The latest rash of twisters—which struck last night in the south and midwest—also injured more than 100 persons and caused property damage of several million dollars.

Dewey Action Seen as Sign Of Weakness

WASHINGTON, March 27 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's decision to campaign in Wisconsin and Nebraska was today the sign of weakness by his opponents for the Republican presidential nomination.

On the Democratic side of the fence, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt declined to join two of her sons, Franklin D. and Elliott, in a walkout from President Truman.

Senator Thye, R., Minn., told a reporter he thinks the New York governor's move into Wisconsin "is a sign that he recognizes the growing strength of Harold E. Stassen."

Thye is backing Stassen, former Minnesota governor, against Dewey and Gen. Douglas MacArthur in the Wisconsin primary.

Finnish Reds Plan Coup, Papers Say; Conclude Shrouded

HELSINKI, Finland, March 27 (AP)—The conservative press charged communists today with planning a dictatorship in Finland while an iron curtain hid the course of Moscow negotiations for a Finnish-Soviet friendship and military pact.

The report that the negotiations had reached a serious phase coincided with articles in the Soviet press which strongly accused Norway of following a "dangerous" trend for military collaboration with the United States.

Finland's strongest independent afternoon newspaper, Helsingin Sanomat, declared the fact that a small minority of our people (the Finnish communists) openly threaten to use our foreign political position to force us into a pact, the great majority of the people according to the well-known pattern has caused nervousness.

Referred to Speech The paper referred to a speech this week by Herta Kuusinen, wife of Finland's communist premier, in the interior, in which she said "Finland must follow the same road as Czechoslovakia."

Sanomat then asked, "Have not our people suffered enough already from the communist trend in the interior, in which she said 'Finland must follow the same road as Czechoslovakia'?"

U.S. Debates Giving Arms in Europe Aid

WASHINGTON, March 27 (AP)—Responsible officials now believe the United States will have to furnish arms as well as economic aid to strengthen western European nations against Russia.

Some authorities speculate that congress may be asked to revive the wartime lend-lease principle of arming nations whose defense is in the interest of American security.

The whole subject of American military relations with the free nations of Europe is now being studied by top administration officials.

Presumably decisions will be made in the near future and European governments have been or will be consulted on their own estimates of their requirements.

White House and state department leaders cautiously state the urgency of action "to stop Russia and to stop Soviet gesture at a western country tends to speed up the process."

Another of these gestures came today. Ives, Russian government newspaper, let go with a blast at Norway which was today the sign of the long feared Russian campaign against that country.

Ivesita accused rightists in the Norwegian government of "selling out" and Elsay in the Norwegian parliament of "betraying" Norway.

American officials are extremely cautious in discussing subjects such as the aid to Norway, but President Truman expressed concern.

Truman's speech to congress March 17, since then there have been other statements bearing importantly on the situation.

President Truman deliberately went as far as he could in his "stop Russia" speech, but he did not go to the aid of the European nations. But the administration considers the aid to Norway as a sign of weakness by his opponents for the Republican presidential nomination.

On the Democratic side of the fence, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt declined to join two of her sons, Franklin D. and Elliott, in a walkout from President Truman.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON—President Truman's reversal of his attitude on the partition of Palestine may call him political opportunist in the great, metropolitan areas of the northeast and the middle west. But it has apparently made him a more Democratic on Capitol Hill from other sections of the country.

No presidential shift in the middle of the year of confusion among the minority.

Such hard-working daybreakers as the members of Brooklyn and Adolph St. Louis of Chicago, who often endured caustic remarks from the head of the "dicks" of their principal concern, his ideological defense of FDR's proposals, have found on Mr. Truman's reversal of his attitude on the partition of Palestine a more favorable view of the president.

Many members have declared that they may not even see reduction because of their chagrin. Others threaten to run again as Democrats but they insist that they will dissociate themselves from the head of the "dicks" of their principal concern, his ideological defense of FDR's proposals, have found on Mr. Truman's reversal of his attitude on the partition of Palestine a more favorable view of the president.

POT SHOTS

STARTLING RESULTS

Remember a letter from George Campbell, Bellevue, who was writing for his dog which he mailed on the first day of pleasant season last year. We printed it and it was a February although we considered the case all but hopeless.

But the letter had been received "Pat" as a direct result of that letter. Some folks around Dietrich had picked up a dog answering Pat's description, taken him to some friends at Mountain Home. After seeing his letter in the paper, they contacted George Campbell, told him about the dog in Mountain Home.

Campbell went to Mountain Home just to check up, spotted Pat about a block away and called to him. Pat was so excited he shook, we heard. Sometimes you good constituents startle us with results we figure are well nigh impossible.

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S ANGLE

It is a foregone conclusion that the Democratic candidate will be elected and the Republican will be rejected by his own party, but in any case the Republican nominee will be the next President.

That being the fact, it is a fact which will be a more continuation, not declaration, of all Republican action. We should not be surprised if it repudiate all.

