

Comintern 'Alive' Officially, Britain Says of Red Deal

LONDON, Oct. 7 (AP)—The British foreign office today labeled creation of an international information bureau by the communist and European states as "the official re-activation of the Comintern."

The communists have taken considerable pains to deny that the new organization formed in Poland last month is a revival of the Comintern which was ordered out of business by Prime Minister Stalin in 1943.

A British foreign office spokesman addressing a news conference today said the meeting in Poland at which representatives of nine European communist parties were present had "a highly official looking character."

He commented particularly on the presence of A. A. Zhdanov a member of the Soviet Politburo. In reply to a question the spokesman said he knew of no intention to protest to the governments of the nine countries represented at the meeting.

He leveled at Prime Minister Attlee and Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin in the manifesto of the meeting, made public Sunday.

"Situation Deteriorates" The spokesman said, however, that the announcement (the manifesto) involves a clear deterioration of the international situation.

He said the manifesto was in many ways grounds for a British objection to the recreation of the Comintern in view of the fact that the Socialist parties of several European countries, including Britain, had themselves created a similar international organization, with offices in London.

He said no fault with the creation of this international communist organization. It is a fault for the Communist parties themselves, indeed, to be bringing into the open activities which have been kept so secret.

We believed took place covertly. He said the Comintern—a Communist party—has been reformed with a slight variation in the meeting in Poland. The variation, he said, was implied by the fact that there were 10 participating members at present.

Secrecy was maintained around the long rumored changes in personnel. The spokesman said the Comintern's report could be obtained from the Comintern.

News said that the Comintern was dismissed from the cabinet was a "new certainty." The spokesman said the Comintern suggested that the Comintern's deputy in the Comintern, youthful Hugh Gaitalek, might be moved—either into the Comintern's position or some other position.

Picture of a Tired but Happy Man

E. J. Willis of Twin Falls, who was lost for four and one-half days in the Selway wilds, was back home again Tuesday. As pleased as anyone about the homecoming was daughter, Myrna Rae, age four, shown with him as he eased his swollen feet onto a soft cushion. Myrna Rae didn't quite approve of the growth of beard that Willis sported upon his return. (Staff photo-engraving)

Twin Falls Hunter, Lost in Selway, Found Two Bears Sleeping With Him

After being lost for nearly five days in the Selway forest, E. J. Willis of Twin Falls is alive and well and able to tell a hair-raising story.

"I walked around a tree all one night and counted the times—20,709 of them until I finally went to sleep standing up and fell over backwards."

Willis, following an automobile accident, was lost in the Selway wilds on Tuesday morning. He was found by a search party on Friday, Oct. 4, at his home at 140 Fourth avenue.

Margins for Grain Advanced as U. S. Begins Help Drive

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7 (AP)—A hike in margins on the nation's big grain exchanges at the insistence of the government today ushered in the first of President Truman's "meatless Tuesdays" to save food for Europe.

The markets at Chicago, Kansas City and Minneapolis doubled the cash down payment on deals for future delivery, as demanded by the President to curb what he called "gamblers in grain."

The President's "wasteless" food program moved out of the planning stage and into operation today. These were the developments:

1. The National Restaurant association pledged its members to serve no meat on Tuesday and no poultry or eggs on Thursdays.

2. Representatives of the distilling industry agreed to meet here tomorrow to discuss the President's request for a 30-day shutdown.

3. The agriculture department, seeking to head off a "meat famine" a year from now, called off skinned hogs and other livestock production and gambled that big hopes next season will relieve the feed grain shortage.

4. The United Nations food and agriculture organization predicted that the world will be short of grain next year than were killed in any year of the war, and that present shortages could continue through 1948 harvest.

5. The agriculture department disclosed it stepped up wheat purchases for export to 25,363,574 bushels last week compared with 20,820 bushels the week before.

The big grain markets, which have contained a certain amount of speculation, were closed today because of high prices. The new market was placed in force with the opening of the grain market.

The increased down payment was placed in force with the opening of the grain market.

Directors of the Chicago and Minneapolis exchanges and their board to the government demand "against our better judgment" because they believe the market has reached a point where the market risk capital "which has heretofore been a vital stabilizing influence."

President Truman declared in his Sunday address, "I am sure that the food program will be successful. It will have to go up because the cost of living must not be a football to be kicked about by gamblers in grain."

