

Divorce Case Rule Is Seen As Precedent

(From Page One) charges that following the filing of the original complaint by Meyer, he and his first wife resumed marital relations. Attorney Clark, co-author of "Nelson on Divorce," a nationally known work, explained that such action automatically nullifies a divorce complaint and that the decree was granted without Judge Porter learning of the alleged act. Judge Porter ruled that Meyer and his first wife were still married and that the second marriage occurred while he was married to his first wife and was therefore null and void. Meyer of his second wife did not appear in court to answer the complaint. Mrs. Meyer No. 1 charged that her husband was a bona fide resident of Seattle, Wash., at the time the divorce was filed. Attorney Clark stated that according to a federal supreme court ruling, six weeks residence in a state with no intention to remain in the state does not constitute bona fide residence.

Roads to Ski Area Cleared For Outings

J. D. Simens, Twin Falls District Highway director, announced Saturday that the highway to Magic Mountain was clear of snow and was safe to travel. He said that with due caution and a well-known roadster extended to follow travelers, no one should have any trouble on the road. The forest service has kept the road in good condition and the highway department has been able to clear the road of snow so that two cars can easily pass.

In reference to a story in the Times-News Thursday he said, "I would regret it very much if the statement would cause any parents of the dozens of school children who go to Magic Mountain to hesitate in allowing their children to make the trip, or that the hundreds of people who desire to go up on the mountain would be led to believe that any great danger existed." He pointed out that the Twin Falls highway district has first class snow removal equipment and experienced operators and intends to do a good, not a better, service than in the past.

Ex-King Marriage Plans 'Postponed'

LAUSANNE, Switzerland, Jan. 10 (AP)—An aide to former King Mihail of Romania said today Mihail's expected marriage to Princess Anne of Bourbon-Parma is off, at least for the immediate future. The 24-year-old princess interrupted her journey from Copenhagen to meet the former monarch and announced she was going instead to Luxembourg. Maj. Jacques Vergott, Mihail's spokesman, said a love "entanglement" right now could be used by Romanian communists to destroy his hopes of eventually returning to his throne. Most persons in the entourage of the prince of Hohenzollern, a 26-year-old Mihail is now known, have stressed that he advocated for "political reasons" and not to "marry the girl he loves."

Decreets in 3 Divorces Are Granted Here

In a divorce action which ended here Friday, District Judge James W. Porter not only granted the decrees but gave the plaintiff custody of the couple's two children and gave her all the community property except the clothing and jewelry worn by the defendant. In his ruling, Judge Porter gave Gillian Truman Langham government bonds of $2,000 in government bonds, control of $1,000 in government bonds for the education of the children and ordered Capt. Harold Dean Langham to pay his former wife $10 a month for her support and $70 a month for the support of the children. Fees 1000 Fees He granted Langham permission, however, to have custody of the children for two weeks each year. On the other hand, he ordered the captain to pay his former wife's attorney fees which amount to $50. She was represented by Marshall Chapman and Lawrence H. Quinn. In her complaint, Mrs. Langham said while her husband was stationed in Germany he asked her to come back to Idaho. She charged, he told her he didn't want her there and then "exerted influence" to keep the children with him. Others Granted Two other divorces were granted Friday by Judge Porter with the decrees going to the husbands in each case. Grounds in each instance were extreme cruelty and both wives de facto. Decrees went to Vernon R. Alken, represented by Rayburn and Rayburn, divorcing him from Bertine Alken, and to Jess M. Dunks, divorcing him from Astera Dunks. Dunks was represented by Attorney Roy E. Smith.

Breckenridge Relected by Woolgrowers and game department on controlling predators and burning of brush in forest areas.

Chief Urges Priests
Byran J. Pauley, Deer Lodge, Mont., National Wool Growers association president, urged the woolmen to protest most railing and to give unfavorable publicity against western stockmen.

He said return of rationing would mean the return of black markets, curtailment of production and general complacency among the wool growers of the nation. As a remedy for the plight of the sheepmen, Pauley suggested a strong protective tariff and a long range agricultural program featuring a revised parity formula.

Program Outlined
T. B. May, director of the Idaho state fish and game department, outlined a four-point program to cooperate with livestock men. The state will spend $100,000 this year for the control of predatory animals. He said the department also will attempt to keep big game in balance with the winter grazing areas, strive for orderly disposal of excess game and interfere as little as possible with private lands in the purchase of wool.

F. D. Cronin, wool division chief for the production and marketing administration, said the government had sold almost 75 per cent of their purchases—well over two billion dollars. Cronin said the government plans to aid woolgrowers. Cronin said two research stations are now in operation and two more are planned.

Social Security Office Issues 25,000th Card on Anniversary

The Twin Falls office of the social security board observed its eighth anniversary operations Saturday by issuing 25,000th social security card given out by the office here. Mrs. Patricia Atwood received the card.

The office was first opened Jan. 10, 1940, with offices above the C. C. Anderson store at Second street east and Main avenue. About a year later the office was moved to its present location in the KTVB building.

Before the Twin Falls office was established all social security matters here were handled through an office in Pocatello.

C. Wayne Tucker was the first manager of the local office followed by Lloyd G. Young, Harry E. Johnston, Horace Christensen and Leslie Kings. The present manager, Young, returned to Twin Falls in December, 1949, after serving in the army.

The office has grown with Twin Falls in the eight years of its operation. In 1940 only 83 claims for old age and survivors insurance were processed. Last year more than 350 claims were handled. The total number of claims processed through the office to date is 1,404, Young reported.

As of June 30, 1947, there were nearly 500 persons receiving monthly social security benefits in Magic Valley. These benefits represent payments totaling more than $10,000 each month. Receiving payments are 188 children under the age of 16 and 40 widows with children in their care, and about 250 persons over 65, Young said.

"We Never Close"

He pointed out that at the same time there are about 4,000 monthly benefits paid in Idaho amounting to nearly $8,000 per month.

