Gandhi's Fast Effect Will Be Far-Reaching

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

India is witnessing the beginning of an amazing spiritual drama and which may have far-reaching effects, for Mohandas Gandhi has begun another of his fasts—perhaps his last—in an effort to bring peace to the vast Indian peninsula which is dangerously near because of the bitter differences between the two dominions of India (largely Hindu) and Pakistan (mostly Muslim).

In the western world such tactics seem strange and perhaps futile, but "fast is cast in iron" and the action of the aged and frail little Mahatma already has shocked and awakened millions of his countrymen who revere and even worship him as a holy man.

Striking proof of this is the fact that trading was suspended in the markets of the great cities of Calcutta, Bombay and Madras as he proclaimed the beginning of his fast with the declaration: "You must prefer Gandhi or lawlessness; you can't have both."

It would take a very saintly man indeed to shock Wall Street or "the city" of London into closing down. In India, however, Gandhi has greater influence than any other individual, and that influence isn't restricted to his own people—the Hindus.

Bold and Daring

Shown in London, where the austerity program obviously includes a shortage of materials, is Paul de Lange's backless and practically boneless evening dress. Of vivid purple, petunia and lime wool crepe, it is to be worn with long, matching gloves, a few feathers in the hair and a self-conscious look.

5 Days Asked

Just before he began his fast he received delegations of Hindus, Sikhs and Muslims who begged him to give the people another 15 days to restore peace before he resumed his fast. But he shook his head and said that he had no value or attraction without peace and love.

So Gandhi, who has done more than any other individual to bring about India's independence, has asked his life in his hands and this may be the last time, for he is ill and weak. And it's important to note that his fast is a service which he held for friends he had selected from the Mohammedan Koran, the Gita and the Hindu Vedas.

There we have the real Gandhi, who finds food in all these religions and who has confided to me the greatest influence in his life has been Christ's sermon on the mount.

The great fast in India now is that if Gandhi should die from fasting the non-Muslims might blame the Muslims for his death and try to exact vengeance. That is something only time can reveal.

15 Days Asked

Just before he began his fast he received delegations of Hindus, Sikhs and Muslims who begged him to give the people another 15 days to restore peace before he resumed his fast. But he shook his head and said that he had no value or attraction without peace and love.

Expert Urges Farmers Use 'D' Tax Form

BOISE, Jan. 14 (AP)—Reach for a "schedule D form" when making out your income tax—if you are an Idaho farmer who reduced your dairy herd or other breeding herds or the herd or stock during 1947 and you'll save money, Virgil D. Kennedy, assistant extension economist for the University of Idaho advised today.

Kennedy said this form and its proper use means a substantial advantage to farmers who have reduced herds, particularly when the animals have been raised on the farm.

Under some conditions, only 50 per cent of the gain from the sale of dairy, breeding and work stock need be included in taxable income. Animals must have been owned for more than six months and the sale must have reduced the normal size of the herd or stock.

Also consideration must be given such other items as sale of property used in the business (machinery, buildings, etc.) and involuntary conversions (loss through fire, theft, etc.) and of capital assets held more than six months.

Early Inquiry Set in Indian Trouble

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14 (AP)—Early consideration of a long-range program for rehabilitation of the Navajo Indians is scheduled by congressmen.

New Method Will Improve Beet Process

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 14 (AP)—A new chemical procedure which makes possible the extraction of 80 per cent pure sugar from beets was outlined before the American Society of Sugar Beet Technologists today.

Lyle B. Porter, director of research for the Illinois Water Treatment company and Harold Ellison, superintendent of the Layton Sugar company, described the process as at least 10 per cent more efficient than the usual extraction method.

It involves, they explained, the exchange of ions among the various chemical compounds in beet juice. Through this swapping procedure, a new maximum of impurities can be discarded, leaving behind a proportionately larger amount of pure sugar.

Beet Juice is first filtered through a resin which is an acid reactor. This changes the impurities into equivalent acids. Then the juice is filtered through an alkaline reactor resin

Scouting Leaders Hold Paul Parley

PAUL, Jan. 14—Four Scout re-vestiture ceremonies here last week.