The place to begin fighting communism is in the United States. Marshall and Truman say communists are agents of a hostile power. That means traitors, guilty of treason, doesn't it? What does the constitution say about that? It says traitors may be shot. What are we waiting for? There are 200 communists in Hollywood for a start. Marshall has some ability but he reads Roosevelt and covered at the deception of the people. Truman, too. And Byrnes. It is too bad for them, but worse for us that we can start fresh with an American President unhampered by any pretense of devotion to the failed haunts of Hyde Park whose name will be the curse of millions unborn. An American President and an American secretary of state, a whole roster of Americans and not a Roosevelt in the lot.

TRUMAN'S SPEECH

Russia's aggressive menace to freedom has reached a point where it can be met in only two ways: the U. S. can be the dominant, unilateral way of appeasing and ignoring. The other way is to be tough and stay tough until Russia is ready to be reasonable.

Most Americans, including those in government, have slowly and reluctantly come to realize that the second choice is necessary and, if peace is to be preserved, inevitable. For two years our government tried patience and concession. These only provoked Soviet leaders to further excesses.

MAYBE HE'S HOPELESS

I see where hypnosis was used to clear up an ex-GI mind. Why don't you try it on the "dicks" of their principal concern, his ideological defense of FDR's proposals, have found on Mr. Truman's reversal of his attitude on the partition of Palestine a more favorable view of the president.

City Inspector Reports Milk Grading Here

Promoting Twin Falls residents' interest in the production of grade A milk in this area, C. E. Cotton Saturday announced his latest grade label authorization for local dairies. Cotton, city sanitary inspector, in conformance with grade specifications of the Twin Falls milk code, determined the grades of milk sold within the city as follows:

Young's dairy, now producing 2,240 gallons of grade A milk daily. Glory Park dairy, now producing 140 gallons of grade C milk daily. This dairy was degraded March 24 but Cotton said the grade produced will be raised to "A" at the close of a two-week period.

Cotton complimented producers for their interest in producing grade A milk. He reported that all producers have reduced bacterial plate count by 75 per cent since April, 1947, an excellent improvement.

Urging residents to buy their milk according to grade labels, Cotton said all bottles are properly labeled now and that milk establishments are displaying correct label placards.

He said the grade label is an identification given only to milk which has been inspected from production to doorstep. Sanitary control is exercised over both dairy and bottling plant, he explained.

Action Seeks to Prevent "Lapse" Of School Areas

Proceedings to restrain the lapsing of some school grounds and a one-room school house near Hagerman into the hands of the deeder, James L. Barnes, were filed Saturday in district court of independent school district No. 7 and joint independent school district No. 1.

According to the complaint filed by Attorney Frank L. Stephens, representing the school districts, the trustees who accepted the deed in 1910 had no right to accept a land title with the provision that the land and improvements would revert to the deeder if the property was not used continuously for one year.

The school property in question is located five miles east of Hagerman and has not been used since May 26, 1947. Besides the school house, a four-room teacher's cottage and barn also are situated on the land. Barnes will be represented by his brother, Attorney J. H. Barnes, when the action is brought to trial.

Deadlines Set on Seed Certification

Applications to gain certification for seed barley seed plantings should be filed with the Idaho Crop Improvement association before June 1, according to William Bryant, Twin Falls district representative.

Other deadlines for making seed certification applications are: wheat, May 1; and beans and potatoes, July 1.

The reason for certifying seeds, he added, is to maintain a high standard of seed quality in the state.

The Twin Falls offices of the Crop Improvement association are located at 430 Shoshone street west.

Teacher Head Avers Schools Needing Help

Idaho schools are in great need of funds which they would receive under federal aid legislation now pending in both houses of congress, according to Gerald R. Wallace, executive director of the Idaho Education association.

With more than 1,100 emergency teachers in Idaho schools and neighboring states paying from $200 to more than $1,000 more for teachers, the school situation in Idaho still continues to be critical unless aid is forthcoming, he declared.

About 60 per cent of Idaho's schools, according to Wallace, are paying the maximum salaries taxing limits will allow.

Idaho would receive $1,010,000 in federal help if the pending legislation is enacted by congress. Salaries could be increased by $200 and a substantial amount would remain for other school needs. The importance of this legislation cannot be overemphasized, Wallace said.

The legislation would not federal control whatever. Wallace said control of courses of study, school requirements, budget or any phase of school personnel, activities or operations is specifically forbidden. Fear of federal control has been one of the major reasons for opposition to federal financial aid for schools, Wallace observed.

She is survived by her husband, William Mosher; two daughters, Mrs. Elaine Babbs, Glasgow, Mich., and Mrs. Mae Zivanch, Mountain Home; two sisters, Mrs. Della Pratt,ureka, Calif., and Mrs. Earl Brien, Galeana, Kan.; three brothers, Frank Shira, Galeana, Albert Shira, Birmingham, Mich., and Walter Shira, Detroit, Mich.; her mother, Mrs. Blanche Shira, Galeana, and five grandchildren.

