Motorist, 72, Hurt in Area Car Accident

Mrs. G. M. Renner, 72, route 2, Caldwell, was treated for shock following an automobile collision at 11:20 p. m. Friday one and one-half miles west of Buhl on U. S. highway 30.

The collision was investigated by a deputy sheriff who said the cars, both 1937 models, were traveling in opposite directions. Drivers were Renner, also 72, and H. E. Holloway, 59, route 3, Twin Falls. Left front fenders, bumper and light of both vehicles were damaged.

Over Center of Line

The officer said the center line painted on the highway at the point of collision gave 11 feet of space to the Holloway sedan and nine feet to the Renner coupe. He said he found the Holloway car with one set of wheels a foot over the center line and the Renner machine off the edge of the oiled surface.

Several cars were damaged, but no one was injured. In four automobile collisions investigated Friday and Saturday by Twin Falls police, an intersection collision was reported at 8:20 a. m. Saturday between Houghton Kite, 169 Addison avenue east, and Wilburn Murtough, 111, driving on Maine avenue east. Kite told officers he "just didn't see the other car." Left front end of Kite's car, the front end of the Murtough machine were damaged as was the front end of the Kite machine.

Sedan Struck

A sedan driven by Walter Fontaine, route 1, was struck from the rear by a sedan driven by Mervin Watson, 211 North avenue north, forcing the Fontaine machine to hit the rear of another car. The mishap occurred near the intersection of Shoshone street and Fourth avenue west Friday. Listed in the police report were slightly damaged bumpers on the Fontaine and Watson sedans.

Left front fender of a coupe driven by Shirley K. Ralston, 17, 340 Third avenue west, was damaged when he turned left behind a car being backed from a parking space by George Champlin, 187 Washington street south. The accident happened in the 300 block of Fourth avenue south.

Right front wheel assembly and radiator of a sedan driven by Robert D. Main, route 2, Eden, were damaged when it struck the rear of a coupe driven by Ernest D. Campbell, route 1, Twin Falls. Rear bumper of the Campbell car was bent. The mishap occurred in the 300 block of Shoshone street east.

Sale of U. S. Homes Units Is Predicted

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23 (AP)—A house and small business unit sale is predicted today that all housing units in government-developed housing projects will be sold to individuals by the end of 1948.

Flores made his statement as the committee, investigating whether the government is promoting non-profit "co-op" monopolies, to the exclusion of private enterprise, turned its attention to the Greenbelt, Md., development near Baltimore.

FPHA Accused

Flores accused the federal public housing authority of trying to retain control of the so-called "Greenbelt towns" in order "to keep their little bureau going." Yesterday the committee opened its inquiry by hearing testimony concerning the co-ops at the Greenbelt, Md., project.

Representative Patman, D. Tex., clashed repeatedly with Arthur I. Marcus, a resident of the Wisconsin development and representative of the American Legion.

"Pay No Taxes"

Marcus further said co-op stores in Greenbelt pay no taxes because they are exempt by state law, adding that as a result taxes of other community residents are higher.

Patman asserted that congress also should investigate big corporations, which, he said, "are doing the same thing as cooperatives and a hundred times worse."

"The value of all cooperatives together is about one-tenth of the value of one corporation," Patman said.

Not 'Slave Labor' Act, Goff Asserts Of New Measure

OSCAR D'ALENNE, Aug. 23 (AP)—Rep. Abe Goff, R. Ind., in endorsing the Taft-Hartley labor act yesterday said it is not a "slave labor" act and that "no law has been so misrepresented by the opposition."

In an address before a club meeting, Goff said the act, which he termed "a good bill," will give the "labor unions back to the workers."

The Moscow congressman said "I vote for the bill because I have sympathy with the workers and see it as something to save labor from the now all too powerful labor houses."

"It is a compromise between the group that wanted to take away all rights of labor and the labor leaders who said congress must not touch the labor laws."

Goff added that "it is a bill which serves and strengthens the unions that we need to know."

Sets Cap for Bendix Trophy

James Page, 25-year-old aviatrix of Willmette, Ill., paints her name on the P-35 she will pilot in the $10,000 Los Angeles-Cleveland Bendix feature of the national air races Aug. 30. She will compete against such stellar speedsters as world-flier Bill Odom.

Competition to Burn Brighter Than Ever at U.S. Air Races

CLEVELAND, Aug. 23 (AP)—The hot spark of competition will burn brighter than ever this year at the national air races.

More finish-line punches has been injected into the program, and the three-day schedule, from Saturday, Aug. 30 through Labor day, Sept. 1, should be a heyday for pylons-busters, for these reasons:

The annual Bendix transcontinental race may furnish a new speed record, and will be marked by a duel between globe-girder Bill Odom and defending titlist Paul Mantz.

