City Fire Situation Said Bad

Describing the condition of Twin Falls fire fighting equipment as "deplorable and pathetic," Public Safety Commissioner I. E. Nitschke Saturday presented a detailed survey of several months' study of the Twin Falls fire department.

Nitschke's report said that in case of a two-alarm fire, the city would be at a complete loss for equipment. "Couple this fact with the constant prevailing winds and we could easily have a conflagration that would wipe out blocks of property, not to mention the possibility of loss of human life," he declared.

The survey called for a better equipped fire department, stating that the present three trucks are inadequate and the fire station is not adequate to house the equipment. To provide suitable living quarters for firemen.

Nitschke also reported that the city must provide a crash truck and suitable modern equipment for use at the airport to conform with OAA regulations.

Trustee Asks Early Return On Seal Sale

Although Easter seal sales for the Idaho Society for Crippled Children are progressing nicely, according to Eugene H. Taylor, secretary, he still urges all persons who received seals to return their donations by Easter Sunday.

"I would be appreciated if all persons who sent in their contributions by next Sunday," Taylor said, "so that the year's work can be planned and money allocated."

Taylor declared that a recent bulletin from the state department of public health shows there are 3,164 crippled children in Idaho. These are the ones the society wants to help, he remarked, adding that all funds except necessary expenses to directly into work for crippled children.

Taylor explained that in Twin Falls a good portion of the money received from the sale of Easter seals is used to provide assistance by such means as: paying hospital bills and other necessary expenses.

"All cases reported to the local trustee are investigated by public health service nurses, and are approved by them before any funds are disbursed," Taylor said.

ERP Runs Into Week-End 'Bull'

WASHINGTON, March 20 (AP)—There were but four signals today a major storm will develop when the $2,250,000 foreign aid bill hits the Senate floor for debate next week.

The bill, intended to help 16 European countries and China remain in a state of emergency.

One concern in congress now is that supply lines to run dry because of the new program becoming law. The house appropriations committee meets Monday to handle that problem.

No Coal Shortages or Ration Seen Here in Miners' Strike

Only the supply of slack coal through many of them said they did not believe in a coal shortage developing from the strike.

The fact that there is a coal shortage is not a new one, said the miners' union. It is a fact that has been known for many years.

Some dealers declared that the coal shortage would not be a problem because of the large stockpile of coal in the mines.

Wage Hike 'Need' Told Strike Panel

CHICAGO, March 20 (AP)—A presidential fact finding board was told Wednesday the striking CIO United Mine Workers' demand for a 10 percent hourly wage increase to keep pace with higher living costs.

The board, which is headed by former U. S. labor secretary, said the miners' demand for a 10 percent wage increase is "adequate even by company criteria."

Russ on Spot as Trieste Return to Italy Proposed

By U.S., Britain, France

WASHINGTON, March 20 (AP)—The United States, in a surprise move, proposed jointly with France and Britain today that the free territory of Trieste be returned to Italy. They thereby put both the Italian communists and their Yugoslav and Russian backers on the spot.

The proposal would require a surgical operation on the six-month-old Italian peace treaty. That treaty set up the 430 square mile area between Italy and Yugoslavia as an independent state under the United Nations.

Trieste, long a storm center, has been coveted by both the Italians and by the Yugoslavs under the Soviet-backed Marshall Tito.

Trieste Action Placing Strain On U. N. Body

LANS BECCLES, March 20 (AP)—The unexpected winter power demand for the return of Trieste to Italy put a new strain on the United Nations body.

The general feeling here is that the Trieste development, plus the surprising agreement for the partition of Palestine and the east-west clash over Czechoslovakia, are putting the United Nations to the test.

Injunction Is Asked by Cab Firm in Case

A request for an injunction to prevent the city of Twin Falls from moving his cab parking spaces on Main Street was granted by Judge Shoshone street was filed in district court Friday by Phil A. Carrell, owner of the Cab Firm.

In 1947 a similar action was entered by Carrell in district court. The case was later appealed in the state supreme court. The case was dismissed because the city had granted a 1948 permit to Carrell to park his cabs on Main Street.

The decision of the supreme court, however, did not state specifically whether or not the permit had been granted to Carrell. The matter revolves on this point.

Carrell alleges in his petition that the city granted him low parking space permits at 101 and 103 Main Street for the sum of $210. The city, on the other hand, claims the permits were granted on Shoshone street and not Main Street.

On Friday, when Carrell is to appear in district court to show cause why he should not be granted an injunction, the question as to location of the two parking permits is expected to be decided.

Discrimination Charged

By losing the right to operate from Main Avenue, Carrell charges that the city is discriminating against him in relation to the taxi and cab business in the downtown district.

He says that instead of having a fair trial in Shoshone street from street parking, his cab and other vehicles will have to be parked in blocks to reach a similar position, thereby losing equal advantage of a low cost parking for the year on intersecting.

Attorney William L. Dunn is representing Carrell in the action.

Death Toll Is Listed for Twister Area

CHICAGO, March 20 (AP)—Detailed survivors salvaged their possessions from the wreckage of destructive tornadoes and winds that hit nine states and nearly wiped two Illinois cities.

The death toll was reported at 42. Of the victims, 39 are known to be dead and 3 are missing. The hunt for more bodies continued.

In Michigan, meanwhile, floods took toll on the wreckage of homes and heavy rains left off. Hundreds were forced from their homes. Damage was estimated at $10 million.

Streams were over their banks, too, in the Chicago area and the western portion of the state. Forty homes were flooded at Lisle, near Chicago.

The powerful winds and gales which struck the southern part of the state during the night, left a path of destruction from Texas to New York.

Of the 29 known dead, 25 were in Illinois, four each in Ohio and Michigan and one in Kentucky. The Pennsylvania and New York deaths were in Michigan and New York.

It was 69 per cent destroyed. Only a half dozen homes on the edge of the town escaped damage. The school in the town's major building still standing.

The heavy rainfall community of Fosterburg lost no better than $100,000. At least six died there. Another six in the area. Chicago counted three dead and $250,000 property damage.

House's Okay Seen for Tax Cut Revisions

WASHINGTON, March 20.—(AP)—Representative Keating today predicted that the house will accept the senate's $4,800,000,000 tax bill without change and send it to the White House Tuesday.

Keating is chairman of the ways and means committee which has drafted the bill in the house.

The senate vote on the bill at 5 p. m. (EST) Monday was 319-105, predicted today.

But sponsors expect President Truman to veto any tax reduction bill sent him, and figure they have a better chance to override a veto if the senate figure is accepted.

A two-thirds vote in both houses is required to make the measure law over the President's objection. The house passed its bill 232 to 120, a margin of 112 votes.

Majority-Sighted Republican senators believe they can roll up a comfortable two-thirds majority. There remains the possibility they may not have such a margin when the veto is on.

Both the house and senate bills call for increasing personal exemptions to $500, and for limiting the amount of income tax to 30 percent for the first $10,000. The major difference is the rate of additional reductions. The house bill proposed cuts ranging from 5 percent on low income to 10 percent for top bracket taxpayers. The senate bill offers cuts varying from 5 to about 30 percent.

Both bills would be retroactive to last Jan. 1.

Warning Told On Insurance For Veterans

Magic Valley veterans with GI insurance now in force were urged Saturday by the veterans' administration to be certain that names of desired beneficiaries are on record in VA insurance files.

Several ex-GIs who died during the past year unknowingly left their widows in the lurch, explained Don Duvall, area VA representative.

"When the widow appeared to claim their insurance payments, they learned their husbands had never changed it over from other relatives, or had not designated any beneficiary."

If a veteran neglects to designate his intended beneficiary, much delay and controversy action may result in time settlement. Duvall pointed out. Also, if no beneficiary is named, the VA must pay a default annuity to the veteran's insurance to his estate. This makes it subject to probate and other claims.

Legal blanks for naming or making changes in beneficiaries to United States government life insurance or national service life insurance are available at the Twin Falls VA office. Veterans are advised to take along their husbands' or wives' and other correspondence from the VA in order to avoid errors.

Duvall also reminded veterans that they may still reinstate, at no extra cost, lapsed GI insurance policies unless they have been physically examined to determine insurability.

Tiny Club to Bring Citizen Back to U. S.

JEROME, March 20.—Seven women, members of the Canyonside Mothers club, are determined they will bring a member of their club returning an American citizen to the United States from Greece, but they are doubtful on how best to go to raise the $250 they need to complete the project.