The Scouts are Max Connor, Gerry Britton, Larry Looel and Lou Bill. Merno Penner was Scoutmaster in charge of the program. Arnold Sawyer, Jr., was patrol leader for the occasion.

Among the Scout leaders present were Lawrence Barrett, Butley field executive of the Snake river area; Richard Benson, chairman of the Minidoka district; David Player, Rupert, Scout training chairman; David Hyde, Rupert, former chairman of the Minidoka district; and L. T. Harper, member at large.

Following the ceremony the regular meeting of the leaders was held. It was decided that during Boy Scout week, Feb. 6-12, Paul Scouts will give a demonstration on safety and the acids are preplotted out. Ellison said it probably would take 10 years for the industry to change over to the ion exchange method because of the equipment necessary.

New York Party Claims Truman's Support on Fight

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14 (AP)—President Truman's support was claimed today for a move to combat Henry A. Wallace's independent presidential candidacy in New York by cooperation between the Democrat and Liberal party forces.

Chairman A. A. Berle, Jr., of the Empire state's Liberal party, discussed the proposal at the White House and said afterward he found the President "very anxious to cooperate."

He added the conference "paved the way" for a basis of cooperation between the LP and the Democratic state and national committees for the 1948 presidential election.

Berle later conferred with Senator J. Howard McGrath of Rhode Island, Democratic national chairman, who then announced he had asked two top New York Democrats to meet with the Liberal party Chairman also.

College Official Seeking Support

The need of the College of Idaho for a broader base of annual gift support was pointed out by Erwin Schwiebert, college official, in Twin Falls. He stressed the importance of wider participation in the college's "living endowment" program which encourages giving by all friends of Christian education in accordance with their means.

"When tax-supported colleges are receiving double their pre-war appropriations to meet increased operating expenses it should be clear that increased giving is essential to the gift-supported college. A direct mail appeal is being made to enlist this wider support. Such giving is encouraged by both federal and state governments through income tax deduction incentives.

"There has never been a time in the history of the college when the future has held more promise—never a time when we have made more real progress—and never a time when financial support was more greatly needed than now," he added.

Water 'Row' Talk Set for Rupert Meet

BOISE, Jan. 14 (AP)—R. J. Newell, regional reclamation director, said today he plans to meet Thursday afternoon with irrigation interests in the Rupert area to talk over the compromise proposal in the American Falls reservoir water dispute.

Newell said the meeting would be an informal one at Rupert, and that it had been requested by a committee of the Minidoka extension district.

Rupert area irrigation interests have registered strong protest against the compromise proposal. Under it 28 canal companies in southern Idaho which have been leasing some 43,000 acres of unallocated American Falls water would be permitted to buy 75 percent of it under certain restrictive provisions.

The Rupert area group maintains the allocated water originally was designated for development of new land in the Minidoka extension and the Mohand flats near Pocatello.

Greene Confering With Reclamation Chiefs at Capital

GREENE IN BOISE, Jan. 14— Maurice H. Greene, Boise, Idaho, chairman of a special water users committee of the National Reclamation association, is now in Washington, D. C., to confer with reclamation leaders and members of congress on the problems affecting the water users of the west.

Subjects which Greene will present to Washington officials and which were considered by the committee here include problems of the National Reclamation association in repayment to the federal government. The committee was of the opinion that irrigation repayment time should be not less than that allowed power repayments, which under the present pending Reckwell bill is 15 years.

The committee also expressed dissatisfaction with the so-called "B Centinaria" which provides for the delivery of water on a utility basis. Although this form of contract at the present time is operative in only two states, a precedent is being established which could be extended to the entire west. There are many water users in the west of the opinion that a repayment contract should provide for a perpetual water right to the use of the water when this payments are completed.

'Borrowed' Plane Flown by Youths

TROY, O., Jan. 14 (AP)—A runaway flight in a "borrowed" private plane ended happily for four eighth grade truants yesterday, probably because the pilot was not the 13-year-old pilot's father described as a "fool proof type."