A new race for tiny planes of original design has been added, to give the speed bugs their chance to match wits and skill in developing "hot" planes.

Three separate races for different types of converted fighter aircraft will be run, and any one of them could bring out a higher dash speed than the big Thompson trophy race, traditional main event of closed course racing for the fastest ships.

Racing entries have broken all records at nearly 100, and total prize money will reach $65,500. Thirteen pilots are in the battle for a total purse of $25,000 in the Bendix event from Van Nuys field, near Los Angeles, to Cleveland on the opening day, Aug. 30.

Mantz, the former movie stunt flier who lives in Burbank, Calif., won $10,000 first money last year in four hours, 42 minutes and 14 seconds for an average speed of 435.01. He will be back this year in his North American P-51 Mustang.

Odom, holder of the round the world record, will be flying a converted P-47 Thunderbolt he pulled out of army salvage, backed by pen-maker Milton Reynolds of Chicago.

He plans to climb to 30,000 feet, claims his craft can hit 400 miles an hour, and is shooting at a mark of four hours flat. That would be as fast as a jet plane could make it.

HARRY BARRY AIN'T MAD AT NOBODY

We went to the horse show last night and saw some beautiful high stepping horses. It is a pleasure to see such a fine collection of saddle horses, especially the cowhand horses like Canancho, owned and ridden by Fay Cox, of Twin Falls.

Now that the horse show is over, we can get back to building that house and making the repairs needed this fall. We have a limited quantity of fir flooring and some oak flooring. A car load of oak flooring has been promised for the last of this month. Will let you know when it comes in.

The one item which is hardest to buy these days is wallboard. Seems this item is used nearer where it is made. We do have good fir lath, so you can finish the inside of your house with lath and plaster. We have the plaster too. Doors are still scarce, but we have some of the sizes.

Another car of asphalt shingles came in. The price on these is less than No. 1 cedar shingles. Before the war asphalt shingles were several dollars per square higher than cedar shingles. We have the various beautiful colors of asphalt shingles, and all the weights of roll roofing. The boys also unloaded a car of Nubrick siding. We have both the red and the buff colors.

That load of 0 pine which came in last week is melting away rapidly. We still have some in the various widths. If you need a piece of oak to repair your farm machinery, we believe we can supply it. We got in a car load of Missouri oak that contained good quality oak 2 inches to 4 inches thick. When thinking of oak, remember we still have those nice straight oak wagon tongues and oak bark bales too.

We have an item which you good home owners would like. It is storm windows that you put on the outside of your present window. This gives you a double window and will keep out much of the cold weather. These storm sash are easy to install, and they contain a screen on the bottom half so they take the place of a screen on your window as well as provide storm sash that can be raised and lowered for ventilation.

The men from North Idaho who supply most of our cedar posts was in Friday. He is shipping us another car of round treated cedar corner posts soon, but says that posts are becoming more scarce each year. We have a good supply of both round and split cedar posts.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 23 (AP)—Charles Wallace, 32, a county jail prisoner, was not and "dying for a good stiff drink."

His friend, George Vanhoff, 47, set about getting him one.

He visited his jail-bound friend yesterday, and they talked through a wire screen in the prison kitchen. A few minutes later jitters spied Wallace sucking thirstily on one end of a 15-foot rubber tube.

They found the other end of the tube in the neck of a bottle of sherry wine, hidden in Vanhoff's inside pocket.

Vanhoff is in jail now, too.

PLACERVILLE, Calif., Aug. 23 (AP)—Justice of the Peace T. R. Lewis said today he had levied a $25 fine against Ty Cobb, one time baseball great, for violation of the county ordinance forbidding drunkenness on public highways.

Burley Man Objects to Story About Visit of Commissioner

Editor, Times-News: Following is a copy of a letter I have sent to Charles Welterhoff, Jerome, secretary-manager of the North Side Canal company. We have read with particular interest an article in the Jerome North Side News concerning the visit of Michael Straus, commissioner of reclamation, to Burley, in which you were quoted in a number of instances.

One particular statement you have made would like to have you inform us the names of the individuals who were refused admittance to this meeting. We also would like to have you advise us by whom they were refused admittance.

Since this meeting was arranged by the Rupert and Burley Chambers of Commerce, I am, I believe, familiar with all the names. I know of no one from Jerome county who expressed a desire to attend; neither do I know of anyone from there who was denied admittance. Please also be advised that this was not a closed meeting. A single door was kept open during this meeting prior to Mr. Straus' arrival and it was not a secret session as you intimate, and it was a meeting held behind closed doors as you infer.

