went to her and their car to him. They were married in Rupert on Nov. 16, 1932.

Water Supply Set-up Found City Problem

By JOHN BROSNAN
Twin Falls residents take their water supply as much for granted as the air they breathe—except the air is free and they're billed monthly for the water.

To appreciate fully the glass or tub of water that's yours for the flick of a faucet handle, you should visit the filter plant and storage reservoir south of Twin Falls. It is a study in cleanliness, efficient operation and water purification methods. It also stimulates serious thinking about the effect this water-cure has and could have upon thousands of people.

Heart of System
Heart of the system lies in a tidy brick building just east of the storage reservoir. This reservoir is a common sight to motorists turning west on the highway south from South Park. The filter plant stands a short distance from the lowline canal of the Twin Falls Canal company. Snake river water from Milner dam flows through the canal. An intricate of pipes, purifying apparatus, filter beds and mysterious underground channels, the plant operates under supervision of J. J. Pilgerim, veteran of 24 years service with the water department. As we traced the water from the time it leaves the canal until it courses through city mains, it became apparent that the system presents three problems of concern to every citizen.

Three Problems
These problems are: (1) Lack of sufficient filter beds to process water at the plant; (2) Inadequate pressure in the city mains during periods of heavy usage; and (3) The need for a new supplemental or emergency source of water.

Water Commissioner Truman T. Greenhough and Water Superintendent Fies B. Wilson are taking steps to solve the first two problems with funds and materials available. The third problem is still in the speculative stage. Equipment has been ordered for two more filter beds to be added to the existing six beds. The building will also be expanded to accommodate these two new beds, plus two additional beds eventually to be installed. The present 24-inch pipeline from canal to filtration plant will be replaced by a 36-inch line to eliminate pumping and provide a more even flow. This new pipe is already on the ground ready for use this fall.

Much equipment has been received for the filter bed additions. Numerous scarce fittings and other items are not yet obtainable, however, because of post-war shortages. Bids probably will be called on the filter bed expansion by next spring. Also scheduled as a future project is a new settling basin.

Plans Made
Plans are also being made to install larger mains in the city to eliminate the problem of lowered pressure when water consumption is high. This pressure problem is not so much a lack of water. It is caused by the accelerated flow of water through the pipes when being drawn upon heavily. The faster the flow, the lower the pressure.

The third problem is less obvious, but more basic. Every drop of water for drinking, watering, sprinkling lawns or fighting fires enters the pipeline to the filtration plant through an opening in the side of the canal. The city, a large stockholder, receives this water on a share basis from the canal company.

As long as water is available, few people give it much thought. A collapse in the canal bank, a break in the dam at Milner or some other occurrence would cause a lot of people a lot of thinking.

Problem Not New
The question of an entirely new source, either as a complete initial supply, or for emergency or supplemental purposes, is not new. In 1926, engineers investigated the matter at request of the city. One firm proposed utilization of underground water in Jerome county adjacent to the north bank of Snake river. This supply, according to the report, could be pumped and trans-

City's Water Processed by This Plant

These photos show portions of the filter plant and 5,000,000-gallon reservoir south of Twin Falls through which passes all water for domestic use in the city. At bottom is the reservoir that stores the water after it passes through the filtration plant. Inset with the reservoir photo shows a cross-section of the filter beds and an adjacent dedicatory plaque in the filtration plant. Interior of the filter plant appears in photo at right, with Operator Kenneth Leaser standing near one of the control valves. The filter beds are located behind railings at either side of large room. mitted six and one-half miles for an initial outlay of $1,200,000.

Another engineer suggested drawing soft water from the spring above Upper Blue Lakes where three pumping units could be installed. Diverted Rock creek water would drive the pumps, this report indicates.

Other proposals have included diversion of water by gravity flow from the Rock Creek area south of Twin Falls; pumping water from Blue Lakes; or drilling a well or wells near or within the city. Water from an underground source probably would not require filtration, eliminating this expense to partially offset the cost of developing a new source.

To return to filtration and storage facilities at the present plant, the beds housed in one building filter 7,500,000 gallons daily during peak summer periods. Before reaching the beds, consisting of two and one-half feet of fine sand and one and one-half feet of coarser material, water after gravity flow from the canal to the filter plant, is pumped through chlorination and alum treatments. Each 24 hours, 200 pounds of chlorine enters the system, its distribution carefully regulated by delicate instruments.