Teacher Outlook In Idaho Termed "Dim" Next Year

Prospects for an adequate supply of trained teachers for Idaho schools next year are dim, according to a report made to trustees at their recent state meeting in Boise.

There are more than 1,100 emergency teachers in schools this year and Idaho teacher training institutions will certify only about one-third of that number this spring to serve in schools next year. At most, 300 qualified teachers from other states may be obtained.

The emergency has been created and still persists, trustees were told, because of Idaho's low salaries. While there was a big boost this year, Idaho still cannot compete with neighboring states for teachers, with the exception of Montana and Wyoming. Reports from Washington and Oregon, for instance, show that Oregon pays its elementary teachers about $50 more than Idaho, while Washington pays about $1,000 more. Oregon pays its high school teachers about $275 more and Washington exceeds Idaho pay by about $200.

Prospects for an adequate supply of trained teachers for Idaho schools next year are dim, according to a report made to trustees at their recent state meeting in Boise.

There are more than 1,100 emergency teachers in schools this year and Idaho teacher training institutions will certify only about one-third of that number this spring to serve in schools next year. At most, 300 qualified teachers from other states may be obtained.

The emergency has been created and still persists, trustees were told, because of Idaho's low salaries. While there was a big boost this year, Idaho still cannot compete with neighboring states for teachers, with the exception of Montana and Wyoming. Reports from Washington and Oregon, for instance, show that Oregon pays its elementary teachers about $50 more than Idaho, while Washington pays about $1,000 more. Oregon pays its high school teachers about $275 more and Washington exceeds Idaho pay by about $200.

Firm Incorporates

BOISE, March 27.—The Reed Sand and Gravel company, of Twin Falls, filed articles of incorporation with the secretary of state today.

The firm, capitalized at $200,000, was incorporated by Duffy E. Reed, Vivian M. Reed, W. L. Reed, Vern Saville and Clarence R. Webb, all of Twin Falls.

Mrs. Mosher, 56, Claimed by Death

HAGERMAN, March 27.—Mrs. William Mosher, 56, died at her home in Hagerman at 2:45 a. m. Saturday.

Mrs. Mosher was born in 1892 in Galeana, Kansas, and moved to Hagerman two and one-half years ago from Seattle, Wash. Her husband is employed as a carpenter foreman with the Morrison-Knudsen company building the Idaho Power company's Lower Salmon dam.

She is survived by her husband, William Mosher; two daughters, Mrs. Elaine Babbs, Glasgow, Mich., and Mrs. Mae Zivanch, Mountain Home; two sisters, Mrs. Della Pratt,ureka, Calif., and Mrs. Earl Brien, Galeana, Kan.; three brothers, Frank Shira, Galeana, Albert Shira, Birmingham, Mich., and Walter Shira, Detroit, Mich.; her mother, Mrs. Blanche Shira, Galeana, and five grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Monday at the Hagerman Methodist church.

Technique of Local Dentist Gaining Fame

Bearing out the old adage that necessity is the mother of invention, a rather revolutionary technique, developed almost accidentally by a local dentist nearly 20 years ago, is just now gaining recognition by dental societies throughout the land.

During all this time, however, several thousand southern Idaho youngsters, some of them now grown to early middle age, have had the advantage of this dental achievement. As a result their teeth, once almost hopelessly misarranged, have grown into normal position.

In fact, many youngsters who could be described as having teeth that "grew from all over their mouth," overcame this abnormal characteristic entirely as a result of this special technique.

The dentist is Dr. F. F. McAtee, a local pioneer in his profession, now associated with his son, Dr. Frank J. McAtee.

Interesting Story

How the "McAtee technique" was originally conceived is almost as interesting as the phenomenal results attained through this special process.

It goes back to 1928 when the late Dr. Albert H. Ketchum of Denver had established an international reputation as an orthodontist, commonly known as dealing with the irregularity of teeth and dental caries.

Some of Dr. Ketchum's patients were coming to him from as far as Seattle, and among them were several from this section of the intermountain west. Because of an acquaintance with Dr. McAtee, it was arranged to have the local dentist make the periodic adjustments on the braces and bands employed on Dr. Ketchum's patients in this vicinity. This reduced the number of trips to Denver, the patients being required to make that long journey only for infrequent check-ups.

Brace Broke

For some reason, the wire brace designed to move a mal-positioned tooth into proper place, broke on one of Dr. Ketchum's patients. Inasmuch as this particular little girl was scheduled to make a check-up trip to Denver within a few days, Dr. McAtee improvised an appliance which he figured would take care of the tooth, at least temporarily.

What he placed in the girl's mouth looked in some respects like the plastic portion of an ordinary dental plate, designed so it would not interfere with Dr. Ketchum's corrective mechanism in any way. In place of the artificial teeth ordinarily attached to such a plate, however, there was but one small metal projection resembling a short stub of wire. This Dr. McAtee called a "finger spring." Its purpose was to keep a tension against that one particular tooth.