The postbox of the Burley Chamber of Commerce has always been in connection with this matter, open and above board, with a full hearing to be granted any and all interested parties. The Burley Chamber of Commerce has maintained the position that it did not favor diverting the water impounded in the American Falls reservoir that has been leased to various water users and irrigation districts up and down the river, until such time as other water to give a sufficient supply, is provided. It has, therefore, been our position that when and if the Falls dam is constructed, that the water impounded in that reservoir be exchanged for the water that is now leased from the American Falls reservoir, but only when this water is provided would we approve.

Idaho Chief for Bond Sale Lauds "Save" Editorial

Editor, Times-News: Your excellent editorial of Tuesday, Aug. 19, entitled "Now's the Time to Save," pleased us no end. I am forwarding one to our Washington office and I know that they will be very glad to have it. To us, the editorial was extremely well written and contained a lot of the good common sense that we are trying to put over to the people as a whole, and I am sure that your editorial will be widely read and will do much good.

You will be interested to know that the bond money in Idaho is going very well. We have sold 74.7 per cent of our annual goal for this year and are seventh in the nation in percentage of goal attained through August. However, the only bad feature is that Idaho should be first rather than seventh and I feel

CVA Backer Says 'Propaganda' Of Editorial, Sanborn Story

Editor, Times-News: Your editorial of Aug. 21 commenting on remarks made by Congressman Sanborn were labeled propaganda and not statements of fact. You inferred, or Congressman Sanborn did, that under the CVA, Idaho would be at the mercy of the designing folks of Washington and Oregon and that we could lose our irrigation water.

I suggest that you read page three of senate bill 1647. You will find that "in the event of any conflict between the purposes for which the water of the Columbia valley region may be used, such water shall be devoted to (1) domestic, irrigation, mining and industrial purposes; (2) flood control; (3) navigation; and (4) power, in that order of priority." The argument has been advanced that CVA would have too much power and the people would lose control of the development of the Columbia basin. The CVA would have no more authority than that already given to many federal agencies now working in the field. It would consolidate the work of these agencies and would actually bring

Tourist Declares Magic Valley Is Best U. S. Area

Editor, Times-News: I have covered a great deal of the U. S. this year, but there hasn't been a single spot which has impressed me so much as your Magic Valley. While visiting my daughter, Mrs. Vern Melton, Twin Falls, I had the opportunity to see some of the large part of Magic Valley. I like it very much.

I left San Jose, Calif., on May 1, went through Phoenix, Ariz., up to Colorado Springs, to Salina, Kan., to Iowa Falls and south to Keokuk, Mo. I was in Iowa during the heavy rains and floods. And after all that, your Magic Valley was a welcome sight.

I've seen good crops growing and being harvested in your valley. The abundance of water available for irrigation is impressive. I think this would be a great place for a young man to start farming. Seems to me that if Brigham Young had seen this Magic Valley first, he may have said those four words about this valley: "This is the place."

Jerome Gets Aid for New Defense Unit

JEROME, Aug. 23—The Jerome national guard unit will receive $40,000 for construction of a building as one of the two allotted the state according to word received by Mayor John Homan. The funds were made available by congress for establishing permanent military installations.

Notice of the selection of Jerome for this structure was received Monday by Murray Jensen from Adj. Gen. John E. Walsh of Boise.

The local guard unit comprises service companies of the 1st and 2nd infantry combat teams, and the building would be a service garage for work and repair on transportation equipment. It will be 50 feet wide and built in 15 to 20 days. The only obligation on the part of Jerome is that of furnishing the land. The building will be of concrete or block construction.

The selection of a site for the unit will be determined by a committee working with the council. Dave L'Herron spoke in behalf of this plan at the Chamber of Commerce luncheon Wednesday. He expressed the belief that if the unit were to grow and develop under the government's program of universal military training, a site should be selected now that would be sufficient for the future.

Mamma Rejects Hubby Who Ran Off With 'Sister'

BELL GARDENS, Cal., Aug. 23 (UP)—Mrs. Gladys Bray gathered her brood of 10 children about her today and said she would take back her husband who ran off with the family baby sister.

"I couldn't take him back after this," she said. "He couldn't be trusted any more."

Her husband, Joseph J. Bray, 37, was still held in Phoenix, Ariz., with the baby sister, 16-year-old Betty, to Robert. They were waiting for Los Angeles Sheriff's deputies to bring them back to the Brays' trailer home to face his wife's wife.

The Brays actually have 13 children but only 10 live at home.