Contrary to the usual belief, a "taste" in water is caused by insufficient, rather than too much, chlorine, according to Superintendent Pilgerim, who has devoted much of his life to the study of water purification.

president probably will be none other than Henry Dworshak."

Taylor turned to the Twin Falls Times-News which had commented editorially on that other senator, new dealist Glen Taylor, is commanding altogether too much attention on such issues as labor and reclamation for him to be ignored by his opponents. With Dworshak up for vice-president, Taylor might find it more difficult edging himself into the spotlight.

Taylor commented: "I wish to say I am happy to have brought this great honor to the state of Idaho that we are about to have a vice-presidential candidate, and while I may never attain that height, I at least have by my efforts raised myself up to such great heights that they must nominate my colleague for vice-president so he may outshine me."

free water then passes to the filter beds, is ready to flow to the reservoir with a 5,000,000-gallon capacity. Average depth of water in this reservoir is 20 feet. The structure is 204 feet in diameter. The water supply fluctuates depending upon amount used. Lowest point ever reaches is about six feet of water, or 1,500,000 gallons, during early evening summer usage. Ordinarily, it does not sink this low. Then, during the night when consumption drops off, the filtration plant replenishes the supply for the next day.

Over-Worked
Normal capacity of each filter bed is 1,000,000 gallons each 24 hours. The existing six beds are being forced to filter 7,500,000 gallons daily. Installation of the new beds will remove this pressure, boost the capacity to 8,000,000 gallons daily.

To view all the phases of this process is to appreciate the importance of the problem of water supply. That it should stand near the top of any future planning by the city is apparent. Not only has the population increased many fold since the present filtration plant was built in 1918, but also there is the disquieting thought that thousands of people are depending upon a single canal for their water.

Area Ranks High In Dairy Output

Magie Valley stood second in the state in the production of evaporated milk, cheese and dried skim milk, and fourth in the production of cheese and ice cream during 1946, according to a recent report issued by federal and state agricultural agencies.

Magie Valley production and its percentage of the Idaho total in 1946 included 21,708,389 pounds of evaporated milk, 45.8 per cent; 9,131,683 pounds of cheese, 39.2 per cent; 4,030,588 pounds of dried skim milk, 11.9 per cent; 1,932,441 pounds of creamery butter, 11.8 per cent; and 276,435 gallons of ice cream, 11.1 per cent.

Books Opened Again For Receiving Taxes

Books have been reopened for receiving 1946 taxes at the Twin Falls county treasurer's office, Deputy Paya Williams announced Saturday. The shutdown for one month was necessitated by balancing of second half collections of taxes and distribution of moneys as required by state law, according to the official.

'Rumor Only,' Stassen Says For V-P 'Bid'

OGDEN, Utah, July 26 (AP)—Harold E. Stassen, avowed Republican presidential candidate, was quoted by the Salt Lake Tribune today as spurning any thought of becoming a vice presidential nominee.

In an interview with a Tribune reporter here during a brief stop last night en route to the west coast, Stassen was quoted: "There is positively nothing to the rumor that I might become a running mate to Governor Dewey as nominee for the vice presidency if the New York governor should get the Republican nomination for president."

"I am a definite candidate for the presidency of the United States on the Republican ticket on my own, and not for any other spot," Stassen predicted larger Republican majorities in congress after the 1948 election and said he believed his party "will adopt a looking program that will win all classes."

48 Flying Discs In 2 Formations 'Not Dangerous'

Editor, Times-News:

While we are reporting the appearance of two formations of 48 flying discs which appeared over Salt Lake City July 18 and 19, verified by thousands of observers, since no one has reported the phenomenon, I wish to go on record as one of the stunned and mystified spectators to this historical event.

I am sure it was not an invasion from Mars or an atomic retaliation of any kind. However, I am confident this pre-meditated phonetic phenomenon could not be remote-controlled, but "radio-controlled." Most of them appeared to be discs and only the formation leaders need be isolated to prevent future explosions.

Upon close observation and investigation by competent political technicians, these formations proved to be presidential trial balloons, rockets and discs released by the gavel, errors now being held in Salt Lake City at that time. This disc crystal glass just wanted to help keep the records in order.

Pageant Termed Sincere Homage To I. B. Perrine

Editor, Times-News:

As I sat watching the pageant at Twin Falls, I was deeply moved and wondered why I. B. Perrine had not lived to receive in person the sincere homage that was spoken in praising him.