With never a flying lesson in his life, young Jimmy Hartzell took the plane owned "by his father, Robert H. Hartzell, president of a propeller manufacturing firm, and flew his three companions around central Ohio for about 2 1/2 hours.

Abskrack, on the part of two members of the party, caused Jimmy to decide to land his father's old newsmen. He chose a cornfield near neighboring Sidney and made an almost perfect landing.

BACK HOME, Jan. 14 (AP)—Mrs. Edward Dunn, daughter, Carol Lee, and son, Lawrence, have returned home from Portland, Ore., where they visited Mrs. Dunn's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stevens.

Globe-Trotting Correspondent Will Appear Here on Thursday

H. R. Knickerbocker, a globe-trotting correspondent whom the late Alexander Woollcott called "the Richard Harding Davis of our time," will appear on the Town Hall program at 8 p. m. Thursday at the high school auditorium.

With 25 years of experience in covering top news stories all over the globe, Knickerbocker's observations and analyses merit the attention of thoughtful people everywhere.

Enlisted in Army After graduation from Southwestern university in his native state of Texas, Knickerbocker enlisted in the army during the first World War. Upon his discharge he went to New York to study medicine and psychiatry. To supplement his meager funds, he also took a journalism course at Columbia and became a reporter for the Newark Morning Ledger. In two years he was the paper's managing editor, his medical career temporarily abandoned.

"Twice he tried to achieve his early ambition to become a journalist, but each time he was distracted by world-making events that captivated him back into journalism," Knickerbocker is quoted as saying. He was studying at the University of Munich when he was pressed into the army as a medical correspondent. He was famous "beer hall raucous." The next year he tried to resume his journalism course at Columbia and was again beckoned and 1925 found him assigned to two years in Moscow with the International News Service.

Awarded prize for his observations in Russia. A journalist who knows Russia well but is one of its strongest detractors, Knickerbocker believes that Russia is not for world domination.

"He writes 'We do not live in a world but really two and a half worlds—a world of democratic people, a world of the totalitarian state in the Soviet Union and a half world of the defeated nations, especially Germany."

In addition to his experiences in Germany and Russia, Knickerbocker covered Abyssinian war, the Spanish Civil war, the Sino-Japanese war in 1937, the Pacific theater during World War II, the north African, Sicilian and Italian campaigns and the Normandy landings.

He spent the summer of 1946 observing at first hand and investigating conditions in Palestine and the middle east. An admittedophile, nonetheless Knickerbocker disagrees with the British on the Palestine question.

An intrepid reporter with a keen analytical mind, Knickerbocker has the ability to portray graphically men and events.

Man, 71, Stalks Pigeons in Park

TAMPA, Fla., Jan. 14 (AP)—A 71-year-old man was in jail here today for looting bread crumbs to pigeons in the park and then trying to beat them to death with a club.

Co. L. Johnson, who said he was from Pennsylvania but gave no home town address, said he wanted to eat the birds.

He already had one pigeon in a sack and offered the park caretaker a dollar not to arrest him.

Stassen Quest For GOP Bid Turns to Utah

POCATELLO, Jan. 14 (AP)—Harold E. Stassen moved into Utah today in continued search of support for his bid for the Republican presidential nomination. He is scheduled to appear in Logan at noon and Salt Lake City tonight.

Yesterday in Pocatello he told Idaho Republicans he will enter a fourth primary in March and April where he will gain a test of his strength.

The candidate said he will enter presidential primaries in New Hampshire March 9, Wisconsin April 6, Nebraska April 13 and Arkansas "about" April 20. He said he was undecided about Illinois, Ohio, West Virginia, Oregon and South Dakota.

Promises West Appearances in his public address here last night, Stassen again promised to appoint two cabinet members from the west, particularly a secretary of the Interior. But he said he had no "definite man in mind for the post."

He said it was necessary for the Republican party to "take the lead in recognizing nationally the rising importance of the west in economic, social, military and political affairs for years ahead."

At a press conference he was asked what he thought about Sen. Glen H. Taylor, D., Ida., becoming J. Henry Wallace's running mate on a third party ticket.