Technique Differs

When the girl finally went to Denver for her check-up, Dr. Ketchum was amazed at the temporary contrivance which he found in her mouth. That same evening he called Dr. McAtee long distance.

"We've got something," he said, almost excitedly, "I'd like to have you come to Denver and go into this thing with me more thoroughly."

Dr. McAtee accepted the invitation, spent two weeks in Denver, and there was developed what Dr. Ketchum quickly accepted and approved as the "McAtee technique" for straightening teeth.

From that time on, Dr. McAtee applied his patented "finger spring" to correct the position of all misplaced teeth at one time. Some of these fingers spread teeth apart to provide space for other teeth to grow into its proper position, others forcing teeth together, forward, or even turning them half around.

Dentist Amazed
Dr. McAtee's technique does not employ bands, rubbers, screws or the anchored braces ordinarily used in such corrective dentistry.

His little "finger spring" plates, which appear as a "frown" on the patient's face, are the wire arches which he uses outside the teeth. A "frown" against which the "finger springs" eventually work the teeth into desired position. There's nothing rigid about the appliance, nothing firmly attached.

"Part of the matter is some of the youngsters insist on playing with their plates," says Dr. McAtee, "on occasions even biting chips from the plastic design. But these plates go on straightening their teeth nevertheless with little if any discomfort."

Like "Bracelets"
One three-year-old girl became so accustomed to her "bracelets," as she called them, that she insisted upon wearing her plate and arch against the straightening job had been completed. After determined tests and no little crying, the doctor made her a bargain—he could take them home with her provided she wore them only on Sundays. He knew that after a few weeks without these appliances she would lose the desire to keep them in her mouth.

One of the most interesting things about Dr. McAtee's work is his large display of plaster casts comparing the appearance of hundreds of youngsters' mouths "before" and "after." It seems almost incredible that some of these teeth could have been straightened in so little time and with so little effort.

In some extreme cases, a "true" plane foundation—also removable—is employed to keep the teeth from

Gaining Recognition

overlapping during the process of their rearrangement with the "finger springs." This is particularly true when the upper front teeth strike inside the lowers. On occasion use is also made of an inclined plane which, in contact with the teeth out of line, has a tendency to "slide" them in the right direction.

"One of the advantages of this system is its simplicity," according to the doctor. "You can do wonders with a youngster's teeth between the ages of 3 and 20. While the children are going ahead chewing as best they can, the little finger springs are constantly at work, exerting the pressure that finally helps all of the teeth to find their respective mates, and in the correct position."

"It's a technique which could easily be adopted by all general dental practitioners, with the result that youngsters in all communities could have the advantage of strident teeth which play such an important part in their lives."

To be in Dr. McAtee's office Friday afternoons after school or Saturday mornings is something in itself. "We're waiting for youngsters to come in here," says Dr. McAtee, "to adjust their 'finger springs.' Occasionally a youngster asks him to polish the gold plated wire arch 'so it will be shiny.' When he is asked 'to smooth up a plate because it seems rough,' he knows he has run into another batch of bubble gum."

"But that's all part of the process," he says. "The important thing is that under practically all conditions, these finger spring plates go on straightening their teeth."

At present more than 100 boys and girls are having Dr. McAtee straighten their teeth through this process. Most of them live in Magic Valley, but a number are coming from all parts of Nevada and several from Oregon. He even has had two patients from Spokane and one from Seattle.

Winning Recognition

After all these many years and the usual hesitancy to accept new methods, particularly by the professions, the "McAtee technique" is winning recognition.

A June he'll take a large display of his "before" and "after" casts to Rock Springs, Wyo., where he has been invited to discuss his technique at the Wyoming state dental meeting.

In July he is scheduled for a similar appearance at the Pacific Coast dental conference at Salt Lake City, Utah.

1948 Parade of Easter Bonnets in Twin Falls

England Traveler Tells Conditions To Local Writers

Roy Wood, recently returned from a two-year stay in England, was the featured speaker at the meeting of the Idaho Writers' League held Monday at the Idaho Power auditorium. Discussing the rationing of food in England, Wood said the British are doing remarkably well with the supplies available. He pointed out that they allow special rations for children and expectant mothers and as a result the children appear more healthy and happy than youngsters in other European countries. According to Wood, the people can get all they want of rationed food, such as onions, cabbage and turnips.

He explained that every person is required to register with a butcher and grocery man and must stay with the same dealer for at least eight weeks in order that the government can allot correctly to retailers. Wood said that he believes that the British people are appreciative of the aid that they have received from the United States. When questioned about the black market, he said that he saw no sign of it at any time while he was in England. The announcement was made at the meeting that Mrs. Studie Hagar, poetess member of the league, will be interviewed by the local press on day over station KALL in Salt Lake City.

Questions Asked at Farm Labor Meet

G. M. Van Nipke, Caldwell farm labor sponsoring association representative, asks for data on importation of Mexican nationals at the closing session of the pre-seasonal farm placement conference Friday. More than 150 farmers attended the meeting which was directed by state and federal farm placement officials. (Staff photo-enlarging.)