Authorities said they didn't care whether Mrs. Bray lived with her husband or not. They just wanted the family and Miss Robert to get out of California.

The officials learned that Bray, a sometimes carpenter, has been on relief in California and Arizona for seven years. County supervisors said they would cut off the monthly $15.91 relief check by withdrawing the family back to their original home in Oklahoma.

Commission Revived

BOISE, Aug. 23 (UP)—The state commission of uniform laws, inactive since 1945, was resurrected today by Gov. C. A. Robins.

The governor named three Idaho attorneys to the commission—J. L. Sherbo, Boise; A. L. Merrill, Pocatello; and William J. Brockbank, Moscow, dean of the University of Idaho law school.

The commissioners will serve until Sept. 9, 1948. They are empowered to promote uniformity in state laws and to recommend legislation for that purpose.

School Buses To Appear in Traffic Soon

they have encountered nearly every type of problem involved in school bus operation and have succeeded in establishing an enviable safety record.

Their buses, which daily carry approximately 800 children, are kept in the best possible mechanical condition and are equipped with rear blinker lights to indicate the vehicles have stopped, as well as being marked by large "School Bus, Stop" signs.

Select Drivers
Besides this precaution, they select drivers carefully to provide dependable and capable men who realize the responsibility that is theirs when 80 children's lives are in their hands.

These drivers are also cautioned to avoid taking chances and to exercise all other precautions necessary to the safety of the young people, both in and out of the buses.

Frequently, the drivers caution the children to watch for approaching traffic when entering and leaving the buses and, in general, try to instill a spirit of watchfulness among all concerned.

Teachers Cooperate
Teachers also cooperate in instructing students upon the necessity for being constantly alert for cars, and, Warberg pointed out, many parents also do their part in impressing upon their children the importance of being careful.

After commending the state and county officers for their cooperation in conducting the current traffic safety program, Warberg emphasized that the final, but often the weakest link, in this chain of school bus safety is the average driver who fails to observe the sign, "School Bus, Stop" and passes a bus while it is discharging or taking on passengers.

Frequent Violation
The violation of the state law frequently occurs among upright citizens who would not knowingly endanger the lives of children. Frequently, the violator does so unwittingly, because the fact that he or she is passing a stationary school bus does not register upon the driver's mind until it is too late.

As the children are frequently too young to realize the danger of cutting way traffic and also have reason to feel that cars will stop to permit them to leave or enter the bus, a careless driver who swings past a stopped school bus could easily cause an irrevocable tragedy.

Watch for Sign
For these reasons, Warberg called upon all drivers to be on the alert for the sign, "School Bus, Stop," and to observe it to the letter.

But drivers are instructed to use as much discretion as possible in passing after heavy traffic has passed, but on main highways it frequently is impossible to wait for all cars to pass. Then it becomes the duty of drivers approaching from either direction to halt immediately and wait until the bus has started up before resuming their course.

19 Dead in Second Briton Mine Blast
ANNFIELD PLAIN, England, Aug. 23.—Nineteen Durham coal miners lost their lives today in Britain's second mine explosion in little more than a week.

The blast occurred in the Morion North mine shortly after midnight when 24 workers were in the explosion area. Five severely burned and injured survivors were brought out by rescue squads and the 14 bodies recovered.

Among the rescue teams were three who had been on duty most of the week at the William underground at Whitehaven where 104 lives were lost in an explosion on the night of Aug. 15.

Yes, Law Says to Stop

Labor Bureau Tallies Strikes Settled to Beat Act's Deadline

By The Associated Press
The department of labor will know tomorrow (Monday) how many of the nation's 200 strikes were settled before Friday, when the new Taft-Hartley act became fully operative. The department said preliminary reports indicated that about 125,000 workers were away from their jobs in 200 strikes the day before the law—criticized widely by labor organizations—went completely into effect.

A spokesman said the department had reports that "several" settlements were reached literally only a few minutes before the midnight deadline Wednesday, and that in one or two cases bargaining parties used the legislative maneuver of stopping the clock until they could reach a settlement. Settlements reached before the last provisions of the act became operative did not have to conform to those provisions.

Meanwhile, the CIO United Auto Workers in Detroit began an "educational campaign" to acquaint its 107,000 Ford Motor company production workers with provisions of two alternative contract settlements, which the workers must vote upon in a referendum. One includes an 11 1/2 cent hourly wage increase and six paid holidays; the other contains a provision for a pension plan.

The agreement to submit the two settlements to a workers' vote was reached just before many provisions of the Taft-Hartley bill became effective. Consequently, both contracts contain a provision for a union shop.