"I'm no running mate or a riding mate," quipped Stassen.

He proposed that government expenditures be slashed to allow a $1,000,000,000 cut in income taxes, $1,000,000,000 in "small business" taxes, and to pay off $3,000,000,000 on the war debt.

Immediately preceding his address Stassen was honored at a dinner, attended by high-ranking Republican leaders, including several state officials.

1 Killed by Blaze Near White House

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14 (AP)—One person was killed and another injured today in a four alarm hotel fire four blocks from the White House.

Fire officials said the blaze, which was under control a little more than an hour after it started—was confined to the top floor of the old six-story building, which is located on Pennsylvania avenue west of the presidential mansion.

Most of the hotel's occupants were driven into the street by the pre-dawn fire, which developed little visible flame, but a great deal of smoke.

The Mayan Indians were proficient as wood-carvers, potters, and weavers.

Second Body Found In Train Wreckage

U. S. Gold Hoard Near Record High

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14 (AP)—U. S. gold holdings have virtually reached the all-time record value established in Oct. 1941, the treasury daily statement showed.

Latest figures value the gold holdings at $22,773,000,000 compared with the previous high of $22,799,000,000. The value of U. S. gold holdings has increased $22,000,000 in the past 12 months and there is no indication that the rising trend will slack off before a new record high is established, treasury officials said.

France is about three times the size of Missouri.

Defense Fund Thought Okay By Dworshak

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—The President's request for an increase of $70,000,000 for national defense in the year starting July 1 may be adequate if properly allocated, Senator Dworshak, R. Id., said today.

The Idahoan, a member of the senate appropriations committee, made public a letter from Lowell H. Swenson, executive vice president of the National Aeronautics Association, which he said bore out his recent statement that air power funds for the current year were inadequate although congress appropriated virtually the full amount requested for national defense.

Worshak told a reporter that Swenson has advised me that the major responsibility for inadequacy of air service funds for 1948 must be placed on the war department, the war department, the bureau of the budget and on the military and material costs in the aircraft industry.

President Truman asked $11,223,000,000 for national defense in 1949 and Dworshak commented: "I am confident, in view of its action for this year, congress will be most responsive in providing the full amount, thereby continuing to maintain a strong national defense."

Air Force "Essential" "Probably most essential are the funds requested to build up the air force, which I consider adequate in the face of chaotic world conditions."

He observed that it takes two years to translate an appropriation into aircraft and continued: "I should say the aim requested by the President is adequate, if the allocations are proper, since a reduction in funds, rather than an increase, would have been expected in peacetime years.

"With $20,000,000,000 having been expended abroad since the beginning of hostilities, I believe it is far more economic and strategic to expend money for a strong national defense."

Cruelty Charged By Wives in Trio Of Divorce Suits

Three wives charged their husbands with extreme cruelty in divorce actions filed Tuesday in district court.

Actions were filed by Betty Lapley against Ben Lapley, Leora Hansen against Leland J. Hansen and Abbie L. Pickett against Cecil R. Pickett.

Mrs. Lapley requested that she be awarded custody of four minor children, community property valued at $500 and consisting of household furniture and fixtures and $100 monthly for the children's care.

No children or property were listed in complaints by Mrs. Hansen or Mrs. Pickett and they requested the restoration of their maiden names, Leora Hammond and Abbie L. McGee, respectively.

Mrs. Pickett stated in her complaint that she and her husband were married Sept. 12, 1933, in Manhattan, Kansas, and lived together for only six months before separating.

She also said that in June and July 1947, they resumed marital relations but again separated after her husband allegedly "came home drunk three or four times a week."

Representing Mrs. Pickett is Attorney J. H. Barnes. Mrs. Hansen requested that her husband pay court costs of $2 and attorney fees of $75. Attorney for Mrs. Hansen is J. H. Blanford.