Farm Labor Parley Here Ends After Discussion of Mexicans

Problems concerning the importation of Mexican nationals for farm labor in 1948 formed the principle topic of discussion at the pre-seasonal farm labor placement conference Friday. More than 150 men crowded the session hall for the final afternoon session of the three-day meeting. In open discussion, farmers and representatives of farm sponsoring associations questioned government and state farm placement officials in regard to importation of labor. Farmers were mainly concerned with the expense of important Mexicans since the government will pay no part of transportation costs in 1948. Bus company representatives were present to answer questions regarding transportation costs from various points on the border.

Several farm representatives, especially those from northern Idaho, expressed the opinion that current transportation expenses would be prohibitive unless means of reducing costs could be found.

Many of the farmers' questions were directed at C. F. Chester who represented the Trailways Bus company. It was estimated that it would cost $100 per worker to import Mexicans into Idaho for the coming farm season. Chester said his company could transport labor from the border only at standard charter fares at present.

Carl Holley, representative of the U.S. farm placement service in Washington, D.C., answered questions about the handling and housing of Mexican labor. He explained laws and immigration bureau regulations pertinent to the migratory labor problem.

The final open forum session was directed by Col. S. D. Hays, state employment service director, and George Giesler, chairman of Idaho state farm placement representatives.

Expert Conducts Intensive School On Weed Control

An intensive school on weed control was conducted in Twin Falls, Mar. 27-28, during the last week by E. J. Whitman, extension agronomist from the University of Idaho.

The use of 2,4-D, the new hormone spray, along with "clean cultivation" was stressed by Whitman as the best method to eliminate noxious weed growth.

Through this combined method, he said, noxious weeds may be removed without disturbing normal crop rotation. The hormone spray will arrest the growth of weeds, but will not kill the seed, he explained.

Other speakers at the school, held Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, were H. S. Gaul, director of the county noxious weed control bureau, and Warren Dalch, county agent.

Local Man to Revisit Land Of Childhood

A Twin Falls man is leaving here March 31 to visit his native Scotland which he left 43 years ago to come to the United States.

D. R. Cathro, who was born in Scotland, plans to visit Scotland, Ireland, England, France and probably Switzerland during the five months he will be gone. While in Scotland he will visit six cousins he has not seen since he left Scotland. In addition, he expects to visit three sisters and two brothers of the late Mr. Cathro.

Although Cathro hasn't seen his relatives in the old country for 43 years, he keeps in close touch with them through letters. They have kept him advised of living conditions in Scotland where most items of food and clothing are rationed. Relatives living in the city find the food situation worse than those who live in the country, which is rational because the country folks can supplement their diet with chickens, gardens and produce from cows.

In connection with the food situation in the old country, Cathro said only recently he had sent six boxes of food weighing 120 pounds to relatives in Scotland.

Cathro, leaving here Wednesday, is scheduled to sail April 7 from St. Johns, New Brunswick, Canada, on the Empress of Canada. He will land at Liverpool from which port he will start his return trip on Aug. 4. After arrival at Montreal, Cathro plans to visit in Omaha and Minneapolis before returning to his home here about Sept. 1.

Display Flag On Army Day; Officer Urges

Every American should display the flag on Army day, April 5, Lieut. George P. Claxton declared Saturday.

"It's one way that citizens can demonstrate publicly the esteem with which they regard the accomplishments of the American ground soldier in war and peace," Lieut. Claxton said.

Originally designed to commemorate the date on which the United States entered World War I, Army day gradually has become the day on which the U. S. army and its civilian components—the national guard, officers reserve corps, and the reserve officers' training corps—make a kind of "annual report" to the nation.

"Enlistment Day"

Lieutenant Claxton said that in many towns and cities, Army day also is enlistment day for scores of qualified young men who mark the occasion by joining either the regular army or one of its civilian components.

Lieutenant Claxton said enlistment in the armed forces is a privilege accorded only to young men who meet all the high standards demanded by the service. But he added, "all of us can do something on Army day, no matter how small, to show these men we are with them, at least in spirit."

"Open House"

Let's visit the Twin Falls recruiting station and pick up the literature there. Be sure to attend the community observance. If you are a veteran, put your discharge button in your lapel again as a gesture to the men who still serve on Army day.

"In these ways," Lieutenant Claxton said, "all Americans can offer a tribute to the U. S. ground soldier on Army day."

Conference Urges "Team" for Hospitalized Children's Care

Recommendations that all persons concerned form a "team" to care for orthopedically handicapped children were made at the conference on education of hospitalized children in Atlantic City, N. J., according to Mrs. John E. Hayes, Twin Falls.

Mrs. Hayes, vice president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, was one of 200 persons attending the conference. Delegates were teachers in hospital schools, hospital and school administrators, physicians, therapists and social workers. They represent 30 states.

The conference on education of hospitalized children, first meeting of its kind ever held, was sponsored by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Group activities for hospitalized children and coordinated physical and medical treatment were emphasized as being just as important as "book-learning," Mrs. Hayes reported.