It is believed the woman wrote to a New York City relief agency to get the name and address of some person overseas who was in need of relief shipment of food and clothing. The agency supplied the name of Harry Contogiannis, whose address is Akrotis, Attika, Greece. Native of U. S.

After several boxes of food and clothing had been sent to Contogiannis, he told the women he had been in Wisconsin. Mrs. Luther Lee, a member of the club, wrote to his native town in Wisconsin where she obtained a copy of his birth certificate and sent it to the club "project" in Greece.

Next, members of the club wrote to the American consulate in Greece, concerning the status of Contogiannis' American citizenship.

The women are now waiting for the return of Contogiannis. He has written the club a letter in which he requests $250 to pay for the return of Contogiannis. He says the club members can't afford to contribute the money. He says he would like to bring the "project" to this country. Mrs. Lee said the club will try to raise the money, or if not, from interested persons.

BURLEY, March 20.—A portion of highway near Duhl was painted a bright red when a pickup truck carrying a barrel of red paint, overturned Friday.

Mrs. Alex Williamson, Los Angeles, thought the paint was blood when she approached the overturned pickup truck belonging to her husband, a commercial painter, and saw the highway glow red in the roadway.

Williamson's pickup truck overturned when a she rode back six miles north and four and one-half miles west of Duhl. His wife, proceeding him to another vehicle, was worried when he failed to meet her here for lunch.

Atomic Plant Strike Halted By Injunction

KNOWLEDGE, Tenn., March 20 (AP)—A threatened strike in an atomic bomb laboratory at Oak Ridge, Tenn., was averted late yesterday when the government obtained an injunction banning a walkout for 90 days.

The court order, issued here by Federal Judge George C. Taylor, marked the first time national emergency provisions of the Fair-Hartley law had been invoked.

South Utah Seeks Project on Power

SALT LAKE CITY, March 20 (AP)—The Utah water and power board approved today appointment of an engineer to study feasibility of a southern Utah power project.

The 15-man board heard representatives from Washington, Iron and Kane counties describe the need for increased power facilities in the region.

Chief spokesman was LeRoy B. Cox, Cedar City attorney. He said the area is being "strangled by insufficiency of electrical power."

Gronway Parry, mayor of Cedar City, said "we are sick and tired of promises to supply additional power," and added:

"We definitely are not asking for assistance to build a plant which may cost $2,000,000. We are asking for an engineering survey to determine feasibility of the project. We are not afraid of raising the money to construct it."

More than those received by CIO workers at a nearby atomic production plant, also operated by Carbide.

After the injunction was issued, Kenneth B. Scott, union spokesman, told reporters the union would "wait out the next 90 days."

Weather Termed Key for Available Foods for Nation

WASHINGTON, March 20 (AP)—The weatherman holds one key to how well you'll eat in the year ahead, farming experts say.

An agriculture department survey made public late yesterday shows farmers are ready to produce big crops—if they get good weather.

Spring has been slow arriving in most sections of the country. Severe winter weather last week left a large part of the United States under a blanket of snow. It will take time for fields to dry.

Last year's spring floods and summer drought cut farm production, particularly for livestock feed. That's the main reason for declining meat supplies now.

This year farmers are intent on retilling empty feed bins—the first step toward putting more meat on the nation's tables. They plan to

NATIONAL REPRESENTATIVES

W. H. HARRIS, 1000 N. 10th St., Boise, Idaho

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON—In a stinging politico-diplomatic insult that is almost unprecedented, Moscow has charged that the "ruling circles" of the United States are engaged in a campaign to discredit the Soviet Union by "making and spreading the presidential candidacy of Henry A. Wallace."

Although the Soviet press has not yet published a handsome 60-page pamphlet which purports to be Stalin's answer to the American declaration of the 1933-1941 negotiations that led to the Hitler-Stalin pact, it was printed and circulated by the Soviet embassy here, ironically, it was carried in the American press.

It is understood that this government applies the newspaper for this hostile publication.

The document is entitled "Falsifications of History." It alleges that the authorities in Washington, London and France have sponsored an incomplete and distorted picture of the history in an attempt to blame Russia for precipitating World War II.

POT SHOTS

'AIR' BRANN & THE THREE

Dear Pot Shots:

Early Tuesday morning Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Brann were awakened by strange noises in their home two miles east of Piler. They decided to investigate and found a man and a woman and Brann asked his wife for a stream.

She "passed the ammunition" in the "order." An antique rifle for which there was no ammunition available, a shotgun for which shells were stored in the garage; a deer rifle. The would-be discourager of uninvited guests promptly tried to lead the wife with the wrong shell and it jammed.

So Brann, armed with a hunting knife, crept downstairs to investigate while the means trailed along in the night.

The intruder, who had entered the front door after using a passkey, evidently had tired of waiting. He had departed.

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S ANGLE

Chaboy had had the affrontery to challenge the proposition that F. D. Roosevelt was a non-man. I should amend that by saying that Elliott, the beneficiary of the John Hartford estate, is a non-man.

David O. Baird says, put up a "momentary" father and mother and news broke—but quietly folded up and hid in the shadows when the proof was present.

Elliott is not the most sensible fellow in town. In fact, he was a wreck. He had a lot of money and he was a big spender. He had a lot of money and he was a big spender. He had a lot of money and he was a big spender.

Easing Is Viewed On Denazification

FRANKFURT, March 20 (AP)—The American military government in a letter released today endorsed the easing of denazification in Germany and bringing it to an early end.

The letter was signed by Francis J. Sheehan, acting director of the American military government. It was addressed to Pastor Martin Niemöller of the Evangelical church and the Lutheran bishop of Mainz.

Sheehan's conciliatory attitude was a turnaround from the original demand expressed by Gen. Lucius D. Clay and many of his subordinates. Last month when Niemöller suggested the scrapping of denazification, he was criticized by some officials.

THINGS ARE SHAPING UP

What has happened to middle-of-the-road democracy in the United States? That's a good question to which we all should be giving more serious thought.

One reason is that there were, and still are, a number of causes that attract the radical elements of both extremes. There were other causes that radicals originated and that attracted a lot of decent people.

BUFFER—The Kremlin's tactic, which tends to explain its postwar suspicion of aggression against its neighbors, is being used by the West. The West is eager to rebuild and rearm Germany as a buffer against communism. The western powers, according to the Moscow press, are engaged in an attempt to persuade him to send his armies against Russia instead of western Europe.

The last paragraph of the article in Germany in the 20's, as well as Dawes and Young negotiators' forgiveness of German reparations for World War I, and the Versailles treaty's provisions against rearmament, to send Austria and the Germanization of Czechoslovakia, and the Germanization of eastern nations made World II inevitable.

NO HUM DEPT.

WRONG NUMBER

Dear Gent:

Up here we think we have the answer to Mrs. Willhite's question: "Could you tell me why Idaho is never called in any of these big contests?"

Because the telephone operators would never get the right number in 30 minutes, the usual time of the radio program. We kept an accurate count of wrong numbers.

Over a period of two months there were only three days that we did not have to answer "wrong number." And the total average wrong rings was three a day. During the strike, it was seven (7) times in 10 days.

When we make a call, we can expect to get the wrong number twice in three minutes trying to get the operator again; wait two minutes for her to do the call transfer; wait a good average. Other times it takes 12 to 15 minutes to get a number.

With the Easter rabbits about to pop his annual miracle of Technicolor eggs, the magazine and newspaper for the past couple of weeks has been busy with the Easter Parade with a new bonnet. Here it's just because the whole world is waking up after winter. Flowers are sprouting and trees are putting out their new leaves. And even the most unimaginative among us feel the urge to show nature a thing or two.

On the left, you see the communists have attacked the foreign civil rights movements—drives for better pay and working conditions, social advancement, veterans' rights, and so on. They have secretly organized or controlled a long list of innocuous sounding societies to promote Soviet-American friendship, foreign civil rights and other such apparently praiseworthy objectives.

On the right, Klan-and-bund type outfits have operated under a variety of names. The country generally recognizes and thoroughly despises the Klan. It is a familiar and lingering stench. So the native fascists have seized upon the very real menace of communism as a front. Behind it is found the familiar, confused hatred of Jews, Wall Street (Gen Taylor's chief bogeyman), foreigners and communists. This supposed anti-communist crusade has attracted a good many whose principal sin is ignorance.

