Trio Hurt in Most Severe Of 9 Crashes

The most serious of nine automobile accidents reported by city, county and state police, occurred at 10 a. m. Saturday when a 1947 sedan crashed into a concrete culvert one-half mile east of Kimberly on U. S. highway 30.

The three occupants were removed to Twin Falls hospital where one of them, Warren M. Murrigh, was reportedly in good condition early Sunday morning. The others, William Webster, 35, Kimberly, and Paul Bowman, 25, Kimberly, the driver of the car, were released from the hospital after treatment.

The car left the road on a sharp curve when it was blinded by the lights of an approaching car. Bowman told Twin Falls county deputy sheriff's officers, who said the car was a total wreck.

Lamont A. Menzies, 37, of 449 Benton avenue east was cited by state officers following an automobile-truck accident about 4:30 p. m. Saturday. Two Wells to Be Sunk for Use by Store

The first of two wells to supply water for the air conditioning system at the proposed Sears-Roebuck and company building in the 800 block of Main avenue west is being drilled by Irvin Olinicki, Mountain City, Nev., who estimated that the first well would be completed within three weeks.

Olinicki, who is drilling the well under contract to the company, said the wells are to provide 250 gallons of water a minute for the air conditioner. Water will be drilled to a depth between 200 and 300 feet.

Progress in drilling the well will be slow, he said, because it will be necessary to drill through a solid lava rock formation most of the way.

The well now being drilled will supply water for the plant and the second will return the water underground in order that a circulating lava rock formation most of the way.

Halloween Is Termed Mild In Twin Falls

caps from parked automobiles.

Windows in the business section were sooted, and in many cases was crumpled or used. Several stores tried to make the task of cleaning their show windows easier by putting floor polish on them early Friday, but it served as a challenge to pranksters.

One window soaping incident resulted in a fight that brought in five of the police station. Four of the group were involved and the rest were there to find out what was going to happen.

After a few anxious minutes at the police station, not knowing whether they were going to be kicked up or not, the entire group was sent home.

One boy in explaining the incident told the desk sergeant "we were just soaping the windows as we were driving on Halloween when this guy tries to stop us."

"Which is his privilege?" the sergeant asked one of the boys.

All removable rubbish boxes and barrels in the downtown alleys were overturned during the night.

One irate man who was explaining how "bad" the kids had been, broke off and began to laugh as the desk sergeant, who knew the complaining man when they were a kid, reminded him of a prank they pulled one Halloween.

There was more talk of what was done in years past than there was of what was done on Halloween.

"Kids just don't think up the kinds of meanness we did when we were young. Remember the time we put the dog under the eaves at Bickel school?"

Saturday morning police Chief Edward W. Gillette said, with a sigh of relief, "This year wasn't one-half as bad as last year."

Area Turkeys Start Trek to Mart Monday

 period will continue until Nov. 18. These will be turkeys that hatched in March.
 Then on Dec. 1 processing will start for the Christmas and New Year holidays, for which 30,000 birds will be required.
 Finally, in January some 10,000 birds from the late hatch in June will remain to meet miscellaneous market requirements.
 An unsteady eastern market, aggravated by the recent "poultryless Thursday" proclamation, has caused turkey raisers to develop nearly as many wrinkles as the brows of the dignified and strutting Toms they raise.
 From the start, turkeys were unable to follow the logic of the program.
 They looked at it this way: The purpose of the food conservation is to save grain.
 When people cut down on eating turkeys, there are less turkeys in the pot.
 Turkeys not in the pot are still alive.
 Live turkeys eat grain. Dead turkeys don't.
 Why the "Turkey Growers" association last week prevailed upon the President's cabinet food committee to recommend to the food conservation committee that they be exempt from poultryless Thursdays, but the request was rejected.
 This unsound market condition, coupled with the steep 43 per bushel for high protein wheat, of which a 20-pound turkey will consume 100 pounds by the time he reaches marketable age of seven months, has growers thinking of putting the turkeys in cold storage until the market levels off. As it costs about $7 to merely raise a bird, not including processing and shipping, raising would not realize much profit if they support or floor price. This is 44 cents on 15-pound dressed turkeys at Wendell and 33 cents on 20-pound turkeys.
 Although turkey interests are confused by marketing conditions, the picture is somewhat brightened by a trend to merchandise turkeys more attractively. Although producers contend that big turkeys are really better than small turkeys because they put on more flesh in the same period of time and are consequently more succulent, many housewives back away from a big turkey in preference for a smaller one. One small family is unable to dispose of a 20 or 25 pound turkey, even via the hash routine, so they want smaller amounts.
 One solution for this problem is being tried successfully in sale of turkey steaks, which eliminate the possible waste from investing in an entire turkey.
 Growers are encouraging these and other merchandising practices.