"These payments are not as large as they should be due primarily to two reasons. First, so much of the employment in Idaho is in work not covered by the social security act, such as agricultural work and self employment. The second reason is that many people fail to claim their benefits because they don't understand social security laws," Young said.

He urged anyone who has a social security card and has been in employment covered by the act to make inquiries as to his standing under the law.

"It costs nothing to find out your standing. It is better to know before a person becomes 65 or disabled, how much work is required to qualify for old age or survivor's insurance," Young explained.

He pointed out that a person qualifies as "fully insured" by working half the time between Jan. 1, 1947, or the attainment of 22 years of age, and the date of death, or the attainment of 10 years of age. Ten years of work will qualify anyone.

To be currently insured, a wage earner must have worked a year and a half out of the last three years. Certain types of benefits can be paid on merely a currently insured basis.

"Any person in doubt about his standing in the social security act should call at the Twin Falls office or contact a representative when he visits Magic Valley communities," Young added.

Physician Joins Colleague Here
Dr. Harold J. Sturges, formerly of Coeur d'Alene, has joined the office of Dr. Ralph A. Drake as a physician and surgeon. Dr. Drake announced Saturday.

Dr. and Mrs. Sturges and son, Clifford, will make their home in Twin Falls. A daughter, Wilma, is taking nurses training in California. Visiting in the Sturges home here now are another daughter, Rosalind Holbrook, Phoenix, Ariz., and a son, David Sturges, MacDowell, Calif.

Slot Machine Situation Here Labeled 'Strange' by Writer

Editor, Times-News:

It seems that Twin Falls is in a strange situation about slot machines. More than half of its citizens are working for civic righteousness, while many would rather see a wide open town and not be isolated as some think.

The Rev. Albert Parrett and Mitchell Hunt may be congratulated on their plain statement of fact. I have thought for some time that the slot machine was a detriment to any city.

What it may be fun for some and not a sin in itself to play the slot machine, a little playing has a tendency to lead to gambling in a big way. Moreover it takes money which could go into more useful channels, that a city like Twin Falls should be forced to depend upon such resources for its upkeep is unthinkable.

It is glad that the Allied Civic Forces are aware of this.

"Better is a little with righteousness, than great revenue with injustice." Regard for God's laws as well as civil laws should be the chief business of our citizens and officials.

I am sure the good people of Twin Falls are anxious for their state to be an honor for the nation. This cannot be accomplished unless all the people work for a better way of life.

Like Drew Pearson I predict that Twin Falls may grow bigger and better and more permanent under a righteous administration than if ruled by "astute forces."

How firm a foundation is the Magic City building for future generations?

Last Legislature Hit for Work on 'Age' Assistance

Editor, Times-News:

The work of the legislature on old age assistance has just come to light. I am inclined to think those men should be elected to instead of picking on the poorest people in the state.

The legislature, by passing a recent law, forces old folks to turn over what little property, both real and personal, they possess to reimburse the state for the little help they have received through their lives.

The act is contained in the session laws of 1947, section 21A and section 21B. As a result of this act, and as will be placed in potter's field when they die.

Only about one out of 10 would have anything left when he dies, and what is left goes to the state after all expenses have been paid from the old person's small estate. The money that goes back to the state is what the old folks had received from the old age assistance act.

Class legislation, if you please. The law left an old man or woman in an estate cannot be left to a poor child no matter how old he is. Also power companies have had big grants of every other section and many others that have had big grants.

But the poor people most unable to pay must take the bitter with the sweet.

People Urged to End Walkout As Safeguard of U. S. Freedom

Editor, Times-News:

Being assured by people in responsible positions of government that public sentiment is still the strongest weapon that can be used for any cause, I am asking you to publish this letter in your Forum.

We are told that if people here are known or felt in numbers, heads of governments and organizations must respond. If this is still true, and I am convinced that it is, it seems to me it is high time for public sentiment in Twin Falls to go into action and assert itself in order to settle the question over which months of "picketing" has been going on.

There seems to be no argument about the question involved, it is not over wages or unsatisfactory working conditions, but one of principle. This is not just a small item of discontent to be settled by free freedom on which our nation was founded, and for which our forefathers paid their blood. I am convinced that the majority of Americans desire to preserve this right; that they do not want to be forced into membership of any organization of their choosing, whether it be religious, social, civic or political in nature, and that they do not wish to be forced to join them if they do not appear to our reasoning. Why should it be any different for the boys we are talking to our work and profession?

The argument that such affiliation is the boys' "best good" does not suffice. What is good from one person's viewpoint, is not true from another's. Membership in the clubs, social organizations, relief work, are all undeniably good work. The question is not just the right to join them if they do not appear to our reasoning. Why should it be any different for the boys we are talking to our work and profession?

This subject is, of course, controversial and there are many who will not agree with this letter, but because those citizens who are in honor of this "striking" have no objection to membership in the clubs, social organizations, relief work, are all undeniably good work. The question is not just the right to join them if they do not appear to our reasoning. Why should it be any different for the boys we are talking to our work and profession?

He's Appalled by Current Attitude of Area Drivers

Editor, Times-News:

Anyone driving in Magic Valley should not judge it by the attitude of its motorists. I have not been in this area for some months and I am appalled by the lack of consideration shown by Magic Valley drivers. Each one seems to drive with the attitude that "I can drive where and how I please and the other drivers will just have to look out for themselves."

Every corner provides a challenge to see how near they can pull out in front of a person without getting hit. Hand signals seem to be a thing of the past, and that yellow line in the middle of the road is help them stay in the middle of the road.

How about a "little more" good neighbor attitude on the highways of Magic Valley through the coming year?

Near Record Wheat Stock In U. S. Told

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP)—The agricultural department reports that wheat stocks on farms on Jan. 1 totaled 4,000,000 bushels, second highest since 1917.

Corn stocks for that date, however, were the lowest since the drought year. Corn stocks on farms on Jan. 1 totaled 1,518,000,000 bushels. This is 28 per cent below a year ago and reflects the short 1947 crop.

Actual disappearance of corn stocks from October through December was eight per cent below a year ago.