Washington, Oct. 7 (AP)—The national labor relations board today said top officers of the CIO need not file non-communist affidavits and financial disclosure statements before their unions participate in collective bargaining.

The board said it will require members to use the board's services in collective bargaining elections.

Previously the top officers of both parent unions had refused to sign the affidavits and financial disclosure statements.

The AFL is holding its annual convention at San Francisco now and the question of signing the non-communist affidavits is being discussed by AFL officials.

Debate Union Pay Demands

CHICAGO, Oct. 7 (AP)—Representatives of the national railroad and five unions of employees who operate trains met behind closed doors today to negotiate the unions' demands for changes in 44 working rules for more than 300,000 men.

A carrier spokesman said the proposed changes by the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, the Brotherhood of Railway and Air Transport, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees, and the Brotherhood of Railway Signalmen.

The proposed changes involve various aspects of railroad operations, including length of trains, size and number of crews, work assignments and appointment of supervisory personnel.

The unions want a 30 percent wage increase, with minimum wages of $3 a day. D. P. Loomis, Chicago, executive director of the Association of Western Railway Unions, estimated the wage boost.

Taylor Here Tonight; Flays Foreign Policy

Sen. Glen H. Taylor, D., Ida., will make the second of a series of six speeches in his home state tonight after declaring he was opposed to a bi-partisan American foreign policy and urging the adoption of one based upon the principles of the golden rule.

Senator Taylor will speak at the Twin Falls high school auditorium at 8 p.m., Dan J. Cavanagh, chairman of the Democratic state committee, said.

The senator last night asserted the American foreign policy "had cost the United States the friendship of all other nations."

He said if the United States were caught in another war "we would have a single ally." Taylor said England was calling "the United States a lackey" because we loaned them money.

New Axis Is Set by Reds, Analyst Says

By J. M. ROBERTS, Jr.
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst
Communist announcements of what amounts to a new coalition, dedicated to the cause of western democracy, serves merely to formalize the establishment of the New Axis, which the Russians have been forging for a long time.

Although the communists present the organization as a defense, it is directly tied to the political, and as such becomes a weapon both of Russian expansionism and communist revolution.

It is difficult to judge whether the announcement is a part of the war of nerves which has been going on for some time, or whether the recent crystallization of Russian propaganda attacks on the United States was a part of the background for the reorganization of the communists.

In some European quarters the action was taken as a Russian attempt to camouflage her control over the area by appearing to centralize the communication of middle Europe in England. It could just as well, however, be an indication that Russia feels sufficiently strong to ignore the possibility of independence movements and take over openly the various Communist parties which have claims to some pretense of being self-controlled.

The announced objectives are no different from those Russia has pursued ever since the war. She wants to defeat the Marshall plan for western Europe because its failure would increase the chaos in which revolutionaries can do their best work.

She believes such failure would definitely contribute to that collapse of capitalism which she hopes will create a world wide vacuum into which she can step, she wants to convince as many countries as possible that the Marshall plan is a captured, that she is saving them from a fate worse than death in the embrace of money-mad American monopolists.

Tenant Eviction Sought in Court

Eviction and payment of money allegedly due were sought by Ted Mason in a suit filed against Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Lettin in probate court Monday.

In his complaint Mason stated he had hired the couple as farm laborers and had furnished them a place to live so long as they were employed by him. When the period of employment was completed on Aug. 1 they are alleged to have refused to vacate the building in which they were living.

He added that they be evicted and that they pay $60 for the use of the house since Aug. 8 and court costs. His attorney is Harry Denoit.

Appeal Filed on Water Transfers

GOODING, Oct. 7 (AP)—Neighbors of John F. Edinborough, Bliss Farms today filed an appeal in district court protesting a state decision allowing him to transfer his Big Wood river water over a larger acreage.
State Reclamation Engineer Mark R. Culp recently granted Edinborough's application to transfer his water from 80 acres to 120 acres.
The neighbors—Willa and Earl R. Justice, Ethel J. Jones and Florence J. Shantz—said the transfer would injure them.

HOUSING—Powerful pressure from displaced war veterans and their families is being applied to decent homes may make public housing a dominant issue in the next congress and in the presidential campaign. Next week's session of the House will feature the largest in the legislators' mail bags.

Ray Tucker, D. C., was not settling himself up so much as a radical or a statesman when he recently introduced a bill for a federal state-managed public projects throughout the nation.