At the same time, the AFL-International Typographical union, in Cleveland, polished up details for its no contract policy. The policy, adopted by the ITU's 80th convention, provides that the union will make no more written contracts with employers under the Taft-Hartley act. Instead, ITU locals will post "conditions of employment" under which they will work.

In Washington, the co-author of the much-discussed bill, Rep. Fred Hartley, R., N. J., called for a congressional investigation of "any and all efforts to 'bypass' the law," terming AFL and CIO proposals to ignore it "brazen effrontery."

Labor troubles plagued European travelers in New York. After sailing of the liner America was cancelled because of a wildcat strike by longshoremen, 928 travelers were left stranded.

North Idaho's Business Cut By Mine Tiff

BOISE, Aug. 23 (AP)—Business in the north central Idaho area has been hit by the continued strike of nearly 4,000 lumber workers, the Idaho state employment service reported today.

"The effect of the strike on local business," the agency's weekly summary said, "has caused them to renege and to reduce some occupational (employment) needs."

Members of the CIO International Woodworkers of America have been on strike more than three weeks in support of a wage increase demand.

Many of the strikers, the employment service said, "were snapping up other jobs as soon as they were listed." There were only 84 jobs open in the area.

In contrast there were 533 job openings in southwestern Idaho, 116 in the panhandle area, 773 in the Kellogg-Wallace district, 310 in south central Idaho and 317 in eastern Idaho.

Outside of the need for miners in north Idaho, one of the heaviest labor demands was developing in south central Idaho, the agency said. An estimated 200 workers will be

Youth Who Lost Legs in Bonfire Leaves Hospital

MALDEN, Mass., Aug. 23 (AP)—Glennwood Brown, Jr., 11, whose legs were amputated because of burns suffered in a game of "cowboys and Indians," came home from a five-month hospital stay today.

Amid the cheers and tears of 100 neighborhood pals who rallied a "welcome home" sign on his house, Glenn's weary, a cherry "Hi!"

Glenn's dog, Skip, bounded out the front door, and the pale lad whose trousers were pinned back under the stumps, threw his arms around his pet and kept repeating: "Aw, Skip, you know me." His biggest thrill, however, was when Mrs. Brown handed him his baby sister, Arlene, who was born the day Glenn's legs were amputated.

After his 12th birthday, Sept. 30, Glenn will go to the Springfield hospital. There he will be equipped with artificial legs.

State's Assessed Property Values Gain 30 Millions

BOISE, Aug. 23 (AP)—Earl W. Murphy, secretary of the Idaho State Chamber of Commerce, said today Idaho's assessed property valuation will show an increase of $30,000,000 this year over last.

Murphy's estimate of increase was confirmed by Thomas Kury, secretary of the Idaho tax commission now in session to determine the valuation and fix the state levy.

The increase—the highest for a year's period in history of the state—will put the total valuation at about $485,000,000. The all-time high valuation was $502,000,000 reached in 1921.

The 1947 valuation will be announced by the tax commission Monday.

Murphy asked local taxing units to "hold the line" and to try and cut levies. He pointed out that the increased valuation at current levies will "mean the collection of more tax money."

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

By INEZ PUCKETT

"Mid pleasures and palaces, though we may roam,
Be it ever so humble, there's no place like home."
Going somewhere is fun, but coming home is a thrill which never grows old. There are two ways to return to the ranch, if one has been over the river, that is, you can cross the great bridge via Jerome, or you can take the Bull road into Clear Lake. Either way is full of wonder. The view from the bridge, if you decide on the Jerome route, is always different, always enough to knock the breath out of you. The shining seraglio of roads which winds along the lava cliffs above the Clear Lakes is a thrill, gives an equal thrill. You mount up, with the lava water and great dropping abruptly away over the rim of the grade, and halfway to the side is a big lava-rock structure sheltering a bubbling gush of water. You stop for an icy sip, and look up at the brass plate on the front of the structure. It reads:

DEDICATED TO FRED NINHART
PIONEER CITIZEN
HIS GOOD DEEDS SHINE BEFORE HIM AND SHALL LIVE AFTER HIM.

ERECTED 1934
BY HIS MANY FRIENDS.

Now that's our idea of a real monument. Not some silly statue in a city park, but a sheltered spring, where thirty farmers and tourists can stop and admire the view and slake their thirst. But to return to this going home business—after a drink and a passing salute to Pioneer Ninhart, you climb back in your buggy, wind along the pale ribbon of lava to the rim. It's over five dusty, wash-bowled miles from there to the ranch, but when you finally cross the bridge and turn in the lane amid the huge trees, all the dogs come yipping to greet you. They know very well who it is, but it's fun to make a terrific pretense. "Who are you?" they bark. "We'll leave you to please! Now DARE you come in here!"