It was so wonderful, I hope it was transmitted through the air into the beautiful stars that that ruling place under the cedars at Blue lakes. We know the man is not there, but maybe it reached his spirit on high.

I was at the lakes when he came home from one of those hard trips with a wagon, his team of horses weary from the hot desert trip, and told us, "I have found the place for the dam. A lone cedar tree on the north side of the Snake and that is where we will build the dam."

He and Tom Bob were told many times they were crazy. Now thousands of people are prosperous and happy from the results of a "crazy man's dream."

Ex-Congressman Likes T-N Story On I. B. Perrine

Editor, Times-News:

I have just read with much interest John Brown's fine article concerning the most important factor in the development of the great Twin Falls Irrigation project, I. B. Perrine, and his homelike during the long struggle, Hortense Perrine, a noble wife and mother and a true pioneer in every sense of the word. It was my good fortune to know this wonderful couple for nearly 50 years, and to have been one of the first settlers on the Twin Falls tract of Sept. 4, 1894. Judge Hamilton preceded me one day and we have been devoted friends during the intervening years.

I was one of the first voters in Twin Falls that year, and eight years thereafter was elected to congress, serving for 20 years. I attended the railroad celebration Aug. 7, 1905, and possess one of the ribbon badges pictured in your paper.

My plans are to reach Twin Falls by plane the afternoon of Aug. 5 and I hope to have the pleasure of meeting Mr. Brown during my stay of 10 days to two weeks. Some of my old friends still survive, including Sam Hamilton, C. A. Robinson, Herb Grant, Krengle and many others whom I hope still remember me.

Thanking you for your article concerning the Perrine which every old timer appreciates, I am

He's Concerned With Elusive $1 In Hike of Coal

Editor, Times-News:

Why don't you try telling the true facts once in a while, or have you read so many of Peggler's trash that you have become afflicted with it?

In your article on the coal wages I would like to ask you a question.

You say the coal miners get a raise in pay of $2.24 per day. True, they produce on an average of nine tons per man a day which would be about 32 1-2 cents raise per ton. Now where does the other .00 2-3 per ton go?

Please tell your readers where that extra $1.00 per ton goes. I guess you would have them believe that it goes to Mr. Lewis. The reason why you and the capitalists hate Mr. Lewis is that they can't buy him with their filthy money.

School Buildings Action Deferred

Editor, Times-News:

BOISE, July 26 (AP) — Chairman Andrew H. Johnson, Blackfoot, of the state school reorganization committee, said that failure of county committees to act first prevented the state from taking action today on applications by five school districts for approval of construction plans.

Johnson said that under statutes adopted by the 1947 legislature his committee is empowered to approve or disapprove issuance of bonds and construction and repair work by school districts. The applications must be considered first by the school district reorganization committees.

Woman Tells of Saving Boy Tangled in Bike on Highway

Editor, Times-News:

Last Sunday evening we were driving toward Buhl at a reasonable speed from the west. It was about 7 p. m. We barely changed to see something in the road in the path of the right wheel. We stopped quickly and went back, finding a small boy doubled up between the handle bars and seat of his bicycle, with the front wheel of his bicycle across the wheel track of the highway.

A car meeting us passed, but stopped and the occupants came over. We had the wheel up and held the boy up trying to untangle him, something which was impossible for two persons because his pants leg was twisted like a rope around the pedal of his bike. His trousers leg was torn clear up to the knee because he had no pants on.

A car coming from the west at higher speed stopped and furnished aid to aid in the boy's rescue. We rolled up his ragged pants leg above his knee and left him in the care of acquaintances, happy because he hadn't been hurt.

The car which had been coming from the west at greater speed than we had been traveling, and meeting the car which stopped after we had found the boy, would have passed right at that spot and couldn't have avoided running over the boy and bicycle at the speed the car was going. You can't realize how serious the accident could have been.

Then other cars stopped so that there was no passage way left. Cars from both directions just crowded in, jamming the whole road. My companion said, "Now he's in the hands of friends, let's go before there's a smash-up."

Boys should use pants guards when riding bicycles and they should use lights when out at night. Cars stopping at the scene of an accident should stay in the middle of the highway in case of emergency.

Affiliate of UMW Union 'Dissolved'

PITTSBURGH, July 26 (AP) — John A. McAlpine, president of the United Mine Workers affiliate, the AMU-United Clerical, Technical and Supervisory Employees of America, today announced all locals of the union have been ordered dissolved, effective Thursday.

