Change Is Barred on Taxes Act

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29 (AP)—The house voted today to consider the $6,600,000,000 tax-slashing bill under procedure barring any changes. Democrats cried "bug. C. The vote was by voice. The opening of debate quickly developed a wide rift in Democratic ranks on President Truman's tax proposal. Representative Knutson, R. Minn., author of the GOP bill invited members to demand the President and help override his expected tax bill.

Hays Truman Plan Representative Hays, D. Ga., told the house that for Democrats to offer the President's $40 per person tax reducing plan (with a corporation excess profit tax to make up the revenue loss) "would be not much more than a piece of foolishness." While the procedure voted by the house allows no amendments, Democrats will get one chance to offer a complete substitute for Knutson's bill.

"Hays's Chance" Cox told his party members the President's proposal was "a piece of legislation which the Democrats are going to have to fight." He proposed that the Democrats rally behind a proposal by Representative Donnell, D. Cal., to limit the Republican bill from $6,600,000,000 to around $4,000,000,000. Donnell's measure would require $200,000,000 to be used to help taxpayers meet the high cost of living.

Vote Due Monday Debate on Knutson's bill is scheduled to last through tomorrow with a vote to be taken Monday. Democrats and Republicans agreed that the bill will pass but not by a two-thirds majority necessary to override a presidential veto.

President Truman has virtually promised that he will veto the GOP bill unless the Democrats agree to stage for a bitter partisan battle in this election year. Although the house is expected to change the house bill to give the President a veto, President Truman has indicated his opposition to any substantial changes in this year's tax bill.

"Cut in Bag" Before the debate began, Speaker Martin R. Taft, said an income tax cut this year is in the bag. He conceded it might be as much as the $2,000,000,000 provided in the Knutson bill. But in the end, Martin told reporters the Republican majority will override a presidential veto of the tax bill we send to the White House.

Idaho Spuds Stole the Show

Joe Marshall, Idaho potato king, is shown above with a portion of the display of spuds which stole the show at the United Fruit and Vegetable Convention in San Francisco last week. The display included 6,500 pounds of Idaho bakets, with the individual potatoes weighing from 30 to 46 ounces, and 600 pounds of onions. (Staff engraving)

Display of Idaho Spuds, Onions Steal Coast Show

When delegates from other states gazed at the impressive display of Idaho bakets and Idaho onions, they cancelled plans to display similar produce at the United Fruit and Vegetable convention in San Francisco, Calif., last week. And nearly everyone featured Joe Marshall, Twin Falls, for "just one more chance to show his friends." Marshall declared here Wednesday, "The smallest potato in my display weighed 30 ounces with others weighing as much as 46 ounces."

Marshall, widely known as the "potato king," took the potatoes to San Francisco for the convention and arranged them in a display himself. After delegates from the Klamath Falls area of Oregon and the Moses Lake project in Washington cancelled plans to exhibit similar produce, and Klamath Falls generally is fairly proud of its potatoes.

But Idaho's display didn't stop there. The California exhibit, including potatoes only about one-third as large as the Idaho bakets, was located directly opposite the Idaho display. Prominently displayed on the California exhibit was a sign reading, "When Idaho hasn't been there, we've been there." Marshall said.

Marshall is a charter member of the Idaho advertising commission. The exhibit at the San Francisco convention was part of a national potato and onion "advertising" Idaho producer, particularly potatoes, which are sold in 100-pound tubs.

Some 200 Idaho people attended the convention which lasted for the day. The trouble with Idaho, he said in a statement, is that it is "a very confusing word." People don't know what it means when they mean billion, and vice versa, he said. "A billion dollars is a thousand million dollars," Truman added. "Why say over this tremendous amount?"