SCHERING—The document supports these charges with purported transcripts of secret conversations between British spokesmen (Lord Halifax and Neville Henderson) and such top leaders as Hitler and Ribbentrop. The Russians claim that they obtained possession of this incriminating evidence when they ransacked German foreign offices in Berlin.

Just to add to the confusion, the left and right radicals have filled the air with "anti-fascist" and "anti-Nazi" slogans. Who disagreed with the communists was a reactionary or a fascist. Whoever criticized the rightist bigots or aroused their ire by liberal leanings was a communist or a Jew. Conservatives, liberals and mid-line Socialists seemed to have become a unit. It seemed almost as if middle-of-the-road democracy had disappeared from the American scene. But now, at last, there is renewed hope. The threat with Russia is bringing us to our senses. We're getting more and more in our spiritual and political hypocrisies, and the like. Secretary Marshall, for instance, has given Americans a clear and revealing choice. Other developments are separating the sheep from the goats. Out of all the confusion things are shaping up so the people can begin to see the light.

ANOTHER IMPROVEMENT

It is good news that a new radiology department, headed by a highly qualified radiologist, will soon go into operation at the Twin Falls county general hospital.

Dr. J. E. E. Moody has announced that Dr. John H. Raymond of Chicago, has accepted the appointment as radiologist and will come here with his family to operate the department as soon as adequate housing can be provided.

It is only natural that the hospital officials are gratified over obtaining the services of Dr. Raymond. In addition to being a diplomat of the American Board of Radiology, Dr. Raymond spent several years in private practice in Chicago. He has been practicing as a certified radiologist, specializing in deep therapy radiation.

With this new department, the county hospital takes another major step forward on its way to becoming a modern institution in every respect. Means are being progressing on an entirely new hospital building, construction of which is expected to start this summer.

Not to be overlooked is another favorable development which has taken place since Mr. Moody became superintendent. From all indications, the hospital is no longer being kicked around as a political football. It appears that one of our most serious community problems is finally being worked out.

DRUNK WITH SATISFACTION

"We must not think for a minute that America is immune to the calamities that have overtaken European nations."

There we have it again, this time from Jeff Williams, the "Sooner Philosopher," who addressed the members of Town Hall in Twin Falls Tuesday evening.

If the American people have any one outstanding fault, it's their complacency about things in general. In spite of everything that is done by the newspapers, magazines, radio and public speakers, the people just won't be stirred from their irresponsible self-satisfaction. It is only when something starts hurting them personally that they come out of their apathy.

Williams, a many other well known public speakers, denigrate the American people for their apathy toward world affairs. His idea is that public opinion may somehow be crystallized around work, thrift, education, and religion.

Will some miracle come about to bring us to our senses? Or will we slumber on as complacent individuals, shirking our responsibilities and ignoring the part we should play in cleaning up politics and building a better government?

What's your guess? And what will you do as an individual American do about it?

John Hill, a New York public relations expert, believes that business needs new jobs to change the minds of people regarding the business and industry. Some of the words we use have been so battered and blasted by the force of business, that their meaning has become distorted. We need a new alignment of terms.

"Free enterprise" is one of the terms Hill believes should be discarded. "Free enterprise" has been interpreted as freedom to break laws, to stiff competition, to oppress the worker and to go about one's affairs, free from taxation, and to keep the average citizen. As a substitute, "American Enterprise" is suggested. Mr. Hill also suggests using "product" and "income" to be replaced by "business" instead of "surplus."

Herbert Casson, who edits "The Efficiency Magazine" in London, England, sent me a poem he has written on what he called "Private Enterprise." I know he won't mind if I Americanize the poem and use Mr. Hill's phrase as the tag sentence. And with that change the poem should be widely read. Here it is, and go ahead and use it, with credit to Herbert Casson:

The power to choose the work I do,
To grow and have the larger view,
To know and feel that I am free,
To defend the law that I believe,
To be no chattel of the State,
To be the master of my fate,
To share the profit and the gain,
To make my own career path,
To serve the world in my own way,
To find in wisdom and in joy,
With courage and a steady climb, to me,
I call that American Enterprise.

Detention Not 'Surprise' for Frenchwoman

NEW YORK, March 20 (AP)—Mme. Irene Joliot-Curie, free today to make a two-week United States lecture tour, says her overnight detention at Ellis Island did not surprise her.

"Help to anti-fascists is not looked upon with as much favor as help to fascists—German. Nobel prize winner said. She said former collaborators with Germans here and in Europe, are fostering a 'wave of reaction.'"

Mme. Joliot-Curie, whose husband, Frederic, heads France's atomic energy commission, discussed her detention, through an interview with a newspaper. Her release was ordered by Attorney General Clark.

The 50-year-old scientist, daughter of Pierre and Marie Curie who first isolated radium, said she was a communist. But, she added, she was sympathetic to communism "for many things—yes—but not always and not in all things." She said her husband was a communist.

In response to questions, Mme. Joliot-Curie said she did not know whether Russia had an atomic bomb and said it was "stern folly" to believe Russia might attack this country.

Clinic Planned for Minidoka's Schools

RUPERT, March 20—A diphtheria and smallpox immunization clinic will be held in Rupert, Paul Heyburn, Acquia, Minidoka, Pioneer and Riverview schools Thursday and Friday, Mrs. Pearl Taylor, Minidoka county public health nurse, announced.

Mrs. Taylor and Dr. O. A. McNeill will have charge of the clinics.

Good Neighbor at Work . . . the Winner

Mrs. J. H. Bryant is shown in photo above mending clothes for needy persons overseas. She was named "good neighbor" award at the American Legion birthday party after being nominated by Mrs. Eugene Shelby, photo at right, above. Mrs. Bryant has been helping needy people abroad for the last two years. The wheelchair to which she has been confined for the last 10 years has failed to slacken her interest in helping others. Belated Recognition Given to Woman for Her Aid to Others

Undismayed by a poorly healed hip fracture that has confined her largely to a wheelchair for the past 10 years, Mrs. J. H. Bryant has been carrying on a "good neighbor" program to needy persons here and abroad from her home in Twin Falls.

The work of Mrs. Bryant was recognized this week when she was awarded an orchid for her work. The award was made at the Legion anniversary party Tuesday.

Although unable to attend, Mrs. Bryant received the award after a letter, submitted by Mrs. Eugene Shelby describing her work, was read at the party.

Mrs. Bryant, who at 70 displays a quick, sympathetic smile and a bright wit, manages to keep about her, despite the handicap of a broken hip, an air of restless energy and deep interest in life.

The "good neighbor" selection came as quite a surprise, Mrs. Bryant said. "I'm certain there are many more deserving people for such recognition in Twin Falls than myself."

"As a matter of fact," she continued, "Mrs. Shelby, the woman who wrote the letter, is the one who should have been pointed out as a good Samaritan. She is the one who provides most of the clothes that I send to needy people in England and Jamaica."

Mrs. Bryant said she got her start sending packages overseas from letters' telling of conditions she received from 25 servicemen who were regular correspondents during the war.

"Oh yes," she said, "what was a sideline (the letters) that I carried on during the war. I had several nephews who were in the service and they liked the letters and allowed them to their friends. Their friends started to write and soon there were 25."

"One of the boys, whom I've never seen, still continues to correspond. Since his return from the army he's been married and is the father of two children, but we still keep up a lively exchange of letters."

"When the boys wrote and told me of the shortages of clothing and other necessities in England, I contacted my friend, Mrs. Shelby, who runs a dry cleaning plant, and she agreed to furnish me with mended clothes to send overseas."

"The big difficulty was getting postage to mail the packages. A lot of times my husband and I had several packages piled up here that we didn't think we were going to be able to send. Evertime, however, somebody who has heard of the Freedom!

FRAGOE, March 20 (AP)—Workers in Czechoslovakia will go to their jobs as usual tomorrow instead of enjoying a Sunday rest.

Factories and offices will be open "for a so-called 'victory shift'—Leaders of the new communist government said the workers will demonstrate their opposition to the victory of progressive forces" in the recent political crisis.

The workers will get no extra pay. Part of the money earned by their efforts will go to the United Nations International Relief for children and to the communist Greek partisans opposing the present Greek government.

Solon Says U. S. Must Double Its Output of Power

WASHINGTON, March 20 (AP)—Senator McClellan, D. Ark., said today the nation's production of hydro-electric power, must be doubled within the next 10 years to meet demands.

Speaking before the National Rivers and Harbors congress, of which he is president, McClellan said the 65,000,000 kilowatt capacity of the nation's power plants is "wholly inadequate to meet the demands of our industries."