Gary Cooper 'Flutters' Hearts of Bevy Of Waitresses During Brief Stop Here

Gary Cooper eased in and out of Twin Falls Friday afternoon minus fanfare, but he caused the hearts of a bevy of waitresses to flutter faster or beneath their uniforms.
 The long and lank film star, who recently testified at congressional committee hearings on the motion picture industry at Washington, D. O., and whose next project is a bear hunt near Hell's canyon, dropped into Scott's cafe shortly after the noon hour rush. With Mrs. Cooper and another feminine companion, he sat in the second booth from the front door.
 Waitress Thelma Park took their orders without recognizing them, although she thought the tall man did look a little familiar. Mr. and Mrs. Cooper ordered breaded halibut while their companion ate ham and eggs.
 When Miss Park went to the rear of the cafe with the order where several more celebrity-conscious waitresses asked her if she knew whom she was waiting on.
 "No, but I think it's somebody," she said, bearing down on the "somebody."
 After learning it was none other than Gary Cooper, she was than Cooper and company, she began to feel concerned she would get nervous and spill the tomato juice down the Cooper neck. But aside from tripping once over the metal container, then set the container down in front of the patron and walked back to the fountain with the glass containing the drink.

 The only unusual thing the Coopers did was to leave a $1 tip.

HOW ACCURATE SHOULD YOUR WATCH BE?

In the U. S. Observatory at Washington, there are several Riefler Clocks which have been built and installed at great expense.

"These clocks have been mounted on concrete piers sunk deep in the earth to avoid vibration. They are housed in a room which is kept always at a certain temperature. Every 28 seconds they are automatically wound by electricity. They run by vacuum, not in spite of all precautions which human ingenuity can devise, these clocks do not keep perfect time. The fixed stars nature's own timekeepers. They alone are absolutely accurate. Through nightly observations of the stars, corrections are made in the variations of these Riefler Clocks so that the nation may have its time as nearly correct as humanly possible.

The public, ordinarily unaware that the keeping of perfect time is a mechanical impossibility, grievously errs in expecting absolute accuracy from a watch. Bumped and rattled about, subject to extreme variations of temperature and position, wound at any time or not at all, and allowed to run with the accumulated dirt, years and the absence of any trace of oil, a watch which keeps approximately good time is indeed a marvelous machine.
 Pocket watch accuracy should not be expected or demanded from a wrist watch because its smaller mechanism does not possess the power to drive the mechanism with the same continuous uniformity. Consider that one minute's vibration a day means only one second's variation out of 1440, or a deviation from perfection of less than 7/10,000, therefore the following table may be accepted as defining the timekeeping accuracy to be expected from a wrist watch.

- ONE-HALF MINUTE A DAY IS VERY GOOD TIME
- ONE MINUTE A DAY IS GOOD TIME
- 2 MINUTES A DAY IS STANDARD GOVERNMENT TIME REQUIRED OF A LARGE STEEL WATCH

Divided India Wastes Effort In Civil Strife

NEW DELHI, Nov. 1 (AP)—The new dominions of Pakistan and India, soon hostile to one another, have found their first two and a half months of freedom marked by bloody strife among their intermingled peoples and now the partisans of each are locked in a desperate shooting combat in Kashmir.