Corn growers

The department said that 1948 crop prospects improved during December throughout most of the country. Growing conditions favored progress of wheat during December, it said.

At this stage most factors point toward the possibility that the relatively large proportion of the country's available crop land will be kept in crops in 1948, it said.

Largest acreage

"This was true in 1947 when spring planting conditions were extremely adverse. The largest winter wheat acreage on record has finally been sown despite great difficulties."

The department estimated that wheat acreage last fall for 1948 harvest at 394 acres in California, Arizona and Texas. This is the largest acreage on record for that area and is nearly two-thirds greater than a year ago.

COMMENTS OF AN EX-COP

School Merger Act, Procedure Criticized by Jerome Writer

Editor, Times-News:

The bill of 1947 provides that the state committee, not state committee members, aid the county to prepare the consolidated school district plan, but after a rejection of a plan by the state committee, then section 5 provides "on request" that the state committee shall aid the county committee in a revision of the plan to be resubmitted within 90 days.

What a shabby survey! It was highly critical of the method followed by the state board which asked members to list members of acting as a committee of the whole. Such a plan in assisting individual members by the board in the American education, as it tends to result in automatic approval of the plan.

The following material, without signature, is filed in the Jerome county auditor's office with a call for special election for approval of the "Bismarck-Rationalization consolidation. This should read to see what they are asking:

TO INCLUDE IT IT WOULD GO TO COURT AND THAT IS AN ARRANGEMENT WE DO NOT WANT.

"The legal aspects of this situation have been discussed with the attorneys present at the hearing and it seems that they feel that Jerome county has the right to include the proposals therein which are within their own county, in any event, since the problem is now one for the state committee. It seems best to take action regardless of the state of legal action. If the matter is going to require court action then the sooner we signed members to list members of acting as a committee of the whole, such a plan in assisting individual members by the board in the American education, as it tends to result in automatic approval of the plan.

Basques Will Be Brought for Help In Shepherding

SALT LAKE CITY, Jan. 10 (AP)—Basque shepherders will be brought to this country from France and Spain for work on ranges in Nevada and Idaho, Attorney Karl V. King said today.

King said he would leave Monday for Europe to make arrangements for transporting 150 men to this country.

Aerial transportation will be provided, he said, at a cost of about $100,000 to the men may be in this country in time for the lambing season, beginning in February.

King said the United States government has authorized the immigration of the men in excess of the usual quota for France and Spain, he said, because of shortage of shepherders.

Many Basques already are working in the industry, many of them in southwestern Idaho.

King said he is representing the Southern Idaho Sheep Growers association and the Eastern Nevada Sheep Growers association in the negotiations.

The men may work only as shepherders, the attorney explained, and if they leave those jobs they are subject to deportation.

High Court Okays Manslaughter Bid

BOISE, Jan. 10 (AP)—A Nez Perce county district court conviction of Charles Lewis DeJoy collector of infernal revenue at Lewiston, on a charge of involuntary manslaughter, was upheld today by the Idaho supreme court in a 3-2 decision.

Bathua was charged with drunken and reckless driving following an automobile accident which resulted in the death of Neva M. Louden, passenger in another car. The accident occurred in Lewiston Aug. 11, 1946.

The unanimous majority opinion was written by Chief Justice Raymond L. Oliver, and concurred in by Justices Alfred Budge and district Judge A. O. Sutton, Welser, who sat for Justice Paul Hyatt.

The dissenting opinion, concurred in by Justice Hirt Miller, collecting opinion, concurred in by Justice Edwin M. Hoden, said Bathua did not drive in an accelerated manner as required and that the judgment should be reversed and a new trial ordered.

Youth Council Starting Plan To Aid Youth

enough for a street job earmarked already.

Under legislation passed last year, three mills of the tax levy are set aside each year to cover recreation.

According to the present tax levy, this would amount to about $2000 each year in Twin Falls.

Nitche said the names of several persons have been suggested all the way from the council.

Before anyone is hired a careful screening would be made, he said.

The youth council approved with little opposition, according to Nitche, the erection of a gymnasium-auditorium. This, he termed "more than a youth undertaking."

"Although it would be placed where youths would meet on sports floors or to conduct debates among schools, or to assemble for other occasions, it also would be a community center," he said.

Building Needed "Twin Falls needs, and needs badly, such a building," he declared.

Essential to the plan, not only to the youth and Twin Falls, but to all of Magic Valley, is the construction of a year-round highway to the Magic Mountain area, Nitche said.

At its greatest Twin Falls has "one of the great all-year-round recreational areas in the United States," Nitche said.

Butter Approach "Before any real serious thought can be given to such an undertaking, a better approach must be built to the Magic Mountain area," Nitche said.

The road is bumpy and dangerous to automobiles in the summer and a definite hazard in the winter, he opined.

Under present conditions it is difficult to keep the road open all winter, he added.

The use of heavy plow equipment is limited because of the soft surface of the road.

Nitche said the youth council has hopes of having the road to the area declared a second class federal highway, for it is not only a means of access to the Altimira forest, but it is an important artery for the farmers of the Hansen-Creek area.

At a meeting last week of the youth council, A. E. Briggs, Minidoka national forest supervisor, gave the council some figures about the function of the area with regard to Twin Falls.

Of the more than 100,000 persons who used the forest last year, more than two-thirds of them used the Twin Falls road.

In addition, 20,000 hams were taken to the area in the grazing season and thousands of feet of log-poles are removed, according to the official.

Containing Factors These facts, plus the important factor that it is a farm-to-market road for all farmers and motorists in the area, convinces the youth council the road should be termed a second class federal road.

It is expected that Mayor H. C. Lautenschlager will carry a similar recommendation to Gov. C. A. Topping in an effort to obtain state aid in the construction of an improved highway.

In conjunction with the proposed new road, and the development of the area for winter and summer sports, Nitche said the youth council anticipates the erection of a better type ski lift on Magic Mountain.

The council would like to see a ski-lift which would run about 1500 feet higher than the present one, he said.