He also predicted congress will vote more than $200,000,000 for flood control and rivers and harbors work during the next year.

Congress has authorized a total of 537 flood control projects and 289 rivers and harbors projects which will cost an estimated $700,000,000, McClellan said. He added that 240 flood control projects and 68 rivers and harbors projects are under construction.

Mrs. Bryant, who takes care of trying and mending the 15-pound bundles, is one of the early settlers in Twin Falls, arriving here in 1908. Before his retirement a few years ago, Bryant was one of the leading stone workers in this area and helped build most of the brick and stone buildings in Twin Falls. Before the war, when he was 70, he completed the stone house on Maurice street that is the Bryant residence.

He said Mrs. Bryant had sent about 20 or 25 of these 15-pound packages to needy people abroad. He explained that the contents were clothing, soap, buttons, odd pieces of cloth, shoes and overalls.

Writer Warns That Americans Should Beware of Communism

Editor, Times-News:

Both communism and democracy mean equality. In America the word democracy means political equality, while in Russia it means economic equality.

Communism can be traced to May 1, 1870, when a Dr. Adam Wetschaupt founded an organization called the Illuminati. According to Dr. Wetschaupt, "Illuminism is a social disease which cannot be too quickly cured. The people are the God of the world, only tools can believe in any other God."

For his front, Wetschaupt chose the Masonic order of France. After the lodge had been infiltrated, the Illuminati became the Jacobins with a network all over France and 20,000 propagandists.

In the midst of general disorganization they were unified and carry on the French revolution.

In 1848 Karl Marx and Friedrich Engels issued the communist manifesto, a reprintment of Wetschaupt's ideas. With the addition of the slogan, "Workers of the world unite, you have nothing to lose but your chains."

Russia under the czars had been a world of subversive activities, and after World War I, the radicals saw their chance to try their skill.

Their head, comrade Trotsky and Lenin, got a special train from the German high command which took them to St. Petersburg where they took charge of the government.

Private property was confiscated, women became property of their men. Children were made wards of the state, scientists, educators and rich people were liquidated or sent to Siberia, churches were turned into theaters, preachers were killed or exiled to Siberia and farmers and laborers were taken into custody to work for the state.

Now history is repeating itself, for in 1932 fascism arose in Italy as an antidote against communism and in Germany Hitler built the largest communist movement outside Russia, so nazism was born in 1933 as a protection from communism.

After getting things under control in Russia, one of the communists' first acts was to send emissaries to the United States to back up the idea that Russia was the center of capitalism and was founded as a Christian nation.

Following World War II and the manipulations of the international bankers, the communist infiltration progressed rapidly since Communist Roosevelt made regulations, aided by William C. Bullitt and Laurence A. Steinhardt, with Lillvinoff who promised that Russia would stop their propaganda in the United States.

The President was lured to recognize the Soviet government, and he proved to be a fellow traveler because he appointed to key government positions known communists and sympathizers.

Red Cross Doing Fine Work, This Woman Declares

Editor, Times-News:

In times past the American Red Cross organization has received a lot of adverse criticism. These critics were not properly informed concerning the work of this splendid organization.

During the last two years and thus far in 1948, there has been in a position to know something of the activities of our own chapter here in Twin Falls. It is truly amazing to observe the alertness and thoroughness with which this work is carried on.

Many of our service men and their families have been benefited by the timely help of the Red Cross in establishing and maintaining homes for the unfortunate patients, and the granting of financial aid in illness and disability.

The Red Cross has come forward nobly in assisting many of our own citizens in need of medical services, even that of expensive specialists' treatment.

Perhaps without this needed help the unfortunate patients or persons could not receive the professional care that would insure recovery. It is distressing, no care would mean death.

In the major disasters that often afflict the unfortunate patients, the Red Cross are priceless. Truly this organization merits our whole-hearted gratitude and support.

Taylor, No Democrat, Should Be Recalled, This Man Insists

Editor, Times-News:

It has been said that "everyone criticizes the weather but no one says anything about it."

We have heard many people say that Glen Taylor does not represent their views. These people are not only Republicans, personally we believe that there is sufficient cause to recall Taylor.

Regardless of his sincerity, if he is sincere, is the people of Idaho or a majority of them look upon his vice as minimal to the interests of the country and opposed to their interests, he should be replaced. When our senator's opposition to our government's program could well serve to bolster the morale of the Russian people it seems time to stop giving comfort to our enemies.

We are a roving salesman and our contacts are varied. If the expressions we hear are a yardstick of the opinion throughout the state, we would say that 80 per cent at least are against Taylor's vice. Unfortunately, politics makes a recall practically impossible with a Republican governor in the statehouse. Our understanding leaves the appointive power with the governor. Unless he would agree to appoint a Democrat, it could not be done.

It is not an enviable position for Idaho to be in, especially when, although possibly for different reasons, the party and their views are not expressed by Taylor on some issues we feel are very pertinent to the security of America.

We are personally acquainted with responsible Republicans, some of them high in the councils of the party and their views are not expressed by Mr. Dvorshak's voting record.

Perhaps if the people of Idaho deplored the proper representation by its members in congress from a non-partisan standpoint, it is a no would not be acquiring the black eye she seems to be getting. Taylor should be eliminated as the senator from Idaho. Then let him run under the banner where he belongs. He definitely is not a Democrat.

Party in Power Bound for War, Writer Declares

Editor, Times-News:

It looks like the party in power is trying to get us into another war. If we should get into another war we wonder if we would not be communists ourselves. Could our economy stand another war now?

It is to be hoped that the party in power is not trying to perpetuate themselves in office with a war charge that can about "Rats" not changing horses in the middle of the stream."

One wonders sometimes if the government is for the people or for the good of those in power.

The argument that if we can't have peace in our neighborhood, how can we have world peace, seems to me to be another thought.

Supposing we undertook to run our neighbor's business, pay his bills and tell him just how to do everything. If this wouldn't work on a local scale how is it going to work on a national scale with added difficulties of race, language and religion?

I doubt if you can give liberty to someone else. If they can't acquire it, how is an outsider to perform this miracle?

I'm for being friendly to other nations, but let them work out their own destinies.

Editor, Times-News:

I wish to answer for the call of Mrs. Marion Breckenridge ideas for the improvement of Twin Falls schools.

I suggest, for such subjects as elementary, physics, general science and any other smelly, noisy or risky subjects, discarded railroad coaches very well built and fireproof could probably be purchased very reasonably.

For land, why not use one side of the high school and courthouse lawn? Why not even spread onto part of the city park? It's all public property.

The money saved on interest on the bonds issued would probably pay for more teachers and specialists. A school just can't have too many good teachers, can it?

I once took a summer school course in economics and English. The school board deemed it necessary to return the use of a classroom, but they let our class have desks so we had our classes outdoors. I really enjoyed it even when the wind blew.

Red Branding Denounced in Wallace Talk

NEW YORK, March 20 (AP)—President Truman, Henry A. Wallace says, has placed the communists and on all those who oppose his policies of "militarism" and "support our fight for peace."

"The third party presidential candidate spoke over a radio network (MBS) last night in answer to Mr. Donald St. Patrick's charge of branding that he would not accept the support of Henry Wallace and his communists." This broadcast was the second on consecutive nights in reply to the two speeches made last Friday by the President.

Wallace accused President Truman of trying to give the impression that only communists disapprove his policy of support of peace, kings and reactionaries around the world and his plans to "draft our young men and militarize the country."

Won't Be Frightened

"But millions of Americans, who stand firmly opposed to his policies, know that they are not communists and they will not be frightened into accepting militarism and reactionaries called them 'communists,'" the former vice president said.

Wallace also attacked the proposal of Warren Austin, chief U. S. delegate to the United Nations, for a temporary U. N. trusteeship over Palestine rather than partition.

"Today the United States shocked the world by abandoning the support of the United Nations decision to partition Palestine," he said.

Leadership Loss

Wallace added that unless Americans "keep our word and carry out decisions once arrived at," the U. S. stands to lose all "its great moral leadership" it held at the end of the last war.

The third party leader asserted that the charge of communism against administration critics was a red herring designed to confuse the electorate.

"Mr. Truman has done what other politicians have done before him—he has given the credit for all the good things that have happened in all the recent years which are advocated in this kind of ours."

DR. Charles

"I don't like to have the President give them credit for ideas that come from Isaiah and Christ, from Jefferson and Lincoln. We will remember that many times Franklin Roosevelt was charged with 'communism.'"