Great hordes of Kashmiris, who are fleeing to India, are attempting to seize the government of that princely state, and the answering fire of Indian army planes and Sikh troops present a grim picture very much resembling fights in other lands which have precipitated wars. But no responsible person really believes either dominion wants or will go to war, or even could support one.

Instead of war, most informed observers and officials foresee an indefinite period of trouble and strife, which will continue to handicap seriously the efforts of the two dominions to get on their feet.

Progress Is Delayed

The months which both dominions hoped to spend writing their constitutions, perfecting their administrations and trying to raise the living standards of illiterate and undernourished millions have been devoted instead to quelling communal rioting which has killed hundreds of thousands of Hindus, Sikhs and Moslems.

Food shortages threaten to assume famine proportions in some sections due to crop failures. Yet the government must divert food to adequately feed fighting forces whose requirements are greater than the average civilian's. The government must divert railway rolling stock for troop and refugee movements when it is needed to distribute food and essentials to the shortage areas. In addition, crops have been wasted in the fields in many places while the peasants fought or fled.

Merchant Police Work While City Sleeps

Merchant Police Remain Alert On Warehouse District Patrol

"The night has a thousand eyes, and the day but one."

To carry this quotation further, that of those thousand eyes are up to no good. For that reason, while law-abiding folk sleep, a few must maintain a vigil until dawn begins to edge away the black shadows.

One of the most recent additions to patrols that move through the darkened streets and alleys to protect life and property are the Twin Falls merchant police who have the twin warehouse and industrial district southeast of Third avenue south and west as their domain.

Last Halloween evening a Times-News writer made the rounds with Fred C. Wood, filer, in the latest addition to the merchant police patrol—a civilian version of the jeep that came into its own during the last war. Patrolman Wood is also a newcomer to the service, operated by Detective Parrott in conjunction with the Reliable Detective Bureau here. After joining along through dark warehouse areas through alleys and across railroad tracks for an evening, the newswoman felt no envy for the merchant police and their lonely job.

If it's rough now, it was rougher when Detective Parrott took it over in February of 1947. The service had previously operated only on a night-watchman basis, and Parrott at first made the rounds on foot, walking many miles a night, and as he rode along in the jeep with Wood, he commented on how cold it used to get on some of those winter nights. From that small start, the merchant police patrol has now developed to full-time operation of the jeep and the uniformed officer, while Parrott also assists in emergencies with another car. His new plans to devote most of his time to the detective bureau, however, although he is responsible for operating the merchant police service.

The merchant police supplement state, county and city law enforcement units and Operator Parrott is paid by the various business warehouses and others within territory covered by the patrol.

As an example of how this service dovetails with the city police, Officer Parrott and the newspaper representative were making a sweep toward the city limits on Washington street north when they saw two cars parked in front of a downtown service station. As Parrott pulled up to the scene, one of the cars turned out to be that of Police Officer Gillette, who had stopped to investigate the first car. This in turn proved to belong to the operator of the station, so nothing was amiss; but in that particular instance the activity had been checked and double-checked.

The nightly routine falls into a definite pattern. Starting at about 7 p. m., the merchant police makes the first rounds to check on all doors and windows to see that they are secured and to be on watch for fires that may have been left burning or started by a careless, thoughtless cigarette. This preliminary swing through the area also provides the patrol with a general idea of the "lay of the land" so if anything is disturbed later in the evening it can be spotted more readily.

After that, begins the long pull of moving through deserted warehouse yards, grinding along between railroad tracks, checking suspicious characters, watching for signs of break-ins and vandalism. This general safeguarding of the million-dollar worth of property in the area.

Wood, who comes from Filer, is a fifth army veteran who saw action in Africa and Italy, and seems to be at home in the jeep, equipped with a special spotlight for probing dark corners and suspicious movements.

Parrott is a former Twin Falls county sheriff's deputy and a graduate of the FBI national academy in March of 1946. He also saw similar duty as detective for a shipyard concern in California.