Plan to Withdraw 5,000-Franc Notes Rejected by Panel

PARIS, Jan. 29 (AP)—A government bill to confiscate francs from holders of 5,000-franc banknotes was rejected by the national assembly's finance commission today. Premier Robert Schuman's government sought to withdraw all 5,000-franc notes in circulation, and apparently to confiscate those obtained illegitimately. The bill was rejected when the assembly voted 287 to 272. The government demanded a second reading of the bill will go to the national assembly with a favorable report if the commission maintains its stand on the second reading. The government's plan was aimed at both inflation and the black market. Authorized sources said this would grab about $200,000,000 worth of francs from circulation. The plan would increase the money supply by 20 percent. The government would buy back the notes at a 50 percent discount. The plan would also increase the money supply by 20 percent. Bad Business Shuts 'Spots' In Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 29 (AP)—This is the year of the great studios and the Sunset strip. Four of Hollywood's most exclusive clubs closed their doors in the same 48 hours and more are going broke daily.

The movie trade isn't going step-much these days. It's cheaper to stay home by the swimming pool. With the British tax and the box office drop, Hollywood isn't throwing its money around anymore. And the depression is alluring through the studio gates and across the street to the glittering night spots.

Owners of the Hollywood Chatterbox and the super-exclusive Coronet took one final look at the empty expanse of white tablecloths in their dining rooms and went to federal court with voluntary bankruptcy pleas.

In the same day Billingsley's, within a limousine distance from most of the studios, folded with a crowd of customers just walking in and out stairs to its swanky lounge room. Result: Another bankruptcy case.

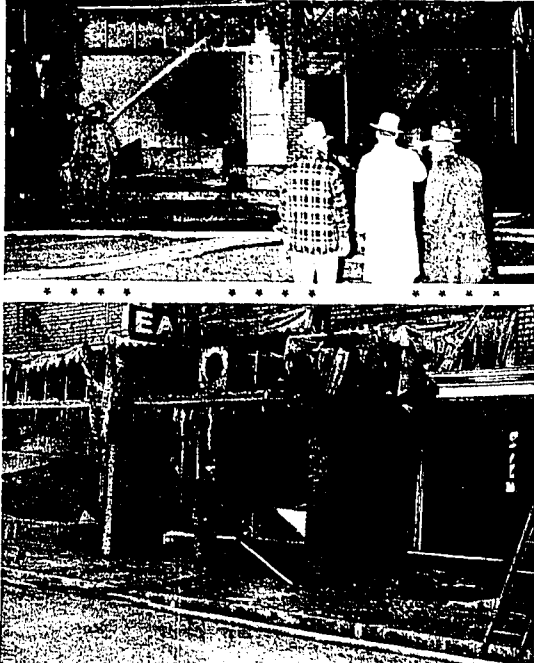

Moreno, a few weeks down the street on dazzling Sunset boulevard, was the fourth nightclub to topple into bankruptcy proceedings.

It all happened in 48 hours. And it was only the beginning.

Two days later Dave's Blue Room, hangout for grade A celebrities, went out of business.

That leaves only three super swanky nightspots still drawing star-studded loads of customers—Ciro's, the Mocambo and Sloopay Moxie's.

At the height of the blaze, shown in photo at top, firemen battled to keep the fire from spreading to adjoining buildings. 'Non-Sleeping' Bears Bother Maine People

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Jan. 29 (AP)—A Harvard University expert cleared up the mystery of the prowling black bears of Maine today by announcing that bears don't hibernate in winter.

"Just a common misunderstanding," scoffed Dr. Charles F. Lyman, assistant curator of the Harvard museum of comparative zoology.

"Can't understand why the Maine officials are so bewildered because their bears won't go to sleep," he said. "A bear can't hibernate if he wants to. It's physically impossible."

News to Official

This was news to the fish and game deputy commissioner, W. Earl Hensbury, of Augusta, Me. Berry-picking bears were expected to strut around in the summer, he said, but in winter—no.

"Our bears always hibernate in December," he said firmly. "Everybody up here knows it. It's considered the normal thing for a bear to do in Maine. But this winter the woods are filled with bears. Perfectly bear-wild. It's not natural."

"Perfectly natural" persisted Dr. Lyman. "Woodchucks, ground squirrels and bats hibernate, but not bears. When an animal hibernates its temperature drops and its respiration and heart beat slow down."