Nichols Finds Nothing Halts U. S. Library

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
WASHINGTON, Jan. 14 (AP)—The library of congress wants to know if the kids at Longwood in Fort Myers, Fla., ever got that mule reassembled. It was like this: Some of the pupils were kicking through the underbrush in the woods one day when they uncovered a heap of bones. A former mule, it turned out. They went to their biology teacher and asked how about logging the remains in and patching them up?
The teacher's first impulse was to throw up his hands, scream a little and say "perish forbid." Then she remembered all of the fine lessons she had taught the youngsters about initiative and enterprise.
Principal Lifts Brow
She promised to cogitate. She cogitated awhile and then took the problem to the supervisor, Mrs. Edna Burnham. Mrs. Burnham went to the principal. The principal lifted his brow and called a meeting of minds—the school board.
Eventually, Mrs. Burnham was commissioned to write a letter to the library of congress. She explained the situation and how the youngsters had some kind of chart on how to put a mule back together after it had had its spine.
Official Not Shocked
The letter found its way to the desk of Milton M. Plumb, Jr., in charge of the information clerk in the library. He was educated in the rough and tumble city room of a Detroit newspaper.
The principal's letter, however, definitely did not cover the subject of mules—not the hoed nor otherwise. But in years of opening the library, mule had had learned not to be shocked by anything.
Why should he be shocked by a mule? Mr. Plumb, Jr. looked at Webster and learned that a mule, fox, mule, mule, mule, fox, mule, mule, mule is an animal that has a fox's head but isn't. It has big, floppy ears, a funny looking tail and small hooves. It's stubborn also. Characteristics are awful rather than unhappy.
Found No Charts
Armed with that information, all written down, he went to the reference room. He found all sorts of information about the mule. He found everything he wanted to know but how to reassemble one. He looked under "charts" and found charts of the seven seas. Charts of the world in the world but what he was looking for.
He thought it ought to be stated here and now, doesn't give up on a bit of research until he has gone all the way. That, in this case, was the way over to the Smithsonian Institution.
Institution Had Chart
Did the institution have a chart, showing where a mule keeps all its bones when it is up and kicking and looking like a mule? The Smithsonian people had just that. Plumb got a copy and sent it flying right special to Fort Myers. He said today he hadn't heard from the folks in Fort Myers yet.
But if the pupils read that chart right, and did what it said, the mule ought to be put together by this time. Plumb sure hopes so.

When Henry Wallace Ducked

With Henry Wallace now a third party presidential candidate and posing willingly for cameramen, Bert Brandt, NEA-Acme newspaper photographer, today recalled a time in 1931 when Wallace ducked to the floor of his automobile to avoid being photographed. Wallace was leaving the White House after a meeting with Jesse Jones and James Byrnes during the famous Jones-Wallace row, when he became cameraphobic. Seeing Brandt in the street, waiting to photograph him in his car, Wallace ducked. Brandt raised his camera above his head and "shot blind" with above result.

Screwball Laws of Washington Plague Citizens, Boyle Learns

By HAL BOYLE
WASHINGTON, Jan. 14 (AP)—Refusing to answer questions is just one way of getting in trouble with congress.
Another way is to tie your horse to a tree in the nation's capital. Congress says you mustn't do it.
Of course each year there are fewer and fewer saddle-sore citizens here aboard old dobbie and snort congress by anchoring him to an elm.
But there are plenty of other things a man can do and unwittingly find himself in contempt of the national legislature, which passes all the laws affecting life in the District of Columbia.
These statutes aren't listed in the guidebooks. And there are so many of them that a cautious visitor to the city in the land of the websters and the home of the it is resolved.
Otherwise he might decide to go out and fly a kite some windy day and learn that congress long ago decreed a $10 fine for kite flyers here.