When asked when most of the trouble is likely on their rounds, Wood replied, "anything can happen any time."

And Parrott added, "and it usually does."

means of channelling scarce goods into essential foreign and export use.

"No comprehensive control mechanism comparable in size to that of the war period will be required," the report stated.

Mr. Truman asked the committee to set up a House subcommittee in which a light was left burning and investigating a boxcar for possible warehouse. Secretary of the Interior Krug last week presented the first analysis to Mr. Truman—a finding that American resources are physically unable to fill Europe's needs. The report, that of the 19-member committee of citizens headed by living president of Commerce Harriman, is expected late next week. It is supposed to analyze the Paris conference requests and reduce them to a specific, feasible program.

Truman Summaries

In his David and Goliath, Saturday night's report, Mr. Truman quickly summarized his findings.

The council of economic advisers reaches the conclusion, he said, "that the American economy can sustain the general impact of a new foreign aid program, and that there is no question of our general capacity to support such a program."

At the same time, the council stresses the fact that we must deal promptly and effectively with problems raised by key commodities—wheat, steel, certain items of industrial and agricultural machinery, coal, and fertilizer."

Traffic Fines

Payment of one fine for improper parking and 28 fines for overtime parking have been made in Twin Falls city traffic court.

Doris Young paid a fine of $3 for overtime parking and fines of $1 for overtime parking were paid by Walt Smith, Edith Peterson, Robert A. DeLamater, Mike Fontenot, Earl Bryson, K. W. Snyder, W. J. Chapman, John Breckenridge, Mrs. H. H. Smith, M. E. Shovel, Ben Aspay, Clyde Smith, Cecil Jones, Roy Stanley, Isabelle Courtney, Sam Miller, V. Kullon, Albert French, Lee Logan, Vern Smith, Beatrice Meyer, C. Wington, Mrs. Keith Shevach, Mr. J. C. Roth, Mike Kamachi, Roy Whiteberke, E. T. Reed and Mrs. Grant Bankhead.

"Inflation a Reality"

The council informed Mr. Truman that the threat of a "serious price inflation," which it said was born when consumer price controls expired in mid-1946, has become a "reality," and is made more compelling by the foreign aid proposals.

Besides the commodity controls, the council said these policies must be followed.

"The continuance of tax revenues at present levels, maximum economy in government expenditures, stimulation of saving, and the enlargement and aggressive use of measures to control dangerous expansion of credit."

Traffic Fines

Doris Young paid a fine of $3 for overtime parking and fines of $1 for overtime parking were paid by Walt Smith, Edith Peterson, Robert A. DeLamater, Mike Fontenot, Earl Bryson, K. W. Snyder, W. J. We, the Women
BY RUTH MILLETT
NEA Staff Writer
Women are safer drivers than men. Or so it was agreed at last year's National Safety Congress—the annual convention of the National Safety Council.

We, the Women
Women, however, shouldn't expect such a pronouncement—even though it was backed up by national accident statistics—to have the slightest effect on what the average man thinks about women drivers. Men have many ideas about women that nothing can change—including time and contradictory facts. Their low opinion of women drivers is just one of them.

We, the Women
The trouble with women is that they haven't enough to do it another theory men are not sure by. Yet nobody has ever proved it. Women don't like other women. Isn't it true that most women have just as many women friends as men have men friends, that they are more better about keeping in touch with their friends than men are, and that women enjoy each other's company fully as much as men enjoy the companionship of men?

We, the Women
But, then, men aren't really interested in the facts when it comes to their pet opinions about women. They believe what they like to believe.

'Flying Boat' Is Launched In California

SAN PEDRO, Calif., Nov. 1 (AP)—Govan Hughes' $23,500,000 plywood flying boat, center of a congressional investigation, was launched in Long Beach harbor today, with Hughes astride a platform on its monster hull.

After four years' building, the world's largest flying boat, 22 feet long, weighing 200 tons and bearing eight engines, was launched in Long Beach harbor today, with Hughes astride a platform on its monster hull.

