

Street Names Ballot Brings Strong Words

water for the city.

"The present system is confusing. Any orderly system will be an improvement."

"Have been 17 years learning our present street system. I feel making changes will make it more confusing."

"Sincerely believe that an alphabetical system would be much better for strangers and new residents."

"Let's give our present system the proper chance by conspicuously identifying the streets and avenues at each intersection."

"I am in favor of the plan outlined by the city council and do not believe the present system can be corrected by street signs. It would also improve delivery service."

"Our maps are all up to date. The present street names and additions and subdivisions. All we need is good markers."

"Believe Main and Shoshone should be left as they are, but in favor of changing all numbered streets in original towns. They have never been right and will have to be changed some day, so why not now?"

"Why confuse the few old timers who can find their way around Twin Falls. This change would cause everybody to be confused. We can use the correct compass points for a change."

"A thousand times no." (Rest unprintable.)

"Recommend that names be changed and metal sign posts be erected at every intersection. It will cost the company and others money to change stationery and redesignate location, but we are willing to make the change no matter what the cost."

"Try marking first. Changing the names will mean endless difficulty in real estate, insurance, utility and general descriptions of property."

"The naming is goofy the way it is. Any change would be better."

"I agree, 75 per cent of the Twin Falls taxpayers have lived here 10 years or more. Why should we be asked to release street names just for the questionable convenience of newcomers?"

"Why work with horse and buggy ideas. Let's get modern."

"Newcomers would have to learn the system, whether new or old. Oldtimers would have to unlearn the present system and relearn the new."

"Should have been done long since."

"Why spend the money when there are many more things we need, such as street repairs?"

"The present system is a mess."

"Have lived here more than 30 years and am afraid I won't be able to find my way home in the dark if the names are changed."

"If any of our friends from out of town come to see us, they almost have to have a police escort to our home."

"We believe that proper street markers would help considerably."

"Would be in favor of doing away with the avenue, so they wouldn't be so confusing."

"New off-the-curb street signs is all we need."

"The writers of these and numerous other comments may have missed a few of the angles, but it's doubtful."

Truman Goes Back to Okay Flood of Bills

ities were recited over the casket said that tensed faces "really showed his grief."

Only 37 persons, kin to the Trumans with few exceptions, were present as the final words of comfort were spoken—"The Lord is my shepherd" and "the days of our years are three score and ten."

Martha Truman's years, far beyond that span, had seen civil wars, the Missouri-Kansas border when she was 10 years old. The final resting place of the peppy little southern sympathizer was near a monument to Confederate army dead, topped by a soldier facing north.

The modest interment would have suited her too, friends said, because there were no "fuss and feathers." Sixteen cars, including the black hearse bearing the flower laden casket, made up the funeral cortege. The graveside ceremonies were brief, three or four minutes in all. The casket was closed to non-participants.

"Thirty floral pieces were banked beside the tree-shaded grave though the Trumans asked that no flowers be sent. One—an upright wreath of roses and gladioli—bore a ribbon message: 'Members of the United States Senate.'"

Eight Drivers Lose Permits In One Court

shall deposit security to satisfy any judgment for damages resulting from the accident.

Another provision is that the license of any person will be suspended if he or she willfully fails to pay or neglects to make a report of a traffic accident as required by the state.

Returning to the proof of financial responsibility which must be submitted to the state by those convicted of drunken or reckless driving, the law provides for three types of proof which may be accepted by the state:

1. An insurance policy with limits of $5,000 because of death or injury to one person in an accident and $10,000 because of bodily injury to two or more persons in any one accident, and $1,000 because of injury to or destruction of property of others in any one accident.

2. A surety company bond, or a bond with at least two individual sureties each owning real estate of a value twice the amount of such bond, the bond to be in the amount of not less than $10,000.

3. A certificate of the state treasurer that the person named therein has deposited with him $10,000 in cash, or securities such as $1,000 legal bonds, or funds of a market value of $10,000.

Any person whose license or registration has been suspended until proof of financial responsibility has been submitted and accepted and who operates an automobile or allows another person to operate his automobile or otherwise violates the financial responsibility law may be punished by a fine or imprisonment. Although the law does not require insurance coverage, it is too late to get insurance to cover the loss after an accident has happened. Other advantages of insurance are obvious for the following reasons:

The new law provides that if there were not an automobile liability policy or bond in effect at the time of an accident, the operators license will be suspended until a deposit is made to cover any judgment that may result from the accident. After the judgment is paid, proof of financial responsibility must be filed before the operator is permitted to drive an automobile again.

The financial responsibility act does not apply to the driver or owner of a motor vehicle involved in an accident if at the time of the accident there was an automobile liability policy covering the vehicle, affording the same coverage as is required for proof of financial responsibility—with the further provision that the owner or driver has filed the proper report of the traffic accident as required in other state laws.