The "ray of 'communism'" as he railed "against us because we are leaders in interest, because we believe that it is possible to make peace with Russia, and because we know that the only light the economic theories of Karl Marx with atom bombs," he said.

Wallace presented six proposals which he said could contribute to establishment of a durable peace:

1. Call for the United Nations to establish international control of middle east oil and other great resources.

2. Call for the United Nations to share the "damage done to the United Nations," fight restrictions on U. S. citizens.

3. Fight the trend towards militarization of America, and "look the situation over," and "look the situation over," and "look the situation over."

What major differences we have with the Russians.

Here's How Justice Is Meted Out at Twin Falls High School

By BILL HOWARD

The chief justice thrust out a firm jaw, rapped his gavel sharply on the desk and said, "Next case, please."

"We have here before the court, your honor," the court reporter said, "a complaint against John Jones. He is alleged to have molested Jane Doe by knocking her down in the hall and scattering her books on the 15th day of March in the year 1948."

"Will the defendant state his plea?"

"This little scene is repeated once a week with variations in the offense and the defendant and plaintiffs in the Twin Falls high school court room."

The court, started at the beginning of the winter semester, is designed to fit in with the high school program of teaching self-government to students.

Under the court setup, all school discipline outside the classroom, and other teacher provisions, is regulated by students.

The "offenses" which fall under the jurisdiction of the court range from walking on the grass when the ground is soggy to unauthorized entrance into athletic contests and other school events.

Each school "criminal" code has been written down to determine the exact nature of an offense. Instead, when some student is apprehended in an action that appears to be infringing on the rights of some other student, he is brought to trial before a nine-man jury.

If found guilty, he is given a sentence considered appropriate to the offense and one of a "constructive nature," according to Bill Watta, high school senior and chief justice.

After court one day last week, Bill produced a list of summonses, an accumulation of the past two months. "These," he said, "make up the paper work of each case."

"When a student files a complaint with myself or the assistant chief justice, Duane Bell, the offender is handed a summons telling him when to appear at court and the nature of the offense."

"The results of the trial are recorded on the slip, along with the punishment if the person is found guilty. A special deputy of the court sees that the punishment is carried out," he added.

"The punishments, which we believe to be at times a little heavier than would be handed out by High School Principal John D. Felt, are designed to fit the 'crime.' Not long ago, two girls were brought into court for walking on the grass. They were found guilty and obliged to make some 'Keep Off the Grass' signs. Another student caught damaging school property, was given a cloth and a can of floor wax and put to work on the stage in the auditorium.

Court is in session one day each week, either Tuesday or Friday. The court is composed of the chief justice, prosecuting attorney, court reporter and jury. Students brought up for trial may act as their own attorney or "hire" an attorney to represent them.

"The court is backed officially by the school, which will expect the punished offenders will fail to carry out the punishment imposed by the court."

"Although it is too early to tell how the court will work out," said Kenneth E. Kall, assistant principal, "it seems to be favorably accepted and respected by the students."

He added that it was being used successfully in other schools throughout the county and here the court is employed in conjunction with the student council.

As long as students continue to cooperate and acquire knowledge of court and civil government procedure, it will probably be continued," he added.

Arrangements were made by Howard Moffatt, secretary of the Rupert Chamber of Commerce.

Youth, 23, Admits 'Frat' Burglaries

LOS ANGELES, March 20 (AP)—A 23-year-old youth who never went to college today confessed 200 burglaries of college fraternities, sororities and roominghouses.

Police said James U. Tangeman boasted of the ease with which he wandered through fraternity houses while students were at parties, collecting an estimated $5000 in loot.

Police said they found numerous wallets, bracelets, watches, keys and pawn stubs in his room.

"He told us he has thrown away so many watches he can't remember them," Sgt. D. J. Johnson said.

Jewish State Proclamation Is Predicted

(From Page One)

Aviv. There is a high command of Haganah, the Jewish militia, said. "The attempt of the United States to make invalid the United Nations (partition) decision on Palestine is a blow to the United Nations more than the Jewish state with sweat and will defend it with blood."

Both Jewish and Arab informants suggested the importance of the middle east's vast oil resources influenced the United States decision to abandon partition.

Afraid of Russ?

Haishin Bey Jaouy, "major of Arab Tulkarm," said, "personally I agree with the Arab spokesmen. Lake Success who has Russia's support of partition is a means for Russia to invade the middle east and obtain its oil resources."

A spokesman of the Arab agency said: "Oil has apparently become more important and more important to the United States than Jewish blood. But it is not altogether surprising that the United States should sell out the Jewish state in favor of its own aims."

Seen as Oil Move

In Beirut Premier Jamil Mardam Bey of Syria indicated the change in American policy may help clear the way for the $200,000,000 pipeline from Saudi Arabian oilfields to the Mediterranean.

Predictions that Jewish leaders were reading a proclamation of a Hebrew republic were based on the fact that a framework for a Jewish government in the United States by a 21-member provincial council was established several weeks ago by the Jewish government and the Arab national council. (Vass Leary)

"In the words of one Jewish spokesman, 'partition is a state of partition. It will be up to the United Nations to recognize it, ignore it or suppress it.'"

Council has tried vainly to agree on Trieste governing.

Soviet Russia refused to accept candidates of the United Nations Security Council. The three western nations declined to agree on Russia's nominees.

The security council will take up Wednesday the U. S. proposal for a special session of the assembly to reconSIDER the situation.

In the Czechoslovak case, Herman Santa Cruz, Chile, said he had a hedge from one council member to demand that the council hear Dr. Jan Papanek, who has been fired as Czechoslovak's delegate to the U. N.

The council will debate Monday whether to invite Papanek to appear and present his charges that Russia interferes in Czechoslovakia's affairs. Santa Cruz took up the Papanek charges after the U. N. shelved them.

Startling Invention For Hard of Hearing Converts Hearing Aid Into Cigarette-Pack Size Radio

BARRETT, JR.

The new ACOUSTICON-Radion, a electronic achievement of far-reaching importance, is so revolutionary that even people with normal hearing want one.

Now for the first time, a hearing aid brings the sound-hearing pleasure that is as well as the corrected hearing they need. Extensive laboratory and field tests with the ACOUSTICON-Radion have amazed the hard-of-hearing with its clarity and beauty with which they hear radio programs. Only with the ACOUSTICON-Radion can you hear direct (not retransmitted from another radio) with an instrument specially fitted to your personal hearing loss. What's even more wonderful, the radio device uses no extra current.

By simply detaching the radio device, the ACOUSTICON-Radion becomes the finest hearing instrument ever developed by ACOUSTICON, the world's first and oldest manufacturer of electrical hearing aids.

The ACOUSTICON-Radion is so powerful it is easily carried. It brings you the maximum of clear, strain-free hearing that science can now provide.

Come in and hear the ACOUSTICON-Radion for yourself. Now, for the first time, you can have a hearing aid that is more than a necessity, but, a source of wonder and pleasure as well. The ACOUSTICON-Radion is a hearing instrument you'll show your friends with pride—even people who are not hard-of-hearing are amazed and eager to own this new kind of personal radio. Those who now own instruments and want this electrifying hearing achievement can enjoy the wonder and pleasure of the ACOUSTICON-Radion through a liberal trade-in allowance on old instruments. Once you have heard the ACOUSTICON-Radion you will never be satisfied with anything less. It was created specially for you—for your hearing needs and the pleasure. Come in today and thrill to an absolutely new experience.

$100 Help Sent For 'Squatters' In Swank Hotel

NEW YORK, March 20 (AP)—Ex-Oli Richard East Cox and his family no longer are "squatters" at the swank Waldorf-Astoria. The Coxes' hotel bill is paid up and, what's more, they have a small credit balance.

A Texas sent the hotel $100 to be applied to the account of the former serviceman who moved his family into a Waldorf-Astoria suite last week and said they would remain there until a home in a veterans' project is found for them.

Cox announced them that he had pay the hotel $40 a month and let Mayor William O'Dwyer foot the rest of the bill.

The big-hearted Texas is Mike Sherman, an oil operator from San Antonio and a frequent Waldorf guest.

Cox expressed himself as "sincerely grateful" to the oilman, but said the same matter was strictly between the hotel and Jarman.

The Coxes' plans haven't changed at all, he said, adding that they wouldn't budge from their fashionable until suitable living quarters are found at a price he can afford to pay.