Such a lift could follow the "fall line" (the ridge of the mountain).

More Freedom A higher lift would permit skiers more freedom for the higher tow would permit the development of at least five new downhill runs, and would tend to eliminate the bottleneck now formed at the foot of the lift, Nitche said.

At the situation now stands, according to Nitche, skiers are "lucky to get four downhill slides a day. He said skiers spend most of their time waiting to ride the lift all the way to the top.

This feature alone would attract many more thousands to the area during the winter, Nitche said.

That, plus the fact that Magic Mountain offers "real and later skiing," than any other ski site in the southern Idaho area.

Skiing in the national forest area is now the responsibility of the youth council, although it turned over the operation of the ski lift to the state in 1947, according to Nitche.

At the present time, the council has broadened its suggestion to 25000

Friday night told local Holstein breeders that animals of the largest bone structures of each breed produce the most milk.

Householder also told the 22 persons assembled at the Park hotel of the difference of winter stabling of cattle in the west as compared with eastern methods.

Methods Differ Householder, a resident of Battleboro, Vt., said cattle in the east are completely stabled whereas in the west the cattle are housed in open sheds or corrals during winter months.

The banquet marked the only appearance of Householder in Idaho. He is making a tour of western states. Thomas Mabely presided, while Col. E. O. Walter, pilot, was hostmaster.

Other Speakers Others who spoke included Allen Shuman, Montana representative of the association, and G. C. Anderson, extension dairymen from Boise.

About 100 persons, including Householder and other officials as they toured farms in the Twin Falls area, including Parma, visited including those of Fred Ehlers, L. J. Tencknick, Enorre Erickson and Bert Warner, Charles Reed and Albert Bales, according to C. W. Daugh, county agent.

Starting Plan To Aid Youth

enough for a street job earmarked already.

Under legislation passed last year, three mills of the tax levy are set aside each year to cover recreation.

According to the present tax levy, this would amount to about $2000 each year in Twin Falls.

Nitche said the names of several persons have been suggested all the way from the council.

Before anyone is hired a careful screening would be made, he said.

The youth council approved with little opposition, according to Nitche, the erection of a gymnasium-auditorium. This, he termed "more than a youth undertaking."

"Although it would be placed where youths would meet on sports floors or to conduct debates among schools, or to assemble for other occasions, it also would be a community center," he said.

Building Needed "Twin Falls needs, and needs badly, such a building," he declared.

Essential to the plan, not only to the youth and Twin Falls, but to all of Magic Valley, is the construction of a year-round highway to the Magic Mountain area, Nitche said.

At its greatest Twin Falls has "one of the great all-year-round recreational areas in the United States," Nitche said.

Butter Approach "Before any real serious thought can be given to such an undertaking, a better approach must be built to the Magic Mountain area," Nitche said.

The road is bumpy and dangerous to automobiles in the summer and a definite hazard in the winter, he opined.

Under present conditions it is difficult to keep the road open all winter, he added.

The use of heavy plow equipment is limited because of the soft surface of the road.

Nitche said the youth council has hopes of having the road to the area declared a second class federal highway, for it is not only a means of access to the Altimira forest, but it is an important artery for the farmers of the Hansen-Creek area.

At a meeting last week of the youth council, A. E. Briggs, Minidoka national forest supervisor, gave the council some figures about the function of the area with regard to Twin Falls.

Of the more than 100,000 persons who used the forest last year, more than two-thirds of them used the Twin Falls road.

In addition, 20,000 hams were taken to the area in the grazing season and thousands of feet of log-poles are removed, according to the official.

Containing Factors These facts, plus the important factor that it is a farm-to-market road for all farmers and motorists in the area, convinces the youth council the road should be termed a second class federal road.

It is expected that Mayor H. C. Lautenschlager will carry a similar recommendation to Gov. C. A. Topping in an effort to obtain state aid in the construction of an improved highway.

In conjunction with the proposed new road, and the development of the area for winter and summer sports, Nitche said the youth council anticipates the erection of a better type ski lift on Magic Mountain.

The council would like to see a ski-lift which would run about 1500 feet higher than the present one, he said.

Such a lift could follow the "fall line" (the ridge of the mountain).

More Freedom A higher lift would permit skiers more freedom for the higher tow would permit the development of at least five new downhill runs, and would tend to eliminate the bottleneck now formed at the foot of the lift, Nitche said.

At the situation now stands, according to Nitche, skiers are "lucky to get four downhill slides a day. He said skiers spend most of their time waiting to ride the lift all the way to the top.

This feature alone would attract many more thousands to the area during the winter, Nitche said.

That, plus the fact that Magic Mountain offers "real and later skiing," than any other ski site in the southern Idaho area.

Skiing in the national forest area is now the responsibility of the youth council, although it turned over the operation of the ski lift to the state in 1947, according to Nitche.

At the present time, the council has broadened its suggestion to 25000

Garden Club Has Hints For Winter Plant Care

It is approaching that time of the season when the Christmas plants that were so luxuriant when they came from the florists are beginning to droop. Mrs. C. V. Hovey gave some suggestions for the preservation of the winter plants at the Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. William Thilstein. Also featured at the meeting was a talk by Mrs. Wallon, who described lilies and gave pointers for their planting and treatment.

Moisture, said Mrs. Hovey, is the most essential need of house plants and watering should be done once or twice daily if it is necessary.

Watering of poinsettias requires particular attention. She advised the use of normal moisture until half of the leaves have fallen. Then water should be gradually withdrawn until the soil is completely dry, and the plant stored in a dry place until the middle of April, when it should be cut down to six inches. Watering should be space until the new shoots are six inches long. During the winter months, the best soil in the pot but buried to the rim in sandy soil or peat moss.

Cyclamen is a popular plant but hard to care for in the average home. It will quickly when watering.

University of Portland, Portland, Ore., and Neil Haley, Fresno, Calif., brother of the bride were witnesses.