To avoid the penalties of the new law, an automobile owner should have before an accident occurs an adequate automobile liability policy and property damage liability insurance with a reliable insurance carrier authorized to do business in Idaho.

When a driver or owner is properly insured and is involved in an accident causing death or injuries or property damage, the insurance carrier not only files a notice that such insurance was in effect at the time of the accident but also provides the policy-holder's interest and pays any judgment resulting from the legal liability imposed upon him up to the policy limits.

Federal Cost To Run Near Truman Idea
(From Page One)

Fusing budget picture is the virtual certainty that revenue collections—if they continue at their current rate—will far exceed $200,000,000 predicted by Mr. Truman.

A scheduled mid-August budget revision may jump that figure by $250,000,000 or more, officials said. Such a development would indicate a budget surplus of between $1,000,000,000 and $5,000,000,000 on June 30, 1948.

Increase for Job Openings Seen in Area

A 50 per cent increase in available jobs for Magic Valley is noted in the most recent labor summary received by the Twin Falls office of Idaho state employment service.

Major increase consisted of agricultural work in Jerome county, the report from the state office shows. Replacement needs for workers at Sun Valley also contributed to the rise in job openings.

Bean weeding is increasing in this area, and the second hoeing of beets is now finished.

Resumption of group manufacturing by the Amalgamated Sugar company at Burley is reported by the office there, with more than 70 employees called back to work. The Sego Milk company has started construction of a new receiving plant west of Burley, employing six men.

Another new source of labor demand at Burley is erection of a building for storage and steam rolling of grain by Fred J. Hill and Son, capacity of this building will be 40 carloads.

The Twin Falls office has noted little change in the labor outlook. As previously, the demand is for skilled workmen, with little demand for unskilled laborers.

To the north, miners are needed for the Triumph mine, and work is available for first-class carpenters at Ketchum.

Idaho Liquor Act Reported As 'Enforced'

BOISE, July 29 (AP)—Robert Holden, assistant attorney general, reported after a 10 day tour of the state that "in most counties the new liquor law is being enforced by local authorities and licensed operators are making an honest effort to conduct their places in compliance with the law."

Holden made the tour with R. C. Lewis, state commissioner of law enforcement.

There are "one or two communities where certain places are openly violating the law," Holden added. "These places will be dealt with soon. Our policy of uniform and impartial administration of the law has been stated to operators and officials alike. Agents of the state are now in the field to assist local authorities in curbing these spots."

In reference to concerns violating the new statute, the assistant attorney general said "we will eliminate such places not only for the protection of the public but also for the protection of licensed operators who are making an honest effort to conduct their business in a legal manner."

Holden said state officials feel operators have had "ample time" to familiarize themselves with the new law. He said every licensed operator has been sent a copy of the new liquor and slot machine laws.

Communities visited on the trip included Stanley, Ketchum and Hailey.

Someone's Been Pulling Her Leg

CHICAGO, July 29 (AP)—A woman telephoned Bob Becker, Chicago Tribune outdoor editor, and asked: "Where can I buy a fish caller?"

Becker asked her to repeat the question. "A fish caller," the woman insisted. "It's a little thing you sit in a boat with and blow on, and the fish come around so you can catch them."

"Well," Becker told her, "a duck caller I know about. A goose caller, a moose caller, a crow caller, yes, I've even heard about pig callers. But a fish caller, no."

"I'm afraid some one's been kidding you."

Judd to Fill Post Vacancy On Air Board

A request for permission to build a three-story garage with an apartment above it brought the council's decision for action in appointing a zoning board, as the council receives numerous requests to approve buildings not covered in present city ordinances.

Wart, V. L. Stanfield asked the city for a water main to the Stanfield and Waken subdivision in the eastern part of the city. After a discussion of transferring water rights, non-availability of materials, and other factors, Mayor Lauterbach assured Stanfield that water would be furnished as soon as possible.

Old Road Sought

A delegation from Heyburn avenue requested closing of that avenue between Buchanan street and Blue Lakes boulevard north. Last request was for elimination of an alley "nuisance," which brought about a discussion of water draining from air conditioners into alleys instead of into sewers as required.

In general, Mayor Lauterbach told delegations the city has no funds for improvements they seek, that a bond election for them would fail, and that formation of special improvement districts or financing of the projects by the parties concerned was all he could suggest. He cautioned, however, that there is some question of the legality of a special improvement district.

The council approved installation of a switchboard to handle all city office telephones, approved building permit applications, and granted Ray Randolph permission to cut a curb at 239 Tyler. Resignation of Roy Hazen from the fire department was accepted.