Other veterans' politicians, and many colleagues have found that it would be wise to agree with him when they return to Washington in January.

HE LIKES FISHING

Ray Tucker: "I used this gun's name to help me."

Any way, he left for Magic reservoir after work one night last week. By the time he started fishing, it was rather late. The big ones were biting and he stayed on fishing by moonlight until he had his limit.

He got back in Twin Falls at 4:30 a. m., sat around for a bit, then drove around to give some fish to his friends.

He gave ALL his fish away.

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S ANGLE

NEW YORK—At the end of the first big war, there was so little territory left in the United States to which the fighting and fighting were permitted that one could say that these old, disorderly pleasures had been reduced to little pockets of resistance.

Price-fighting had been illegal even in Chicago, which always had been a tough town, ever since 1903 or thereabouts.

As a screwy little sprout in Ex color, Minn., I had goaded at the scortably, pickering movie of the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight taken in Carson City, Nev. in 1917.

Incidentally, this fight had been chivied at the wild and woolly west of that day because of the hardy frontiersman regarded it as an obscene insult to the twilight of the dawn of civilization.

It finally landed in Carson City when the governor of Nevada gave it refuge for the sake of the money he would attract, but with something of the air of the minister who buried the actor from the little church around the corner.

George Siler, the referee, whose name appeared over the story of the fight in the Chicago Tribune, said with a note of taunting pride, that many persons of wealth and distinction were seen at the ring-side.

Reading this piece about the second of the Tunney-Dempsey spectacles in Chicago, in 1927, I was impressed by the excellence of Siler's journalism and nicely surprised, too, because I had never regarded him as a man implicated in beautiful letters.

But Jack Curley, a versatile volunary and a kind man, told me that, actually, he had written this article and others by Siler and much more about that quaint event in the desert frontier which is simply lost now because nobody ever took the trouble to put it down.

The rinfuse seats were $50, a spectacular price and never to be equaled by better unless Joe Wilard won or by other process acquired; the heavyweight championship from Jack Johnson in Havana to thousands of rubes from the plains and the meadow, temple was a whole big with a heavy metal screen across the lobby to protect the innocent from suicide.

Racing had been forbidden long ago. I am not sure I ever learned why. It was just a historic memory as bearing might have been in the days of the old time American business old liars in England about then.

New York tolerated pre-fighting under a statute called the "Prizefighting Act," permitting 10 rounds but forbidding decisions so that the displays could truly be viewed as sporting matches for the physical benefit of the culprit and the cultural benefit of the athletes around the arena.

The "decisions" were given by the sport writers and a majority of the newspaper opinion, but the settlement of a bet except when there was a particular agreement to abide by the decision of one, three or five individuals.

There was low and doubtless erroneous posts that gambler sometimes called their ally tentacles around the corners of free journalism in this connection, but I wouldn't believe that.

New Jersey forbade fighting and racing, Philadelphia tolerated it, no-decision fights. We had eight rounds and decisions in St. Louis, but the decisions were given by Harry Sharpe, the referee, who worked for the Post-Register and reserved his verdicts for his own column the next day.

Delightful to remember with him savagely because he had a nasty advantage of us on the other papers. He was an old fighter, himself, who had gone 90 or 80 rounds against some other historic bulk in the bottom over in Illinois under the old prize-ring rules which counted a round every time a gladiator went down for a rest.

He was a nice fellow, too, as I came to admit in the enjoyment of his friendship later, but he wrote like a prizefighter because so ready, was showing symptoms of the old prizefighter's disease, which was a habit of writing with his wild flourish of the Post-Register.

California also had forbidden racing after some melancholy happenings at her old tracks. And in New York thanks to the puritanical zeal of Charles Evans Hughes and the editorial cruelties of the Hearst papers against the old bookmaker on the high stool beside a plate, a sort of institution, betting was forbidden by law.

For a stultifying, the bookmakers started a credit system and a guarantee that all bets were informal, unwritten and oral ventures between friends.

BOB HOPE

Saturday was National Newspaper Boy's Day and it really is a pleasure for me to write a few words in praise of these faithful and enterprising young men who back the American business man's route manager let me skip three blocks this morning so I'd have plenty of time.

I started my newspaper career when I was a boy on a farm on the corner of 10th and Washington.

That was back in the days when you could still buy things with money and a penny was considered a legitimate price for a newspaper.