The announcement confirmed reports from some West Virginia locals who said several weeks ago they had received orders to disband.

McAlpine said the assets of the 30,000 member mine bosses' union, a part of the UMW's catch-all District 50, will be turned over to the UMW.

He blamed the union's dissolution on the Taft-Hartley labor law which he termed a "slave labor act."

Senators Hit Snag in Drive To Quit Work

The measure was not called up was the prospect of a vote.

Pass Promotion Bill
Senators spent two and a half hours debating a bill to change the army's promotion system from a basis of seniority to merit and finally passed it with minor amendments. The house, passing in its senate counterpart, then instantly.

Then the senate took up the $500,000 bill to finance the army's civil functions, including food control, and more debate was held before it passed. A few other measures remained for senate action.

Shortly before midnight the senate adopted a resolution calling for adjournment at that hour. But since its business was not completed, the house changed its call for adjournment on Sunday, with the hour indefinite.

Calls for "Recs"
The adjournment resolution technically called for a recess until Jan. 2, unless President Truman or the Republican congressional leaders should call a special session. Republican Leader Haleck, Ind., told the house the business on Jan. 2 will be to adjourn this first session of the 80th congress, and the new session then will start Jan. 6.

The last measure passed by the house was a catch-all bill carrying $100,000,000 in supplemental appropriations. The senate interrupted its consideration of the army promotion bill to pass it without debate.

Appropriations OK'd
Three major appropriations measures which had been in dispute for weeks were passed quickly, however, on voice votes. They provided $1,837,000,000 for foreign programs, $60,000,000 for agriculture and $33,040,000 for the government corporation.

Senator Taft, R., O., told a reporter the senator would quit without acting on President Truman's pending nomination if the appropriations debate dragged on. These include the nominations of Philip B. Perlman of Baltimore for solicitor general and many postmasters. Taft made an exception for James V. Forrestal, nominated only today to be secretary of defense under the armed forces unification act.

No Stop for President
The sudden departure of President Truman for Grandview, Mo., just before his mother died did not interfere with the adjournment schedule. Bills passed in the closing stages may be sent to Mr. Truman in Missouri if his stay is prolonged. Any bills not acted on by the President within 10 days after congress adjourns automatically die.

Gas Given Blame In Blast of Mine

WEST FRANKFORT, Ill., July 26 (AP)—The Illinois state mining board reported today the explosion which killed 27 miners here Thursday was caused by ignition of an accumulation of methane gas.

The board's preliminary report on the tragedy, which occurred deep in the Old Ben Coal corporation's No. 8 mine, said the blast "in any and all respects, was not due to negligence on the part of anyone."

Harold L. Walker, state director of mines and minerals, released the report. It said that exact location of the explosion could not be determined because the blast "was far beyond the point to which exploration of the 13th and 14th east entries could be carried."

Funeral Held for Howard L. Teater

Gravestone services for Howard L. Teater, former resident of Eden, were conducted at 7:30 p. m. Saturday at Sunset Memorial park by the Rev. George L. Clark, Presbyterian minister.

Palbearers were Charles and Hollis Grove and William and James Teater, all Kimberly, Harry Cobal, Twin Falls, and Robert Black, Eden. Interment was under the direction of the Reynolds mortuary.

Suspicious Bulh Boys Aid Arrest In Theft of Car

GOODING, July 26—The suspicion of three hitchhiking Bulh youths, aroused when Edgar J. Coleman told them they could have the broken-down car in which they had been riding because he was going back to Hagerman for another, were confirmed when Coleman was arrested for car theft while inspecting a pickup truck parked in Hagerman.

The boys, Larry McMurray, Nyle Hoffman, and Wayne McMurray, all attended the rodeo at Hagerman on Thursday and were returning to their homes in Bulh that evening when Coleman offered them a ride. The car broke down a short distance out of Hagerman.

Suspicious of Coleman's offer to let them keep the car, two of the lads stayed with the car while the third returned to Hagerman where he contacted State Police Officer Cleve Johnson, who with Sheriff H. E. Cecil and State Police Officer Bob Albertson, arrested Coleman.