"This is just a rehearsal," Hughes said. "I'll fly it in April."

Jaunty in sports clothes and his "lucky" felt hat, the millionaire set his jaw and said "we are not fighting any deadline" on the reconvening of the congressional committee which meets again Wednesday to resume its investigation of Hughes' $40,000,000 wartime plane contracts.

The launching of the silver behemoth was a tedious job. First water was pumped into the graving hull. She slowly lifted, then floated, rolling gently as a giant, which hauled it seaward by overhead cable, a few feet at a time.

Today's tests were to determine if there were any leaks in the giant hull, while technicians continued "drying" out a small detail.

Sheep Experiment Explained at Meet

A principal speaker last night was J. E. Nordby, Idaho's director of regional sheep breeding laboratory of the United States department of agriculture.

Farmers Told To Beware of Fire Hazards

"Unless there is greater vigilance against fire, farmers will be harvesting more than crops this year," said County Agent Bill Priest warned Friday.

"I am referring to the fire hazards that come with stored hay. This is no time for carelessness. Farmers have worked hard all summer to swell their barns with grain and food. To have all this destroyed by a single fire, lasting perhaps but a few hours, is shameful," he added.

Priest urged farmers to avoid such a calamity by taking all possible steps in fire prevention and protection, and by storing and curing hay properly.

"Keep flammable liquids away from barns and in closed containers in buildings free of rubbish and litter accumulations. Make sure all fire extinguishers have been inspected and conveniently placed. Check all electrical wiring for damaged insulation," he warned.

"There is nothing prettier than a harvest moon, but it can look gloomy indeed if it is blacked out by smoke and fire. You will have a safe winter if you are prepared. Don't let a fire ruin it," he concluded.

United Air Lines Names New Head For Gooding Post

C. J. Manson, who has been chief of station operations for United Air Lines at Ogden, Utah, has been transferred to Gooding as station manager, succeeding H. B. Wilcox, who has held that position for the past year. UAL officials announced Friday.

Wilcox in turn has been appointed station manager of the Ogden United Air Lines unit, effective Friday. During Manager Wilcox's tenure as manager, the station has established an unusual record of growth. Within the past six months, following inauguration of air service last April 27, the number of passengers traveling by air has increased 30 per cent. Express has jumped 62 per cent, and that has been a 112 per cent advancement in freight carried by plane.

With improved schedules being instituted, station increases for this area are anticipated, the officials pointed out.

Statue of Roosevelt Readied in London

LONDON, Nov. 1 (AP)—Work is going ahead at a London foundry on the 10-foot high bronze statue of the late President Roosevelt. Casting and finishing processes on Sir William Reid Dick's figure will take five or six months.

Let's Have No 'Appeasements' Of Stalin, This Woman Urges

Editor, Times-News:—

American should accept Russia's challenge and prove to communists that democracy does work. It has been working successfully for more than a century and it will not fail until they try American standards upon our American way of life. We must be firm and steadfast not only for our own sake but for the good of the world in general.

Let's have no more appeasements and ally compromising with Stalin. Too often the things that have been done in the past. Let us be sober-minded and face the facts of that confront us every day. Communists are here to do their dirty work for Stalin and to create confusion among our people.

I'm willing for the communists to believe as he wants to believe, but if the communists are to live, let them prove it in his own country (Russia) and not come here with his false ideologies and try to overthrow our form of government.

This thing called communism must be tried and tested and shown before it can hope to be a great power for good.

Furthermore, what does the com-

This Burley Man Sides With Idaho Senator's Stand

Editor, Times-News:—

Mr. Ketter's forum letter reminded me that the United States has applied the Monroe Doctrine after the fashion of the century, bilingual farmer who posts no trespassing signs then hunts and fishes in his neighbors' fields and interferes in his neighbors' family quarrels, reserving his own natural resources for himself, and tending his own domestic affairs in his own way. Not because he's in the right nor justified in his acts, but because he is big 'n' tough.

