80th Congress Set Record in Global Affairs

By J. M. ROBERTS
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Although part of the psychological impact on the rest of the world may have been dulled by the preceding session in which it was done, the 80th congress has expressed greater recognition of America's international position than any other peacetime session in history.

Proposals may take the last minute congressional hesitation over the European recovery funds and the draft as signs of uncertainty as to the future. The degree of vigor with which they are administered after the beginning of a new presidential term in January will provide much of the answer on that.

Standing firm, strong

The idea of a United States standing firm for economic conditions which will minimize the causes of war has standing from military to discourage any aggression is greater now than it has not been subjected to such exciting testimony.

Probably the most important demonstration of the last year and a half is that the United States has bipartisan foreign policy which can and does work even in the face of the bitterest domestic political divisions.

It is really rather amazing, some of the things that have been done in the face of long-standing traditions.

Great Strategic Move

The Marshall plan is helping Europe to re-establish a sound economy, will, of course, go down as a great strategic move, but will go down as an act of great generosity.

In addition to the peacetime demonstration of the last year, an unprecedented thing even if a compromise with the more far-reaching proposal for universal military training, however.

Voted military aid for Greece and Turkey and military and economic aid for China.

"Watered" Trade Facts

Extended the reciprocal trade agreements act, subject to the watered form and giving other nations some cause for nervousness as to the future.

Approved the state department's radio propaganda campaign.

Agreed to participate in the international refugee organization and to admit 205,000 displaced persons to the United States.

United the armed services, authorized a much larger air force, and provided record-breaking peacetime military appropriations.

Children Entertained by OES at Picnic

Members of the Order of Eastern Star entertained their children at a picnic at Harmon park recently. Twenty youngsters attended to spend the afternoon playing games. Mrs. Mattie Fisher was chairman for the picnic and was assisted in making arrangements by Mrs. Leanne Burkhalter and Mrs. Kenneth Richardson. 28 Million Is Allocated for Floods Relief

WASHINGTON, June 22 (AP)—The office of Senator Cordell H. Orr, assured today that congress during its adjournment rush approved $28,000,000 which could be used for flood relief in the Columbia basin area.

The sum, it was said, was much greater than had ever been appropriated before for disasters.

Appropriations Listed

The office listed the appropriations:

- $10,000,000 for stop-gap housing at Vantage; $6,000,000 for the army engineers, most of which will be used for repairing the local river; $2,000,000 for all to farmers; $4,000,000 for the forest reserve; $2,000,000 for the interior department to meet flood relief damages and expenditures; $300,000 for the coast guard to repair damage in the Columbia river navigation system, and $200,000 for the President's emergency fund, which, while not earmarked for the Columbia basin disaster can be used for that purpose.

Agencies Move Quickly

In addition to that, federal agencies had quickly moved in when the flood struck and spent millions of dollars in state emergency aid to sufferers.

Cordon lost his fight to include $10,000,000 for community relief in the Pacific northwest in the second deficiency bill.

But, he got into the measure the $5,000,000 for aid to farmers, $6,000,000 for the interior department and forest service, to repair bridges, roads, trails and telephone lines in forest areas and $200,000 for the coast guard.

Too frequent elimination during the day may be the first symptom of kidney trouble. It is due to nonsterile and non-sterile bacteria in the urine. The very first sign of the non-sterile bacteria is a burning sensation when you urinate. This is due to the fact that the bacteria irritate the lining of the bladder. TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

PHILADELPHIA—The Republicans assembled here are determined to stage a strictly streamlined national convention as evidence of their spirit of reorganizing the party which they have not for the first time since they nominated Herbert Hoover in the boom days of 1928.

It is hard to recall the children of the party who were present at the convention in 1928. The Republican national committee has had a long and arduous task in preparing the party for the next election. The party has been through a long and arduous task in preparing the party for the next election. The party has been through a long and arduous task in preparing the party for the next election.

POT SHOTS

BIRDS DON'T COUNT

Gus Kraker and Stan Kline, who planned a special fishing trip last weekend, registered a wager which promised the winner would receive $1 for the largest fish and $1 for the most fish.