Investigation disclosed the broken-down car belonged to Charles Schoonover, Hagerman, who had parked it while attending the rodeo. Arraigned before Probate Judge H. D. Jackson on Friday, Coleman pleaded guilty to a charge of car theft and was bound to district court. His bond was fixed at $1,000 and he is being held in the Gooding county jail.

4 Acts 'Vital' To Area Get Solons' Okay

$600,000,000 to run the agriculture department for this year. The measure includes $250,000,000 for soil conservation payments this year and $150,000,000 in 1948, plus $60,000,000 for the school lunch program.

A compromise bill placing the federal crop insurance program on a strictly experimental basis, beginning with the 1948 crop year. Under the bill the department of agriculture will try to determine whether the program can be made financially sound. It limits insurance to seven crops: wheat, flax, corn, tobacco and cotton. The other two were not specified.

Anderson Bakery at Hailey Listed Sold

HAILEY, July 26—The Anderson bakery will change ownership Aug. 3, although the name will remain the same. The present owner, Victor Anderson, has sold the business to Parley Anderson, Jackson, Wyo.

The new proprietor has had many years experience and will continue the business as it is for the present. The bakery is modernly equipped. The new owner's family will arrive in Hailey within the week.

Victor Anderson purchased the bakery in April, 1938, and has increased its output many times. He and Mrs. Anderson will remain in Hailey for the present. Later they plan to engage in mining.

No Excuse in Hit-Run Case, Drivers Told

$100 to $5,000 may also be invoked, either with or without the imprisonment.

In case of property damage, the maximum penalty is $500 or six months in the county jail.

By city ordinance, it is the duty of the driver to stop at the scene of an accident to ascertain whether any person has been injured and to give assistance. The driver is also required to furnish the operator of any other vehicle involved with the license number, name of owner and driver of his car, and to furnish whatever other information is requested, such as time, place and address. Any witness on the scene, as well as officers, should be given this information upon request. Within 24 hours after an accident, the driver or drivers concerned should report the matter to the police department.

None of this information shall be construed to fix liability or used for such a purpose, but it is merely to provide complete records of the incident at the police department.

It is the advice of officers to all drivers never to yield to the temptation to run away from an accident, for everyone may at some time or another become involved in an accident without being at fault, but flight is inexcusable.

Funeral Set for Gooding Resident

STILL RACING AGAINST TIME

• Working 'round the clock, telephone equipment manufacturers are delivering more telephones, switchboards, wire, cable and other items than ever before—and they're all being put to use as fast as they come off the assembly lines. Even so, the huge backed-up demand leaves us with nearly 65,000 unfilled orders for service in the seven-state area we serve.

• Providing service to new customers isn't all we expect to do. We want to give every one of our present customers the kind of service he wants. Many people who have been sharing party lines will want individual lines. We'll get going on that job as soon as we get enough equipment installed but it takes time to get caught up after long years of shortages.

Atkinson, Filer, in a nuptial ceremony performed at 2 p. m. Sunday, July 20, at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Cline, 337 Seventh avenue north.

The Rev. Albert B. Parrett, pastor of the Methodist church, read the marriage vows before the fireplace which was covered with a white wren tulle interspersed with pink and white gladioli and lighted tapers in candleholders.

The bride chose for her wedding a white slipper satin gown with a sweetheart neckline, long pointed sleeves and train. Her finger ring veil was caught in a tangle of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white roses.

Diane Weaver, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She was dressed in a blue formal and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. Her coronet was also of pink carnations. The bridesmaids were Dolly Holmway and Eunice Cramley, roommates of the bride at college. They wore pink formal and carried bouquets of white carnations. Their coronets were also of white carnations.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Cline home. The bride and bridegroom sat at the five-tiered wedding cake which centered the reception table. Famous English Etchings Arrive Here

By MARILYN NORTH

Most anyone would be proud to own one good etching but Mrs. Thomas Hicks, Twin Falls, has a superb collection of 20 fine etchings, the work of Ernest Sharland, a noted English artist.

Ten years ago Mrs. Hicks, accompanied by her daughter, Joan, returned to her native England for the summer to celebrate her 10th year of residence in the United States. Mrs. Hicks visited her family at Portesham, a suburb of Bristol. Ernest Sharland is a friend of her father and lives near the Hicks home at Portesham. During the summer of 1937 Mrs. Hicks became acquainted with the artist and upon leaving for this country he presented her with a number of his etchings. During the war Sharland gave additional etchings to Mrs. Hicks' father. They barely escaped destruction by bombs during the war and were brought to this country and to Mrs. Hicks at the end of the war.