I recall that many of the "proudly ignorant" displayed better judgment or something than the President and state and commerce departments when, in the name of free enterprise, we were shipping oil and scrap iron to Japan which was contributing very little peace to China, and later to the United States.

These shipments and the war depleted our oil resources until our one-way trespass sign finds us in the East. We had more oil than Russia and the U. S. combined and we don't intend to share it with Russia.

What the results would be if Russia were to follow our Grecian example in Mexico or Central America, I leave to your imagination. The "iron curtain" prevents me from entering the Russian angle of the controversy but we have so many "iron curtain" prevent me from entering the Russian angle of the controversy.

Mr. Ketter's arrival at the figure of more than 2,000,000 Russians has been by Stalin; his claim that Russia has no atom bomb and if she had would drop it in a Japan leads me to believe that the iron curtain is like the Atlantic Charter—quite non-existent.

It seems that the Golden Rule is too all-embracing a principle for many of our irresponsible people to apply. We consistently hold ourselves above the rules we expect other nations to be governed by and as consistently, rely on threats, bribery and economic and military pressure to attain our ends.

We should meet the truth and logic of Senator Taylor's statements with

Auto Firms Getting Prepared For New Era of Competition

DETROIT, Nov. 1 (AP)—Major automobile manufacturers are scattering their operations slowly to strategic areas. It is part of the jockeying for position against the time when the market again becomes competitive.

The decentralization of plants, employment and purchasing is having a marked economic effect on scores of communities across the nation. Every state furnishes raw materials to the industry.

By relocating assembly plants and supply depots nearer to market, the car makers seek to cut costs by eliminating high freight bills for long-haul shipment from the Detroit and midwest areas.

More than 1,000 parts companies and 200 tool and die firms in some employing 3,000,000 persons, center around the manufacture, sale, service and use of motor vehicles.

Since the first of the year, Ford has been seeking new vendors on the west coast to supply its California plants locally with a wide variety of parts, including bulky items such as wheels and gasoline tanks. Ford plans to increase his west coast purchases from $15,000,000 annually to $85,000,000.

All steps by the car makers are aimed to the coming competitive market when dealers are forced to get their profits from their regular 25 per cent discount—after absorbing losses on trade-ins. At present the dealers are riding high on the seller's market and profits are no problem.

She Objects to Blind Support Of U. S. Policies Over Russia

Editor, Times-News:—

In these days of hysteria and fear if one mentions Russia in an ordinary voice he is apt to be called a communist, and perhaps a demagogue, for such words have no interest in opinions that differ from those of Truman or Marshall.

The Women's Home Companion for November is urging all women to agree with these men. Secretary of State Marshall asks us to support his foreign policy and George Fielding Eliot, in an article entitled "Four Years in World Peace" calls on us to do some thinking—and then tells us what to think.

There are two ideas that were not mentioned in the above magazine that might throw additional light on the question. Some of my colleagues give a course entitled "Geographic Influences on American Policy." The authors of one of the textbooks states that nothing could have prevented the American people from sweeping Mexico out of the way in order to round out the natural geographic boundaries of the U. S.

If that is true of us and our boundaries, isn't it equally true of Russia and her much needed ports on the Mediterranean? If American people were in Russia, how long would it take to get warm winter ports—again, after the months of the present desire to re-visit the present quickly?

For such a communist and want no remuneration of any kind. However there is still another idea it is to face the Dictatorships of any kind, and Russia's particular brand spread and grow like a rapidly growing cancer disease. A war with Russia, which our state department is contemplating through Greece, would not only prevent Russian people from modifying their dictatorship, but would sweep

Hearings Held on Mine Rail Wayout

DENVER, Nov. 1 (AP)—Hearings behind closed doors which "may shake several days" according to E. McDaniel of the national mediation board, began here today in an attempt to resolve the nine-day-old Bingham and Garfield railroad strike.

Opening sessions of the hearings brought together McDaniel and officials of the vast Kennecott Copper company, whose holdings have been crippled by the strike.