U.S. Combat Troop Figure Called 'Small'

SAN FRANCISCO, March 20 (AP)—Secy. of State George C. Marshall told a University of California alumni banquet last night that all the combat troops this country has could be placed in the reserved seat section of Brooklyn's Tribeca stadium.

Marshall spoke extemporaneously in his third public appearance of a crowded day in the San Francisco bay area. Earlier he had received an honorary doctor of laws degree at the Berkeley campus of the University of California, where he delivered his major address of the day. He also had spoken "off the record" at a joint meeting of the San Francisco Press club and business groups.

At last night's speech before the alumni, Marshall asked reporters that he not be quoted directly.

The secretary of state compared the present U. S. armed strength with the forces available in 1919. However, the situation now is worse, because in 1919 Britain was a strong friend, and this country was able to proceed more deliberately in its preparations, Marshall said.

Marshall said this country is in a position of leadership but does not have the support of a strong Great Britain to give it time.

Refused

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., March 20 (AP)—Henry A. Wallace's "People Progressive party" was refused a place on the Florida primary ballot today on the grounds that it was not a recognized political party.

Secy. of State R. A. Gray turned down a list of delegates seeking to qualify for the party's national convention before today's noon deadline.

Gray accepted the list of proposed delegates but only as a communication. Gray said, "They will not be qualified because they are not a recognized political party in Florida and never will be as far as I can determine."

Atomic 'Help' For Farming To Be Tried

WASHINGTON, March 20 (AP)—The government set out today to see if the atom can be used as a weapon against hunger.

The atomic energy commission and the agriculture department announced they will investigate the effect on plant growth of radioactive by-products of the Oak Ridge, Tenn., atomic plant.

The commission will pay for the experiments and provide special materials.

First Fertilizer Test

Although the agriculture department already is conducting some 200 different studies with radioactive materials, this will be the first check into their fertilizing powers.

Department officials said the studies might show farmers (1) how to boost their crop yields many times over and (2) how to develop varieties better able to fight off disease.

If government scientists find atomic materials can be used to produce better plants and greater yields, the next step would be to find ways of making them available to farmers.

Interest Stimulated

Reports of unusually good crops near Nagasaki—Japanese city hit by an atomic bomb—have "stimulated interest in the problem," the announcement said.

But, it added, investigations by qualified scientists "fail to reveal any basis for the claim that radiation from the atomic bomb benefited the crop."

Cattle, Sheep Shipped From Drought Area

Large shipments of livestock, refugees from a drought-stricken area in California, have been passing through Twin Falls in the past week.

Many of the sheep and cattle, showing signs of near-starvation, have been purchased by Magic Valley ranchers with the rest being shipped to northern Idaho and Montana, according to James Brennan, Union Pacific freight agent.

List Shipments

During the week, Brennan said, 54 carloads of sheep were shipped to Glenn Ferry and 15 to Kimberly. Another shipment of sheep, 1,600 pairs of ewes and lambs, was purchased by John Pence for raising on his ranch near Twin Falls, Brennan added.

Fair Conditions

The sheep purchased by Pence were brought from Coalinga, Calif., Friday, he continued, and are considered in "fair" condition.

During the next two weeks, an estimated 250 carloads of livestock are expected to come through Twin Falls, Brennan said. These will be from California, where, according to electric meteorologists, is in the worst condition in years.

One-Third Cut

Most ranchers in the California drought areas, according to a United Press dispatch, are depicting their livestock populations by one-third, believing that their ranges will sustain the remainder until the drought ends.

"The greater part of the livestock are in good shape although 'hungry,'" according to Tom Callen of the Twin Falls Livestock Commission company.

Few in Poor Shape

He said that a few carloads of cattle have come in recently with "quite the sickening cut" and have been held at the commission company for fattening before shipment to other parts of the country.

The shipments of cattle through Twin Falls are expected to continue for several weeks, even if rain comes to California. Ranchers, who held out to the last minute before selling, have created a shortage of fresh cars in their demand for shipping space.

Can Reds Put On Brakes Is Biggest Query

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst—State department officials, worried whether even Stalin can apply brakes to communist expansion before it leads to war, could be thinking about Gen. Dimitris in Bulgaria and "Tito in Yugoslavia."

They could also be thinking about the Yugoslav clique in Moscow. Reports of "international brigades" and troop movements in Albania and Yugoslavia have heightened the feeling of Greece's insecurity.

Slav Activities Cited
Yugoslav activities in connection with the Italian election also create tension. There are indications that only the allies in Trieste stands between Italy and direct intervention.

A well-informed friend called a day or so ago to ask if I had heard that Yugoslav troops in civilian clothes were infiltrating northern Italy. I hadn't heard it, couldn't confirm it and doubted it because of the close watch on the demarcation line. But it is certainly what Tito would like to do.

"Best Army"
Tito is reputed to have an army of 100,000 Russian-equipped and partially Russian-officered men. It has been described as the best army in Europe.

He and the Kremlin, which never seems to understand the real meaning of world events, might think there was a chance of using this army without starting a general war. They might hope for local successes while Russia disclaimed responsibility. Then the lid would be blown sky high.

On the other possibility that Stalin couldn't stop the successful communist of eastern Europe even if he wanted to, there are some interesting sidelights.

Stalin "Conservative"
Stalin has long been considered more conservative with regard to unmaking the world revolution than Molotov, Zhdanov and some of the other pillars members.

Immediately after the Prague coup, informed Czechs, mindful of Stalin's promises that their independence would be respected, believed that his wishes had been heeded. They said Stalin, in Poland and elsewhere, had considered economic and diplomatic cooperation to be sufficient without invoking roughhanded methods. They thought the revolutionaries had taken matters into their own hands.

All of this, although speculative, has a bearing on whether Russia will now heed America's warning that further efforts at expansion will be resisted firm even if it comes to a test of arms.

Lard Trading Ends Its Special Latest Charge On "Insiders"

WASHINGTON, March 20 (AP)—Rep. Andrew R. Minton, said today that "certain government people" bought lard just six days before big federal purchase plans were disclosed.

Andrew said they will be called to explain. He is chairman of a house committee investigating speculation on the nation's commodity markets.

Hot Verbal Skirmish
In a hot verbal skirmish with Rep. Carroll D. Coxe, Andrew suddenly declared: "It happens that certain government people bought lard last Sept. 4. That was six days before public announcement of the fact that the government was going to double its purchases of lard for shipment overseas."

Andrew's statement came after Carroll protested angrily that Andrew was "injecting innuendoes" into the hearing.

If government officials speculated, they should be called before the committee, Carroll said. "Want to Get Facts?"
"They will be," Andrew snapped, "but first we want to get the facts." Andrew told newsmen that Edward W. Peuley, former special assistant to Army Secretary, Royal,

Utah Legislature Ends Its Special Welfare Session

SALT LAKE CITY, March 20 (AP)—The Utah legislature's special welfare session was over today but its request for a grand jury investigation lingered on.

The senate called for the grand jury probe into "matters prevailing at this time" in an action, in the dying minutes of "the session, prompted by a shortage of liquor in a Salt Lake City package agency.

Shortly before the same day adjournment, a motion by Sen. Ward C. Holbrook, D., Bountiful, was adopted on a vote with only one or two negating votes.

He asked judges of the third judicial district, including Salt Lake City, to call a grand jury for the probe.

Holbrook offered his resolution was one of those who bought lard on Sept. 4 but he said: "They were others."

Palmer's market operations were studied in a senate investigation of commodity speculation by public officials some time ago. He contended he never had used inside government information in his trading.

House Group Raps Truman Strike Action

WASHINGTON, March 20 (AP)—A House labor subcommittee today accused the administration of encouraging procedures to "evade and bypass" the Taft-Hartley labor law to indirectly aid communist-controlled unions.

The charge was made in the subcommittee's report on a strike of cafeteria workers here in Washington. The dispute began early this year when the United Public Works union (UPW) walked off their jobs with Government Service, Inc.

Private Firm
The corporation is a private firm which operates cafeterias in most government buildings.

Rep. O. C. Fisher of Texas, sole Democrat on the three-member subcommittee, told reporters he agreed with part of the report and disagreed with other parts.

National leaders of the striking union have refused to sign anti-communist affidavits, thus rendering the union ineligible for Taft-Hartley act protections.

Refused to Bargain
Government Service, Inc., at first refused to bargain with the union.

Fireman Dead in Magnesium Blast

LYNN, Mass., March 20 (AP)—One fireman was killed, a fire engine demolished and at least a dozen persons buried by molten magnesium when an explosion destroyed an 8-foot storage shed at the General Electric company's river works plant today.