By the time you have scrambled from the car and reached the door at least two cats and a dog are waiting at the screen. All dash in ahead. Cokey, the mad Blenheim, bounds around the cool old house, raising up joyful greetings. Even the goldfish seem to grate to the rim of the bowl and wave welcome. Mrs. Maurice Querry, who has been around the cool old house, wears shoes and plunk down your packages. John Howard Payne was right. No matter how humble it is, there is no place like it.

Mrs. Maurice Querry is mistress of one of south Idaho's most stunning rural homes. It is a residence of neat architecture, green lawns, and colorful garden furniture, and is part of the Querry home ranch just outside Cascade. Mrs. Querry's curly-haired little son, Jimmy, looks in to meet his mother, swash-buckling ahead in tiny pirate boots. The lady-of-the-house is a woman of calm and sparkle. "Not a dull moment when she is around," a neighbor told us, and we can believe it.

She had a bright colored yard of scar around her black head and the decorative overtones of her house were gorgeous, just the setting for her type. "My husband came here when it was nothing but sagebrush," she said. "He had sheep—she still has, though we also raise beans, beef, potatoes—all of those things." She waved an expressive hand. "My interest? I love interior decorating," and she showed us the transients and furnishings of the house. Mrs. Querry was born in Spain, made a trip back with the family in 1936. It was during the trouble in that unhappy land and Mrs. Querry said their hotel often shook with the sudden explosions of bombs. "When we got back to New York," she told us vehemently, "we all cried! My husband said, 'I there is any heaven on earth this land is it!'"

We liked Mrs. Querry and her children, Morris, Jr., and Jimmie and Marie. We liked her charming, her taste in things. But most of all we liked her appreciation of the U. S. She was deeply sincere in declaring that Americans don't know what blessings they have here. Almost the last words she said at parting were: "And tell the people what a wonderful country this is. Tell them how fortunate we are to live in such a land!"

So we are telling you, dear readers, and we know that peppy little Mrs. Morris G. is right.

We dropped in at the Ernie Reed home while at Castleford. Ernie Reed grew up in Twin Falls, started tooting on a flute and sax very early, went south to USC shipped with an orchestra on the Dollar line. After many adventures, including the earthquake in Japan, he came back to California, played in theater orchestras, followed the talkies in Hollywood. For 10 years thereafter he worked at all the big studios—RKO, Columbia, Paramount.

"I came back to Idaho to raise my family," he told us. Due to the musical shortage both Reed and his friendly young wife, Blanche, have played for dances the Ernie Reed band wintered around Magic Valley. Ernie had the high school band two years at Castleford and a year at Bull. "I'm allergic to a school," he laughed. "So I studied tuning to keep my hand in music. I'm now a graduate of the Bryant School of Piano Technology." Ernie Reed is a gentle-faced, curly-haired young man with the dreamer's look musicians have.

"I'm amazed at what I find being played here," he told us. "Everything from a mouse's nest to the kitchen sink!" He and the charming Blanche lauded the music we had then. He said that A-1 pioneer tuner of Magic Valley, Ray Logan, once found a piece of petrified angel food behind a door. Some day we hope to attend a dance where this well young couple furnishes the music. There seems an appreciation of all types of music—the best in life, the best in classical.

Senate Probe of Gas Sales Slated

CHICAGO, Aug. 23 (UP)—A senate sub-committee set up head-quarters in Washington to investigate complaints against marketing practices of the nation's big oil companies.

The sub-committee chairman, Sen. Kenneth Wherry, R., Neb., said the executive director, George F. Merriam, of the senate small business committee, would remain here several days with committee investigators.

Wherry left yesterday for his home at Paxton City, Neb. He said he would confer in Washington with his fellow members of the oil sub-committee, Sen. Irving M. Ives, R., N. Y., and Sen. James E. Murray, D., Mont., and set a date for more hearings here.

The sub-committee is investigating charges that the big oil companies are manipulating the market to squeeze small independent petroleum dealers out of business.

1,577 Idaho Firms Cut Off Vet Project

BOISE, Aug. 23 (UP)—The state veterans administration has removed 1,577 Idaho business and industrial establishments from its approved list of veteran job training centers.

B. F. Moe, chief of the VA training facilities section, said today.

Moe said that the removals were made following a review of the job training institutions. Moe added that Congress had imposed tighter restrictions on on-the-job training for veterans.

However, there still are 2,724 Idaho firms on the approved list. At present, 2,281 veterans are enrolled in job training programs.