Among my regular customers was John D. Rockefeller, the Port Knox of his day. Every afternoon Mr. Rockefeller's chauffeur would bring his limousine at my corner and John D. would accept a copy of the paper from my hot and chubby little hands. I never figured out Mr. Rockefeller's devotion to me, unless he just happened to see a newspaper that was smeared with either peanut butter or taffy.

Came the day when I didn't have a nickel and Mr. Rockefeller's chauffeur would bring his limousine at my corner and John D. would accept a copy of the paper from my hot and chubby little hands. I never figured out Mr. Rockefeller's devotion to me, unless he just happened to see a newspaper that was smeared with either peanut butter or taffy.

SPECIAL SESSION

Everybody is discussing the very high cost of living and wondering how it got that way and what can be done about it. It's been a long time since we got congress back to Washington so it could pass a law.

While we wait for the special session, let's play around with a few figures taken from a special National Industrial Conference board study and from department of agriculture records. Let's translate into numbers and percentages into family terms.

The figures are a bit old—last March's. They would be bigger now, but the changes would merely emphasize the conclusions.

In August, 1939, you paid $2.50 for a grocery order. The farmer got $1. the wholesaler 90 cents and the retailer 80 cents. The wholesaler paid for transportation; he and the retailer cared for costs of handling, storage, spoilage, wastage, selling.

Last March the identical grocery order cost you $5.08. The farmer got $3.18, the wholesaler $1.61, the retailer 90 cents.

The retailer handled a $5.08 order for less than half what he got in 1939 for a $2.50 order. The wholesaler's 80 per cent increase is less than the boost in his wage cost. The farmer's 218 per cent increase is much more than the added cost to him of producing the food.

Meanwhile wages have gone up. They constitute an important element in every cost of raising, manufacturing, transporting, storing and selling any commodity. The farm worker gets 2.38 times as much as he did in 1939, the factory worker 1.98 times as much. Both of these greatly exceed the 58 per cent increase in the cost of living at the time these other figures were compiled.

That is why living costs have gone up.

There are two obvious ways that the cost of living could be brought down again. One could easily evolve through depression. If the upward spiral continues, or it could be attempted by act of congress. That is to improve the contract.

But back the farmer's income. Take away his bath tub, his electricity, his wife's refrigerator and washing machine. Do the same, with appropriate variation, to city workers. That will cut costs so that we can get lower prices for everybody.

The other alternative is to encourage farmers, industrialists, merchants and their employees—to get to work increasing production per man-day and overall production.

If anybody has the nerve to propose the first alternative, it is as good as a time as any to get congress to draft a national health bill. Military intelligence ought to have some good models from its experience in Germany and Italy.

Otherwise, it's up to us, as individuals. The old American way, that made our standard of living envied by all other peoples, will take more time, during which we shall suffer from unduly high prices. But if we adopt it, there won't be any need for a special session. Congress can't legislate common sense.

CHANGE—From the growing complaints by millions of ex-soldiers, GI stragglers and other groups who have moved into strange parts of the country in the last seven years, especially to California, the northwest, New Jersey and New England, both party platforms make that providing literally the same rights to all people of national and state government as making available light, sewerage, streets, schools etc.

But when a man like Senator Taft backs it even in a limited way, it is so far the only presidential candidate in either major party to grab this issue so boldly. Other voters are supporting him on this and his other social welfare schemes—medicine, education and a general broadening of the old-age insurance benefits.

NO REPEAT PERFORMANCE

That catch phrase made off Joe DiMaggio in the world series was a description of his recent performance. Jim Reynolds.

At a Kiwanis club meeting the other night, Jim asked for a roll, and taking him at his word, Ray Hooper about half day down the long table tossed one past the noses of the members sitting in between. Jim reached out his hand and the bun miraculously connected with the exact forehead of the member who had the Giovinetti catch happen only once in a lifetime, so we can't expect a replay on either.

NOT THE ARMY KEES

Dear Poto:

You have smirched my character, integrity, mathematical ability, good standing, reputation and a few other qualities I can't enumerate right now.

It was that little business in the Sunday paper about the Germans getting $50,000,000 in aid during September.

But perhaps it wasn't your fault, Poto. You know there are two "Kees" around here. One is Uncle Sam's for the marines and I sign up with the army. Will you clear my good name?

ADVANCED STUFF

Dear Poto:

Mrs. Hoopler's figure it was just about time the little Wonder Guy started to show signs of wanting to crawl. So the other night, he helped the Wonder Guy, now a lanky six months old, to get up on his hands and knees.