Stan did his fishing at Stanton's crossing while Gus went to the local fish market. Stan caught with one five-pounder and one other trout which was more than ample to win the wager.

But later to the work of Kraker, he didn't attempt to get any sleep Saturday night. About midnight, he left for Magic reservoir. Just before sunrise, he made a nice long cast, felt something on his line. After setting the hook, he started to reel in line.

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S ANGLE

NEW YORK—Sixteen years ago, Franklin D. Roosevelt flew to Chicago to accept the Democratic nomination and begin a long and largely successful career as a partner for the integration of the civic morals of the people of the United States.

Only by this degradation of the mass or average character could Roosevelt hope to command the support of the majority in the destructive years that have ensued since, in 1946, the only audible reaction to his leadership was his personal guilt in the condemnation of those who prefer the evidence.

He granted philatelic treasures for his private fortune and the influence of his heirs, worth about half a million dollars. He cravily conspired to get enormous loans for his son, Elliott, from rich citizens who, with one exception, were conscious of the humiliating interest of the President. The exception was Charles Harwood, a common Brooklyn clubhouse politician with the commendation of those who prefer the evidence.

That meant that liquor traffic would never revive and that only lightly alcoholic drinks would be allowed.

When repeal came his wife's uncle, Forbes Morgan, an old friend and ally, got a job at $100,000 a year, plus tax from the liquor trust as political agent.

Once elected, Roosevelt, without explanation or excuse, completely abandoned his promise of economy and began the wild career of spending and subsidizing the voters and the herdsmen of his party. Hoover was made to seem merely by comparison.

Long before the "wash emergency" was cultivated to justify still more fantastic debt; Roosevelt had shoved the debt level through the stratosphere. The time came when there was no longer any pretense of any plan ever to stabilize and reduce it.

Hoover's entire bureaucracy, as Roosevelt had called it in withering sarcasm, could have been absorbed within the department of the interior alone.

And the Roosevelt bureaucracy began to reveal the sinister Hitlerian shape and methods which he had ascribed to Hoover. It was to be self-perpetuating. Harry Hopkins, a scoundrel little two-timer who cheated on his first wife when her money began to run low, became the Rumpstun of the White House.

He "lived in" because his wife was the sort of character and morality that Roosevelt found agreeable. Three times when Hopkins at last dared frankly to demand that all civilians be put to forced labor, Roosevelt's own wife gave him no more of her time than he had to in using the White House as a political and business headquarters and a place to dump her laundry and take his bath.

At the normal rate, about 25,000,000 men may be said to have come of age since Roosevelt's first election. Their ages at that fateful time ranged between five and sixteen years, so none of them has ever had any experience of the normal ethics and decency of public office in this country or of seemingly personal conduct among the class of exempt privilege.

The parents of millions of them were unconsciously and stealthily corrupted. The degeneration of American character by Roosevelt's influence cannot be measured except by the terms appearing above.

He professed Christianity in the normal, political way required of all successful candidates for President. Such Christianity is frankly understood by all, including the clergy, to be a mere pretense not to express contempt for God and the dogmas of His institutions.

Roosevelt's mocked truth, honesty, trust, confidence and the rights and dignity of his fellow-men, including his own past, as their ad memoriam are now revealing to the world.

He had no respect for the elements of Christianity that he had for his own campaign promises. He played the cross against the cross and turned about as he pleased his ruthless vanity and cold purpose to do so.

The millions who never knew any other President than Roosevelt and his ignorant successor, now reduced to pitiful poverty and the impotence of the Kansas City underworld which sent him to the senate, will not know that any other standard ever existed.

ANOTHER SETBACK

A short news dispatch, based on a Moscow broadcast, announced that the Soviet government had decided to cut in two the balance on reparations payments due from Hungary and Romania. The announcement came four days after the U. S. house of representatives had decided to cut the requested appropriation for European aid by more than a quarter.

This was the latest indication that Russian policy is taking a new tack. Earlier Moscow had reduced the demand for Finnish reparations and had raised wages and reduced rations in the Soviet zone of Germany.