There is no penalty, however, for floating a trial balloon.
Or a conscientious but thrifty tourist could find himself in difficulty here merely by using his car to stand up in a public place and buy a drink. He can't congress say he wants to drink sitting down. Checking into congressional statutes still in effect from bygone days, The Washington Star found that congress not only won't let you tie a horse to a tree. It also sternly forbids you to ride the animal on the sidewalk. And furthermore, it will sock you $5 if you deliberately set a dog on another dog—or on a senator, or that master.
Suppose you bounce out of bed one morning feeling so good you decide, "I think I'll so fight a bull." Don't do it, mister. Congress has a five-year jail term waiting for guys who fight bulls. Why, heck, a man can even be sent up for a year just for docking a horse's tail. Congress won't let buildings here be above 14 stories. It makes a weed illegal if it grows more than four inches high.
You can't go watch an execution if you're under 21, and congress won't let you hire out any of your children under 14 years "as an acrobat, contortionist or rope-walker." The statute provides a penalty at any age for fence-climbing.
A few other tips to guide the wary visitor who doesn't want to offend congress during his stay here:
Don't collect bird's eggs without a special permit.
Don't walk down Pennsylvania avenue carrying a woodcock—dead or alive—between Jan. 1 and July 1 or it will cost you $5. The rest of the year it's okay.
Be careful never to challenge anyone to a duel as the penalty is 10 days in jail. But be even more careful about wearing the insignia of the Daughters of the American Revolution if you're not a member. They can jail you for 30 days on that charge—if you can't pay the $50 fine.
Congress denied you any right to build a bonfire or kill a starling, but on the other hand it won't let card or dice sharpshanks play here either. If you lose more than $250 in a fair game, you can sue the winner for the money. If a gambler takes more than $250 by cheating, you can make him pay back five times what he took from you.
And you won't have to run forever to find a cop. Congress says no fireman or policeman can live more than 12 miles from the capital building. That's the law.

Idaho's Polio Wave for '48 Made Record

BOISE, Jan. 14—Idaho's 1947 polio epidemic, a new all-time high for the number of cases reported, John W. Wright, director of vital statistics, Idaho department of public health, said today.
During the entire calendar year, he said, 355 cases of the disease were reported, 237 of this number, 239 were reported between July 1 and Dec. 31.
The previous major outbreak of polio in Idaho was in 1931 when a total of 154 cases were reported.
Polio was reported from 23 of the state's 44 counties. Included were: Blaine, 5; Camas, 1; Castia, 16; Elmore, 3; Gooding, 17; Jerome, 20; Lincoln, 3; Minidoka, 13; Twin Falls, 15.
Physicians in two of Idaho's major cities—Coeur d'Alene and Moscow—did not report any polio during the entire year, Wright said. Boise and a total of 40 cases; Caldwell, 47; Pocatello, 10; Burley, 9; Twin Falls, 9; Lewiston, 7; and Nampa, 2.
Of the 355 cases reported, 293 were male and 159 female. Wright said. The disease struck harder at children between the ages of 5 and 14 years than other groups. Ninety-one in this bracket were male and 68 female.
Sixteen Idaho residents died from polio during the year with deaths occurring as follows: July 2, a small boy's heart stopped up its tempo to a pulse rate of 300, stopped momentarily, then resumed normally as reported today.
A physician attending 21-month-old Sidney Madison, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Madison, said the condition developed from paroxysmal muscular tachycardia.
The attack was described as highly uncommon in a child of this age. The boy was taken to the hospital Saturday suffering from pneumonia, and the physician reported the pulse rate at 300 upon arrival. The extremely high rate continued for six hours, and when the child became violently ill the heart stopped completely. It quickly resumed at a normal rate of 110.
Wright said the boy had no other illness at the time.

7-Point Peace Plan Favored Over Training

CINCINNATI, Jan. 14 (AP)—The Association of American Colleges today had rejected a resolution endorsing universal military training and approved a seven-point peace plan for world peace.
The approved program, proposed by Dr. Alexander Grewy, president of the University of the South, Sewanee, Tenn., provided:
1. A "firm, clear" foreign policy for the United States.
2. Willingness and determination on the part of the United States to play its part in world affairs and accept responsibilities of world leadership.
3. Adequate armed forces, thoroughly trained and equipped.
4. Development of auxiliary agencies to support the armed forces.
5. Development of technical and scientific research and experimentation for war as well as peace.
6. "A constant declaration of our desire to live at peace with other countries, and
7. An "overlapping effort" to help build and maintain an effective federation of nations.