School teachers and medical workers should share views and information on patients, the experts at the meeting decided. While it is important that the teacher enlarge her view of the patient from the physical side, medical workers and other members of the "team" should be aware of the patient's mental, social and recreational needs, it was pointed out.

ferences on education of hospitalized children be continued. In addition, Mrs. Hayes said, the experts at the meetings proposed that regional, state and county seminars be started all over the nation to evaluate present local programs and seek specific improvements.

Idea on Russ May Backfire Analyst Avers

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
AP Wire Staff Analyst

The passionate reaction in Russia to a recent threat to the success of the Marshall plan and to the entire American policy of aiding world rehabilitation, through reduction of trade barriers.

Shipment of war material to a potential enemy is a thing of cutting off all trade is a move of entirely different color.

The administration is moving swiftly to stop shipments of airplane engines and other war material, but it was forced into an economic boycott of Russia it would be barricading one of the greatest potential routes to peace.

Need Eastern Europe Supplies

When the 16 Marshall plan nations were adding up their accounts to the East, what was needed for ZIP they counted up increasingly large supplies from eastern Europe. But it was included as a threat, because Russia could cut them off. But it was included as a threat, because Russia could cut them off. But it was included as a threat, because Russia could cut them off.

The U. S. will have to provide something like 70 per cent more of Europe's food and raw materials if the economic war between the East and West reaches the boiling point.

To put it the other way, eastern Europe sells nearly half of its products to the West. If Russia, which is a strong tie—a bridge which can transcend politics, and which may eventually carry the traffic of reconstruction.

Material from Russia

As for Russia herself, she is providing the United States with important strategic materials at a rate approximately six times greater than before the war. She manufactures chrome ore, platinum and palladium.

American shipments to Russia consist principally of electrical equipment, road building machinery, machine tools, plant equipment and medicines.

It is true that Russia needs what we have to sell much more than we need what she produces. But that very fact increases the possibility that, one day, her rulers will recognize that it is more profitable to do business with us than to take the very dubious chance of trying to conquer us.

Boy Admits Arson

ELKHORN, Wis., March 27 (AP)—An eleven-year-old boy who said he "got a thrill out of" watching his father burn down a building, today admitted setting three fires to the East Troy high school.

The blaze—set at within the last two weeks—caused damage estimated at $40,000 and left the 370 pupils without a school house.

HOSPITAL PATIENT

PILER, March 27—Mrs. Roy R. Jester is receiving medical attention in the Twin Falls county hospital.

Comments of an ex-cop and Deputy Sheriff

THE FEDERAL GOV'T ENACTS A LAW AND THE ENFORCEMENT IS THE SAME IN ALL 48 STATES. Our State Legislature enacts a law and ignores it, leaving the enforcement up to the various County Sheriffs. Result—it doesn't matter what the State Law is, it's in WHAT county you live. We have 44 different conditions existing with 44 different (if any) applications of the same law. Do you know the police of application in YOUR county?

Solons Sifting Plan for Fuel Out of Shales

WASHINGTON, March 27 (AP)—Legislation designed to speed production of synthetic fuels from coal and oil shale by private industry is now before both houses of congress.

Hearings already have been held by the House Interior and Commerce committees on a bill by its chairman, Rep. W. W. Workman, R. N. J.

The bill would authorize reconstruction finance corporation loans up to $600,000,000 for the construction of synthetic liquid fuel plants.

This week in the senate, Senator O'Mahoney, D. Wyo., submitted bills to make the investment of private capital in synthetic liquid fuel plants more attractive from a tax standpoint.

Authorizes RFC Loans

The Workman bill would authorize RFC loans to private industry to construct plants with a fuel production capacity of not less than 10,000 barrels daily. It would provide that should private industry not take advantage of the loans, the government itself would proceed to build three under the direction of the bureau of mines.

The O'Mahoney bills were first offered as amendments to the income tax measure in the senate, but were rejected in that form. O'Mahoney again introduced them as separate bills.

One of these measures would allow accelerated depreciation of private capital for the construction of synthetic fuel plants. By shortening the depreciation period from 20 to five years, it would mean that private industry could deduct far greater depreciation losses each year in computing income taxes.

Income Tax Deductions

A second bill would permit synthetic liquid fuel manufacturers to make the same income tax deductions for development expenses as are allowed under the present law to petroleum producers.

O'Mahoney said that in addition to the country's great reserves of coal, the oil shale beds of Wyoming, Utah and Colorado are estimated to hold 300,000,000,000 barrels of oil.

That is twice as much as the present estimate of the potential reserves of the middle east—Iran, Iraq, Saudi Arabia and Mesopotamia combined," he said.

"But nothing is being done about it, because we do not provide the incentive that is necessary to enable private capital profitably to be invested in the enterprise."

McKay to Dedicate Chimes for Chapel

SALT LAKE CITY, March 27 (AP)—David O. McKay, second counselor to President George Albert Smith of the Latter-day Saints (Mormon) church, will participate in a series of church conferences at Idaho Falls Sunday.