Everything aimed him up on his hands and knees, he'd give a kick and send himself over on his nose. Finally, Mrs. Hoopler caught on. The Wonder Guy didn't want any part of this crawling stuff. He was trying to stand up.

CONTRAVERSIAL—When the problem reaches the debating stage, it has near victory, the most controversial question will be whether the function made a permanent public utility, or financed and operated by federal-state authorities as a temporary relief matter, like WPA and PWA. The lines are forming already.

Construction of $300,000,000 in new housing is being started in a sound, small, sensible way that to rush in feverishly and grandiosely.

Other groups are broader and more permanent program. Just as Uncle Sam entered the public utility business on a vast scale under the Roosevelt administration, they want to enter the housing business. He has him make housing his personal and lasting concern.

IMPOSSIBLE—Advocates of this new conception point out that when the constitution was drafted and the federal government was set up, it was a novelty, a man could settle on a piece of land and build a home without too much expense or difficulty. But that is impossible, except for the extremely well-to-do, and they were not the majority. Now there were in Thomas Jefferson's agricultural age. Nor did he contemplate the rise of sprawling manufacturing areas, where workers could not find for home prospects opened by the death, transfer or removal of the occupant.

But the different viewpoints expressed here and elsewhere by the opposing factions.

RIGHT—A little known movement shows how the winds are blowing. In a message to congress and the human rights commission of the United Nations, the American people have asked for a fundamental revision of constitutional and congressional charters fixing the responsibilities of the federal government and the people.

The declaration says that the U. S. should recognize (1) "the right to establish and maintain a family, by either or both parents, and (2) "the right to housing adapted to the needs and functions of a family."

DIFFICULTIES—It will obviously be difficult for office seekers, presidential candidates, congressmen or senators to get a vote for or against this movement in 1948. For, naturally, existing interests play both Democratic and Republican communities from both sides.

Aside from the constitutional difficulties and serious objection to such a change, as even its friends concede, the problem faces many practical, economic, financial and political difficulties. While the movement would contribute to the delay or death of tax reduction and budget-balancing.

What is the labor and material costs, and with continuing shortages, the money outlay would be staggering, even for the world's wealthiest nation. It would interfere with and slow down aid to Europe.

It would probably require suspension or rewriting of municipal building ordinances which present a system of labor-made homes. Labor leaders would not relish that.

Nevertheless, as the politics realize from their travels, the movement may get hurt if the problem is not solved—and soon!

PALESTINE PROBLEM

Two possibilities, one hopeful and the other discouraging, confront the United Nations in its disposal of the Palestine problem. Palestine is not the most critical issue before the U. N., but the challenge, which it presents, is more critical. There is no certainty of agreement now, but there is a possibility. The eventual U. N. decision must rest upon a Soviet-American accord.

No clash of ideologies appears in this case. Neither nation has commercial or strategic interests which threaten agreement. Moreover, both Washington and Moscow seem to favor the majority report of the U. N. committee on Palestine, recommending partition.

The official American attitude has consistently been favorable to a national Jewish homeland in Palestine, though the record is one of cautious, pious generalities. The most recent statement on the subject by the Soviets, who long were opposed to Zionism, was that they would favor partition if no more satisfactory solution could be found.

At least the germ of agreement is present. It may be assumed that Britain will offer no serious objections to a majority decision from the showdown cases in the security council. Her wise but long-delayed decision to step up the mantle of the defunct League of Nations indicates that she is willing to toss this hot potato to almost anybody on almost any terms.

The spectacle of this country and Russia getting together on "the solution" of this urgent, tragic problem would be heartening. Even a single instance of agreement could scarcely fail to give the U. N. a shot in the arm.

Male students in an Iowa school voted for short skirts. The eyes have it!

Taft in the Northwest

Sen. Robert A. Taft has come to the Pacific northwest. He has gone, with him came, a usually large group of national newspaper correspondents.

We mention the latter particularly because they are, in a way, a jury. Along about mid-October, the Ohio senator will decide whether or not to be an avowed candidate for Republican presidential nomination. The conclusions of the keen-minded gentlemen of the press as personal witnesses of the reception given Senator Taft will be, informally, like the verdict of a jury.