Claims Approved

Claims approved for payment included $25,510.84 to the Shoshone company on sewer construction, and $550 to Clyde Koonce for monthly checks and annual audit of the city's books.

The July report of Dr. D. A. Jackson, city meat inspector, was accepted. It showed 2,184 animals slaughtered, including 744 beef cattle, of which three were condemned; 172 veal cattle, 1,204 hogs, of which one was condemned, and 68 sheep. In addition, 283 parts of carcasses were condemned.

Terming the situation "serious," Mayor H. G. Lauterbach called for immediate action on a city ordinance to establish comprehensive sanitary requirements, recommended by I. E. (Bill) Nitschke, commissioner of public safety, at a meeting of the Twin Falls city council, Monday night.

The public safety commissioner declared the present city sanitary code is antiquated and inadequate, and urged passage of a new code "with teeth in it," for protection of public health.

Action Recommended

Nitschke based his recommendations upon conferences with officials of the state department of public health, veterinarians, and handlers of nearly every kind of food and beverage sold in this city, and described his findings from a study of sanitary codes of several western cities.

Among conditions warranting passage of a new sanitary code here, Nitschke said, were complaints from cafe owners, dairymen and slaughtering operators concerning inadequacies of the present code. He said one food handler told him of voluntarily rejecting foodstuffs only to find it later being marketed through other channels.

The commissioner called upon Charles Cotton, south central district health unit sanitarian, for a discussion of the matter. Cotton described a model sanitary code written by the U. S. public health service and in wide use, as ideal for local application. He gave the commissioners copies of it.

The sanitarian reported his progress.

'Anti-Theft' Spud Package Talked

IDAHO FALLS, July 28 (AP)—The Idaho advertising commission has under consideration several methods for sealing potatoes in "steelplod" containers, Lem Cook of New Sweden, a member of the commission, said today.

Delegates have reached the state that dishonest dealers or retailers in other parts of the country have shifted inferior potatoes into bags bearing Idaho brands. The commission aims to make certain that consumers will be assured of receiving Gem state potatoes when they purchase bags of spuds carrying the Idaho label.

Magic Valley's Roofs Marked

BOILER, July 28 (AP)—Fifty Idaho communities have been marked with rooftop signs as part of an identification program to aid cross country pilots.

Chet Moulton, state aeronautics director, said crews are now at Burley and will next move to American Falls and Aberdeen. Committees in Magic Valley with the exception of Gooding, Richfield and Shoshone have been marked, Moulton said. The large rooftop signs will be painted at the three communities later this year.

res in "rough-drafting" a sanitary code, at Nitschke's request, for submission to City Attorney J. H. Blandford. Cotton also gave the commissioners copies of two proposed revisions to the city's milk code.

Nitschke recommended a fee or license system of sanitary inspection be incorporated in the new ordinance. Commissioner Truman Greenback raised the question of whether strict enforcement of the present ordinance would eliminate the necessity for a new ordinance. Consensus of the council was that a new ordinance is needed, with Mayor Lauterbach strongly urging immediate action.

Gooding-Herd Classified for Dairy Group

GOODING, July 28—A Guernsey classification tour, 84 first, 75-80; held in Gooding county, was conducted by Elmer Hansen, who has been employed by the Guernsey Cattle club as a full-time classifier. The Thousand Springs Guernsey herd, Clarence Boyd herd at Wendell and the Ida Gem Guernsey herd of Harold Steele were classified.

Since this is the first classification ever held in Gooding county, the results were considered outstanding. Hansen said. The Minnie Miller Guernsey herd at Thousand Springs had 19 cows classified with three rating very good, 13 good plus, two good and one fair. Clarence Boyd had 10 classified with six good plus and four good. Harold Steele had 15 classified with one very good, 10 good plus and four good.

Standards Listed

Classification standards are as follows:

Excellent, 90-100; very good, 85-90; good plus, 80-85; good, 75-80; fair, 70-75; and poor, less than 70. These standards are based on score card as follows: General appearance, which is broken down to shoulders, feet and legs, and rump; dairy character, body capacity, and mammary system, which is broken down into rear udder, fore udder and test placement. Summarizing these points an over-all rating is given.

Hansen had classified over 6,000 animals before reading Idaho. Out of this number only 96 had rated excellent. Animals rating good plus and very good, are nice cows and something to be proud of, he said.