VA Seeks Notice Of Vet Changes

BOISE, Jan. 14 (AP)—The Veterans Administration said today that veterans attending college under the GI bill should give the VA ample notice if they intend to change their place of training.
W. O. Lenson, chief of the VA's education division, said failure to notify the VA of contemplated changes may cause delay in enrollment and payment of subsistence.
Lenson said veterans planning to transfer to a school in another state should notify the Boise office so that supplemental certificates of eligibility may be prepared and arrangements made for transfer of case file to the regional VA office having jurisdiction over the new school.

Analyst Raps "Secrecy" for Marine Move

By J. M. ROBERTS, Jr.
Washington, Jan. 14 (AP)—The policy of secrecy of the movement, and the subsequent explanation when secrecy failed, served to create a "situation" around the move that will be regarded, from here on out, as a normal part of the country's attention to its new position in the world.

Dispatch of additional troops to the area does not mean that war is expected. Instead, it is more of a warning of how serious the U. S. considers the continuation of provocations which, if somebody else, could lead to war.

Dispatch of additional troops from across the Albanian border already has led to increased tension in the Mediterranean, where the U. S. has had to take over from a faltering Britain, in a likewise fixed position of American interest now, and we might as well get used to it. We are in it for oil, and for the defense of our own interests in the Mediterranean throughout the middle. But above everything else we are in it to prevent communist aggression.

Dispatch of additional troops to the area does not mean that war is expected. Instead, it is more of a warning of how serious the U. S. considers the continuation of provocations which, if somebody else, could lead to war.

New Faces For Movies

JEAN PETERS, BARBARA BEL GEDDES, ALIDA VALI, WANDA HENDRIX, VIVECA LINDFORS

No matter what other troubles Hollywood may now be having, it is suffering no dearth of new feminine faces. Here are five starlets who movie critics think are likely to succeed.

Marshall Plan Fog Obscuring Basic Questions, Writer Says

(One of a series on the Marshall plan.)
WASHINGTON (NEA) — President Truman's message on the Marshall plan was the last day of the special session along with a state department 20-page "Outline of a European Recovery Program." The question of just what it's all about has been lost sight of, however, ever in the meantime, critics of the Marshall plan have been having a field day.

There will probably be a month of public hearings on the plan before Senate and House foreign affairs committees, another month of floor debate before a bill to authorize the European recovery program can be voted on, and then another month of hearings and more floor debate before money is appropriated to carry it out. It is only then that a definite answer can be given on what the Marshall plan really is, if ECA—the economic cooperation administration—is in business by April 1, it will be a miracle.

In all this fog of billions of words and millions of figures, the real nature and intent of the Marshall plan here to be lost again. It therefore becomes necessary to keep clearly in mind just what the Marshall plan fundamentals really are. Unless you wish to become involved in a mire of trade statistics, administrative detail and political bickering, there are only four basic questions:

- Why is it necessary to have any Marshall plan at all?
Can the United States afford to finance it?

The first year cost is put at $6,800,000,000, which is but 3 per cent of the U. S. national income. The fourth year's cost is put at $2,500,000,000, which is one per cent of present annual income.

Strenuous Europe needs work will punch the American economy. They are petroleum products, bread, grains, nitrogen fertilizer, steel, industrial and farm machinery, and freight cars. Because these items are in short supply all over the world, furnishing them in quantity to Europe may force American prices still higher.

If it is then held that the U. S. should do nothing at all, the consequences of such a Soviet move will be that the communists want to control the western European productive area—the richest price in the world, next to America.

If the European industrial area falls to the communists, the effects on the U. S. would be catastrophic.

Old Forecast Foresaw Flu Wave for '48

NEW YORK, Jan. 14 (AP)—Influenza is on the march again in the United States, recalling an old prediction that another major epidemic would sweep the country in 1948. The nation's worst epidemic of "flu" came in 1918-19, when it was estimated that 200,000 Americans were stricken and that about 450,000 persons died.