Immediately following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served to the wedding party at the home of the bride's parents. A reception for 150 guests was arranged in the afternoon at the College Women's club, followed by the young couple's departure by plane for Los Angeles, Calif. For traveling the bride wore a teal blue suit with matching accessories. Her corsage was the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

The bride and bridegroom both were graduates from the University of California last year. Welteroth is employed in the office of the General Tire and Rubber company, Pasadena, Calif. They are now at home at 550 North Adams street, Sierra Madre, Calif.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding besides the attendants were Mrs. F. W. Fitzharris, Seattle, Wash.; Mr. and Mrs. Francis P. Gray and daughter, and Mr. and Mrs. Kropp and son Steve, San Francisco, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Welteroth and daughters, Jean and Pat, Jerome.

St. Edward's Church Is Wedding Scene for Britts

MRS. DEAN BRITT (Staff photo—staff engraving)

FILER, Jan. 10—Two baskets of chrysanthemums and gladioli, flanked by white ribbons, formed the background for the ceremony, uniting Mildred Malone and Dean Britt at St. Edward's Catholic church, Twin Falls.

The rite, performed by the Rt. Rev. Mrs. Joseph P. O'Keefe, took place at 2 p. m. Thursday. Mrs. Nellie Ostrom played the appropriate wedding music.

Wearing a white apple-satin gown with a sweetheart neckline, pearl trimming at the waist, long pointed sleeves and fashioned eucrain, the bride was held in marriage by her father, Leslie Malone. Her lace-bordered veil was held in place with a pearl tiara designed in a leaf pattern.

A large orchid surrounded by white roses with satin streamers composed the bridal bouquet. For something old she carried a handkerchief belonging to her grandmother. Her token of sentiment was a filigree necklace. A gift of the bridegroom.

A reception for the bride and groom was given in a room colored-frook and carried a bouquet of pink roses. Bridesmaid was Jeanette Childers and she carried a bouquet of carnations. Best man was Robert Britt, brother of the bridegroom. Ushers were Alex Schupeter and Tony Britt.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Malone chose a black dress with a corsage of a single gardenia surrounded by roses. The bridegroom's mother wore a dark rose gown and a corsage similar to Mrs. Malone's.

A reception for the 60 wedding guests was held at the Malone home immediately following the ceremony. Jeanette Childers was in charge of the guest book, and reception assistance included Mrs. George Malone, Mrs. Everett Malone and Mrs. Anton Britt. In charge of the gift room was Mrs. Morgan.

The bride wore a three-piece red suit with black accessories and orchid for her traveling ensemble. After a tour of several western states the couple will make their home on a farm southwest of Kimberly.

The bride was graduated from Filer high school, and the bridegroom was graduated from Kimberly high school. Britt is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Anton Britt, Kimberly.

A miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. George Malone with Mrs. Everett Malone as assistant hostess fed the bride before her marriage.

Community Choir Needs 100 Additional Singers

By BOB GILLIAM

Every Monday night, Twin Falls singers meet at the First Christian church for a practice session. Three singers are members of the Twin Falls community choir which is practicing and rehearsing for a music festival to be presented Feb. 2.

Founded four years ago under the sponsorship of the Twin Falls Junior Chamber of Commerce, the group has always worked under the leadership of a shortage of personnel. At present the choir is badly undermanned, Charles Allen, group president, declared.

"We need and can use nearly 100 singers and we now only have a fraction of that number. In a town the size of Twin Falls there is an ample number of talented voices. With community support we can present productions that will be a credit to the city," Allen said.

Allen urged individuals and organizations to lend their support to the community choir.

He pointed out that a good many members of the group come from Jerome, Hansen and other Magic Valley points to attend the weekly rehearsals. Many of the members are from choirs of Twin Falls churches.

Performances in the past have been presented at Easter and Christmas.

Charles Sieber served as the first president of the community choir with Charles W. Albertson as the first director. Because of poor health, Albertson resigned as director last year. He was replaced by Richard R. Smith, music teacher for the Junior and senior high schools.

New Industry Near Wendell To Open Soon

WENDELL, Jan. 10—Output at the Idaho Fertilizer company, Wendell's newest and one of its largest industries, will begin as soon as machinery expected in a couple of weeks has been installed.

The plant, still under construction, will hire between 60 and 100 persons. The company is composed of H. S. Gibbs, W. C. McElroy and the Gates brothers machine shop, all of Wendell, and Milton Nelson and Clarence Nelson, both of California.

One for the manufacture of phosphate fertilizer will be shipped to Wendell for processing from mines located near Lake Town, Utah. Gibbs, who has had the property under lease for three years, has spent the last two years drilling and testing for quality and quantity. The mine already is equipped with loading machinery.

The company also holds leases on land in Idaho and Utah for the mining of sulphur and calcium and land in Nevada containing gypsum, lime and vermiculite.

The ultimate use of the concern is to manufacture triple superphosphate and sulphur, calcium, gypsum, lime and vermiculite as necessary to the process. Until such time as the Wendell concern is ready to process superphosphate, however, production will be limited to the processing of raw ore.

A spokesman for the company said Wendell had been picked for the site of the processing plant because of its location.

WARSZAWA, (AP)—Here in Poland where there is no freedom of internal press, a group of intellectuals have banded together to form the "Association of Free Thinkers."

Sponsors of the organization say its objective is to socialize the social life and propagate the spirit of international fraternity and peace.

"This is a democratic and social movement struggling for freedom of thought and conscience, for a scientific outlook upon life, for tolerance, democracy and humanitarianism," said the association's announcement.

"It is in favor of a complete secularization of public life beginning in the schools and wants to rebuild the social system and base it on respect for the dignity of man, without class, racial or any other discriminations."

German Youths Plan to Rebuild French Village

HAMBURG, (AP)—The German youth magazine Benjamin has applied to British and French authorities for permission to organize a party of young Germans to help rebuild the French village of Oradour during their summer holidays next year.

"The village was destroyed by the S. S. on June 10, 1944, as a reprisal against the French resistance fighters," said the association's announcement.