He will dedicate newly-installed chimes in the third ward chapel in Idaho Falls at services at 11 a. m. In the afternoon he will speak at the Idaho Falls stake quarterly conference.

Apples Given Away To School Students

CHELSEA, Wash., March 27 (AP)—Apple grower Glen Faris would rather give his fruit away than see it rot unsold.

Caught with a surplus he can't sell, Faris is donating 100 apples to the local school children.

Each day the school custodian picks up 15 boxes which are distributed to the children as they leave at noon.

PTA Sees Show

HAILEY, March 27—Members of the Hailey PTA met at the high school Thursday to see a show, "Willard the Magician." Proceeds from the show will be used to send the Hailey band and glee club to the spring youth festival in Burley April 21 and 22.

High School Dance

ACQUA, March 27—The senior class of the Acquia high school will sponsor a dance Friday in the high school auditorium. Arrangements are being made to secure music for the event.

MOVE TO FAIRFIELD

FAIRFIELD, March 27—Mr. and Mrs. George Piqua and family have moved to Fairfield from Deane. Piqua will manage the Soldier Mountain cafe.

Tiny Engine Powers Plane

The small reciprocating engine, which is powered by carbon dioxide pressure, runs on the same principle as a steam engine. The power unit of the engine is about as large as the spark plug in the ignition type unit. World's Smallest Engine Used By Local Model Airplane Fans

By BOB GILLIAM

The world's smallest reciprocating engine, powered with a piston with a one-eighth inch stroke and swing, is used to power many of the small planes of the Magic Valley Gas Bugs club.

The engine, owned by Karl Brown, is an expansion type powered by carbon dioxide pressure on the same principle as a steam engine. The engine is filled with metal tubes similar to those used in "Mae West" type life jackets worn by pilots and navy personnel during the war. When punctured, the capsule releases a strong stream of pressure.

The engine swings a four-inch propeller at 8,000 revolutions per minute and will develop up to one-20th horsepower.

Large ad Sparkplug

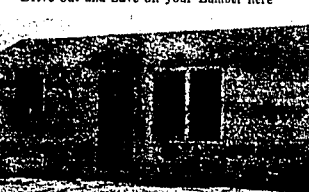

The power unit of the engine is about as large as the smallest sparkplug on an ignition type engine.

As compared with an average ignition type engine used to power model airplanes, the small engine has far better performance. An ignition type engine swings an 18-inch propeller at about 6,000 revolutions per minute.

The Magic Valley Gas Bugs club is designed for model airplane fans of all age groups. The junior division is for members up to 14 years old and the senior division includes all ages above 14.

Weatherman Only One Legally Authorized to 'Force' Rainfall

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

NEW YORK, March 27 (AP)—The U. S. weatherman is the only person legally authorized to make rain.

All others, unless associated with him, who may try to sow dry ice on clouds are likely to be running one of those calculated risks.

They will be all right, however, unless someone complains about man-made rain falling where it isn't wanted—maybe on a drying crop, or on an annual picnic.

Complaints Exceed

The potential complications are endless. For present there are no laws to govern the matter, except the statute protecting the weatherman. But defense for misplaced rain probably will be for the amateur rainmaker to call for scientific proof that the water was really his, and not an act of God, against which there are no laws. There isn't any scientific evidence yet good enough to stand up in a law court.

In fact, the U. S. weather bureau says "there is no authenticated case where precipitation reaching the ground solely as a result of seeding a cloud has amounted to more than a fraction of an inch."

The bureau proposes this summer to find what really can be done.

It is preparing to do this near Wilmington, O., in cooperation with the U. S. air force, the navy and deal against a wetting despite lack of specific laws. That was shown in Reno county, Kans., district court last summer when S. M. Mitchell asked for an injunction to restrain rain-makers from wetting the state fair Sept. 14 to 19, at Hutchinson. The court granted the injunction.

Actually, Fair Secretary Mitchell wrote in a letter to the Associated Press that the whole thing was a publicity proposition for the state fair. It so happened that not a drop of rain fell during the period of the fair.

First Times Without Rain

"In checking past records, I found that this was the first time in our history that rain had not fallen sometime during the fair. You may draw your own conclusions as to whether the injunction against rain-making had anything to do with this."

A knottier problem faces the office of state engineers, Carson City, Nev. State Engineer Alfred Meritt Smith is puzzled about an application to appropriate rain.

The application is from Richard R. Haman and Fremont E. Fairfield of the 12,300-acre Locking P. ranch at Topaz Lake, Nev. They ask for rights to 1,000 cubic feet per second of water from all clouds over Nevada that may pass over the Locking P. That is a tankful 10 feet by 10 by 10, each second.

It is quite likely, Smith wrote the Associated Press, that the engineer's office may hold it has no jurisdiction.

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

By INEZ PUCKETT

"Rain on Good Friday and Easter day,
A good year for grass, a poor year for hay!"

