

Grazing Fees Revise Ends Bitter Tussle

WASHINGTON, July 28 (AP)—When congress last week approved a new method of allocating grazing fees, it apparently ended one of the most bitter controversies over western matters in recent years.

Senator O'Donoghue, D. Wyo., commencing to report on committee approval of an additional appropriation of $500,000 for the grazing service, said that the congress would hear no more on this dispute.

Started in Committee

The struggle started when the house appropriations committee, a few years ago, demanded that the grazing service live on its income and proceeded to whittle appropriations to that end.

The senate refused to go all the way and the senate public lands committee, dominated by westerners, declined to countenance a fee increase proposed by the interior department.

Change Proposed

In the midst of this dispute, President Truman ordered, in one of his reorganization plans, a consolidation of the general land office and the grazing service. Congress approved and the interior department began negotiations with stockmen to work out a new fee schedule.

Despite bitter attacks on the grazing administration by spokesmen for western livestock producers, congress was assured time and again that no one wanted repeal of the Taylor grazing act.

New Method Okayed

Finally after the house again had provided only $375,000 for the grazing service in 1948 plus $100,000 for salaries and expenses, and the senate had added only $250,000, congress approved a new method of apportioning the fees and an end to the battle appeared in sight.

This revision gives the federal government a larger share of the earnings, by reducing the state portion, and the public lands committee estimated that the 1948 income would approximate $815,000.

Upon this basis, the senate added $500,000 in a second supplemental appropriation bill and completed the new working arrangement.

Drivers Seen As Hazard to Firemen Here

manently damage a fire hose. Besides the chance of having firemen in combatting the fire, this will break away the rubber portion of the hose from the fabric and cause it to break later. As the hose costs $150 a foot, this carelessness can be costly, as well as dangerous.

Drivers who do this are violating the code of the city of Twin Falls for which strict penalties are provided.

Section 17 provides that police and fire vehicles when operated on official business and when sirens are sounded shall have the right of way without question.

"Upon sounding of the siren at the fire department station, every driver on the street shall immediately take a position as near as possible and parallel to the right-hand edge of the curb of the street, clear of the intersection of streets, and shall remain in such position until said siren ceases sounding," the city law states.

The same section makes it unlawful to follow fire-bound apparatus closer than 500 feet or to drive or park within a block of the fire.

Another phase of the city code makes it illegal to drive any vehicle over a hose that has been laid by firemen for use in fire fighting.

"If citizens would stop to realize that every fire is a serious matter to the persons concerned," they would certainly do everything possible to cooperate with us," Fire Chief Gibb pointed out.

"If I know that a fire is over, he would certainly not want anything to happen to delay us in reaching there and doing our best to put it out."

Issues of '48 Lie in Wake Of Congress

$34,853,411,000, a reduction of $2,777,110,155.

4. Living costs. The lawmakers heard plenty and said plenty about high prices. They didn't do much about them except to continue rent controls until next March 1, with permission for landlords to boost rents 15 per cent in exchange for leases running through all of 1948.

On international matters the bipartisan teamwork that was apparent in wartime continued to a large degree.

Some things were left undone, such as granting 400,000 European war refugees a home in America. But congress marched side by side with the chief executive in providing $600,000,000 to help fend off communism in Greece and Turkey.

It approved a $332,000,000 post-UNRRA foreign relief program, participation in an international refugee organization at a cost of $70,000,000 and $600,000,000 for relief and compensation costs in Germany, Japan and Korea.

High Court Given Protest on Bonds

POCATELLO, July 28 (AP)—The group of east Bannock residents which has sought to prevent the issuance of $2,000,000 in bonds for a county hospital project took its case to the Idaho supreme court today.

The action followed a decision by District Judge Isaac McDougal in favor of the bond issue.

R. A. McDougal, counsel for the east Bannock group, announced the lodging of the appeal with the state supreme court.

The plaintiffs have contended that the county would not be able to retire the bonds in the specified 30 years for their full maturity.

The project calls for construction of a 150-bed hospital at Pocatello and 10-bed receiving hospitals at Denney and Graceville.

We, the Women

BY RUTH MILLETT
NEA Staff Writer

"How in heaven's name can I persuade my 17-year-old daughter to quit going around in blue jeans, dirty shirts and dirtier saddle-oxfords which make her look like a freak when she is actually a very pretty girl?" asks the mother of a teenager.

Well, maybe it won't do the trick, but instead of ridiculing her, how about taking this line:
Repeat the remark of an older man who looked at her crowd of bobby-soxers in their rolled-up blue jeans and said: "I'm certainly glad girls don't dress like that when I went to high school and college."

Maybe that will show her that she and her friends are really trying the boys of their generation, making the least of their looks, instead of making the most of them.

And then, perhaps, you can show your daughter that she is cheating herself, too.

After all, if she goes around looking like a caricature, when her beauty is just beginning to bud, she is wasting an attractiveness that won't be hers for long.

So, why not show her regret it when a new crop of teen-agers takes her place, when she looks enviously at their slim figures, fresh complexions and bright eyes, and realizes that when she looked like that she distorted her assets just to follow an uglyfad.

Maybe you can't make your daughter understand that now. But it's worth trying.

Harvie Conlin Wins 100-Yard Event at Minneapolis

RUPERT, July 20.—Harvie Conlin, 19-year-old sprinter, who established a new Idaho state record of 10.2 seconds for the 100-yard dash this spring, gained nationwide recognition at the quadrennial celebration at Minneapolis last weekend when he won the high school 100-yard dash in the track meet which was one of the fete's features.

Conlin's time of 10.2 seconds was a record for the state and was the fastest time ever recorded in the 100-yard dash, which attracted college and amateur club stars in the Midwest.

Harvie and his twin brother, Henry, who is almost as fast, are slated to enter the U. S. Naval Academy next fall. At Rupert high school they starred in Coach George Hays' football and basketball teams.