The explosion hurled the roof of the shed 40 feet away where it fell in a pile of splintered rubble. The 810 inch timbers forming the sides of the shed were thrown 50 feet in the air and fell on a crane line of the town fire department, crushing it.

The blast sent a geyser of molten magnesium into the air while hot metal showered down on the fire engine and on firemen, police and plant employees who had gathered to watch the fire.

Business for Recruiters up In Last Week

By EARL HOFFERT
As in practically every city in the nation, recruiting stations in Twin Falls are doing a rush business in the wake of President Truman's speech to congress Wednesday.

Young men, especially those between 18 and 20, are flocking to local recruiting offices for information about the service. Many are applying for enlistment in the army, recruiting stations in Twin Falls, only the navy has reported no noticeable increase in enlistments. Yet even this office has been besieged for information about the draft situation and prospects for naval service.

Lieut. George P. Claxton, officer in charge of the army recruiting station, reported the greatest increase in applications. Lieutenant Claxton said since Wednesday he had interviewed more than 20 applicants, while in an entire normal month the number of applicants interviewed averages only slightly above 25.

Lieutenant Claxton declared: "President Truman's speech definitely had considerable effect in Twin Falls. We are busy handling applications throughout the week. The president's talk apparently made people security conscious. We even get many calls from women who are concerned about the status of their husbands in case the draft program should be restricted."

Meanwhile, Major Olin V. Carey, who is in charge of the marine recruiting office, said he has had more men come in for information about the marines in the two days following Truman's speech.

"Several others have direct applications for enlistment," Carey remarked. "We expect to see a general men during the next week. The Truman message definitely peaked up interest in the marines."

CTM Scottie D. Luckert, who is in charge of the navy recruiting station, was the only recruiter not to notice increased enlistments.

"Of course," Luckert said, "I have just returned to this office after several months in Salt Lake City, and can not judge accurately whether there is any increase or not. I do not have any Twin Falls navy recruiting averages at hand for comparison. However, my statistics and I have received many calls from persons wanting information about the effect of Truman's speech. Especially young men who have recently been graduated from high school, are anxious now, are eager to learn about the draft situation."

At national guard headquarters, Col. J. E. Bechtold said that recruits talk held one point of major significance to the national guard.

"If the president's speech on universal military training is passed, it would mean that young men would have an option of not doing national guard or regular army for six months following their first half year of centralized training," Bechtold announced.

"In this way, the national guard training could receive a tremendous increase in numbers."

Capt. Jack Rodarske, Twin Falls army reserve officer, said there has been no change in status of reserve officers of enlisted men.

"Reserves may continue to volun-

PAVON, Ariz., March 20 (AP)—The "dead man" who walked out of the Pinto rim wilderness eight days after his plane crashed landed today that his companion had died in the crash.

A 30-man searching party found the body of Robert Toth, 28, Durango, Colo., yesterday. Toth was presumed to be the pilot's seat of the demolished converted freight plane.

Competition Is Placing Skids Under Radios

NEW YORK (AP)—Post-war competition has hit the radio industry full force. You call up a manufacturer and ask if the falling prices in the industry mean that it is headed for a depression. He replies with an emphatic no.

Then he starts calling his competitors' names, admits, confidentially that he plans a few changes in models himself and says that the radio industry is setting a pattern of what to expect when supply catches up with demand. Give the public something new and cut prices to create new markets.

Reasons for Cuts
Here are some of the reasons for price cuts on radio sets:
1. The Radio Manufacturers Association reports that major manufacturers are producing 1,000 television receivers a day. The pressure of producing so many receivers on higher priced radio sets is felt all down the line. There are now 17 television sets in production. The construction permits have been granted for 71 more and applications are out to sell their shares of P.M. receiving sets.
2. A spokesman for RCA Victor says that the industry expects 10,000 frequency modulated broadcast stations to be in operation this year. All major manufacturers are out to sell their shares of P.M. receiving sets.
3. A spokesman for Bendis said there's a tremendous lot of merchandise on the shelves. The retailing is slow. Large retail chains told the United States that they were stocking more receiving sets on a hand-to-mouth basis to keep from being caught in any price war when new models hit the market.
One buyer said "several of the major manufacturers have been dumping current models through chain outlets to clear the way for their new, improved models. They don't like to cut their prices on price on a current model, but new models are a different matter."

Wonders of Spring's Twilight Are Explained by Astronomer

By J. HUGH PROBERT
Astronomer, Extension Division, Oregon Higher Education System
Between day-and-night there intervenes that delightful season of twilight. Many of us simply take for granted this interesting transitional period and never in life-time make even one careful observation of its changing lights and changing sky colors.
Were the earth without any air covering—as is the moon—at sunset in any locally deep night would immediately be cut off from the reflection of sunlight from the part of our atmosphere extending from near the earth up to 50 miles above it.
Shortly after sundown we get out of the reflection from the thicker and denser sections which are quite dust-laden. This gives strong twilight. Later, as the sun sinks farther below the horizon, its rays strike only the higher, thinner air. Above 50 miles, the atmosphere is too rare and distant for human eyes to detect reflections from it.
When the sun reaches 18 degrees below the skyline, its rays can illuminate the air below the 50-mile limit and astronomical twilight begins. At the equator, where old Sol always sinks straight down below the horizon, twilight is shortest, and anywhere else in the world, in our middle northern latitudes, and especially during summer, the sun goes down at a considerable slant northward and requires much longer than at the equator to get 18 degrees below the skyline. At 50 degrees latitude around the time of the longest days, some twilight exists in the northern sky all night. Still farther north this is much more pronounced in every respect.

Hospital Veteran at 20 Months

Little Lee Funk, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Funk of Cleveland, is only 20 months old but has had a lifetime of hard luck. Soon after his birth, doctors diagnosed a blood clot in Lee's lungs. At three months X-rays showed a dislocation of the hips and his legs were placed in casts. When the swelling and a hernia operation and an appendectomy was performed, Lee was in a critical condition. He was kept in the hospital for a year and a half. He is now being treated for a blood clot in his chest, and if endurance means anything, he will be walking some day soon. (NEA telephoto)

House Farm Group Slates Denver Meet

DENVER, March 20 (AP)—Almost 60 farm and ranch representatives from throughout the Rocky mountain area are expected to explain their grievances and ideas to the U. S. House of representatives agriculture committee in Denver Monday.

Already, the list of witnesses expected to appear during the one-day hearings has grown to a list of 25. A spokesman said today that many more are expected. Witnesses who have indicated their intention to testify include W. A. Groom of Grand Junction, Colo., head of the Colorado association of soil conservation districts; and Dr. A. T. Vase, chief economist of the University of Wyoming.

Not all 27 members of the committee will be at the Denver hearing.

Those present, however, according to H. H. Soper, advance member of the group, will include Chairman Clifford H. Hoop, Kans.; William Hill, Colo.; Walter K. Orr, Utah; and Abe McGregor, Calif.

Advocates of the study will be an eager best growing and forest service work. On Sunday preceding the hearing, the group will tour Arapahoe national forest, west of Denver.

Purpose of the study, which was postponed from last November, is to study all farm problems. The committee will meet in Salt Lake City, Sp. Wash., and Fresno, Calif., after leaving Denver.

Whaling Adds To Supply of World's Food

FALO ALITO, Calif., (AP)—The world's Atlantic whaling and whale oil industry is experiencing a healthy post-war revival through increased use of whale oil for human consumption in oleomargarine.

That statement, with facts assembled in recent months by the governments throughout the world, is set forth in a pamphlet by Dr. Karl Brandt, Stanford university professor of agricultural economics.

Brandt wrote that in 1933 the governments of Europe felt tensions of the coming war and began to stockpile whale oil. It became a top priority item of bauxite and tungsten along with wheat and sugar.

He pointed out that its remarkable adaptability to storage made it even more sought after. The cargo of Antarctic whale oil was stored in the United States in 1941 and used in England in 1947. The world population with their daily margarine ration for five years.

In the 1920-30 season the world's fleet of whaling vessels reached its peak in number of vessels and tonnage of oil produced. Britain alone in that time there were 33 factories afloat, 14 land stations in operation and 353 catcher boats.

Whales, which were converted into 5,077,409 barrels of oil.

Brandt said that during the war 21 floating whale factories of all nations were lost, and that at the beginning of the 1945 season the world's fleet had only 10 factory ships, none of them fit for use.