"Bears don't do that. Their temperatures remain normal. They do hibernate but not in winter. They get a lot of sleeping during the winter, but they don't overdo it. They get up to eat. They never enter a state of suspended animation. Throw a rock at an 'hibernating' bear and find out."

Delivery of the seed to the CCC must be cleaned, bagged and labeled with an official inspection certificate.

A producer must pay a service fee.

Weather Experts See Methods for 'Guiding' Storms

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE Associated Press Science Editor

NEW YORK, Jan. 29 (AP)—Dr. Irving Langmuir, rainmaking scientist, predicted that weather men may be able to change the course of an oncoming storm.

It would be done by starting a small artificial storm near the path of the big one. This should work, he told the institute of the aeronautical sciences, because these methods make rain as started by the same method that nature uses for its big storms.

Nature does not use dry ice, but he explained that she starts with drops of water or ice crystals that grow to those made by seeding a cloud from a plane. And science now knows other things than dry ice that man can use.

The dangers that a man-made rain might change the path of are so great, Dr. Langmuir said, that both the General Electric company and the U. S. Signal corps, are making rain tests only where and where there is no chance of a mix-up.

Are You "Hobby Happy?"

Funny thing about hobbies... When Ed Carey started making a model of the "Flying Cloud," it was only to rest his eyes from reading. But now he spends every spare moment ship modeling!

Some wives might have resented a husband suddenly shutting himself in the attic every night. But not Mrs. Frances. When she found him working late, she brought him some beer and crackers... showed a real interest in his hobby... until finally Ed had her helping with the rigging.

State Projects In Soil-Saving Boomed in '47

BOISE, Jan. 29 (UP)—Soil conservation boomed in Idaho in 1947 and will steadily progress in 1948.

In the last 10 years soil conservation districts after districts have been created. By the end of 1947 there were 23 of them in the state and they comprised about half of the state's agricultural land and half of the farmers. And the state soil conservation commission had two petitions for creation of new districts before it as 1948 began.

State Conservationist H. N. Irving, Boise, said more soil conservation practices were established on farm and ranch lands in Idaho districts in 1947 than in any previous year.

310,000 Acres Included

He added that farmers in locally-governed and operated districts, as assisted by soil conservation technicians, applied one or more soil conservation practices to more than 310,000 acres.

The important practices included the acreages of contour cultivation, rotational and permanent hay and pasture seedings, stubble utilization, land leveling, proper application of irrigation water, range management and range revegetation.

In addition, said Irving, a number of farmer groups in irrigated areas were given technical advice in planning and constructing new irrigation systems and in rehabilitation of previously constructed irrigation works.

Done by Farmers

Irving pointed out that all soil conservation work is done by farmers themselves under administration of elective supervisors. The soil conservation service assists the districts in furnishing heavy equipment, technical assistance in the planning and establishment of difficult practices.

"The service," said Irving, "has helped the districts in preparation of 4,321 individual conservation farm plans to date."

At the Conservation Districts Convention, Boise, Jan. 27, Conservation Chief H. H. Bennett reported that a new record was established in acreage of conservation practices in treatment on 20,000,000 acres.

Bennett cited from his records a number of "nearly all farmers" who have adopted a complete conservation-farming program claim that it has increased their yields by as much as 30 per cent to more than 100 per cent.

Uncle Tom's Cabin

Several Magic Valley students at the University of Idaho took part in a portrayal of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" at the school. Charles Jackson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Jackson, Burley, is on the floor. Fire-Raked U. S. Funeral Ship Is Sunk in Atlantic

BOSTON, Jan. 29 (UP)—The army funeral ship Joseph W. Connolly, loaded with 46 crewmen, was wrecked dramatically when it was swept by a heavy storm, sank suddenly today while being towed to New York.

There was no one aboard the burned transport when it is believed about 1,000 miles east of Boston, according to a report from the coast guard cutter Aqueduct.