Gooding County Second Hansen was accompanied by El-

We, the Women

By RUTH MILLETT
NEA Staff Writer
Maybe you hadn't noticed—but the women of our state are in a state of being. During the war years, the women who once went in for that "beautiful-but-bored" manner became crisp and businesslike.
Because they were suddenly faced with doing their own house work, or because they were up to their necks in volunteer jobs, or a combination of both, they didn't have time to cultivate a languid look.
Besides, most of them had too many war-caused personal worries to go around looking bored by it all. Life picked them up and pushed them around a bit, and the alive, interested, busy look was the order of the day.
But once again many women have too much time on their hands. It's beginning to show.
They're spending time dressing up for parties that often aren't worth the effort. But the parties are time-killers, and so is the sudden new emphasis on fashion.
So the women without enough to do are spending long hours in the beauty salons again, taking care of their hair, their skin, their nails, and then they're shopping and dressing. And then they don't know what to do with themselves.
They're all dressed up—but too many of them don't have any really important place to go.

RICHFIELD, July 29—In a candlelight service held at 7 p. m. Sunday, July 19, in the Richfield Methodist church, Marian Pollock Lithgow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adam Lithgow, Kirktown, Scotland, became the bride of William Edward Reynolds, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Reynolds, Richfield. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Marcus Bloodworth before an altar decorated with large baskets of white gladioli, baby breath and blue delphinium.
Carley VanSandt presented vocal solos preceding the ceremony with Mrs. Richard VanSandt presiding at the piano.
The bride, who was wearing a white gown, was escorted by her father, Adam Lithgow, Scotland, where a white marquisette and Mrs. Forrest Armstrong, Kirktown, Scotland, were waiting to receive her. A beaded necklace edged in lace. A beaded corsage held her finger tip veil. She carried a shower bouquet of red roses. For sentimental tokens she wore a strand of pearls, a gift of her mother, and a farthing in her shoe.
Matrons of honor were Mrs. Eleanor Frangos, Wilmington, Calif., in a floor-length gown of yellow marquisette and Mrs. Forrest Armstrong, in a white dotted organza gown. They carried arm bouquets of carnations and baby breath and were garlands of carnations in their hair. Both attendants are sisters of the bridegroom. Another sister, Mrs. Elmer Bollinger, Riverdale, Ore., served as candlelighter. She wore a flowered dotted swiss gown with carnation corsage.
For the bridegroom, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, acted as best man. Ushers were Thomas Vaughn and Ralph Smith. Irene Frangos in a dotted swiss gown served as flower girl, scattering rose petals from a large white basket.
Mrs. Floyd Reynolds, mother of the bridegroom, wore an afternoon dress of pale blue print with a corsage of red roses and white carnations.
Following the ceremony a reception for the 50 wedding guests was held at the Reynolds home in Richfield. Mrs. Elmer Swanson and Mrs. Newton Crawford assisted with arrangements.
The bride's table held a three-tiered wedding cake amid a setting of white petunias and lilies. The couple cut the wedding cake in traditional manner. Mrs. Bollinger was in charge of the guest book.
For traveling the bride wore a coral rose corsage with white accessories. Following a trip to Teton forest the couple will return to Richfield for a short time before leaving for Corvallis, Ore., where they will make their home while Reynolds continues his geology course at Oregon State college.
The former Miss Lithgow attended schools at Kirktown and Edinburgh, Scotland, and was employed in Edinburgh prior to her marriage. Reynolds served with the air corps for three years and met his bride while making missions as a bombardier in Europe. Before entering the service he attended school at Richfield and Oregon State college.
As a climax to the wedding reception a wedding gift was dropped from the skies by a twin-engine bomber with the inscription on the package reading "Little About 3000 lb." The package landed a short distance from the Reynolds home after the plane had signaled to the reception group gathered on the lawn.
The bride and bridegroom were the recipients of four calligrams from Scotland, one from New Zealand, where the bride's sister resides, and another from her brother who serves with the British army in Japan.
Among the pre-nuptial parties given for Mrs. Reynolds was a bridal shower in Corvallis with 60 college students attending, and another at the home of the bridegroom's cousin, Paul Harvey, at Palo Alto, Calif.

JEROME, July 29—Barbara Norris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Norris, Payette, became the bride of Donald Leysen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howell J. Leysen, Jerome, in a candlelight ceremony performed at 9:30 a. m. Sunday, July 28, at the home of the bridegroom's parents.
The Rev. John Fross read the double text service before a background of white gladioli and greenery in tall baskets flanked by lighted tapers in candelabras.
For her marriage the bride chose a white linen afternoon dress and a white plique bonnet with a green veil and matching green accessories. She carried a white Bible covered with a white gladioli tied with satin streamers accented with white sweetpeas.
Following the ceremony the candles were lighted by Harriett Norris, sister of the bride, who wore a white plique bonnet and a corsage of lavender gladioli. The wedding music was played by Mrs. Thekla Gibson. Mrs. Norris and Mr. Leysen wore light blue crepe afternoon dresses and corsages of salmon pink gladioli.