In other words, Uncle Joe Stalin has put on a broad smile and is trying to look even more benevolent than benevolent Uncle Sam. And it must be said that the house action gave Uncle Joe a brilliant act in the play. This raises again the question of whether the house leaders had the least idea of what they were doing when they put through that cut or if, indeed, they comprehended its effect even now.

The average European cannot be expected to know the story behind the cut. He doesn't know that this slash was largely the work of John Taber, pennsylvania-puncher and head of the house appropriations committee, and Speaker Joseph Martin and Majority Leader Charles Halleck.

He doesn't know that the vote was close, that many members were absent, and that a sizable group fought hard against the reduction to the end. He doesn't know that among the supporters were many whose chief distinction is a willingness to jump through the hoop when the house is in session.

What the average European probably thinks—and has a right to think—is that the house is an elected group truly representing the wishes of the people. He probably thinks that the American people now wish to reduce on their promises to the Russian government is backing up its promises of a communist utopia with some tangible benefits.

It would seem that Messrs. Taber, Martin, Halleck and the rest are as misinformed about the wishes of the American people as this average European was talking about. For it has been shown clearly and repeatedly that the majority of Americans favor an aid program substantial enough to put Europe on its feet and get it off America's back.

Maybe these gentlemen didn't really think much about Europe, or about our government's problems there. Perhaps they just figured that this is an election year, and that a gesture of economy ought to be worth some votes. So they cut ERP by $1,745,000,000.

That was about an average week's military expenditure by this country for Germany. Maybe these gentlemen should be reminded again that we are fighting a tough if bloodless war to save freedom in Europe for the sake of our own freedom. We may not be losing that war today, but we aren't winning it.

The vital political battle for Germany seems to be going against us. A friendly French government, which depends much on us, is under attack from two sides.

The flush of gratitude and enthusiasm for the Marshall plan has subsided. Europe is waiting to see the great promise fulfilled. Meanwhile our own government is in a low at times, never rests from his drive to communize Europe. In this atmosphere the gentlemen of the house, through innocence, ignorance or malice, have given their country a major setback in its fight for freedom.

AMEN, EX-GI ALLEN

We like that letter to our Public Forum, written by an ex-GI from Jerome, in which he took firm exception to "this idea of a referendum on next election day, regarding the payment of a bonus to veterans with all proceeds coming from the sale of the surplus."

We liked particularly the following pointed portions of his letter:

"If they are going to give us a bonus, do they have to pay us off in dirty money?"

"Are there a few in Idaho who think that GI Joe is such a milk-sucker that he can't recognize the hand under the counter?"

"Are these the kind of people and is this the state that I voluntarily left to help defend in the past war? . . . If the gamblers pay us off, I'll know for sure that I was a chump with a capital C. Besides who asked for a bonus anyway?"

Well said, Ex-GI Allen. If, in running our state and city government affairs, and in paying any proposed bonuses to our war veterans, we must resort to legalized gambling as the source of funds, though for such purpose, we had better call it off as a bad deal and hang our heads in shame.

RIDE 'EM COWBOY

A southern Democratic states' right group has decided to hold a convention and choose its own president and members. If President Truman is nominated, maybe Mr. Truman will find that those new gift spins which he promised to use on congress will have to be applied to the Democratic donkey.

Scuffer bathing suits are getting by this year—just barely!

HERALD—Unlike the platform of recent years, Republican Chairman Henry Cabot Lodge gives us more than the usual list of promises.

He aims to make the first Roosevelt new deal manifesto of 1932, which is regarded as the best of the lot. He has a long list of promises, forced FDI to depart from it in many essential details.

The third factor in producing these quarrelsome candidates are the nominating speeches, which sometimes run as long as 30 or 45 minutes. The principal quality of the speeches is their length and, therefore, they know extended business tend to "keep 'em short" and if they abate are repeated, this assembly may establish some sort of a record for speech-making brevity.

RETRIBUTIVE—Incidentally, it is expected that following this convention, which is the first to be held in the United States since the war, will be a national platform.

Outside a Broadway show such as "Of Thee I Sing," there is no creature more comical or repulsive than a shouting, screeching, scolding politician unloading and unloading himself in a crowded, steaming and impatient hall.