The Connolly had been taken in tow Monday by the cutter and the commercial salvage tug Curio. A brief message from the Aqueduct said the tow lines to the Connolly snapped when a snow squall struck the vessel this morning.

The 7,000-ton funeral ship was bound from New York to Espino, with 4,500 coffins aboard to return war dead when swept by fire.

Area Students Have Parts in U. of I. Drama

Douglas Finklenburg, Hazelton, was George Shelby, and Dottie West, Blith, was Topsy. Kenneth Briggs, Murtaugh, was cast as Mr. Wilson, and Harry Lamson, Fairfield, as Cate. George Harlow, Jerome, was Sleggs.

Students helping with the state settings, properties and costumes include Lamson, assistant electrician, Wanda Merz, Heyburn, June Thomas, Glenn Perry, and Gloria Taylor, Burley, dressing crew. Elaine Glenn, Twin Falls, was assistant on the make-up crew. June Hoops and Betty James, both of Twin Falls, worked on the costume crew.

Hamburger Is Sent Free by Mail in "War"

ST. HELENS, Ore., Jan. 29 (UP)—The St. Helens meat price war took on a national aspect today when a butcher shipped free hamburger, prepaid and packed in dry ice, to mail order customers throughout the nation.

The price-slashing contest, which started in this Columbia river industrial city of 10,000 three weeks ago, has attracted bargain hunters throughout the Pacific northwest.

Ham Given Away

The town was still talking about Butcher Jack Sappington, who gave customers 10 cents each to carry away hams in three-day promotions. The 10 cents, he said, was intended as payment to the customer taking the ham.

He recommended that the money be turned over to the march of dimen-tion which started with the war when two partners, Norman Raymond and Ernest Peterson, opened a new store called "The Price Market." They jockeyed their competitors with a starting price of 25 cents a pound for hamburger.

Others Slash Prices

One by one the other butchers slashed their prices. Hamburger took the heaviest gouge. When one dealer cut the price to 20 cents, Butcher Roy Harrington announced he would give it away.

"It made just as much sense to hand out hamburger free as to sell it for 20 cents," Harrington said.

The response was electric. Correspondence flooded Harrington.

"I am going to answer each letter I get personally," said Harrington. "I'll tell them what a nice little town we've got here. Then I'll send a pound of hamburger in dry ice charges prepaid, to every person who wrote to me. But after today, the offer is cancelled."

Logs Crush Life From Idaho Man

BOISE, Jan. 29 (UP)—William T. Weaver, 71, route 1, was crushed to death last night when a truck load of logs toppled on him on the Idaho city highway 15 miles east of Boise.

Sheriff Don Headrick said Victor Walby, Idaho City, was driving a truck load of logs to a Boise valley sawmill when the load shifted and stopped the truck to straighten the load.

Weaver was in another logging truck which stopped to give aid. As Weaver walked along side the crooked load, the heavy logs shifted and pinned him to the ground. He died instantly. A wrecker was called to lift two logs from his body.

Idaho Adopts Standards on Hospital Rule

BOISE, Jan. 29.—Rules and regulations setting up minimum standards for operation and maintenance of general hospitals, maternity homes and nursing homes in the state, were adopted today when Gov. A. B. Robinson accepted the first copy of the standards.

The standards were prepared by the Idaho hospital advisory council in cooperation with the Idaho department of public health.

Work Eight Months
For the past eight months members of the council and health officials have been preparing the standards, required by a law passed by the 1947 session of the state legislature.

Under provisions of the law, a hospital was defined as a place "for the diagnosis, treatment or care for not less than 24 hours of two or more non-related individuals suffering from illness, disease, injury, deformity or requiring care because of old age, obstetric or other medical or nursing care."

Others Prepared
L. J. Peterson, administrative director of the state department of public health, and chairman of the council, said the standards for specialized hospitals such as tuberculosis and mental as well as chronic or convalescent facilities are in the process of preparation and will be adopted within the next few months.