The paper said the young Germans did not regard themselves as guilty of this and other acts of cruelty because of their youth.

"But we want to break completely with the past and to live in peace with men all over the world. We ask the French government to permit us to help rebuild Oradour. Anybody who wishes to join us will be welcome."

Iraq Planning Step-up of Its Oil Activities

BAOHAID, Iraq (AP)—Petroleum exports from Iraq will be raised to 25,000,000 tons a year when the full pipeline scheme is completed.

The figures were disclosed in a statement by Dr. Nadim al-Fachachi, director of the ministry of economics.

"The scheme," Fachachi said, "involves the construction of two new pipelines from the Kirkuk oil fields to the Mediterranean."

"First in Hand"

"The first of them already is in hand. It is a 16-inch pipeline, running parallel to the existing 12-inch line from Kirkuk to Haifa and Tripoli."

"About 70 per cent of the new Kirkuk-Haifa section now is built. It will be finished next year. The Tripoli section is scheduled for completion in 1950."

The present scheme, originally planned before the war, was started only last year because of the lack of materials during the hostilities.

Another Line Planned

"When this project is completed," Fachachi stated, "it will operate concurrently with the old pipeline, raising Iraq's petroleum exports from their present maximum of 4,000,000 tons a year to more than 12,000,000 tons."

"Yet a bigger pipeline forms part of the future plans of the Iraq Petroleum company, running from Kirkuk to the Mediterranean, this projected 30-inch line will when realized, step up Iraq's petroleum exports to 25,000,000 tons a year."

"Biggest in World"

Kirkuk's oil structure is one of the biggest in the world. The efficient handling of production by the company contributes to prolonging the life of the field and conserving its energy."

Oil activity also is in progress in other parts of Iraq. Preparations for

'Day and Night' Tax Collectors Prey on Farms

HONOLULU, Hawaii (AP)—Unhappy farmers of this tropical island pay taxes to the Chinese government by day and to the Chinese communists by night.

During the war, however, they sometimes were forced to pay three sets of taxes. Here is how it worked, says a former planter who's tired of serving two demanding masters and moved to Honolulu:

The Japanese ruled Hawaii, formally, during the war years and they levied and collected taxes.

"But at nightfall, Chinese guerrillas who fled into the mountains when the Japanese land came out of hiding and as representatives of the central Chinese government they levied taxes—a cow, or goat from one farm and grain or rice from another."

"Once they were gone a third 'tax collector' would appear representing the bandit gangs now called communists. He, too, collected—under threat of grave harm to anyone foolish or brave enough to resist."

Living Costs Fight Looms In Congress

WASHINGTON, UP—A prolonged battle over what the government should do to combat the high cost of living is in prospect for congress.

The struggle over price-cutting legislation could continue several months for these reasons:

1. The many different views held by members of congress on rationing, price and wage controls and other action that might be aimed against inflation.

2. Jockeying by Republican and Democratic organizations in congress for a favorable position from a vote-winning angle on a hot issue in an election year.

3. The long parliamentary road a bill to travel in order to become law, especially when it is sharply disputed all the way.

An anti-inflation bill, sponsored by the Republican majority, was passed by congress in the closing hours of the special session. It provided for voluntary rationing among business groups for allocation of scarce commodities.

Termed "stop-gap" measure, however, many Democrats and some Republicans who voted for the anti-inflation bill described it as "little better than nothing as a stabilizer of prices."

With many business indicators pointing to further price increases, the high cost of living looms as the No. 1 issue in the presidential and congressional election contest.

At least some of President Truman's requests for power to ration certain basic commodities and to set up price and wage controls, will be introduced.

Parties' Bids to Gain Power Call for Tight Organization

WASHINGTON, UP—Republicans and Democrats in the congressional battle of election-year 1946 will be shooting for at least one identical goal—the favor of a majority of the voters.

A good showing calls for planning and teamwork. It takes organization when so many party members have different views about what to do in such matters as high prices, land reduction and help for Europe and China.

Besides the traditional majority and minority leaders and whip, caucuses and conferences, there are now majority and minority policy committees, White House and National committee liaison men.

In this congress, majority always means Republican and minority means Democratic.

The policy committees of the house are composed largely of "key" men, chosen because of leadership positions, experience and geographical representation. They meet as occasion demands to work usually leads in debate on important legislation, brings forward party programs and keeps in touch with the President if the latter is a member of the leader's party.

The leader's support or opposition to proposed laws generally indicates the party's attitude.

In this congress the senate's Republican leadership has been divided. Senator White of Maine, majority floor leader, shares leadership responsibilities with three other Republican senators. Senator Vandenberg of Michigan is generally regarded as Republican leader on international questions. Senator Taft of Ohio, chairman of the majority policy committee, and Senator Milliken of Colorado, who presides at meetings of the conference majority, are co-leaders with White on home-front matters.

Democratic leadership in the senate is much more unified. Senator Barkley of Kentucky, minority floor leader, presides over the minority policy committee and conference minority. In the house Representative Hiram Boren of Oklahoma is the majority floor leader.

However, much of the Republican leadership in the house is in the hands of Speaker Martin who pre-

Why Real Estate Titles are Complicated

Suppose you are about to buy a home, a farm or a piece of land. It pays to be sure of the title.

Real estate is unlike other kinds of property. You cannot carry it with you. It stays where you found it. Proof that it is yours is essential. This must be determined from the records. Do not buy real estate like personal property from the manufacturer or an established dealer on whose ownership of the personal property you may absolutely rely from his possession thereof.

Because of the permanent nature of real estate, it is likely to be affected by mortgages, liens or other encumbrances. Land titles are frequently complicated by previous transfers; probates of estates; inheritance and other tax problems; and the like.

Records affecting land titles are found in various governmental offices. The determination of the validity of title to land depends upon a careful search and correct interpretation of these records.

Title insurance is based upon a thorough examination of the records and of the history of the property. . . It insures against loss or damage in case the title is ever attacked.

Title insurance affords the best form of title protection yet devised.