And the situation may change. But the climate's not so hot and the sun's not so bright. Senator Taft may realize that his presence in the northwest with evangelistic fervor nor arouse fear for him personally.

His attacks on the Truman administration were to be expected from an opposition leader. The attacks upon the Taft-Hartley law discredited the attackers but failed to hurt Taft's standing only in limited circles. His discussions of foreign policy were not worthy enough and his outline of social aid measures would scarcely have been noticed by the public.

Senator Taft by virtue of his swing around the national circuit has revealed himself to the country as he has. He has gone, with him came, a usually large group of national newspaper correspondents.

THE SLOT MACHINE TAX

When the slot machine tax was before the legislature, the independent minority pointed out that the Idaho constitution contained a lottery operation, which is what a slot machine is. Under the constitution, it was recently found to be so, so as to give the sucker a better deal back to him, so to speak, even if it was a gambling device.

The constitutional ban was completely disregarded, though each time the legislature tried to uphold it, and the bill became law. Now the district judge in Oodling county, Doran H. Sulphur, has ruled that the tax was to legalize slot machines, which appears amply justified. If our constitution is still in force.

The Gooding suit will doubtless appeal and then the issue will be up to the supreme court. There can be little doubt as to what its verdict will be. The people of Idaho want to legalize slot machines they should amend their constitution.—Stanley Free Press.

Even in the limited space of a train galloping it's a New York Central rail that used fats be saved. Why? Because, folks, our government says every pound of used fats should be saved to help relieve a world-wide shortage that is still critical. Last July, for example, our dining cars and commissaries turned in almost five thousand pounds. And we're keeping it. So if you're not saving fats as regularly as you used to, won't you get back in the habit? Every drop is still needed!

Increased Wages, Too

On top of these "rules" changes, the leaders of the operating unions have filed an additional demand for a wage increase of over 30 per cent. If granted, this would be an added cost to the railroads of $400,000,000 a year.

$468,000,000 To Non-Operating Employees

In addition to this, an Arbitration Board has just granted a wage increase of 15 1/2 cents an hour to the million employees represented by the 17 non-operating unions. This will cost the railroads $468,000,000 a year.

Where Will The Money Come From?

Where will all the money come from to pay these increases? They total several times as much as the railroads made in 1946 or will make in 1947.

In July, the railroads filed an application for increased freight rates to close the gap which then existed between wage and material costs, and railroad revenues. Since then it has been necessary, because of further increases in wages and material costs, to supplement that petition and to ask for an additional freight rate increase. No other course is open:

Railroads Do Not Run For Employees Alone

Railroads are operated for the benefit of not one, but several groups—shippers, passengers, employees, stockholders, and the general public. The interest of all must be served—and that cannot be done unless the railroads can operate efficiently and economically, and unless they are allowed to earn sufficient revenue to provide the kind of transportation service this country MUST HAVE.

Where will all the money come from to pay these increases? They total several times as much as the railroads made in 1946 or will make in 1947.

In July, the railroads filed an application for increased freight rates to close the gap which then existed between wage and material costs, and railroad revenues. Since then it has been necessary, because of further increases in wages and material costs, to supplement that petition and to ask for an additional freight rate increase. No other course is open:

Railroads Do Not Run For Employees Alone

Railroads are operated for the benefit of not one, but several groups—shippers, passengers, employees, stockholders, and the general public. The interest of all must be served—and that cannot be done unless the railroads can operate efficiently and economically, and unless they are allowed to earn sufficient revenue to provide the kind of transportation service this country MUST HAVE.

It's to your interest to know about this proposed feather-bedding!

For sheer feather-bedding, this mock wool proposal takes the cake. But it is only one of 44 "rules" demands filed by the leaders of the operating unions. If all these demands were granted, they would cost the railroads an added BILLION DOLLARS A YEAR.

Increased Wages, Too

On top of these "rules" changes, the leaders of the operating unions have filed an additional demand for a wage increase of over 30 per cent. If granted, this would be an added cost to the railroads of $400,000,000 a year.

$468,000,000 To Non-Operating Employees

In addition to this, an Arbitration Board has just granted a wage increase of 15 1/2 cents an hour to the million employees represented by the 17 non-operating unions. This will cost the railroads $468,000,000 a year.

Taft Ratifies Truman Plans For Food Cut

NEW YORK, Oct. 7 (AP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft, R. O., said last night he "unreservedly approved" of President Truman's program for domestic reduction in consumption of food. The Republican leader made his statement in a radio debate with Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney, D. Wyo., on the high cost of living. He also declared that present high prices "have been caused by the policies of the Roosevelt and Truman administration."