Swing's King Is Swung by Dorsey's Fists

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 23 (UP)—Benjamin Goodman, known as the king of swing, apparently was outswung by Tommy Dorsey. That much seemed certain today.

Goodman was humiliated during a recording session that got hot in more ways than musical.

The story, as the studio spokesmen reconstructed it, was that Goodman arrived two hours late for the date recording, then around Dorsey's ire—not always cheaply hidden—by interpolating some hot licks which caused a remake.

An exchange of phrases led to Dorsey's blows, ringers said. Goodman, who apparently landed only verbally, picked himself up off the bandstand and went home.

Dr. Lull, who has served with the department for three and one-half years, has accepted the position of deputy state health officer with the Montana state board of health at Helena.

Prior to coming to Idaho, Lull was director of venereal disease control with the Colorado state board of health, Denver.

Peterson said a successor for Lull has not been named.

Dworshak Urges Straightening for U.S. Fund Status
BOISE, Aug. 23 (UP)—Sen. Henry Dworshak, R., Ida., told a picnic group of Ada county Republicans last night that the United States had "poured out 15 million dollars for world relief in the last two years and now it must set its own financial house in order."

The senator said this nation has a duty to "maintain its own credit and the last stronghold of representative government and to fulfill its destined responsibilities in the community."

The senator said everyone has a right to be proud of the Republican leadership in the recently adjourned session of congress. He said it had demonstrated independence and "sounded the death knell of one-man government in Washington."

He added that the 1948 election will be one of the most important in history of the GOP and asked that its members work for unity, tolerance and good will.

Rhodes Scholars From Idaho Rank At Top in West

That the University of Idaho had more Rhodes Scholars than any other institution of higher learning west of the Great Lakes is shown by a recent report in Newsweek magazine, Twin Falls chapter alumni leaders pointed out Saturday.

Students of 214 American universities have received such scholarships at Oxford university in England, Princeton's 66 winners rank first, followed by Harvard with 49. Yale is third with 44, Virginia fourth, 27, Brown and Dartmouth fifth, 22, and Idaho and Michigan sixth with 18 each. This has been over a period of 42 years.

Scholarship winners must be distinguished by literary and scholarly attainments, interest in athletics, qualities of manhood and high moral character.

Airship With 2 Girls Rams Mt. Hyndman

age was sighted from a height of 2,000 feet.

Start for Wreck
A pack party, headed by Sheriff Outis of Blaine county immediately set out for the scene about 27 miles northeast of Halley. Part of the trip was negotiated by car, after which the searchers continued on horseback while directed by plane from the air.

The pilot and sheriff who sighted the wreckage from the air reported that it looked as though the motor had been forced back by the impact when the plane hit the mountain.

Airport officials at Halley indicated that the pilot of the airplane plane that attempted to land there apparently became alarmed by the crosswinds at the field and headed toward Mt. Baldy and other 11,000-foot peaks in the Sawtooths. Shortly afterward, a flight instructor and a student landed at the airport without damage or injury.

We, the Women

By RUTH MILLETT

NEA Staff Writer

The ideal set-up for a city child is to have grandparents who live in the country. Then, indeed, his education is well-rounded.

During nine or 10 months of the year he learns how to take care of himself in a city, and learns the things a city can teach him.

The other two or three months he can spend in the country discovering how to enjoy life without help from comic books, movies, blood-curdling radio serials, playmates, or so-called "educational" toys.

In the country he learns the thrill of going to the garden in the evening to select the cantaloupe he'll have for breakfast.

He finds out just what happens to crops when a long drought comes along.

He learns that there are some chores that cannot be neglected. With the help of a home-made net he can start a butterfly collection.

He can crawl under a building to count a dog's new litter of puppies, a confusing experience for a city child used to apartment house dogs that are not permitted to do anything as natural as having pups.

Observing two six-year-olds who know only city life, get acquainted with the country convinces me that the millionaire in the kid's kingdom is the child whose parents live in town, but whose grandparents live in the country.

wiping!

After washing dishes, just rinse. Even glassware dries sparkling clear without time-wasting wiping! Vel leaves no soap scum or streaky film to polish away. Pots and pans get clean so much quicker, because Vel removes grease faster, more completely than soap.

Vel leaves no dilapidated ring to scrub out. Vel cleans dishes cleaner than soap; saves up to half your dishwashing time!

Stockings stay lovelier, sheerer-looking!

Vel suds keep stockings sheerer-looking, lovelier longer than even finest soap flakes can. Unlike soap, Vel leaves no scum or film sticking to threads.

Stockings rinse clear; stay sheer. Vel does away with soap-fading. It's easier than even finest soap flakes on many delicate washable colors.