An interesting 22 page booklet "Planning Your Property," just off the press, will be mailed to you without charge, upon request to our main office at the First National Bank Building, Boise or from any of our Associate Offices.

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

By INEZ PUCKETT

There once was a maiden of Siam
Who said to her lover, young Kiam,
"If you kiss me, of course,
You'll have to use force."
"But God knows you are stronger than I am!"

Magic Valley farmers can sympathize with this Kentucky man-of-the-soil, at least during pleasant seasons. Kentucky Lem put the following sign on his place:

NOTES
"Transgressors will be presented to the full extent of two mongrel dogs which ain't never been sociable with strangers, and one double barrel shotgun that ain't loaded with soft pillars. DAM if I ain't gittin' tired of this hell raise around my place!"

It's one of the most beautiful landscaping jobs in south Idaho, and they call it Sunset Memorial park. If you drive out Kimberly road from Twin Falls you will see it. Henry and Ethel Reese are the friendly owners. They will receive you, show you about the grounds with justifiable pride.

Sunset Memorial is the only park of its type of cemetery this side of Boise, and one of the few in Idaho. W. E. Hawley of Yakima, Wash., was the landscape architect who created these 20 acres of beauty.

Home owners of Magic Valley could pick plenty of tips from Hawley. He took the natural features and developed them instead of trying to introduce something foreign and fancy. The undulating earth was untouched in its gentle rise and fall, but grass was planted lush and thick. The native willows were left bending along the coulee, but flower beds were made at their base. The coulee was lined and bridged with splendid lava rock. There are many lava rock borders for flower beds. In addition to this the park has a sunken garden dedicated to the gold star Legionnaire who lived here, a lake and even a set of chimneys.

"We plan to build a chapel some day," said Henry Reese. "and add all features possible to make service beautiful and dignified." He added that William Edwards had started the park cemetery idea here. The Reeses have two lively daughters, Betty Jo and Norma. Betty Jo is along the curving roads through the grounds and Mrs. Reese went along explaining the various features.

We learned that the park has a set of chimneys which often make soothing melody across the little lake. Norma plays these. The lake is presided over by a man named Gus. "He loves sheltered corn," the Reeses told us. Gus lost his mate some time ago, and some spring he is to have a new one who will come all the way from Massachusetts to take up housekeeping at the park.

Reese explained how Sunset Memorial is operated. Seems a lot of people nationally are members of the Park association which has its own board of directors and handles the perpetuating funds. There are five members on this board with Glauco Gordon as present chairman. We liked the flat bronze plaques used to mark graves. They follow the type used by Forest Lawn in California and other great memorial parks. With the lovely flat plaques you have no distinction, rich and poor, humble and high, lie in the same dignity of death.

The actual upkeep of the lawns, flower beds, etc. and that would be a small job in summer, is done by Reese and Claude Thilthen, the grounds superintendent. William Fike assists them, and at certain seasons extra men are hired.

"There is a deep satisfaction in serving a community with this kind of work," said the Reeses earnestly. "We take pride in every detail. The appreciation we receive means everything to us." The park office is now right at the grounds where Ethel and Henry feel they will be

New dress blues feature collared jackets with wide cuffs and no wrist stripe. Above, jacket is shown back from shoulder to reveal white blouse which has navy blue sailor collar. There is no white or red stripe on cuff to indicate whether wearer belongs to the deck division or the engineering "black gang."

Now the Navy Gets the 'New Look'

The navy may bid farewell to such time-honored uniform features as bell-bottomed, multi-buttoned, pocketless trousers and sailor-colored dress blue blouses if radical uniform changes, now under consideration, are adopted. Some of the models that may give our sailors a "new look" are pictured in these official navy pictures.

This is the proposed replacement for navy officers' workday service blues. The uniform is naval aviation green, with Eisenhower jacket, somewhat like the present marine corps working uniform, except for the different color and black necktie. Traditional shoulder-boards are replaced by shoulder- straps.

Proposed khaki uniform for enlisted men, left, is of the same design as present summer white, with addition of dress hat with khaki cover. At right is utility uniform for both officers and men. It consists of dark blue trousers, blue wool shirt and baseball-type cap. Jean Dawson, of Washington, is looking over the navy's "new look."

All Air Facts Book Planned By Air Force

DAYTON, O. (AP)—A standard aeronautical index embracing every known subject in the field of aviation is being compiled at Wright field. The air documents division of the air military command's intelligence department is in charge of the work.

The index, a joint project of the army, navy and institute of Aeronautical Sciences will provide the military and civilian aviation world with ready access to almost every topic in the history of aviation. The list also will include projects rejected as impractical or impossible.

Finish in Sight
Col. H. M. McCoy, head of the intelligence department, estimated that the records division would be caught up with the tremendous task some time during the present fiscal year, probably before July 1.

Colonel McCoy said the index is now the main occupation of the document division, which has just completed the job of cataloging the tons of German documents captured by air force intelligence during and after the war.

Need Long Existed
He pointed out the need for such an index had existed for a long time and was stressed recently by President Truman's air co-ordinating committee.

"This is the first time an index of this type has been attempted," Col. McCoy said. "It will be a continuous project aimed to provide standard and centralized information service for all authorized military and civilian agencies."

Thimbles Solved Pirate Gold Cuts

NEW ORLEANS, (AP)—Founding golden doubloons into thimbles might appear to be an odd way to make serving attractive.

But, as justice of the Peace Mercedes Adams will tell you, the thimble-making method solved at least two hot arguments for the notorious Gulf coast pirate, Jean LaPitte.

Justice Adams owns one of two known thimbles salvaged from the LaPitte gang. According to her information, the golden nugget, which doesn't fit any of her fingers, resulted from a division of piratical spoils.

"Each buccaner had to have his exact share," she explained. "One divided equally, two golden Spaniards doubloons remained. LaPitte settled the matter by hammering the coins into a thimble for the wife of one of his men."

Since there is at least one other thimble to justice Adams' know-edge, she assumes the photo set-off all such "overpay" differences the same way.