O'Mahoney countered that "President Truman in both 1945 and 1947 has made every effort to prevent inflation" and that "the Republican congress had done nothing to combat inflation."

"Ignored Warnings" O'Mahoney declared that Taft "has ignored the repeated and specific official warnings of President Truman that delay in dealing with the problem" of "inflation" costs might mean disaster.

He said that Taft should not be making charges against the President "when his own record for 1947 is a blank page." The Wyoming legislator said the "real source of our difficulties" was that "we do have monopoly and that the monopolies of commerce drive the people most pay."

Both Against OPA Each senator spoke 10 minutes and then, in a rebuttal period following, both said they were against the return of the OPA. O'Mahoney said the OPA was "a war program" and added he favored anti-monopoly legislation and action by congress to "place the responsibility for costs upon the corporations which produce the products the people need and which fix the prices."

Taft Lists Causes

In his talk Taft listed the causes of high prices as: 1. "The tremendous demand, far greater than before the war, resulting from increased income in this country, and from huge exports three times greater than in any peace time year." 2. "The administration's insistence on a general wage increase pattern, adopting the extraordinary theory proclaimed by Henry Walling, a general manager of the CIO, that there would be a universal wage increase of 25 per cent without increasing prices." 3. "The huge federal taxation." 4. "The President removed OPA controls too quickly."

Pre-Marital Tests Close Three Days

Residents of this area who are contemplating that trip down the aisle were advised Tuesday by officials of the south central district health unit in Twin Falls that the laboratory will be closed Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Oct. 13 through 15, and all persons requiring pre-marital blood tests should have samples taken before Oct. 12. The laboratory will be closed to enable technicians to attend a staff meeting at Boise. According to state law, tests must be made within 30 days of the day the marriage license is issued, and the license may be secured immediately upon completion of the health certificate by a physician.

Employers Urged To Try Workers Having Handicap

Supplementing the proclamations of Gov. C. A. Bohlen and Mayor H. C. Lauterbach setting Oct. 5 through 11 aside as National Employ the Physically Handicapped week, A. J. Meeks, manager of the Twin Falls office of the Idaho state employment service, Tuesday urged all employers to give as many openings as possible with men and women who have physical handicaps. All local employment offices of the ISES will make special efforts during the week to place handicapped workers in jobs for which they are fitted.

"Handicapped workers can do well when placed in positions for which they are qualified, so by hiring handicapped persons the employer is reducing the total number of such persons in the community," Manager Meeks said. He pointed out that the employment service knows what these workers can do and each local office will assist employers in making the right selection of workers to fill these jobs.

Odds Against 'Nubbins,' but He's Cheerful

DENVER, Oct. 7 (AP)—Forrest "Nubbins" Hoffman was in a Denver hospital today for a diagnostic and check-up in preparation for a serious illness operation, but attendants reported he did not seem too worried about the 1,000-to-1 odds against him.

The great-old, whose home is in Chignecto, Wyo., won out over similar odds in 1944, when it was thought he would live for Christmas and celebrated the day with toys from well-wishers throughout the nation in November.

Sleeps soundly

Attendants, who said he was not scheduled for surgery today, reported he was sleeping soundly last night.

Nubbins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Hoffman, entered the hospital yesterday afternoon, after pleading a trip to Denver's zoo and a lunch downtown. He didn't want to go to the hospital and carrying his mother's love more than he could before he was checked in, taking an armful of picture books and a model car.

First of Two Operations

Doctors said that this week's operation would be the first of two, both delicate, but necessary to save him from death within two years.

His father was to return here in a few days to see his son after "deposit" in a Denver blood bank, which may be drawn on during Nubbins' operation.

Ballyhoo Arrivals Of Aid Shipments, Texan Tells U. S.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7 (AP)—Representative Abner D. Tamm, proposed today that this country send relief food abroad to the accompaniment of great fanfare.

The Texan, who has just returned from a tour and study of conditions in Europe, suggested that relief food be sent to the continent on other commodities like wheat and other farm products.

He said that the United States should send wheat, corn, cotton and other farm products to Europe and other ballyhooed areas such as the Philippines, which he said were in such a state of economic distress that such psychological tactics were needed to impress upon the people the fact that the U. S. is providing food.