Later, the mediator will meet with railroad officials and representatives of striking trainmen. The strike has crippled operations in one of the nation's major copper producing centers, and attempts were being made to rush through pocatello of the dispute.

Pocatellan Killed In Scooter Crash

POCATELLO, Nov. 1 (AP)—Arthur Thurens, 37, Union Pacific railroad employe, was injured fatally today when his motor scooter and an automobile collided on the east-west state highway north of Pocatello.

He died an hour after the mishap. Sheriff Alvin Marley said Charles M. Smith, 29, Pocatello, was the driver of the car. He said investigation indicated the car was attempting to pass the scooter, which turned left into the path of the other vehicle.

The noted singer proudly boasted that he shot one elk on the first hunt—his first. He added that the outing was so successful that he intended to return to Jackson hole as soon as possible to try it again.

Idahoan Kills Wife, Self in Cafe Gunplay

COUNCIL, Nov. 1 (AP)—Herman B. Bower, 42, former Cascade night watchman, last night killed his wife, Mrs. Evelyn Bower, 35, and then turned the gun on himself, Carl Swanson, Adams county prosecuting attorney, said today. Bower did two hours later.

William Bower, said his brother-in-law, Herman, had been dependent for two days.

Talks with wife

Bower entered the dining room of Marvin's cafe in Council about 6:15 p.m. yesterday, sat down at the lunch counter and talked to his wife, who was a waitress, Swanson declared.

Seven eye-witnesses to the shooting said that there appeared to be no argument between the two. Swanson said when Mrs. Bower turned to wait on a customer to the cafe, Bower jumped to his feet, pulled a .22 automatic from his coat pocket and shot his wife through the head. He was about three or four feet from her at the time, Mrs. Bower died almost instantly.

Dies 2 Hours Later

The witnesses told Swanson Bower put the gun to his right temple and fired. Bower died about 8:25 p.m., two hours after the shooting. His attending physician said the bullet had gone completely through his head.

Eye witnesses to the shooting were Mrs. Edna Phillips, waitress; Mary Masterson, cook; J. B. Bateman, Sam Black and Don Stevens, all Pacific, and Mr. and Mrs. Kne, Tamarrack.

U. S. 'Interested' By Palau Island Bauxite Deposits

HONOLULU, T. H. Nov. 1 (AP)—Possibility of a large-scale United States mining operation in the remote Palau islands of the south Pacific is seen here. It has been disclosed that deposits of more than 50,000,000 tons of bauxite exist in the islands.

Bauxite is the ore from which aluminum is extracted.

The largest deposits are on an island in the Caroline group, according to Joshua Bridge advised Pacific fleet headquarters. Bridge made an economic survey of the Palau for the U. S. Commercial company at the request of the navy.

The geologist said the bauxite may require special treatment because of the difference in chemical and physical properties from that which is now being refined in the United States.

He believes it is entirely possible that the ore can be exported profitably. It is believed several commercial companies in the United States are interested in the possibility.

The bauxite deposits were discovered by the Japanese in 1937 and mining operations began immediately. In the next six years, the Japanese produced about 400,000 metric tons of exportable ore.

During the war, the mining facilities were bombed heavily and strafed by U. S. planes and only a small part of the equipment can be salvaged, the navy said.

Only two per cent of the people of the United States have what is called "perfect vision."

Twin Falls Woman Conducting Own Relief Plans for Europe

By LORATHE ORTON SMITH

Long before the Marshall plan of aid to Europe was suggested, Twin Falls woman was running her own relief program for Europe. And the program is still going on.

Mrs. D. E. Schimke, 120 Eighth avenue east, can truthfully say they are alive today through her efforts. For it is this most German woman who has packed and shipped 65 boxes of food, clothing and bedding.

For this most German woman which mean a new lease on life to their recipients? Just about anything which is nourishing and non-perishable.