Job Openings Are Reported For Lab Work

A number of job openings for qualified engineering and skilled workers offering attractive salaries and working conditions at the research laboratory of the national advisory committee for aeronautics, Langley field, Va., were announced Saturday by A. J. Meeks, manager of the Twin Falls office of the Idaho state employment service.

Meeks said the shortage of these specialized workers must be met as soon as possible to avoid serious delays in the government's aeronautical research program. He said the search for the necessary workers is being extended to many parts of the country.

This important research facility, operated by NACA, is seeking building architects; electrical, mechanical and aeronautical engineers; architectural, mechanical and structural draftsmen; statistical technicians and physicists, Meeks said. Salaries for these positions range from $2,168 to $4,419 annually.

Openings also are available for skilled instrument makers and radio mechanics at yearly salaries ranging from $1,700 to $2,800. Full details of each position will be given to interested persons.

Langley field laboratory has been operated by the government for 30 years. Most of the preliminary design work on the D-558, the transport Douglas X-3, and other aircraft holds the world air speed record of 4,500 miles per hour, was conducted there.

Qualified persons who are interested in these positions are urged by Meeks to apply for consideration at the local employment office. Applications will be accepted immediately.

Streets of Chicago Finally Catalogued

CHICAGO (AP)—Chicago may be long on many things but it is short on the name and number of its streets.

Howard C. Brodman, city map maker, has completed a card file of all Chicago streets and their locations. The job was started 30 years ago.

Brodman can tell you the longest, shortest, and narrowest streets in the city. Armatron street, which runs only 22 feet in the shortest Western avenue is the longest, and Academy place is the narrowest.

Chicago's claim that its street names are the shortest is based on the fact that the average name contains only six and one half letters.

There are only 1,370 names for Chicago's 3,820 miles of streets. In contrast, New York has 4,000 names for its streets, and Baltimore has 3,223 names.

Board Licenses Card Tables for Shoshone

SICHOONE, Jan. 10.—Licenses on card tables in all public places in Shoshone have been set at $12 each by the village council.

Licensed tables are not to be operated behind closed or locked doors, the council ruled, and if a licensed table is used for gambling a fine of not more than $100 can be levied.

Licenses also can be cancelled under such conditions.

Hurt in Accident

FAIRFIELD, Jan. 10.—James Kerns, 4, son of Dr. and Mrs. M. C. Kerns, was injured in a sled accident this week. He received a deep cut on his forehead. Seven stitches were required to close the wound.

Making Hay While the Sun Doesn't Shine

This mobile hay-and-grass-drying plant demonstrates, in London, how it takes the moisture out of wet cattle fodder in only a few minutes. Predicted as a boon to the small British farmer, it can be assembled in less than two hours and operated by one man. The heating unit uses Diesel oil, and all power necessary is supplied by the tractor which pulls the plant.

Embarrassing Queries on Aid Plan Sum up It's 'Big Gamble'

(First of a series on the Marshall plan)

BY PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (AP)—Anyone wanting to bet on a number of questions about the Marshall plan which are practically unanswerable. For instance:

What guarantee is there that the Marshall plan will work? There is none. It is a calculated risk. The U. S. must take if it goes through with the idea of trying to help Europe recover.

This whole idea of one continent trying to help another is the biggest project ever conceived. The job is to build a brand new set of trade patterns for commerce in the world's business. It will take heroic measures, such as the Marshall plan, to make up for the contraction of the British Empire and the disruption of Japanese, Chinese and Indonesian trade in the Pacific.

Peter Edson

used the money to buy Latin-American food surplus. This then enabled the Latin-American countries to buy manufactured goods from the U. S.

With the possible exception of the Argentine, Latin-American countries cannot now afford to finance extra-heavy relief food shipments to Europe. So the solution suggested is for the U. S. to finance the exports of food to Europe.

To prevent such deals from getting out of hand, there are certain safeguards, such as congress recently applied to stop-gap aid. First, limit to 10 per cent of the total, the amount of food purchased outside the U. S. at higher than U. S. prices. Second, to authorize the purchase in other countries of relief supplies whenever the prices are below U. S. levels.

It is frequently asked what use there is in trying to make up western Europe's trade balance deficits, since this area has never been self-sufficient. There is no intent now to make western Europe self-sustaining. The idea is to make it merely self-supporting—so that it can pay cash for its imports.

When it is pointed out that Europe has defaulted on most of its debts in the past, this cannot be denied. When it is asked how much of the Marshall plan funds will be repaid, it must be admitted that over half of the $17 billion proposed for four-year aid will not be repaid. Outright grants are scheduled for expendable relief supplies — food, fuel and fertilizer. Money spent for machinery and other capital goods will be in the form of loans, and will be repayable. It isn't all charity.

Won't all this drain on American supplies increase prices in the U. S. It probably will. Shipping scarce materials like steel can only make shortages in the U. S. seem worse and so force prices higher.

If the question is asked: Isn't there a chance that the Marshall

Instructor Group Reports Vacancy

According to C. E. Bragg, senior instructor of the Idaho OIG instructor group at Boise, there is a vacancy for an enlisted man with combat engineer experience who is qualified for clerical duties.

The enlisted man will be stationed in Boise. Any man contemplating enlistment in the regular army should contact Bragg at headquarters, Idaho OIG instructor group, Boise barracks, Fourth and Fort streets, Boise.

Bragg said if the vacancy is not filled by regular army enlistment, considerations will be given to qualified members of the enlisted reserve corps who may desire up to 90 days of active duty training in this position.

plan will fall to stop communism—the honest answer is: Yes, it may.

In spite of Marshall plan aid, a number of western European countries may go socialist and further nationalize their industries. But if these countries do eventually make this swing to the left, they will do it by free choice—not because they were forced into it by despair or coercion, or because they had no other hope but to deal with Russia.

There is only one safeguard against this. It is to authorize the President to stop further aid to any country at any time he finds it no longer in harmony with the U. S. national interest.