Brandt believes that by the 1945-46 season, the fleet will have regained some of its numbers. He predicted that 20 mother ships will be afloat by that time.

More than 1,000 whalers were caught by licensed California trappers last year, according to state figures.

Railroad Network Said Diminishing

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's network of railroad lines has been diminishing steadily for the past 30 years, according to records of the interstate commerce commission.

Since World War I, the country has lost 72,800 miles of main line railroad track, it resulted from authorized abandonment of certain sections of line no longer considered profitable or necessary operations.

In 1916, railroad mileage in the United States reached its peak with 252,215 miles of main line track. It dropped 11 per cent during the next 30 years to 224,434 miles last year. The trackage lost equals a railroad line greater in length than the circumference of the earth.

Jolin, 24, was admitted to the hospital March 18 with a broken leg. He was operated on and is now recovering from his injuries.

Shipping Menaced By Sunken Ships

CHICAGO (AP)—Sunken ships in the Chicago river are creating a menace to navigation on that link between the Great Lakes and the Mississippi river, according to a city official.

Harbor Master W. E. Lynch says there are at least 15 wrecks that are dangerous to shipping.

Difficulties arise because jurisdiction over river waters is shared by the city and the federal government, with the city being responsible for the area 20 feet out from shore.

Lost Ghost Town Is Re-Discovered

PASADENA, Calif., (AP)—The town of Whitlock, Calif., virtually forgotten for 30 years, has been rediscovered.

A boom town of the gold rush days, Whitlock was stumbled upon by Mr. and Mrs. Paulsen Visel. The couple became interested in the small group of ruins still remaining and after searching for a week, were able to find the site of the property and closed a deal for 103 acres.

Despite the half-century of slumber, what is left of the town is in perfect condition. None of the wooden buildings have been destroyed. Furniture was undisturbed, except for mattresses which packrats had discovered.

Racket Hinted In Marriages Of Some GIs

CLEVELAND (AP)—The U. S. immigration service here agrees that the course of true love doesn't always run smooth, but the bureau chief, Floyd Ault, says he views anxiously some of the international affairs of the heart that wind up in his domain.

Ault said he believes; some of them may have a bearing on the law which permits a veteran to bring a foreign girl here to marry her. The boy puts up a $500 bond to guarantee he'll walk down a church aisle with her, and then the government gives them 90 days to make arrangements.

According to Ault's theory concerning some of the cases, the law is just being used to get marriageable girls from "old country" into the United States.

Syrian Girl Jilted

For example, he said, recently a 17-year-old Syrian girl arrived from Lebanon to marry a Cleveland veteran. Immediately she got a license and set the date. Then the boy's American girl friend saw the appointment in the paper.

The bridegroom-to-be talked it over and made a decision. The day before his scheduled wedding to the Syrian girl she eloped.

Rather than see her girl departed his brother-in-law here. But the brother wasn't a veteran.

D. E. TAYLOR

Ault found a law permitting the girl to stay, but the $500 bond went into the government's coffers.

Ault said he was a little suspicious of that one but an international "romance" involving an Italian girl recently left no doubt in his mind.

In this case, he said, "friends" persuaded a veteran here to exchange letters with an Italian girl. An "engagement" followed and an Italian girl recently left no doubt in his mind.

The girl stopped on the plane at the Cleveland airport, took one look at her fiance and declared nothing on earth would induce her to marry him. She went right back to Italy—at her own expense.

Boyle Years for Residence Built With Bed as Main Point

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK, March 20 (AP)—The cost of new homes today is higher than the wages of sin.

Higher than my sin felicitas anyway.

But there are many other things wrong with modern house building.

Only custom and hypocrisy have made the living room more important than the bedroom. Why do men live to night clubs and bars? Because there is nothing duller than sitting at home in a chair. A chair is only a compromise for people who pretend they are too ambitious to lie down but are still too lazy to stand on their own feet.

Sitting in a chair is a universal posture. I believe the home would again regain its popularity if they moved the bedroom into the living room and scattered mere beds and couches around. We should take a tip from the Japanese also and make guests park their shoes at the door. Everybody has more fun with his shoes off.

If I were designing a home the bedroom would be a huge central chamber between the kitchen and the bathroom. The largest bedroom would be by the window and high enough to look out. It would be made like a hospital bed so that you could crank yourself up and eat comfortably. Why a dining table at all? There would be a huge self-feeding fireplace operated by a button in a panel at the head of the bed.

This panel switchboard would also operate all lights. Within arm reach would be a small refrigerator, food and utensil cupboard and an electric hot plate. This would make it unnecessary to get up for breakfast.

All mail would be put in a box by the postman and sewing in the window on a movable arm. It could be answered in bed. There then would be no point in going to the office until the afternoon. Books and a radio phonograph would be at hand. There would be a telephone at the bedside, but it wouldn't ring. It would only turn on a light.

Although predominantly agricultural, the island of Ceylon must rely on India for half its yearly supply of rice.

It didn't want to answer it, I'd turn off the light.

On one wall I'd hang a dart board. The darts would have silk threads on them. I could pull them back and throw them without ever leaving bed.

That's the kind of a house I want. When somebody starts building them, I'll stand in line to buy one. I already have the beds.

DR. ALMA HARDIN, CHIROPRACTOR, 130 Main North - Phone 2226

LAME BACK CORRECTION is pleasant and painless. Backaches may be associated with rheumatism, arthritis, lumbago, stomach and kidney disorders. If you have tried everything else, try adjustment. Relief is often obtained after first treatment.

Let's consult somebody like Shakespear.

"I was in love with my bed."

Or Guy de Maupassant, who wrote with true French insight: "The bed comprehends our whole life, for we were born in it, we live in it, and we shall die in it."

These men don't prate like architects on secondary things like land drainage, gables, wall legislation or tile colors. They get right down to bedrock—in this case the bed, which is the most important piece of furniture in the home.

Therefore the home should be built around the bed. You can do everything in bed except ski. And a lot of people who try to ski do end up in bed for a long time.

People have run big businesses from beds. They have been graduated from college in bed. Mark

This panel switchboard would also operate all lights. Within arm reach would be a small refrigerator, food and utensil cupboard and an electric hot plate. This would make it unnecessary to get up for breakfast.

All mail would be put in a box by the postman and sewing in the window on a movable arm. It could be answered in bed. There then would be no point in going to the office until the afternoon. Books and a radio phonograph would be at hand. There would be a telephone at the bedside, but it wouldn't ring. It would only turn on a light.

Although predominantly agricultural, the island of Ceylon must rely on India for half its yearly supply of rice.

It didn't want to answer it, I'd turn off the light.

On one wall I'd hang a dart board. The darts would have silk threads on them. I could pull them back and throw them without ever leaving bed.

That's the kind of a house I want. When somebody starts building them, I'll stand in line to buy one. I already have the beds.

LAME BACK CORRECTION is pleasant and painless. Backaches may be associated with rheumatism, arthritis, lumbago, stomach and kidney disorders. If you have tried everything else, try adjustment. Relief is often obtained after first treatment.

Let's consult somebody like Shakespear.

"I was in love with my bed."

Or Guy de Maupassant, who wrote with true French insight: "The bed comprehends our whole life, for we were born in it, we live in it, and we shall die in it."

These men don't prate like architects on secondary things like land drainage, gables, wall legislation or tile colors. They get right down to bedrock—in this case the bed, which is the most important piece of furniture in the home.

Therefore the home should be built around the bed. You can do everything in bed except ski. And a lot of people who try to ski do end up in bed for a long time.

People have run big businesses from beds. They have been graduated from college in bed. Mark

Ford Readies Unveils for His 1949 Cars

DETROIT, March 21 (AP)—The first 1949 automobiles—Ford's Lincoln and Mercury models—will be given private showings next week. First to see the new vehicles will be dealers and newsmen who chronicle the industry's activities. They get a company-approved look on Monday.

The new cars, initial fruits of a huge investment by the Ford Motor company will be shown publicly some time in April. Around June 1 the 1949 Ford models will be introduced.

The new Lincoln and Mercury models already are in production. When the new Fords begin rolling from assembly lines the most drastic and expensive changes Ford has made since 1927 will have been completed.

Details of the 1949 Lincoln, Mercury and Ford styling are guarded secrets. Those who have seen them, however, agree with company assertions that the cars are "completely new from road to roof." Generally, the styling is expected to follow the "new look" emphasized in most new postwar cars.