Members of the Idaho hospital council, in addition to Peterson, are Dr. A. B. Pappenhagen, Grofford, president of the Idaho State Medical Association, Mrs. Helen B. Lake, Boise, superintendent of B. Rook's hospital and secretary of the Idaho Hospital Association; Dr. A. S. Thurston, practicing physician, Council, Frank H. Fiedler, Pocatello architect, and David G. Gabel, Rexburg, and Eugene P. Shepherd, Montpelier, representing consumers of hospital care.

Dealer Fined
BURLEY, Jan. 29.—J. H. Jones, Burley used car dealer, pleaded guilty in probate court Tuesday to a charge of failure to secure a license on an out-of-state used automobile he sold. Judge Henry W. Tucker fined him $25.

Magic Mountain ski patrol will get a new batch of first aid graduates who are currently receiving instruction through the cooperation of the Twin Falls fire department and Red Cross.

With an expansion imminent in the local ski area, the present ski patrol of six will need to be enlarged, and the Magic Mountain ski club has urged members to enroll in the first aid course.

Two teams of certified first aid instructors from the fire department, James Poillon, George Mann, Fred Higgins and Bob Miller, are donating their time to two courses to instruct the class, which includes Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Ebleton, Dick Fredrickson, Fred Tomlin, Norman Showalter, Verma Stinson and Dale Baird. In two weeks this beginning class will be joined by advanced work by several other ski club members, who have previously received their elementary first aid instruction.

Dick Bailey, Dave Fox, Lloyd Showmaker, Bill Leach, Claude Jones and Joyce Sidwell make up the ski patrol which is now serving in the Magic Mountain area. Their first aid equipment has been donated by the Twin Falls chapter of the American Red Cross. The ski club has a first aid kit, splints, stretcher and two blankets, which have been provided in most cases.

Thundercloud 'Tests' Revise Ancient Ideas

by HOWARD W. BAKER
AP Science Editor
NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—More than 1,300 daring flights through thunderstorms show that these clouds are giant lumps.

They breathe air in from their sides, and they blow it out hard from their bottoms. Sometimes they puff out from the top, too.

The thundercloud has an interior that follows a fairly steady pattern. It is a series of more or less concentric cells. Each cell is a place where air is blowing vertically upward in one place and coming straight down in another.

The electric fields inside a cloud were far stronger than even close outside. The danger of being hit by a stroke is greatest at the point where the cloud is just at freezing, observers said.

Analyst Sees Hope in U.N. India Actions

By DEWITT MACKENZIE AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

It is a fortunate fact for the world that the dominions of India and Pakistan have submitted their bitter struggle over the princely states of Kashmir to the United Nations.

Without the peace treaty, this controversy might explode into a full-scale war which would encompass all the 400 millions of the Indian sub-continent and its 40 million in Pakistan. This conflict could be prevented from occurring.

If this case can be kept within the framework of the United Nations, it is likely to give the best of the efficiency of that organization. Thus for India and Pakistan have disposed their bitter and bitter working through the U.N. and tacitly recognizing that the controversy is not confined to the areas of dynamic that they could scarcely be expected to settle it between themselves.

Traffic Incarceration

It is a tragic incarceration that the peacefully remaining of the Kashmir should now hang down over the Indian peninsula from the princely states like a flaming sword. The trouble area grew out of the formation of the Independent dominions last summer.

At that time Kashmir, and the other hundreds of native states, were given the privilege of joining either dominion or being independent. The Hindu maharajah of Kashmir, Hari Singh, chose to remain free, but he didn't reckon with the fact that 71 per cent of his subjects were Moslems.

Troops Invaded

From the neighboring territory of Pakistan, British troops were sent. There was a case of bloodshed and destruction.

The maharajah promptly cast his lot with Hindu India and asked for protective troops, which were sent. That's where the matter stands now, with constant danger of open warfare breaking out between Pakistan and India.