Professional radio and television experts attending the convention are unanimous in their opinion that the bureau has imposed this fact on the principal performers. They have warned them to cut out the screeching and the scolding and to make a result, both the national conventions may be more brief and businesslike than they have been in previous days.

FLAN—The present plan is to start the nominating campaign late in the afternoon, if possible, on Wednesday evening at the latest.

The talk that the "I points with pride" denunciations may begin early enough on Wednesday so that the actual meeting of the presidential roll call will come through the hall after dinner that evening.

It is hoped the preliminary sparring can be finished before 11 p.m. on Wednesday. The roll call will be held on Wednesday night, after two or three ballots at the Dewey and Roosevelt camps. The vote of Minnesota will be well in the lead, but with none of this trio passing a majority.

MACHINE—Eight years ago, Speaker Martin of Massachusetts, who was serving as permanent chairman of the National Republican Convention, was accused of receiving bribes.

He was sharply criticized by the "Tat and Dewey" people, who figured that they might, under the leadership of the speaker, be able to pick the running-mate at the same time in a block-winner machine. By building the convention in session, Martin enabled the Wallace machine to maintain its momentum, and it quickly bowled over his rivals.

It will be different this time. After the first two days of the convention, which will come Wednesday night or later, the roll call will adjourn to the back rooms in downtown hotels, and the maneuvering will start in earnest.

Who will emerge from these deliberations as Harry S. Truman's opponent is anybody's guess, although Governor Dewey and Senator Taft are the most vocal in their claims of victory.

RUNNING-MATE—The strategy for selection of a vice-presidential nominee may contribute to the plot for holding a short session. And here the Republicans are taking warning from the near-possibility that Henry Wallace might become President if he were elected to the United States, had he been re-nominated in 1944.

For partisan purposes, they also explain that Mr. Truman will influence their decision on the candidate for second place.

As a rule, the VP nominee is selected somewhat haphazardly, by a caucus. This instance was placed in nomination by a gallery intruder, who broke up the leaders plan to nameassen. Invoke some number of the nameassen, who were trying to pick the running-mate at the same time if they agree upon a standard-bearer, provided he is chosen in a back-room compromise.

CERTAIN—Assuming, for instance, that Senator Vandenberg should be picked for first place after the first round of balloting, the Wallace machine will not return to the convention hall until they have agreed upon the identity of his pick.

Besides consulting Vandenberg or whoever the big prize winner may be, they will give thought to geographical, factional and political considerations. They will also consider whether it would be desirable to pick the running-mate at the same time if they agree upon a standard-bearer, provided he is chosen in a back-room compromise.

MORE CATTLE ON LESS GRASS

The earth's population is estimated to be 200-million larger than it was 10 years ago, despite the depredations of World War II. But while the population has increased, the amount of grass has decreased. It is estimated that the quantity of food is now 93 per cent of what it was in the last year before the war.

Industry and Engineering Chemistry, a journal sponsored by the American Chemical Society, suggests that a good deal be used to fill the food gap. Chemically produced feed stuffs can be used to supplement the natural feed. It is estimated that the quantity of food is now 93 per cent of what it was in the last year before the war.

OBILING

Via the grapevine, we learned of an unidentified woman who just happened to be in the vicinity of a certain party who are aware.

She phoned KLIN for a bit of information, which is being readily available. Whereupon, someone at KLIN suggested she phone the "Tat and Dewey" people.

"Oh, I wouldn't bother them," the woman declared. "They're too busy doing their own thing."

to him sometime. He is weary of chasing down hardened criminals and handing them over for prison terms or death. Let the government provide recreation facilities for the youth of the country, he told me, and the FBI wouldn't have to devote so much of its time to hunting criminals.

This country apparently has unlimited sums of money to give away. Why not give great sums of it away to see that the kids and the grown-ups of this country have ample chance to know the sun, the moon, the stars, and all the other magnificent things He created for man.

Exercise in New York has always been a problem for New York's citizens. The place is so big that a day has to be devoted to getting out in the country for sun and play. If you are a child you can play in the streets and build up bone and muscle doing runs, but one childhood is passed few care to risk dodging a taxon truck to catch a poppy.