— Scottish Proverb

Rain or shine, each Magic Valley citizen will celebrate Easter in his own sweet way. The kids will cram themselves with boiled eggs, the hard-pressed farmers will be out in the field. Easter means something in states with definite seasons. Winter lasts a long time, and is bleak in color, cold in texture. With Easter comes a new mildness to the sharp air, a whiff of green along icy ditch banks, a swelling of buds on bare branches. A strange new feeling gets into everything:

meadows pour liquid sound over the fields, calves frisk, people in towns buy fatful of olive puddings and carry them about. Nobody yells it, but everybody feels it. Spring is again! Hope again! We are sorry for folks in the languid, season—always the same climate, who miss this wonderful experience each Easter. They just aren't living.

"Make Tourists Idaho Conscious!" That's the aim of the two-year program being sponsored by a state publicity board headed by our governor. The legislature appropriated $100,000 to help put this over. The boys figure Idaho has a lot of year-around attractions which should be sold to the public.

Members of Gov. C. A. Robins' board are Gordon Gray, Twin Falls; Henry Hyde, Idaho Falls; Virgil McCre, Boise; Earl Somers, Coeur d'Alene. These men give freely of their time, and we should say they are really on the ball.

The actual job of making tourists aware of our lakes, lavas, resorts, etc. has been given to the publicity firm of Tom Cunningham and Associates of Boise. It's figured that $10,000,000,000 is spent annually by vacationing Americans, and to date, old Idaho has been getting only about $25,000,000 of it.

We hope the Big Boys know what they are doing. Maybe some of you remember Lake Tahoe and Las Vegas, and other beautiful natural spots, before the tourists swarmed in. We'd hate to see empty pop bottles and candy wrappers strewn around the Graters of the Moon.

It would be a sorry thing to find egg shells floating in Thousand Springs, or behold "Unc Whanks and wife, Kickapoo, Kansas," scowled on the walls of the ice caves. Idaho is about the only spot left as God made it. We'd hate to see it messed up.

Got a new guest room? Why not frame this poem and hang it on the door?

"Sleep sweet within this quiet room,
O thou, whoever thou art,
And let no mountain yesterdays
Disturb thy quiet hours.
Not let tomorrow mar thy rest
With dreams of coming life.
Thy Maker is thy changeless friend
His love surrounds thee still.
Forget thyself, and all the world;
Put out each feverish light:
The stars are watching overhead.
Good night, sleep sweet, good night!"

A drive to Oakley is a swell experience. You get a maximum of Idaho blue sky, crisp air and distant mountains. If your aim is to interand whimsy in the sheet." "Mrs. Ora Peterson sometimes contributes under 'Village Paragon,'" the editor continued. "Mrs. George Erickson writes 'Road of Life.' Mrs. Della Webb of Carey does 'The Trapper's Wife,' and Mrs. Les Ella Brunsen sends in copy under 'Hillbilly Reporter!'"

A nature column is sometimes furnished by Mrs. James Harris, and Mrs. Joel Rasmussen occasionally contributes with her "Tiers and There." The acting manager of the Blackfoot land office, Frank Olson, writes under "Branding Iron," and William Hagdy, a former Oakley man now living in Salt Lake City, sends news from afar with "Oakley People in Salt Lake."

Publisher Brown came to Oakley as a young man and learned the newspaper business from scratch. He handles his own books, runs the linotype, writes copy, and acts as his own general handyman. Mrs. Earl Gee assists with the casting, folding and mailing, and Mrs. Samuel Crane helps with the press feeding. The Herald has a stereotype casting box—it can cut a full page in one piece—a linotype, two presses and an unusual good stock of type.

The publisher showed us several of his special issues. The Christmas one is an annual event, a 16-page devoted to letters. Every kid in the Oakley school system writes to Santa and gets his letter printed in this issue. We were interested in the 1946 special Casita Blake edition, another volume of 20 pages, all devoted to the Oakley pioneers and the splendid achievement of the LDS church members.

The Oakley Herald editor says he isn't a crusader, but he has a few pet projects. One is his belief that the City of Rocks should be made a national monument. He has worked tirelessly toward this end. "The diaries of the 40ers at Stanford and the University of California show

Ketchum's Scouts Get Advancements

KETCHUM, March 27—Twelve Boy Scouts from Ketchum troops were advanced in rank at a court of honor Thursday night in the Odd Fellows hall.

Tenderfoot ranks were given to Kenneth Costa, John Batlis and Harmon Schurta. Second class ranks were presented to Edwin Johnson, Ken Hulse, Leon Stumpson, Jack Evans, Jerry McClellan, Ivan Savelberg, Deloy Hoffman and Douglas Leightfoot.

The awards were given by H. L. Wallington, district advancement chairman. He was assisted by Scoutmasters L. V. Hammons, Ray Brown and Frank Morrison.

In 1870 congress established the U. S. department of justice.

that the City of Rocks, between Oakley and Almo made a deeper impression on them than anything they saw between Independence, Mo., and Placerville, Calif., said Brown.