Experts Doubt Forecast
However, health authorities, including the state commission, said today that they doubted the number of "flu" cases in 1948 would equal the catastrophe of 1918-19. Most of them agreed that two factors would prevent the return of such an epidemic.

These factors are:
1. Medical science now has drugs, such as the sulfas, ampicillin, and penicillin. As "flu" is caused by a virus, neither type of the drugs will cure the disease, but they are helpful in eliminating the complications that sometimes are more dangerous than the "flu" itself.

Latest figures from the U. S. public health service report that during the week ending Jan. 2, there were 7,315 cases reported as compared with 3,833 the previous week. Since July 26, there have been 35,216 cases reported. The latter figure is about 4,000 above the five-year median (1942-1946).

The public health service reported that the greatest number of cases during the week ending Jan. 2 were in Virginia, which jumped from 410 cases to 839; South Carolina, from 337 to 1,250; Texas, 2,015 to 2,992; Arizona, 197 to 601, and California, 131 to 315.

Production of new automobiles in 1946 was 37 per cent below prewar output.

Suit Demands Accounting of Farm Tenant

George Voelker has petitioned district court for an accounting of his claims against W. E. Crisp, who farmed Voelker's land under a Nov. 22, 1946, agreement. Voelker also asks $1000 damages for loss of 25 per cent of an eight-acre crop of Idaho Russet potatoes which were allegedly left exposed to the weather.

He contends he is entitled to two-thirds of the proceeds of five acres of sugar beets. Crisp received a check from the Amalgamated Sugar company for $424.86 while he received $1841. Voelker states, "Since money is due from the sugar company, but Crisp refused to sign an agreement which makes settlement impossible," Voelker contends.

Moreover, Crisp failed to pay his share of a $125 bill on throwing beans and also failed to pay his share of a $4180 threshing bill on wheat, Voelker claims.

Voelker states he personally paid $193 for a sack of cut chow for which he has never been paid by Crisp and had to prepare ground for planting beans himself. He is working $30 a day for 17 days, work of $50.

Because Crisp failed to cut six acres of beets, Voelker contends he had to hire a third person to do the work at $12.

On the credit side, Voelker admits that Crisp is entitled to a $100 credit for picking potatoes and that Crisp paid $420 on an item when he should have paid two-thirds of the amount, Voelker admits. But Crisp refused to permit settlement of this item, Voelker stated.

Voelker's complaint was filed by Attorney J. W. Taylor.

Experts Aid Hoover in Study To Improve President's Office

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover asked and got the best expert help for his commission when it took up the task of planning greater efficiency in the executive department of the government.

Mr. Hoover needs that help. For his 12-man commission must find ways and means before Jan. 1949, of improving the efficiency of 2300 units which comprise the government's executive departments.

Mr. Hoover has 15 months and $750,000 to do the job. He called in industrial engineers and efficiency experts to aid the commission. Some are paid, others volunteered their services.

The first meeting was held last Sept. 22. Today, just a year before the commission must make its report and recommendations to the 81st congress, this is the status of the survey:

1. Robert Heller and associates, New York, are surveying the post office department to see whether they can turn it into a break-even enterprise. The post office has lost money for years. That survey will cost an estimated $135,000, but may show where millions can be saved.

2. The Brookings Institution is preparing a report on the interstate commerce commission, and the civil aeronautics board to see whether their direction of shipping, railroad and bus transportation, and air travel, could be overhauled in any way.

3. The Brookings Institution also is preparing a report on the health, education and social security functions of the federal government.

4. Mel-Glen Arthur H. Carter, a public accountant, will make a study of government experience in competitive business, and report on the form under which such businesses should be conducted.

5. Frank O. Undersecretary of Treasury Thomas Jefferson Coolidge heads a committee which will report on financial industry and accounting methods and control in the executive department.

6. Russell Forbes of the munitions board will report on procurement policies of the government, outside those required by national defense.

7. Paul Gray, a public accountant, is preparing a report on the lending agencies of government.

8. Former Undersec. of Treasury John W. Hanes will examine and report on fiscal industry and accounting methods and control in the executive department.