Remember that this is a kidding column. I am no more in favor of pimball machines for exercise than I am for slot machines as body builders. What this country needs, just as badly as it needs anything else in the world is decent recreation for its citizens.

I remember talking to J. Edgar Hoover not long ago, and hearing his views on what decent places to play would mean in checking crime in this country. A great man, Mr. Hoover. If you don't believe it, talk to him sometime.

If you are a child you can play in the streets and build up bone and muscle doing runs, but one childhood is passed few care to risk dodging a taxon truck to catch a poppy.

Remember that this is a kidding column. I am no more in favor of pimball machines for exercise than I am for slot machines as body builders. What this country needs, just as badly as it needs anything else in the world is decent recreation for its citizens.

I remember talking to J. Edgar Hoover not long ago, and hearing his views on what decent places to play would mean in checking crime in this country. A great man, Mr. Hoover. If you don't believe it, talk to him sometime.

He is weary of chasing down hardened criminals and handing them over for prison terms or death. Let the government provide recreation facilities for the youth of the country, he told me, and the FBI wouldn't have to devote so much of its time to hunting criminals.

This country apparently has unlimited sums of money to give away. Why not give great sums of it away to see that the kids and the grown-ups of this country have ample chance to know the sun, the moon, the stars, and all the other magnificent things He created for man.

Exercise in New York has always been a problem for New York's citizens. The place is so big that a day has to be devoted to getting out in the country for sun and play. If you are a child you can play in the streets and build up bone and muscle doing runs, but one childhood is passed few care to risk dodging a taxon truck to catch a poppy.

How to Get $100 Back

AFTER YOU BUY YOUR BENDIX
That's how much your beautiful, dutiful Bendix can pay you back through the years with the pennies it saves on soap alone.

THRIFTIEST, SAFEST WAY TO GET CLOTHES CLEAN

Years ago, commercial laundries found that the thriftest way to get clothes cleaned was to "dunk" them... hundreds of times... in and out of a small amount of hot suds. And that's how the Bendix does such a wonderful washing job on such a little bit of water and soap. This Bendix "Tumble-Action" is gentler action too. No rubbing, scrubbing, no twisting, so clothes last much longer!

Warehouse Rates Uniformity Slated

BOISE, June 22 (UP)—The Idaho public utilities commission has announced plans for establishing a uniform accounting system for public warehouses in the state before any further action is taken on storage rates.

The commission reported that a uniform accounting system was found needed during a recent hearing with the Lewiston Grain Growers' Inc., in Lewiston. Several accounting systems were used by various applicants, but the commission found no one system presented an adequate picture of the warehouses' business.

However, the commission granted an increase on the rate for storage of dry peas. The rate, as of July 1 this year, will become the same as for wheat storage, 15 cents a ton.

Reason Given for Vaccine Controls

BOISE, June 22 (UP)—Dr. Philip Eldredge, assistant state veterinarian at the University of Idaho, has explained to Idaho cattlemen why the state has a law prohibiting owners from vaccinating cattle.

He explained that vaccine can become useless if kept under some conditions. Furthermore, if the vaccine is used it will promote, rather than stop, spread of disease because of poor control.

"There are dangers in careless handling of vaccine," the veterinarian said. "A slight prick from a hypodermic syringe loaded with the vaccine may result in undulant fever."

Eldredge explained that all cattlemen are entitled to have their cattle vaccinated for Bang's disease free of charge.

Maine Designates Woman as Senator

PORTLAND, Me., June 22 (UP)—Rep. Margaret Chase Smith was declared today as becoming Maine's first GOP woman senator by winning the nomination over three male opponents in yesterday's state primary.

Returns from 602 of Maine's 629 precincts gave Mrs. Smith 634 1/2 votes, Gov. Horace A. Hildreth 31,228, former Gov. Sumner Sewall 21,916 and the Rev. Abner F. Beverage 6,664.

The GOP nomination is equaled in importance to election in Maine which Democratic opposition is only nominal.

The senate seat for which Mrs. Smith won the nomination was one being vacated by Sen. Wallace H. White, Jr.