"The etchings have great sentimental value to me because they keep alive in my heart scenes of my childhood in England, and I treasure them now because many of the historic scenes reproduced in the etchings were destroyed by German bombs," Mrs. Hicks said when displaying her collection.

Some of Sharland's finest work is shown in his etchings of famous cathedral interiors. Among them owned by Mrs. Hicks are one of St. Paul's cathedral done in minute detail and beautiful colors. It shows the large, white elaborately carved altar and the curved stained glass windows of blue, green and red in the choir.

The artist's fine draftsmanship is displayed in his etchings of the Gloucester and Manchester cathedrals. His contrasts of light and darks on the floors and cloisters of the interiors and the brilliant colors and fine drawing of the figures on the stained glass windows is done with great skill.

Other scenes of historic interest include the old home at Bristol from which Cabot sailed for America; the George Inn, oldest inn in Great Britain; St. John's arch at Bristol, formerly the old city gateway; Canterbury cathedral as seen from the village; Cornwall castle and the spires and statues of Oxford; and old Dutch houses brought to England from Holland in the early days.

Favorite of Mrs. Hicks are the etchings of thatched roofed houses on the seacoast at Bridport near where her sister lives and of St. Mary Redcliffe school where her husband went to school in England. All of Sharland's works have a distinctly English atmosphere and although he has done many paintings in oil, his etchings are of a finer quality and have brought him much more recognition, according to Mrs. Hicks.

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

By INEZ PUCKETT

"We are not equal in earthly things, yet cannot be equal in obtaining heavenly things." . . . Joseph Smith.

Last week our Mormon friends in Utah celebrated their centennial anniversary with parades, dances, religious services, and music. A party of 200 men, women and children—the exact complement of Brigham Young's vanguard in 1847—started west from Nauvoo, Ill., to commemorate the event. The July 21 issue of Time magazine carried a review of Mormon history, as well as a front-page cover of George Albert Smith, the present leader of the church.

"We liked some of the things Time said, for instance," . . . The Mormons pressed on, and the world have seldom seen anything to compare with their epic migration. But we think the article lacked warmth. They should have let some of us who have Mormons for best friends, friends of the youth, friends of the pleasure. Dozens of us remember the Mormon dances of 1916-20, to which we were always welcome, and where we had a good time. These affairs were the highlights of our said days.

Valley, who have the Mormons to thank for much of their youth's pleasure. Dozens of us remember the Mormon dances of 1916-20, to which we were always welcome, and where we had a good time. These affairs were the highlights of our said days.

O PROMISE ME

That when the first rupture of our association has died you'll remember this was your idea as much as mine.

That a dream of a "different" marriage for us, can remain true if we both try, and keep on trying.

That we agreed a marriage was just an option on each other, and we would both try to keep it desirable above all things.

That you won't forget I'm just a human being with all the frailties and faults one glossed over.

That you'll never forget to repeat the words, "I love you," as the years roll by.

She stopped at our table at Wood's cafe in Jerome and her brown eyes were kind beneath her little Salvation Army bonnet. She was Mrs. Lorena Mae Kreigh, Salvation Army "soldier" who covers Jerome territory on Thursdays and Saturdays. "My dear friends are collections and looking for the needy," said Mrs. Kreigh. "I've been with the Army 10 years now—and right here all this while." She sat down opposite us, and put her lambswool on the table. How did she come to join the Salvation Army? We asked.

"I got sick when a very young girl," she told us, "and I asked mama to call the Army. I've never been away from them since. Her husband and daughter are also in the work. "You must have special training to rise above the rank of soldier," she continued, and it takes about 25 years to go from a lieutenant to a general."

Only unmarried members are sent about the country. The married ones remain where their homes are established. The main Salvation Army office in this part is at Twin Falls, where Major Clara Neilson is in charge. Her assistant is Sergeant Jessie Clark. "Mrs. Della Lyde is a soldier and a great worker over there," said Lorena Kreigh. She added sadly, "Post-war conditions are the worst we have seen, especially as to neglected little children. There is work and to spare trying to feed, clothe and find protection for these poor little ones."

Mrs. Kreigh said humbly that she had no ambitions to advance in the ranks, she just wanted to be a faithful soldier and help humanity. As we watched her slim, trim figure depart, we thought, "with such a spirit among her members, no wonder the Salvation Army remains a mighty force for good in this wacky world!"