Russia May Serve Eviction Notices in Berlin

The red army newspaper in Berlin indicated that Russia might attempt to expel western powers from the German capital, the last bridge between east and west, after the U. S. and Britain established the business government of their occupation areas. Map highlights implications that may allow if the Russians declare four-power control in Berlin null and void.

Boyle Believes 'Dressy' List Should Include Island of Bali

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK, Jan. 29—(AP)—A woman who says she is a "beauty engineer" has done the poor beleaguered architect a favor.

She's come up with a list of 10 cities where she says you can find the lowest rating for well-dressed women.

- (1) Boston—"Slow, too cautious, never catching up until a fashion is well established."
- (2) Chicago—"A mixture of good and bad fashion where east and west meet."
- (3) Palm Beach (by Palm Beach)—"Surrounded by beauty in clothes, but not properly affected by it—whatever that means."

Now to get on to the places where a fellow can make a date and be fairly sure the gal will show the most "ingenuity in dress, newness of style and wear proper fashion best suited to her personality. Here they are in the order Mrs. DeWitt lists them in her own fashionable jargon.

- (1) New York City—"The sophisticated new look"—where women who are the nation's fashion leaders accept new styles and try them willingly.
- (2) Atlanta—"The soft southern look"—they couple smart fashion with southern grace and dignity.
- (3) Detroit—"The mature look"—the women are anxious to improve constantly in fashion consciousness and that their city is improving in its national importance.
- (4) Washington—"The refreshing look"—where the business set proves it is possible to dress well on a budget when one plans carefully.
- (5) Philadelphia—"The pet look"—the quiet coziness of their city is reflected in the unerring choice of clean, sensible clothes.
- (6) Dallas—"The buxant look"—beautiful girls and beautiful clothes in a beautiful city.
- (7) San Francisco—"The intriguing look"—western charm with eastern flair for distinctive dressing.
- (8) Salt Lake City—"The wholesome look"—simple, casual living, in clothes with a fashion slantness.
- (9) Seattle—"The exciting look"—a plus variety in a city where everything seems to be a little "extra."
- (10) Well, boys, there's where we'd recommend clothes horses dwell—according to Mrs. DeWitt and her pals. But they name no community where a man with a slim pocketbook can find a nice and keep her in the finer style to become accustomed to.

Off Java, to Dutch—Although you need a passport, I can help out in three—Evening (Jan. 29), there is a small island called Bali. On it dwell couples of simple barefoot girls with a sweet backward look.

They are beautiful, they wear their own clothes from silk or cotton, and they're in the height of fashion with only a halftone that stretches from the waist to the ankle. This gives them half of the "new look"—and the rest is all outdoors. The only hat they wear is a water jar.

A man could go there with a pocketful of rotten seeds and a hat full of allworms and keep his hat in style forever.

Suit Demands Receivership For Air Park

BOILER, Jan. 29—A suit was entered in district court today by the minority stockholders in the Thousand Springs Air Park corporation to restrain Delbert and Delcie Clamptis, managers of the air park, from allegedly selling control of the company and putting its assets to their own personal use.

The action, which was brought to court by Clayton Davidson, W. A. Thayer, Herbert Alexander and Don White, seeks further to have the corporation liquidated and put into the hands of a court-appointed receiver.

In their petition, the stockholders claim the Clamptis took over control of the company by means of a "pretextual election" in which Delcie Clamptis was elevated to director and secretary along with her husband who is president.

When the election was held at a meeting Jan. 12, the stockholders say no ballots were cast by any of the members present. They add that at the same meeting 400 shares of stock in the company were given to Mrs. Clamptis by her husband without their approval.

With the control of the company in their hands, the stockholders continue, the Clamptis went ahead without the formality of a board director as is purportedly called for in the statute of the corporation and proceeded to make arrangements to turn the air park into farm land. Clamptis, the petition claims, would remain as president and manager and have power of attorney to administrate the corporation's affairs on a farm.

At the Jan. 12 meeting of the stockholders, it was also stated in the petition the Thousand Springs Air Park corporation listed a total deficit of $22,240.17, including a $10,675.55 operating deficit for 1947.
