

Okay Seen on Partition Plan For Palestine

GENEVA, Switzerland, Aug. 30 (AP)—Delegates of the United Nations special committee on Palestine tonight decided that Paul Kado, a Swedish alternate delegate, had proposed a compromise on boundaries for the proposed partitioning of Palestine between Arabs and Jews which is likely to be approved by the committee majority tomorrow.

Representatives of seven of the 11 countries on the committee—Canada, Czechoslovakia, Guatemala, Peru, Sweden, Uruguay and Venezuela—have agreed to recommend to the U. N. general assembly that the holy land be partitioned.

A minority of three members, India, Iran and Yugoslavia, will recommend a federated Palestine with semi-autonomous Arab and Jewish areas. Australia has announced it will support neither plan.

The partition group had been unable to agree on the line to split Jewish and Arab territories before Kado offered his compromise proposal providing that the Jewish state should comprise the coastal strip of central Palestine, including Haifa, Jaffa and Tel Aviv, eastern Galilee and most of Negrev and should have a common frontier with Egypt. The Arab state would include all the remainder of Palestine except Jerusalem, which would be under an international trusteeship.

Regime in Exile Set for Ecuador

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 30.—Foreign Minister Jose Vicente Trujillo of Ecuador said today that Mariano Suarez Venimilla, vice president under Jose Maria Velasco Ibarra until the latter was deposed as Ecuador's president last week, has established a government in exile in Colombia.

Trujillo said both this exiled government and the government headed by Col. Carlos Manchangua, who engineered the ousting of Velasco Ibarra, had asked him to continue serving as Ecuadorian foreign minister.

Mere Shadow

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30 (AP)—The army's strength is about 1,070,000, records indicated today.

Officials spoke of difficulty in providing satisfactory replacements for men whose enlistments are expiring.

In this connection, they noted that Secretary of War Royal said in a recent address that the army and forces are accepting only slightly more than half the applicants for enlistment. Higher intelligence requirements account for a substantial percentage of the rejections, it was said.

Hungary Vote Victory Seen By Red Party

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Aug. 30 (AP)—Hungary will hold its second national election since the war tomorrow, with experienced political observers predicting a clear-cut victory for the communists who have dominated the left-wing government coalition since the overthrow of the Nagy Smallholders in a coup June 1.

Russian ratification of the Hungarian peace treaty yesterday was of major importance, although leaders of the principal parties said it would have no effect on the outcome of the election.

The ratification scotched anti-communist rumors that Russia would withhold approval of the pact until after the election.

Second highlights on the eve of the elections—which will be held from 10 a. m. to 8 p. m. tomorrow—was an official charge by a member of Hungarian Independence party led by Zoltan Pfeiffer that there had been "irregularities" in preparations for the balloting.

Lazlo Acsay, like Pfeiffer a former member of the Small Holders party, called upon Premier Lajos Dinnyes and the national election committee in a public statement to "initiate a most urgent investigation" into charges that persons other than residents were registered at Budapest apartment houses.

Only $250,000,000 is available for French needs during the next six months.

Re-Appraisal Discussed on County Lands

been handicapped by lack of uniform measurements of value. For this reason, the commission, with cooperation of counties concerned, is recommending re-appraisal, using certain standard procedures to assure comparable findings throughout the state.

The recommended re-appraisal program will also serve to bring all records up to date in such cases as land now being used for purposes other than that for which it was originally evaluated, and in other similar details.

If the re-appraisal program is adopted by the county, it will assist officials of the assessor's office in properly valuing lands. Such information as the dates buildings were constructed, the initial costs and other related data, any group or individual wishing information are urged to get in touch with the commission, which will endeavor to assist them by holding open meetings as problems or questions arise.

The commission emphasized that the county assessor's responsibility, under the present law, is concerned only when he has properly and equitably assessed the property as to value. Then the levies, which determine the amount of taxes on any piece of property, are fixed by the various taxing districts, such as the city, county, and school districts, established through their respective boards. It is the objective of the equalization program to assist all assessors through manuals and other methods to arrive at values by corresponding methods.

Other members of the commission, who were unable to attend the meeting here were Lloyd Penn, Kootenai; J. H. Nettleton, Murphy, and Chairman Ed Baird, Boise. Also participating in the session, besides the county commissioners, state tax commission, the state valuation section officials and the county assessors, were Robert Haller and George Leth, deputy assessors.

Conclave Bid Puts Spot on Korea Status

By GLENN BARR
AP Foreign News Analyst

Washington's call for a four-power conference to hasten Korea's independence turns the spotlight on one of the unhappiest communities in the postwar world.

Korea, like Austria, is considered a liberated land, not conquered enemy territory. The Japanese have been driven out but other alien rulers have taken their place, and the coming of real peace, freedom and wellbeing is postponed because the liberators cannot or will not agree.

Not U. S. Fault
It cannot be said that this is the fault of the United States, which shares with Soviet Russia the occupation of this former Japanese possession.

The American government and its representatives in Korea have tried continuously and ineffectively since 1945 to come to some understanding with the Russians which would permit fulfillment of the pledge of Korean freedom made at Cairo in 1943 and repeated and amplified in the Moscow conference of 1945.

Further Evidence
The newest call is further evidence of the United States' desire to make those promises real and to turn over the burden of administration to the Koreans as soon as possible.

The Russians' response in the past has been as unhelpful as most Russian responses to allied advances in the postwar period. It requires a considerable degree of optimism to expect that the reply to this invitation will be more encouraging.

Nevertheless Moscow's announcement last night of the Russian ratification of peace treaties with the five European Axis satellites may herald the opening of a new phase of Soviet diplomacy.