No 'Startling' Lincoln Items Found in File

WASHINGTON, July 26 (AP)—A collection of Abraham Lincoln's papers, sealed from public view for 28 years, was opened today, but the documents apparently were lacking in sensational facts about the life of the Civil War President.

Roy F. Basler, a well known expert on the life of Lincoln and one of a group permitted to examine the papers after they were opened at midnight, told reporters:

"I have found nothing and as far as I know none of the other men who examined the papers last night found anything that would alter our advance impressions that the papers would serve chiefly to round out matters of interest already known."

Robert Todd Lincoln, son of the Great Emancipator, who collected the papers at the White House after his father was assassinated, left them sealed at his death with the proviso that they should not be opened for 28 years.

That period expired at midnight and it was just one minute after that hour that the collection was removed from five safes and given to 20 experts to examine.

No Plot Facts Found

Basler said nothing was found that would implicate any member of Lincoln's cabinet in the plot to assassinate him. He said there was only indirect reference to stories questioning Lincoln's paragonage.

Inside the five safes were 194 volumes containing items ranging from correspondence Abraham Lincoln had with Washington, to communications on yellowed parchment marked "by military

Harry Barry Ain't Mad at Nobody

Sure had a wonderful vacation and trip through the central and eastern states. But glad to be back. The wheat and hay crops are good, but corn is leached from the soil by the excessive spring rains. Saw a number of fields with last year's corn stalks still standing. Many acres of the best bottom land along the Missouri river and tributaries have been flooded. In fact, when we crossed the river at Hannibal, Mo., men were having their belongings loaded in boats out of the second story windows on Front street.

The boys at the lumber yard have been doing a splendid job. Business has been good—in fact believe it has been better than when we were around. The men are still building those 2, 3 and 4 room houses to be moved upon your lot. Right now we have a dandy 3 room house completed and ready to be moved.

Several cars of cedar shingles came in while we were away. They consist of No. 1 and No. 2's. They came from a Seattle mill that has extra good virgin timber. These No. 2 shingles are as good as many of the No. 1's that have been shipped here during the past. You will have to see them to appreciate their quality. The price for 2's is $10.00 per square. Then we have some extra good quality shingles for $12.00 a square—including the unseasoning.

We have some extra large size 6 1/2 foot split cedar posts for 30¢ and 37¢ each. (That oak flooring is melting away rapidly, but we still have enough No. 1 and No. 2 for several houses. The price is less than for flooring of the same grade. We still have some good fir flooring too.

When we left here the indication was that lumber prices would come down. Well, prices did come down some, but they seem to have leveled off and are now taking a slight increase following the increase granted in wage boosts. Every town and city we visited in the East is like Twin Falls, in that there are no vacant houses.

More houses are being built around here than in any similar town we visited. Many people know about Twin Falls and Idaho through service men who visited here, and they are interested in coming to the land of sunshine. Hope you are the same.

Russia Reducing Austrian Troops

VIENNA, July 26 (AP)—An Austrian government source reported today that the Soviet occupation garrison in Vienna had been reduced from 80,000 to fewer than 10,000 in the last three weeks.

An authoritative source, which had access to reports from the Soviet zone, was unable to account for the cut in Russian occupation forces.

The Soviet liaison officer to the provincial government of lower Austria, Captain Bogdanov, told the informant that Soviet troops still in this country had been given strict orders to maintain rigid discipline within their ranks, the informant reported.

BUHL

You've got something there!

Nobody can mistake that blue braid on your cap and those crossed rifles you wear as proudly on your lapels. They identify you as the U. S. Army's Infantry soldier.

In war, they call you "a knight serving the Queen of Battle." But now, you serve the higher cause of peace.

You're master of more weapons, capable of greater firepower and more versatile than any other soldier on earth. You're airborne, mechanized, amphibious—at home in snow, sand and forest—versed in the use of the most modern artillery and communications as well as the tools of the ground soldier.

You're trained in leadership—the sterling qualities that make an Infantryman stand out in a crowd.

You can choose no finer branch of the service than the Infantry . . . no finer career than the U. S. Army. You'll have that deep personal satisfaction that comes from knowing your job is big and important.

If you are between the ages of 18 and 34 (17 with parents' consent), if you're above average mentally and physically, you can go far in the Infantry. Get the facts at your U. S. Army Recruiting Station.