VEL is the trade-mark of the Colgate-Palmolive-Peet Co.

Milder to Hands!
Vel is not a soap but an entirely new and different suds that is completely neutral... milder than soap.

"Force" View By Argentina Curbs Parley

QUINTANINHA, Brazil, Aug. 23 (AP)—Argentina today adhered to her stand against force to stop inter-American conflicts but admitted that aggression should be branded as such whether from within or without the western hemisphere.

This position, together with Argentina's insistence on a unanimous vote in taking joint hemispheric action against aggression, rather than the two-thirds majority rule favored by the United States, constitute the two main obstacles to agreement on a mutual defense pact in the 20-nation inter-American conference.

Closed Session

Argentine Delegate Pascual La Rosa told a closed session of a sub-committee on aggression that treaty measures permitting individual or collective employment of force in the event of attack from without should be adopted. He added, however, that in such cases the United Nations security council should be informed and a "reunion of American states" convoked for consultation.

Two developments today were viewed as encouraging signs that the conference, which has been in session for a week, was reaching at least preliminary agreement on a mutual defense treaty.

Foreign Ministers Supreme

The first major committee, on preamble and principles, decided that meetings of hemispheric foreign ministers should be the supreme body for making decisions under the treaty. During a lengthy session, this committee decided that the pan-American union would be the secondary body under the pact.

The second committee, on aggression, whittled its working group down to a five-nation body consisting of Brazil, the United States, Peru, Mexico and Panama.

Clear the Rink! Here Comes Jeanne

At the age of 20 months, when most little girls (including Jeanne Lynn Stoddard) are just learning to toddle around, Jeanne Lynn is quite adept on roller skates. She is shown here with her older sister, Kathy, age 4, at left, and Karen, 5½, at right, trying out the skating rink and consuming a poppable simultaneously. According to her mother, Mrs. Merle Stoddard, who is a dancing instructor in Twin Falls, Jeanne Lynn has a remarkably well-developed sense of rhythm and balance for such a small tot, and within another year she's expecting to be skating like nobody's business. Bilbo "The Man" Buried in Peace He Never Knew POPPLARVILLE, Miss., Aug. 23 (AP)—Amid peace and quiet that contrasted strangely with his turbulent political career, Sen. Theodore G. Bilbo was laid to rest in the churchyard of the Juniper grove Baptist church today.

A throng of Mississippi farmers, political figures and business men, as well as representatives of the state and national government, attended the simple ceremony.

Rev. Wags Smith, pastor, referred to Senator Bilbo as "one of America's greatest men and surely Mississippi's greatest."

He told of Bilbo's interest in the Juniper grove Baptist church, the church in which "The Man" was ordained as a Baptist preacher in 1890.

In conversation the names of some 15 to 20 men, well known in Mississippi politics, were mentioned as a possible successor to Bilbo in the United States senate.

But most persons agreed no one will take the place of Bilbo as the head of one of the strongest political organizations Mississippi has ever known.

The organization, they said, has been tied in with too many other organizations to live now without its former leader.

Record Year Aim Dims for Auto Makers

By DAVID J. WILKIE
AP Automotive Editor

DETROIT, Aug. 23 (AP)—The nation's automobile industry has about 90 per cent greater production capacity than it had before the war but it may be well into next year before fullest use of it can be made.

Harassed by parts and materials shortages, chiefly sheet steel, the industry has abandoned hope that 1947 will be a record year in car and truck output. It apparently will do well if it turns out 2,500,000 passenger vehicles and 1,000,000 commercial units.

Six months ago the car builders had seemingly well-grounded expectations that the year's output could top the 5,358,420 units that were assembled in 1929.

Since last March, however, every car maker has had to stop and start his car and truck assembly lines every few weeks for varying periods as stockpiles of body components and other items ran out.

Add, say many of the industry authorities, there is no present assurance that the stop-and-go processes can be avoided during the remainder of the year. Nearing the end of eight months of operation this year the assembly plants of the United States have shipped about 2,218,000 cars and approximately 793,000 trucks.

Lancaster Bomber Designer Is Killed

WOODFORD, England, Aug. 23 (AP)—Roy Chadwick, designer of Britain's famed Lancaster bomber, was killed today in an unexplained test flight crash of a commercial-type plane he often flew create—a luxurious Tudor.

Three other fliers died with Chadwick when the huge four-engined Tudor faltered a moment after taking off on an experimental flight from Woodford airport, then plunged into a nearby field. Two members of the crew were injured.

The plane—designed to further Britain's bid for commercial air supremacy—had accommodations for 146 passengers and was equipped with such innovations as a cocktail bar.