Shoshone Youths Enlist With Army

Three Shoshone high school graduates and all-around athletes have been accepted for three-year enlistments in the army air force. Ideal. George P. Claxton, Twin Falls recruiting officer, said today.

William D. Harper, 18, Shoshone, was accepted for a three-year enlistment. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Seth P. Harper, Boise, he earned letter awards on Shoshone football, basketball and baseball teams.

John E. Turner, Jr., 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Turner, Jr., also signed for three years. He earned Shoshone high school boxing, football, basketball and baseball awards.

Richard J. Anderson, 18, Shoshone, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew L. Anderson, Shoshone, has been accepted. He won letter awards in football, basketball and baseball.

The three youths are now en route to a training center at San Antonio, Tex.

Nice Bunch of (Bad) Boys from Brahma Family

Staff photo at top shows a bevy of Brahma bulls figuring out what to do to the cameraman who pictured them at the Filer fairgrounds where they're awaiting start of the rodeo Wednesday night. The bull at extreme right is known as Number 16. He has a reputation for being easily annoyed by would-be riders and people in general. During the recent show at Salt Lake City, Number 16 scared the town, Slim Pickens, and tossed him over his horse. Bottom photo shows one of the R. A. Richter string of bulls working over a rider, while the rider's brother, Carl Satterfield, tries to distract him. (Staff engravings)

Rodeo Producer Impressed as T-N Writer 'Braves Brahmas'

(Editor's note: The following story is by R. A. Richter, Room 1001, producer of the rodeo that opens Wednesday night at the Twin Falls county fair. Filer, Richter turned writer after watching John Broanan, Times-News cameraman take some pictures of the dangerous Brahma bulls shown in the rodeo. He didn't use the protection of a fence to take his shots, but took the camera down into the pens with the bulls.)

By R. A. RICHTER
Slim Pickens and Carl Satterfield may be out of a job any day now. I thought they were tops in handling wild Brahma bulls in my rodeo shows; but I've found another performer.

He's the photographer for the Times-News. Taking photographs of my bulls is nothing new. The Brahmas have been "shot" a lot of times, but the person doing the shooting is always stop or behind the fence.

When he first told me he wanted to climb down inside the pens holding the bulls for a closeup shot, I thought he was kidding.

Well, I've learned long ago never to argue with the press, so I said "O. K." However, I hadn't heard all about the type shot he wanted. He wanted them run by him so he could stick that camera in front of their faces and shoot a close-up.

I climbed over the pen to run the animals to another enclosure while he got his camera lined up on the gate through which I was going to run the Brahmas back toward and past him. I capitalized the word, "PAST," because that was what was going to happen.

The bulls wouldn't stop just when he snapped his camera. They'd keep on coming. In the instant or two left he would be on his own to get out of the way.

The photographer yelled he was ready, and I started the bulls off on their mad rush toward their original pen. He took his picture and ducked out of the way.

I thought the picture taking was over, but no, he wanted more—just

In case the first shot was no good. Well, I repeated the drive of Brahmas three times.

On one of these occasions several of the bulls failed to leave their original pen to join in the pen back. These stood only a few feet away as the cameraman crouched on the ground aiming his camera at the herd ready to be driven back into the pen.

Luckily they made no move toward him. One bull did paw the ground a bit, but just when I started the herd on its final run. He snapped his pictures and the tenness ended as he and I climbed back across the fence.

The event was so unusual that even Mr. Richter, who was sitting in our car waiting for me, left the machine and came over to the pens to watch.

Oh, yes, one final sentence: He got those pictures—and among the bulls in the foreground are two of the meanest animals in the entire herd—number 16 that almost killed Slim Pickens in Salt Lake City when he outmaneuvered the clown and threw him high over his horse—and number 16, the toughest animal to ride in the entire herd.

Clover Seed, Pea Yields to Decline

BOISE, Aug. 30 (AP)—Idaho's 1947 Ladino clover seed crop will be about the same size as last year, but Australian winter pea, Alaska and White clover seed production will be reduced, the bureau of agricultural economics said today.

Based on Aug. 1 indications this year's production of Ladino clover is forecast at 80,000 pounds, the same as last year.

The Alaska clover seed crop is estimated at 45,000 bushels, compared with 50,000 bushels a year ago. Indications were that the White clover seed crop would be 1,700,000 pounds, or 200,000 pounds less than last year.

Australian winter pea production was indicated at 23,000,000 pounds, compared with 27,000,000 pounds last year.

"I'm going to put this tooth under my pillow tonight, Doc. . . maybe a good fairy will leave enough dough to pay your bill,"

By WILLIAMS

"I'd like to help you, mother, but that radio commercial I just heard reminded me how tired and listless I feel!"

A black and white cartoon by Dave Coverly. It depicts two Native Americans at a pottery stall. One man is sitting on the ground, surrounded by several pottery vases and bowls. The other man is standing and looking at a sign that reads "GENUINE INDIAN POTTERY! VASES BOWLS". The stall has a sign above the entrance that says "TRADING POST". The artist's signature "Dave Coverly" is in the bottom left corner.

"And I may 'value' it"

A black and white comic book panel showing a group of men in a saloon. A man in a cowboy hat and vest is shouting, "YOU COME TOO LATE, SHERIFF! RED RIDER AND ME FIN-ISH UP CROSS GRANE AND NICK VOLDAY PRONTO!" The scene is chaotic, with several other men visible in the background, some looking on with concern or surprise. The art style is typical of mid-20th-century comic books, with bold lines and expressive character designs.