He said Russia had capitalized greatly last year on an announcement that 4,000,000 bushels of Soviet wheat was being sent to France. Tamm said French authorities told him that, although not more than half of that amount was actually delivered, a great many French people only heard the original announcement and still were inclined sympathetically to the communists.

3 Hunt Fatalities In Koskia Area

KOSKIA, Oct. 7 (AP)—The third hunting fatality in four days took the life of Leo Gash, 42, Koskia, yesterday, Idaho County Coroner Clarence Ailor said. Ailor reported Gash was shot accidentally by his hunting companion, Jim Nickel, Koskia.

The coroner said Gash was wounded Sunday when Nickel fired four shots at an elk. One shot hit the line of fire. The bullet shattered Gash's hip bone. Forest service workers and other hunters carried the wounded man three miles along mountain trails and moved him another four miles to a home and tractor, but he died as the ambulance was waiting.

Other deaths in this area, Ailor said, were those of Fredrick M. Kern, 40, Jacques Spur farmer, who was killed Friday when mistaken for an elk by a hunting companion, and Byron Canton, of San Diego, Calif., who died of a heart attack Friday after killing an elk.

Larry MacPhail Steps Down as President as Yankees Defeat Dodgers for World's Title

YANKEES STADIUM, New York, Oct. 7 (AP)—The instant the New York Yankees won the world series Monday, Larry MacPhail, their president, fully announced his retirement as Yankee president.

MacPhail's decision cast a restraint over the Yankee team. He went from man to man, hugging and shaking hands in fervid congratulations.

down his face, his hair tousled, and his green necktie twisted back over his shoulder.

MacPhail said "If anybody is entitled to the credit, it's this fellow," he said, pointing to Joe Judge, who had just been named manager of the Yankees.

Harris told he made the decision to bring on Page after Devoe had strained his arm, aggravating an old injury.

U. S., Russia Rift Has Put U.N. on Spot

By R. H. SHACKFORD
 LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Oct. 7 (AP)—The elaborate United Nations, born only two years ago amidst so much hope, are helpless and dejected today in the middle of a declared no-quarter political war between two giants—the United States and Soviet Russia.

The "war" actually had been underway for many months. But all pretense had been tossed aside now. The "hot" stage was over.

Lines Clearly Drawn

The lines were clearly drawn except that both sides claimed Italy and France. Those two unhappy countries were the immediate stakes in the conflict. There the first battles between communism and capitalism will be waged in the coming months.

Two immediate results of the Soviet move will be: 1. A decision by Secretary of State George C. Marshall to present his European economic recovery plan to congress as a political as well as economic grounds; 2. Inevitable failure of the big four to agree on peace treaties for Germany and Austria in London next month and the probable collapse of the big four machinery.

Delegates Dismayed

But U.N. delegates, alarmed and dismayed at the hopeless outlook for an east-west reconciliation after the new communist international manifesto against American "imperialism," agreed that the ultimate victim will be the United Nations itself.

One middle-of-the-road delegate pointed out that both the United States and the Soviet union have rejected the basic concept of the United Nations — one world. This delegate said the United States did it in the Truman doctrine and the Russians have now done it formally in their communist manifesto.

Residents Asked To Observe Fire Prevention Week

In calling upon residents of Twin Falls to join in observance of Fire Prevention week, Oct. 7 through 11, Fred O. Gibb, Tuesday pointed to the high price being paid by the nation for fire casualties.

As part of the local observance, a special display has been arranged by the local department in the windows of the Idaho Power company here.

Statistics from the National Fire Protection association, sponsor of the week, indicate that fire damage this year will reach $700,000,000. This is 25 per cent higher than 1946 and tops all past fire losses.

The toll of dead and injured will approach 40,000 more than the total number listed as missing by the army and navy after four years of war. The death toll, 11,000, is almost 30 times greater than the number of Americans who died in the African invasion.

Pointing out that 90 per cent of such losses can be prevented, Chief Gibb added that time lost on the job because of fires would build nearly 1,000,000 badly needed automobiles and is equal to one-fourth the cost of all the strikes in 1946.

TO TRAIN IN ALASKA
 WASHINGTON, Oct. 7 (AP)—With the defense of Alaska considered of prime importance, Gen. Jacob L. Devere, commander of the army ground forces, announced today that second infantry division troops will train in Alaska this winter in "Exercise Yukon."