Lard and meat are non-essential in Germany and these items are requested most often by her relatives. She has four sisters and numerous nieces and nephews—part of the German refugees whose homes and belongings were destroyed in the war.

Originally the family lived in Romania when they owned farms and never knew what it was to be hungry. Mrs. Schimke's father, who was 21 years old. Another sister in American Falls also is working aid to the family left in Europe.

Raisins, rice, beans, flour, macaroni and pasta are musts for each box. Mrs. Schimke, quick to turn credit for her life-saving endeavors to others, said many persons have given her things to send. She emphasized many people, both in organizations and as individuals, are doing the same thing. Recently women of the Methodist church filled for boxes which were shipped directly to her relatives. The Immanuel Lutheran church here and the Clover church send parcels regularly, she said.

The Schimke's first sent CARE parcels, but found personal shipments arrived sooner. They began sending food in August, 1946, a week after the wartime alliance of her relatives was broken and it was learned they were still alive.

Proof of the power of war propaganda was her sister's amazement to learn Mrs. Schimke was well and unharmed. They had been told America had suffered a such destruction as Germany.

No letter with a foreign stamp had come to the Schimke's home since Sept. 9, so it is with special anxiety she awaits the postman each day.

The plight of a brother-in-law shows the chaotic conditions under which displaced persons live. Purged from the Nazi army when, with 600 Romanians he was ordered to Germany in 1940, he contracted tuberculosis and although only a two-hour train ride from his wife, he died without ever seeing his family. Only a son in the British zone was allowed to come to see him, while a daughter in the Russian zone was refused permission—even to walk.

"Members of my family alone are scattered in the three occupation zones of Germany, through Austria and Romania, and that is the same plight of millions more," she pointed out.

The DP's are sent hither and yon, two sisters were ordered back to Romania, but their former homes were occupied by strangers. It took them four months to make the journey by foot. Another sister walked through rough country at night with her two children to escape from the Russian zone into Austria, and there seems to be at least enough food to keep the wolf from the door in that country, for a niece there writes she has enough to eat, but she works for a gardener and it's hard to keep clean in that kind of work with no soap. Yes, soap goes into each package her aunt sends.

When asked about the black market, Mrs. Schimke pointed out that since this summer's drought in Germany means no food to spare for home-use nationalities, it wouldn't seem logical for recipients of Amer-

Goff's Record Is Rapped by Demo Leader

State Democratic Chairman Don J. Cavanaugh today accused Rep. Abe MacGregor Goff, R., I.D., of "sacrificing his independence of action to become a political rubber stamp of big business interests."

Earlier this week Cavanaugh opened up an attack against Idaho's Republican delegation by dubbing Rep. John Sanborn, second district representative, as a "do-nothing" congressman. Sanborn declined comment.

Cavanaugh said Goff, serving his first district, had a distinguished career in the army.

"But," said Cavanaugh, "Goff gave the people of Idaho a straight rubber stamp vote against farmers, against miners, against labor, against consumers and against veterans for the big business interests."

Cavanaugh said his record shows that Goff voted against veterans' interest by "attempting . . . to reduce the appropriations for the veterans administration."

He added that the congressman voted to trim old conservation benefits to farmers and to slash interior department appropriations for both reclamation and grazing.

'As Kentucky Goes . . . ?'

Washington politicians see the Kentucky gubernatorial election, Nov. 4, as this year's most important state to show which way the national political wind is blowing. Kentucky, normally Democratic, has had a Republican governor, Blanton Willsie of Ashland, since 1945. In 1946, Blanton was elected a Republican senator and ousted two Democratic congressmen. All that makes GOVERNOR feel pretty good. But the Democratic claim history is on their side—over her voters elected two Republican governors in a row. Current Democratic candidate is Rep. Earle C. Clements, Morgantown. GOP nominee is Atty-Gen. E. B. Dumas, Lexington. The GOP has the advantage in the race. Clements voted to uphold President Truman's veto of this bill, while Dumas endorsed the measure. National GOP leaders say if Dumas wins the governorship, it means a GOP 48 landslide.
